Ex-Madison Student Stars In Production

A '69 Madison graduate plays the lead role in the upcoming Valley Players production, The Owl and the Pussycat, written by Bill Manhoff.

Gary Flavin plays the owl-ish Felix, a young, stuffy intellectual who is prone to spying from his apartment window. Although Flavin teaches English and American literature at the Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind, his first love is the theatre. Testimony to Gary's acting ability is the fact that he is able to communicate successfully with his deaf classes at VSDB even though he has had no prior training in sign language.

While at Madison, Gary starred in Barefoot in the Park, Three Sisters, and Oliver.

The play, described by one reviewer as "filled with good, healthy, vulgar, neurotic laughter," will be presented at 8:30 p.m. November 13-15 and 20-22 in the Harrisonburg Municipal Building. All seats are reserved at $2.00 each.

Sam Heatwole and Roger Buchanan will star in Stratford production, "The Odd Couple", November 17-22 in Lattimer-Shaeffer Auditorium.

Play Tickets Available

The Stratford Players of Madison College have chosen for their first production of the 1969-70 season a comedy by Neil Simon entitled, "The Odd Couple".

The play will be performed

November 17-22 in the Lattimer-Shaeffer Theatre of the Duke Fine Arts Building. Performances will begin at 8 p.m.

Tickets will be available in the bookstore lobby from 9 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, November 10-14 and from 9 to 12 noon Saturday, November 15.

Each student will receive one free ticket; additional student tickets can be secured for $1.00. Students who do not pick up advanced tickets will have to pay $1.00 at the door. Those seats not claimed before 7:50 p.m. the night of the performance will be resold.

Tickets for administration, professors, and the public will be available at the same time in the bookstore lobby, or at the ticket office in Duke during the nights of performance at $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children.

While he appears to be enjoying a few moments of relaxation, Sam Heatwole is actually rehearsing a scene from the upcoming Stratford play.

Madison Prof Joins Physicist Team Researching Source of Gamma Rays

Dr. John A. Staib, professor of physics, is a member of a team of American and Australian physicists who have found a point source of high-energy gamma rays in the constellation Sagittarius.

Although the source has not been seen optically, its gamma rays were detected by instruments aboard two high-altitude balloons launched from Parkes, Australia, last February.

Further flights this month with a bigger balloon (which could cover three football fields) to higher altitudes will pinpoint the source with much greater precision.

Awards Highlight Student Research In Essay Contest

Madison once again will offer an award of $100 to the student writing the best paper on any topic having to do with the area of the United States during the years 1751-1836. Papers are solicited in the areas of art, music, science, history, literature, fashion, folklore, religion, or political science.

Certificates will be awarded to the winner and an honorable mention at the Founder's Day convocation in March. All contestants will be guests of college at the Founder's Day banquet.

Papers should be submitted to the Director, Division of Social Studies, not later than Feb. 20. The papers should involve original research by a student registered at the college.

Entries should be typed, double-spaced, and should be approximately 5,000 words in length. The format should follow W. G. Campbell's Form and Style in Thesis Writing. The college reserves the right to make no award if no paper merits an award. Winning essays will be published by the college.

Dr. Staib became involved in research while he was earning M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at Case-Western Reserve University. He earned the B.S. degree in engineering physics at the University of Toledo. Two of his fellow physicists from Case-Western Reserve's physics department, Glenn M. Frye, Jr., and Alan D. Zych, are the other Americans on the team.

The discovery of the point source of gamma rays in Sagittarius eliminates 10 years of research by this and other groups. Gamma rays are the most energetic form of waves known to science. The array of detectors has recorded showers of fragments generated by cosmic ray particles of extraordinary energy. Four had energy levels about 100 billion billion electron volts. This is more than a billion times the energy imparted by the largest man-made accelerator, or "atom-smasher."

The research project is supported by the U. S. National Science Foundation, the U. S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration (CWRU), and the Australian Research Grants Committee of the University of Melbourne.

Analysis of the data collected by the balloon flights is Dr. Staib's main task. He regularly travels between Harrisonburg and Cleveland to confer with his colleagues, and to run computer analyses of his material.

Dr. Staib hopes to establish a definite analysis center here by next year.

Christian Scientist Speaks Thursday

The power of God to improve human experience will be the theme of a lecture to be given tomorrow by Jules Cern, C.S., of Scarsdale, N. Y.

