Madison College Designates Director For Marching Band

Madison College students are returning this fall to the sound of a marching band and the sight of twirling majorettes. Malcolm B. Harris, who has been appointed as the college's director of the first marching band, recruited approximately 100 members during the summer months in order to begin practicing a few weeks before the opening of school. Many of the new band students were already members of the concert band, but others recruited were non-music majors who were in high school bands. Mr. Harris expects the band to continue to grow. "I see this year at Madison as a pilot program that must be successful. I have never had a bad marching band. The potential is here," stated Mr. Harris, who came to Madison from directing a marching band in Odessa, Texas. "We will march at every excuse, from local parades to far-away games," Mr. Harris continued. The band will perform this fall at the games scheduled for Madison's club football team, and Mr. Harris says he has talked with the University of Virginia about performances at their home games in Charlottesville.

The director received his undergraduate degree from the University of Missouri and his Masters of Arts in composition from West Texas University. He has begun work at North Texas State toward the Doctor of Musical Arts Degree.

Student Parkers Gain Two Additional Areas

With the creation of new parking facilities for the fall term, college officials are hopeful that there will be enough parking space to accommodate all faculty, staff, and students. One new lot, which will hold 1,000 cars, has been located north of the "N" series of dormitories, and a second lot, large enough to hold 250 cars, has been developed near Eagle Dormitory.

As in the past, all vehicles to be operated and parked on the Madison campus will be registered with the College Security Office. Registration decals will be issued on the basis of faculty, staff, "resident" student, and "day" student. By paying a registration fee of $7.50 per semester for cars and $5.00 per semester for motorcycles, students will be able to park east of the railroad tracks between 8:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, and in any campus lot at all other times. In compliance with a request made by the SGA, spaces will be provided in each campus lot for use by temporarily or permanently handicapped students.

It is now possible for any senior student to operate a registered vehicle on campus during the year. However, junior students must have a cumulative average of 2.50 or above, and sophomore students must have a cumulative average of 3.0 or above. Day students, graduate students, and students who secure a special permission from the Director of Security can register vehicles on the basis of availability of space.

tell it to the breeze

Two new services will be offered to Madison students in the coming issues of THE BREEZE.

Campus Calendar — announcements of college events will be listed. All items submitted to THE BREEZE staff should include event, date, time, place and phone number (if students need to call for more information).

Classified ads — College rate — $1.00. Commercial rate — $1.00 for first 15 words and .05 for each additional word (payment in advance). Lost and found ads, as well as those related to community or volunteer service will be free of charge.

Madison Makes Social Revision

By DAN DOWNEY

New social rules and new living quarters are part of the changing scene at Madison College.

The College's 5,200 students are being greeted this fall with a new set of social rules far more lenient than ever before. For the first time in school history, students will be allowed to have alcoholic beverages in their rooms on campus as long as Virginia ABC regulations are obeyed.

Also for the first time in Madison history women residents will have no curfew. However, all dorms, including men's, will be locked at 1:00 a.m. weekdays and 2:00 a.m. Friday and Saturday. Residents will be provided with a key upon request. Even though no deposit will be charged for keys, women will have to pay $25 to replace the lock, if the key is lost.

Madison has also adopted a revised Open Dorm policy this year. House Councils must file a petition to the Director of Student Affairs as they did last year, but this year they may ask for an 8-week period of open housing. Open house may still be held only with fixed hours on weekends.

This fall approximately 140 Seniors and Juniors will live at Showalter Apts. in an experimental residency. With a ratio of two women to one man, applications will be accepted on a first come - first serve basis. The students will live at Showalter in air-conditioned, wall-to-wall carpeted rooms. Students living at Showalter will pay no more than their tuition, but they must have access to a car to be eligible to live there. Mr. Craig Smith and Dr. Byron Wills will be supervisors. Applications are being handled by all resident advisors.

Other Madison students will also be living off campus this fall because of the room shortage. Approximately 210 women will live at Massanetta Springs until N-8 is finished in October. Forty men will be living at Belle Meade until they can be moved on campus. Bus service will be provided for these students.

Letter To The Students

September 5, 1972

Dear Student,

Fall is a time for new beginnings, and this fall Madison begins its sixty-fourth year. You are part of a growing and dynamic institution. Madison is committed to providing a diversity of programs to enable you to achieve the maximum in personal and educational experiences.