Mr. Cern, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak in Room M110 of the Dukes Fine Arts building at 6:30 p.m.

A native of Texas, Mr. Cern worked as an advertising manager of Christian Science. He appeared in several plays on Broadway and toured most of the U. S. and Canada.

Nixon's Draft System Outlines Better Future for Young Men

(Editor's Note: The following article contains excerpts from a press release by Congressman William A. Steiger's office in Washington, D. C.)

The present draft system asks a young man to put aside any plans for the future until he serves in the armed services or until he reaches the age of 26. His job, education, plans for marriage, family and home often hinge on his draft status—not for a year, but for up to seven years.

President Nixon's draft reform lottery plan is aimed at giving 18 year olds advance notice of their prospects for being drafted in their 19th year. Students and others with draft deferments would go back into the draft pool when their draft deferments end.

This is how the President's plan will work. Each year all young men who will be 19 years old before the next January 1st will be placed in the prime age group. For one year these men will be eligible for the draft. If a young man obtains a deferment, he can postpone his participation in the prime age group until his deferment expires.

All the calendar days of the year will be drawn by lottery and assigned a priority number. The drawing will establish the sequence for inducting members of the prime age group. For example, if August 3rd is the first date drawn, then those in the prime age group whose birthday falls on August 3rd would be most eligible for the draft. If July 5th was the second date drawn, then those born on this day will be next in line, and so on.

A young man will only have to examine his place in line to know his susceptibility. Once the sequence is determined, it will not change, and once he has been in the prime age group for a year, he will not be subject to the draft again except, perhaps, in the case of a national emergency.

Draft boards will continue to be responsible for authorizing deferments on the basis of such reasons as hardship or college study. Therefore, random selection only establishes the order of inducting those who are classified 1A.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Think About It--Decide

Students transfer from Madison after every semester for various reasons. Transferring is an involved process and should be undertaken only after much sensible thought and discussion. Many freshmen have already decided that, "I will never come back here second semester." This decision is valid if the student is transferring knowing not only what he is getting out of, but what he is getting into.

Often, freshmen complain that studying is impossible in the dorms; however, have they any assurance that another school's dorms would be any quieter? Wouldn't supervised study halls be quite degrading to a college student? Madison offers study halls in academic buildings and the library for a quiet atmosphere. Then, too, anyone mature enough to attend college should have enough backbone to tell their friends that they cannot entertain them as they must study.

Madison's Rules are not nearly as strict as some other area colleges. The Student Government has worked hard to liberalize the dating hours, but what is there to do in Harrisonburg after one o'clock anyway? And has anyone tried to count the other schools in this area that have an unlimited class cut policy?

We often complain about Madison without taking into consideration that it is a Virginia State supported school and, at that, the least expensive one.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Let's Be Frank

by Frank Humphreys

"Now is the winter of our discontent," wrote Shakespeare many years ago. To put it in modern jargon, everybody is fed up! What ever happened to the peaceful coexistence that everybody was talking about not too long ago?

It seems that we have lost all desire and ability to get along peacefully with each other, that we are now doing everything in our power to spite someone else. Just read the papers and magazines and watch the boob tube if you have any doubt.

As a counter to the recent moratorium opposing the handling of the Vietnam situation, President Nixon faced the nation with a speech aimed at gaining the support of the "silent majority." They responded with a flood of letters and telegrams, proving that "the American people stand behind the chief executive" in his war policies.

The New Mobilization, meantime, went right on planning its march on Washington scheduled for this week. One small problem, however: the justice department initially refused to grant a parade permit because of the fear of violence. That surely will not stop the demonstrators, unfortunately.

A young AWOL marine, fed up with a number of things, took a Boeing 707 and made an unscheduled trip to Italy, where the fed-up Italian police handled him accordingly.

During a recent demonstration at M.I.T., students used force to prevent workers from entering one of the research sites. The local police's nerves finally wore thin, and they waded into the demonstrators. On nationwide television, the police were shown in brilliant form, clubbing several newsmen and even beating medical personnel on the scene to treat casualties.

Virginians, fed up with over a century of machine politics, elected their first Republican governor since reconstruction days. With a Democratic lieutenant governor and attorney general, one wonders if there will be that much of a change.

And while all this is going on around us, what is happening at Madison? Outwardly, everything seems normal, which it virtually is. But there is some slight turbulence just below the surface. It was expressed well by the vice-president of one of the classes when, after hearing of numerous stumbling blocks placed before one organization trying to get organized on campus, said, "Why, they can't do that to you!" or words to that effect.

Actually Madison is making great strides maintaining peaceful coexistence and furthering student rights. Let us all work to maintain the momentum already gained by this movement.

By the time this comes to press, Veteran's Day will have gone down in history for another year. But it is never too late to remember those who gave their lives for their country. They served well, died fighting for the greatest country in the world.

Heck, it may not be perfect, but it is way ahead of any other. Though all those who died may not have thought the war in which they were fighting was just, they recognized the obligation to their homeland and answered the call unhesitatingly.

Don't let their sacrifice be forgotten!

Do you have any grievances you would like to air with the administration? Attend the President's Open Meeting, tomorrow in Blackwell Auditorium at 6:30 p.m.

the topic is-- a WEATHER CHANGE

by Debbie Darr

Good afternoon, friends. I am sorry to say that the weekly weather forecast for Madison College is pretty dismal. Huge storm clouds gather over the red tile roofs. The humidity is very sticky and seems to threaten a torrential downpour. Floods may be expected if the storm does break. As a safety precaution, everyone should begin constructing his personal ark, and remember to make it watertight. If the water should start rising, you could either sink or swim.

Thus, use some common sense--start protecting yourself now. Wind direction has changed abruptly; we are beginning to get chill breezes from the right. Dig into your closets for your heavy coats. Insulation may be needed because a cold could have dangerous consequences. As an added side light, the upper atmosphere bristles with static that could electrocute the unwary individual.

As for my future predictions...every concerned person should just play it cool at present. We all know that the weather can play sly tricks. Hopefully, by next week, the sky will once again be clear. Then, everything can settle back into a normal groove.

Dr. Franke Gerome reminds students intending to apply for the Fulbright-Hays fellowship awards that all applications must be filed with him by Dec. 1.

In addition, any student wanting more information on the studies abroad program should contact him at Ext. 6384 or in his office in the basement of Jackson Hall.

Publication Seeks Collection of Verse

A highly selective collection of the cream of college verse, the lyric voice of student America, is now being assembled by Laureate, the annual anthology of outstanding student poetry, for publication in April 1970.

The contest is open to all men and women enrolled in any American college or university and offers a first prize of $500 and a gold medallion, second prize of $250 and gold medallion, third prize of $100 and silver medallion, and honorable mention merits a bronze medallion.

There are no restrictions as to length, style or subject matter, nor is prior publication a requisite. The deadline for submission of entries is Feb. 15, 1970.

All entries should be mailed to Laureate, P.O. Box 307, Cedarhurst, N. Y. 11516. A stamped self-addressed envelope must also be included.

Letters to the Editor

Intramural Participant Speaks

Dear Editor:

Within the past three years, Madison's P. E. Department has developed an excellent men's athletic program.

Varsity sports keep enthusiasm prevailing during their respective seasons, and intramurals maintain a constant "rivalry" among all the men students.

Intramurals are more than just recreation for the men who participate in them. They work hard at winning and take a deep pride in their teams and accomplishments.

I am concerned, however, that the intramural program is destined to fail unless adequate steps are taken to keep a certain official from letting his prejudices interfere with his job.

The referees are hired and paid by the head of the intramural program. Therefore, to maintain their jobs and because of "lack of nerve", some of the referees will listen to "the side-line ref", and call plays as he directs.

Cheating, numerous reversals of decisions, and the creation and ignoring of rules is hampering the men's program for the second consecutive year.

If the referees are not permitted to officiate their own games, and if the intramural coordinator does not stop sporatically changing the rules to benefit his own "pet team(s)", the men's intramural program will not survive.

Please sign me —

Concerned intramural participant

Liberal Sign-Outs Requested

Dear Editor:

I sincerely hope that it will be possible for Madison students to sign out for motels, apartments, etc. with their dates by next year (or sooner).

Several frustrated dorm students have substituted the day lounge for the above mentioned places. As we are short on space anyway, they are really becoming an inconvenience.