Many changes have been made in our physical plant during the summer — changes to provide better facilities for educational and extra-curricular programs. In addition, an administrative reorganization has been effected. The newly formed organ of coordination on our campus, the College Council, will include five student members and will begin to function this month. The Faculty Senate, also recently organized, will become active this fall. This new structure is designed to provide greater participation and mutual cooperation on the part of the various constituencies of the College. I hope that you will take an active part in many of the activities we are offering for you during the year.

A new academic year for those of us in education as professional educators is a time for renewed direction. It is an exciting time for all of us, because with each new class and each new beginning we become involved with new people, new values, new directions. Whether you are new to our campus or continuing your college career, I sincerely hope that you are caught up in the excitement of a productive, enriching year at Madison and that it will be one of the greatest in your educational experience.

Sincerely yours,

Ronald E. Carrier
President

Editorial Comment

Many changes have occurred during this summer which will greatly affect life this year on campus. Not only have the alcohol and social rules been revised, but many buildings and offices have been completely renovated. One of the most noticeable changes which will occur will be in the publication THE BREEZE, the student newspaper of Madison College.

In past years, the efficiency of the staff has been constantly hampered by big turnovers in personnel, too few staff members, and lack of communication. During the summer many plans and arrangements have been made to correct these problems.

More money has been allocated for payment of staff positions, for equipment, and for expanding publication. Ten work scholarships were procured and the budget was expanded to cover the costs of printing a bi-weekly paper.

A printing contract was signed with the DAILY NEWS RECORD of Harrisonburg. The printing will be quicker and more efficient. Changing printers also made available a

TV Auction Scheduled

Automobiles, a mink stole, clothing, and household furniture are among the more than 100 items which have been collected in the first week of the drive for the Auction 51 Community Project sponsored by WVPT, the non-commercial television station in the Valley, according to a report from George Welch, Auction Week chairman.

Over 500 members of the Valley community, from Winchester to Lexington, canvassed the region for merchandise during the month of August to prepare for the auction of new merchandise, original art, authentic antiques, and services of various kinds.

The Auction, which opened Monday, September 4, and will be concluded on Saturday, September 9, will be broadcast from 7 to 11 p.m. each evening.

Mr. Tom Watkins of the sponsoring station explained the auction operation as involving the television display of the objects to be auctioned. Home viewers' bids will be received by the volunteer operators and the item sold to the highest bidder. High bids are confirmed by telephone and bidders are informed of when and where to pick up the merchandise. "The purpose of the auction is to involve as many individuals and organizations as possible in a single major effort for the benefit of Channel 51 and as a result for the community in which these people live," according to Mr. Watkins. He added that the auction is fast paced, with each item up for bidding only three times before the auctioneer moves to another item.

better and more standardized format for pages.

Every aspect of work but the printing will be done on campus by our staff. This means that more people than ever are needed to help. The first staff organizational meeting will be held on Thursday, September 7 at 6:30 p.m. and anyone interested is urged to attend. No experience is necessary. If unable to attend the meeting, drop by the office on the ground floor of the Campus Center at a later date.

Any club, organization, or person wishing to submit articles should send them to Box M-28, campus mail or drop them in the envelope on the bulletin board outside the office door. Any letters, comments, or suggestions are also welcome.

For the first several months of this year, THE BREEZE will only be able to appear once a week, but as soon as possible, publication will be shifted to twice weekly. Madison College is growing rapidly and this is the year that THE BREEZE should catch up to the important role that it will play in the years to come.

Graduate Record Exam To Be Given Six Times

Educational Testing Service has announced that undergraduates and others preparing to go to graduate school may take the Graduate Record Examinations on any of six different test dates during the current academic year.

The first testing date for the GRE is October 28, 1972. Scores from this administration will be reported to the graduate schools around December 4. Students planning to register for the October test date are advised that applications received by ETS after October 3 will incur a $3.50 late registration fee. After October 10, there is no guarantee that applications for the October test date can be processed.

The other five test dates are December 9, 1972, January 20, February 24, (only the Aptitude Test is administered), April 28, and June 16, 1973. Equivalent late fee and registration deadlines apply to these dates. Choice of test dates should be determined by the requirements of graduate schools or fellowship sponsors to which one is applying. Scores are usually reported to graduate schools five weeks after a test date.