I have continuously been required to remind these people that the day lounge is not on the list of dating centers (see Handbook, page 104); but seeing as there are no dating centers open at 6:30 a.m., they are left with few alternatives.

Thanks for letting me state my argument for change.

Sincerely,
Cathy Tullous

N. Y. Law Viewed As Threat Regarding Campus Sovereignty

ALFRED, N. Y. — Dr. Leland Miles, president of Alfred University, recently warned that government attempts to legislate standards of student behavior at American colleges "could be more dangerous to us than all campus disruptions combined."

Dr. Miles suggested that laws of this kind open the door to further government intrusions into university affairs and threaten the continued existence of academic freedom. He voiced his "uneasiness" over the new legislation, whether passed or under consideration at the state or federal level.

He cited specifically New York state's recently-enacted Henderson Law. The law requires colleges and universities in New York to file with the Commissioner of Education a policy governing public order on campus. Failure to file could result in a loss of state fiscal aid.

Dr. Miles described the law as a moderate piece of legislation and praised the "political skill and leadership of Assemblyman Charles Henderson" for avoiding a far more distasteful act.

But President Miles contended that it was this type of law, "however well intended, which infringes on the sovereignty of educational institutions. This law could be the beachhead for more extensive intrusions into university affairs. If we are not watchful the state regulation of student conduct might slide imperceptibly into state regulation of curriculum and even into state regulation of the requirements for a degree," he said.

"Should such developments occur we should then have reached the end of the university as a center for free inquiry. This kind of infringement in the long run could be more dangerous to us than all campus disruptions combined."

Did You Know ---

Did you know that marital experts believe in 3 of every 4 marriages, the girl chased the boy?

Did you know that psychologists estimate that you are bored more than one-third of the time?

Did you know that if you ever face sudden death, odds are 2 in 5 you'll see a flashback of your life?

Did you know that one in 5 of us had a super-normal experience?

Recognize this familiar Madison landmark? No . . . well, observant students will notice an unusual photographer's view of the rose garden near Hillcrest.

Food Department Announces Policies Governing Banquets

Because of the rapidly increasing number of requests for the Food Service Department to provide food service for large gatherings, it has become necessary to establish a policy governing banquets. The following points outline this policy:

1. Any organization wishing to hold a banquet or similar event in Gibbons Hall will be charged per guest in accordance with menu and labor costs. These costs will be set by the Food Service Manager for each event. Since those guests who are boarding students will already have paid part of these costs, the charge for each of them will be less than for a non-boarding guest.

2. The only organizations who are exempt from paying these menu and labor costs are the classes (freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior), since they are the only organizations to which all students belong automatically. Thus, one banquet for each student per year is provided free. It is felt that use of the regular Food Service budget for banquets for groups with a selective membership is inequitable to the rest of the students whose fees support Food Service. Therefore, all other groups must follow the policy outlined in item 1 above.

3. All organizations, including the classes, who want to hold a banquet must agree to the provisions of the "Food Service Special Events Guarantee Policy." This means that:

(a) At least two weeks prior to the scheduled event, the person responsible for making food service arrangements will contact the Food Service Manager and agree upon a menu for the group. At this time, the Food Service Manager will be given an estimate of the number of persons who will attend the scheduled event, and the group representative will be informed of the cost per guest of the event.

(b) Then, 24 hours prior to the event, the group representative must sign a firm guarantee of the minimum number of guests for whom meals should be prepared. This means that Food Service will prepare for an additional 10% of the number stated in the guarantee, but will accept a 10% reduction in this number without compensation. Therefore, the sponsoring group must guarantee payment for 90% of the total number of persons for which services are requested (i. e. 90% of the number on the guarantee). For example, if the group signs the guarantee agreement stating that 100 persons will be present, the Food Service Department will prepare meals for 110. The group guarantees payment for at least 90 meals even if fewer than 90 actually attend. If more than 90 attend, the group pays for the actual number of meals served.

If you have questions regarding this policy, please see Mrs. Corinne Chafey, Director of Student Activities, in Alumnae Hall.

Peace Corps Sets Extension Program for More Students

The officials of the Peace Corps and the State University of New York College at Brockport have announced completion of arrangements for continuing and extending the unique Peace Corps/College Degree Program to admit a fourth group of candidates in June, 1970.