The Graduate Record Examinations include an Aptitude Test of general scholastic ability and Advanced Tests measuring achievement in 19 major fields of study. Full details and registration forms for the GRE are contained in the 1972-73 GRE Information Bulletin. The Bulletin also contains forms and instructions for requesting transcript service on GRE scores already on file with ETS. This booklet is available on most campuses or may be ordered from: Educational Testing Service, Box 955, Princeton, New Jersey 08540; Educational Testing Service, 1947 Center Street, Berkeley, California 94704; Educational Testing Service, 960 Grove Street, Evanston, Illinois 60201.

What Is The SGA Doing For You?

By Sen. Steve Holstrom

Want to know what's going on in the student government? Want to know if something's being done about whatever needs attention by student officials? Tired of being the last one to find out reasons behind campus regulations and laws?

The partial answer to this problem, we as SGA Communications Committee members feel, is this column. From time to time situations and hassles will arise in which you will want to know what can or is being done about them.

The key to this year's students rights and responsibilities for the protection of those rights is our attitude. This year (as outlined in the student handbook) we will receive some "rights" that have previously been non-existent at Madison. The elimination of curfews, legal possession of alcohol in dormitory hall rooms, and a more realistic open dorm policy are just a few.

It is the application of our responsibilities that will ensure these "rights" and allow us to receive additional "rights."

We are over-crowded at Madison College at present. This state of turmoil will undoubtedly induce problems. Problems can be solved. At present we have a problem with the college laundry. The laundry will accept 16 pieces of clothing (9 less than last year) and will not accept fitted sheets and underwear. A committee has been formed in the Senate to see about improving laundry conditions.

As was stated at the beginning of this article, we feel that this column is the partial answer to a communication link between you and your student government.

Individual questions can and will be answered. (If not printed in this column they will be personally answered). The proper address to write to will be published later in this column.

Renovation Forces Offices To Relocate

With all the remodeling and office moving that went on during the summer, upperclassmen may well be as lost as the freshmen upon returning to school. Second floor Wilson was remodeled to accommodate President Carrier's new office. Other changes are noted in the listing that follows:

Wilson Hall 2nd floor:

Dr. Robert Riggs, Executive Asst. to the President; Dr. Ikenberry, Vice Pres. for Academic Affairs; Col. Adolph Phillips, Business Manager; Mr. Ray Sonner, Director of Public Services; Dr. David Fox, Dean of Continuing Studies.

Wilson Hall 1st floor:

Dr. Julius Roberson, Dean of Admissions and Records; Dr. John Mundy, Associate Dean of Graduate School; Dr. Jack Davis, Provost, the Division of Arts, Sciences, & Related Studies; Dr. Elizabeth Finlayson, Assistant Director of Admissions.

Dr. John Sweigart, Head of the Philosophy Department will be in Johnston Hall first floor.

Dr. William McMurray,

Head of the English Department, will be on Keezell 3rd floor; Dr. Charles Caldwell, Dean of the School of Education, will move to Keezell Hall 2nd floor and Dr. Margarete Rauch, Head of the Department of Foreign Language will move to Keezell 3rd floor.

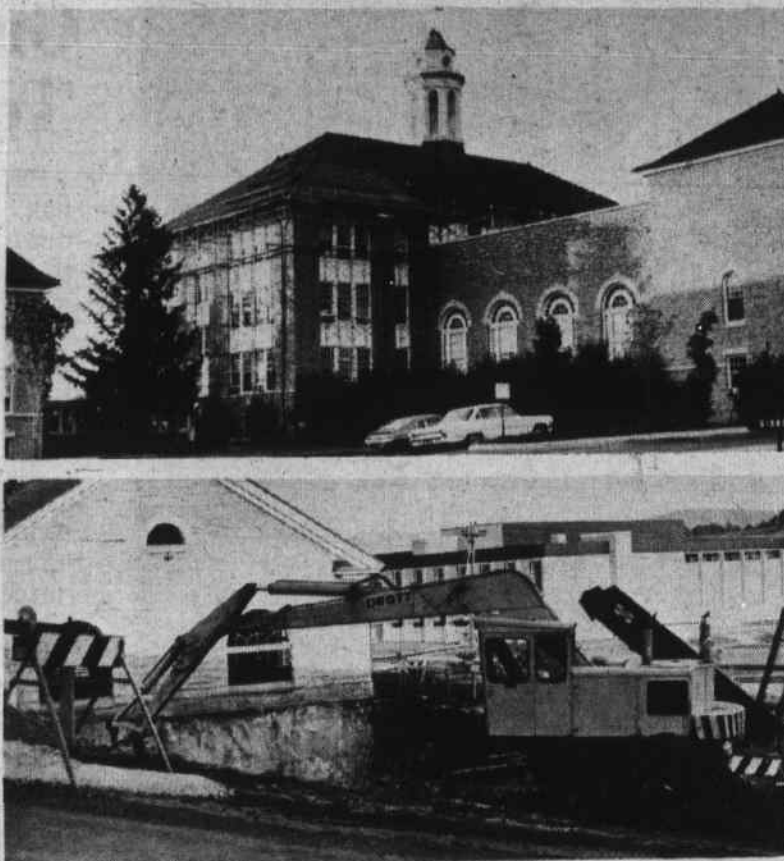

Besides all the moving, a lot of remodeling and renovation has been and will be done. Keezell gym recently vacated when the Dept. of Physical and Health Education moved to Godwin, is being renovated to accommodate offices for members of the English Department.

Other remodeling will include an addition to the infirmary and new roofing on three campus buildings.

Flood lights will be installed on nine tennis courts and a new outdoor system of lighting will be added to the front campus.

Gibbons Hall will be remodeled later in the fall with an air-conditioning system to be installed.

Madison's officials have taken steps for the cleaning of Newman Lake and the surrounding campus area.

The conversion from coal generated steam to oil-fired boilers, and the renovation of Wilson Hall are steps toward updating Madison's campus. (Photos by Dan Downey)

Honor System Tested In Court

According to a recent Associated Press release, a restraining order permitting the re-enrollment of a student permanently dismissed from Mary Washington College by the Honor Council was declined by U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige, Jr. in what may become a protracted legal assault against the honor system in Virginia's state-supported colleges and universities.

The restraining order was sought by Mrs. Brenda Page Bright of King William County. She was found guilty of an on-campus theft and dismissed during her sophomore year.

Her attorney, Ralph W. Buxton, contended the defendants in the suit, the rector and the board of visitors at Mary Washington have no legal basis on which to delegate disciplinary procedures to an autonomous student group.

Buxton based his motion on alleged violation of Mrs. Bright's 14th Amendment Constitutional rights, and he also pointed out that the dismissal has caused the plaintiff "psychological suffering" and diminished her potential income.

Judge Merhige feels that the "real issue here is whether power delegated by the state legislature to the college can be turned over to the students." He made it clear that "it looks like she has a very strong case and this is only the beginning."

Continuing Studies Program

Beginning with the Fall semester, Madison College will offer a Continuing Studies Program to students and also to residents of the surrounding area. This program will offer courses of varied interest on either a credit or non-credit basis. Dr. David Fox will serve as Dean of the program and will provide leadership for the development of expanded educational services to the Valley region.

Some of the non-credit courses which will be offered and are of special interest are:

- "Potentialities of Consciousness: Towards a Science of Creative Intelligence." This seminar will have two major aspects: (a) a delineation of the inner source of creative intelligence, with emphasis on Transcendental Meditation (TM); and (b) discussion of readings showing an expression of higher states of consciousness.

OFFERED:

Sept. 12 — Nov. 14, Tues. 7-8 p.m., room 208 Harrison, Fee $20.

- "Adult Reading Improvement Program." Objectives: increased reading rate and comprehension improvement.

OFFERED:

Sept. 13 — Dec. 20, Wed. 7-9 p.m., Nicholas House, fee $40.

- "Living With Radiation." How one can protect himself from it, the impact of nuclear power, its hazards, and the nature of radiation are discussed.

OFFERED:

Oct. 2 — Nov. 20, Mon. 7:30-9:30 p.m., Burruss 12, fee $20.

- "Public Forum: Housing." Problems of Housing in area will be discussed.

Two courses for three semester hours will also be offered this fall. Channel 61, WVPT-TV will offer Philosophy 460; Current Problems in Philosophy and Art 208: 20th Century American Art.

Students may register for the art course Monday, Sept 25, 7-p.m. in Room HA 7. Viewing time will be 7 a.m. beginning Oct. 9. They may also register for the Philosophy course on the same date and time in HA 6. Viewing time for this course will be 7 p.m. TWTh. Requirements for these courses besides viewing include an on-campus meeting and a final examination. Final exams may be forwarded to any student who takes the course on a non-credit basis.