The members of the first contingent completing the fifteen-month program which combines the upper division undergraduate education with Peace Corps preparation are now serving on bi-national educational development teams in the Dominican Republic; the second group is now serving in similar assignments in Peru and Honduras; the third group is now in the academic year phase of this joint project and is slated for overseas assignment in Latin America in August, 1970.

The candidates will be selected from the ranks of students in good standing at an accredited college who are completing their sophomore or junior year by June, 1970. Those selected will be able to earn an A.B. or B.S. degree and be eligible for a Peace Corps assignment in one academic year flanked by two summers of fully subsidized and integrated academic courses and Peace Corps training. They are expected to major in mathematics or the sciences.

At the end of the second summer armed with the degree, a teaching license, in-depth cross cultural preparation and fluency in Spanish the graduates as Peace Corps Volunteers will be off on their Latin American assignment. As members of the staffs of teacher training institutions and/or consultants to secondary teachers of mathematics or science, they are important participants in the educational development efforts of their host countries. During their two year sojourn they have the opportunity to earn up to twelve semester hours graduate credit.

Sinfonia Music Frat Announces Activities

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity of America held its Eastern Regional Convention in New York City last October 11-12. As the result of a vote by the members of Province 33, Tommy McDonald was elected to be the sole delegate to represent the entire province at Sinfonia's National Convention in July 1970.

Province 33 comprises eight chapters in the Virginia, Washington, D. C., and Maryland area, and represents approximately 300 active members of this professional men's music fraternity.

It is a distinguished honor for Madison College and Gamma Alpha Chapter on campus to have Tommy representing them and the entire province at this convention.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, in an effort to promote school spirit and provide some needed support for our fine basketball squad, has initiated sponsorship of a pep band. The band's first appearance will be at the Alumni Game on November 22, 1969.

The band consists of fifteen musicians chosen from among the students at Madison. It is another in a growing list of activities on campus, all of which are seeking to make Madison a complete and active college.

It is the hope of all the band members that the entire student body will come out and support this excellent basketball team and, of course, get a chance to hear the Pep Band.

exert considerable political influence. In the straw votes taken in the colleges, Linwood Holton won 20 of 22 college elections. These victories prior to the actual election no doubt exerted some influence on the outcome.

More importantly, the activities of the Young Republicans and other interest groups such as Students for Holton in distributing campaign material, canvassing and other political activities may have been the contributing factor in Mr. Holton's election.

On behalf of the Harrisonburg Republican Committee, I wish to thank the Young Republicans and other students of Madison College who contributed a great deal of their time and energy in the campaign.

Flag football playoffs in both the Living Unit and the Fraternity divisions will get under way Friday at 4:30 p.m. with two games on the schedule.

Regular season play ends this week with playoff spots still in doubt in the dormitory division. The first four finishers will qualify for the playoff in this division while the winner and runner-up will vie for frat league honors.

The Studs and Shorts 4th Floor seem assured of spots with the third and fourth berths being hotly contested by no less than four teams. SPE and PKB finished 1-2 in the fraternity loop.

Games Friday will pit the No. 1 team in the dorm league against the No. 4 team in the first game. The second and third place teams will meet in the second game. The frat division sends PKB against SPE for one of the title berths.

Entering the final week of play, the Studs head the living unit standings with a 7-1 record while Shorts 4th Floor is 6-2-1. Shorts 3rd Floor, the Day Students, Jackson, and Shorts 2nd Floor will fight it out for the remaining two positions in the playoffs.

The playoff will vie finalists for the title Nov. 21.

Tryouts for the all-star flag football team, which will oppose Bridgewater Nov. 20, end this afternoon and the successful players will be named in the near future, Dr. Ed Lipton announced today.

Badminton intramurals will begin Dec. 1 with competition in singles, doubles, and mixed doubles. Those interested in this program are asked to contact Dr. Lipton via Box 556.

Two other intramural programs for men only will also get under way Dec. 1. These are bowling and volleyball. Bowling teams will consist of five men while volleyball rosters will have 12. Medical clearance is necessary for the volleyball competition.

Swimmers Begin Fine Season With 2 Consecutive Victories

The girls' swimming team came up with a pair of overwhelming victories to open their season with divers Joan Saunders and Meg Kable showing the way.

The mermaids, coached by Miss Pat Davis, walloped Mary Baldwin, 67-10, in their season opener on Oct. 29 and trounced West Hampton, 50-18, on the following day.

The team swept first and second place in every event against Mary Baldwin, and chalked up seven first, two second, and five third-place finishes at Westhampton.

Results of the Longwood and Mary Washington meets will appear in the next issue of the Breeze.

Madison Sponsors BlueRidgeTourney

Berths on three Blue Ridge Association field hockey teams to compete in the Southeast tournament at Sweet Briar on Nov. 22 were at stake last Friday and Saturday when Madison played host for the Blue Ridge field hockey tournament.

Eight schools, including Madison, participated with a total of 200 girls involved in the competition for the coveted spots. Other schools in the association include Lynchburg, Roanoke, Hollins, Bridgewater, Stratford, Randolph-Macon Women's College, and Sweet Briar.

Madison entered the two-day event with a fine 6-1-1 record and but one game remaining on the schedule. The Purple and Gold was scheduled to play Hollins on Friday and Roanoke on Saturday. (Results of the games were not available by the Breeze deadline and will appear in the next issue.)

The girls chosen for the Southeast team later this month will travel to the University of Michigan to try out for the United States team during the Thanksgiving break.

- The Grandstander -

Lynchburg made a clean sweep of the area soccer teams by defeating Madison, 3-0, on Oct. 31, and trimming EMC, 2-1, on the following afternoon. The loss gave the Dukes a 1-7-1 record for their second season in the sport.

EMC wound up its campaign with six victories, six losses, and a tie after drubbing Old Dominion in its finale Nov. 3.

Coach John Rader of the Dukes feels that his boys made some progress this year despite an unimpressive record and hopes that the experience will benefit them next season. He called the Lynchburg game the best effort of the year in praising the defense — particularly Charlie Wymer and Mike Taylor.

The JV booters opened their three-game slate by tying Massanutten Military Academy, 2-2, on goals by Joe Erickson and John DiGuardo. Bob Robinson was the defensive standout. A penalty kick gave MMA its second goal.

Basketball practice has not been without its casualties with the latest added to the injury list being Guard Bob Maley who suffered ligament damage to an ankle and will be out of action indefinitely.

Thus Maley is the second guard to be sidelined already this year. Lowell Turner will be inactive for several weeks with a broken wrist.

Ted Erickson scored the lone goal as the JV soccer team bowed to the unbeaten Lynchburg JV squad, 3-1, last week. Thus the JV's had a tie and a loss in their brief schedule.

Coach John Rader said today that he hopes to expand the JV schedule extensively next year.

Basketball coach Cleve Branscum described himself as being pleased overall with the Dukes' performance against Bridgewater recently. He singled out Steve Misenheimer, Bruce Gibbens, and George Tolliver for praise.

Kansas State describes itself as the Purple Pride. Maybe the Dukes will come up with Gold Power this year.

The latest news concerning Muhammed Ali, alias Cassius Clay, is that he will star in an all-Negro play on Broadway in the near future.

It seems extremely appropriate, somehow, that this startling information appeared on the drama pages in most newspapers rather than on the sports pages. After all, Clay has been acting for a number of years now, and he may as well be getting paid for it. It is hoped that he has more talent in acting than he does in writing poetry.

If Federal City College does as well in its first basketball season as it did in club football in which it was undefeated, their opponents are in for a long season. FCC, in its first year, seems bent on making a quickie reputation in sports.

Its basketball team will be handled by Sam Jones, recently retired Boston Celtic star.

The Dukes will meet three D. C. area teams this year, but FCC is not among them.

Work with the mentally retarded and this is the thanks you get.

Most days, working with the retarded is no bed of roses. It's often so difficult and frustrating you find yourself asking, "Why did I volunteer in the first place?"

It takes time and patience to teach a kid how to tie his shoe. Or build up unused muscles so an adult can hold a job. Or clean up the classroom after thirty hyperactive seven-year-olds have made a mess of it.

It's tough. But from time to time little victories occur. There's a breakthrough. Somebody gets it right the first time. Someone's mind grows better and faster than you ever thought it would.

And you feel good again.

Or a bunch of kids does something nice for you. Just because they like you. Real well.

And that's the thanks you get.

Find out how you can help the retarded. Write for a free booklet to The President's Committee on Mental Retardation, Washington, D.C. 20201.