Continuing Progress Is Outlook For Coming Year

President Ronald Carrier of Madison College announced the outlook for the coming academic year at Madison College as one of continuing progress. Plans for approximately nine million dollars worth of construction of new facilities and renovation of existing buildings on Madison's campus in the next two years have been made.

Included in the construction plans are two new dormitories and a new math-science building. One of the dormitories will include facilities for conferences, a small snack bar, a game room, a large meeting and banquet room with space for 600. During the regular session, the building would house 230 students. The second dormitory planned will be a conventional structure and will provide space for 210 students.

The math and science building, which will be located on the Grace Street side of the campus, will cost approximately $3.2 million. The structure was approved by the General Assembly and construction should begin by the end of this year. Board membership now includes the six recent appointees as well as Mrs. Helen Mugler White and Wallace L. Chandler of Richmond, Mrs. Martha S. Grafton of Staunton; Mrs. Mary S. Hammond of Decatur, Georgia; and David Stovall of Charlottesville.

Retiring members this year included Charles C. Brown, Dabney S. Lancaster, Emily Spong of Portsmouth, and G. Fred Switzer and Russell M. Weaver of Harrisonburg.

In addition to these new structures, Dr. Carrier announced an $800,000 remodeling of the Gibbons Dining Hall and a $250,000 addition to the Reed Infirmary.

Expenditures in the dining hall will largely center around a modernization of equipment for food storage, preparation, and service.

The addition to the infirmary is part of a general plan to improve and expand the College's Health Services. Included in the addition will be therapy rooms and offices. The out-patient treatment center will approximately double in size. To help staff the larger infirmary, the College will employ a public health administrator, a physical therapist, and two additional physicians.

"It seems that we must constantly expand to meet the growing needs of our students and of the community," commented Carrier. "Each year there are more and more demands for increased facilities."

Dukes Enter First Grid Season With Five Games

For the first time in the Dukes' history, Madison will field a football team. The Dukes will play a short schedule of five games this fall and hope to schedule eight or nine contests for the '73 season.

"We plan to build a program which will put us in competition with the excellent college-division teams in Virginia," noted Ehlers. "We won't go with full-blown, big-money football programs because that's not practical for us, but we will field teams which are on the level of the fine teams at schools like Washington and Lee, Randolph-Macon, Hampden-Sydney, and Emory and Henry."

No scholarships will be given on the basis of football talent at Madison; however, financial aid will continue to be available to students on the basis of need.

Coaching the Dukes will be Chalface Joe McMillin, a former high school coach from Memphis. McMillin came to Madison in September of 1971 and launched the school's first intercollegiate track and field program this year. In addition, he served as Madison's cross country coach.

"This first year will necessarily be an organizational year and I know we won't become a strong competitor over night," Ehlers commented, "but I'm very pleased that we've decided to take this step. It will obviously mean a great deal to the athletic program and to the life of the college."

Ehlers noted several reasons for the adoption of a football program at Madison. "First, it will give those young men who want a chance to play football an opportunity to compete on an intercollegiate level. Second, it will provide entertainment and activity on Saturday afternoons, and will thereby add to the college's social life. And finally, it will give potential teacher-coaches practical experience through participation in the game, and prepare them more completely for their careers. Our general philosophy is that Madison is becoming a comprehensive campus, and that an efficiently run football program can be a very positive influence."

"I've talked with Athletic Directors at various colleges in the state, and these men have been very encouraging," Ehlers continued. "They want to see us active in Virginia small college football."

Ehlers and McMillin see no problem in recruiting participants for the team and point out that this year Madison will have 1,600 men enrolled — more than many Virginia schools with established football programs.

Fratello New JV Coach

Head basketball coach Lou Campanelli has named Mike Fratello as the Dukes' new Assistant Coach.

Fratello, like Campanelli, comes to Madison from the University of Rhode Island where he was the freshman coach during the 1971-72 season.

Fratello will be responsible for assisting in the varsity coaching, will coach the junior varsity team, and will handle recruiting and scouting for the Dukes. In addition, he will work with the players to insure that their academic work does not falter.

Fratello is a native of Hackensack, New Jersey. After graduating from Montclair State College with a degree in physical education, he coached basketball for a year at Hackensack High School.

In the fall of 1970, he received a graduate assistantship in physical education at Rhode Island and worked on a Masters degree while serving as Assistant Freshman Coach. The next year, he took over as coach of the freshman team and produced a season record of 8-11.

While at Montclair, Fratello played four years of varsity football as a corner back and one year each of baseball and basketball.

The son of a former professional fighter, Fratello hopes to finish his thesis for the M.A. before the basketball season starts. He is studying the correlation between knowledge and performance among basketball players.

Moyers Chosen All-American

D. L. Moyers, freshman golf standout at Madison College, has been named an Honorable Mention All-American by the NCAA College Division selection committee.

Moyers, a native of New Market, Va., recently placed 21st among the 178 individuals who competed in the NCAA sponsored National Golf Championship in Williamstown, Massachusetts. Going into the final round of the four-day tournament, he was in a tie for third, three strokes off the lead, but a fourth round score of 82 dropped him out medalist contention.

During regular season play, Moyers compiled a 13-3-1 match record and helped lead Madison to a 13-4 season record and a berth in the national championship tourney. In his senior year at Stonewall Jackson High School, he won medalist honors at the Virginia State high school tourney.

The young golfer also plays on the Dukes' basketball team.

Moyers becomes the third male athlete at Madison to win All-American honors this year.

Dukes Booters Expand Schedule To 15 Games

The Dukes' Soccer team will play a fifteen-game schedule this fall including eight games at home, according to a statement made by Bob Vanderwarker, Head Coach for the Dukes.

The team will open with back-to-back home contests against the University of North Carolina at Wilmington and Washington College of Maryland on the weekend of September 22-23.

The Dukes will seek to repeat the success of last year when they went 7-3-1 and earned a berth in the NCAA South Regional College Division Tournament in Florida. Heading up the efforts will be leading scorer Tom Riley, named Madison's Outstanding Athlete last year, and Al Mayer, the Dukes' All-American goal-keeper. Mayer was rated one of the top four goalies in the U.S. by the National Soccer Coaches' Association at the end of the 1971 season.

An out-of-state trip will feature matches with Elizabethtown College of Pennsylvania and Hofstra University of New York.

The Hofstra match will provide Vanderwarker with a rare opportunity to compete against one of his old teams. He coached the Hofstra soccer team to a berth in the NCAA University Division Soccer Championships in 1968 prior to coming to Madison.

The Dukes will be assisted by a large group of entering freshmen with high school soccer experience. Vanderwarker is pleased with the team's prospects but is cautious about making predictions.

"We naturally have some big games on the schedule," he said. "But we have to take them one at a time. Our most important game is always the next one."

The Dukes are expected to mount a strong challenge in both the Virginia Intercollegiate Soccer Association and the Virginia College Athletic Association championships. On the basis of his team's success last year, Vanderwarker was named the Coach of the Year by the VISA.

Phillips And Fletcher To Head 1972 Harriers

Madison College's Cross Country Team, in its third season of intercollegiate competition, will compete in four dual meets and three triangle meets, according to a recent announcement.

Since last year's coach, Challace McMillin, has been named to head the Dukes' first football team this year, Athletic Director Dean Ehlers will coordinate the cross country program.

Five returning lettermen and several experienced freshmen will combine to give the Madison team bright prospects.

Captains for the fall season are veterans J. O. Phillips and Bill Fletcher.

Among the entering freshmen are two runners from Jeb

Stuart High School in Falls Church — Tom Donelson and Greg Gerleck. Both are highly thought of by the Madison staff. Gerleck has been clocked at 9:28 in the 2-mile.

The Dukes will open the season against crosstown rival Eastern Mennonite on September 23, and will meet Shepherd College of W. Va. one week later. Other opponents include Messiah College of Grantham, Pa., Bridgewater, George Mason University, York College, Washington and Lee, and a second meet with EMC.

Only one home meet is planned — a triangle affair with Roanoke College and Lynchburg College on Friday, October 20.

Intramurals

"Our goal is to offer every male student the opportunity to compete in some phase of the intramural program," stated intramural director Brad Babcock.

Eagle 4 captured the team championship last year by showing consistency in every sport that they entered.

Attention

A compulsory meeting of all men's intramural representatives will be held in Godwin Hall on Sept. 7 at 7:00 p.m. The team sign-up for flag-football will be taken at that time. Games are slated to begin Sept. 11.
