Remembering physical plant supervisor and psychology professor

LUCIUS "CASEY" FRYE SR.

Former operations supervisor in JMU's physical plant department Lucius "Casey" Frye Sr. died March 29. The Glade Spring, Va., native served in World War II, Korea and Vietnam. After a distinguished 23-year career in the U.S. Army, where he was awarded numerous combat and service medals, Frye joined the JMU staff in 1970. He directed and implemented the construction of Bridgeforth Stadium and much of the early campus expansion on the east side of I-81. JMU's Frye Building was renamed to honor Frye in 1991. Originally constructed in 1958, the building provided a long-needed central storeroom and maintenance building. The building later housed JMU's printing plant and computer services.

JAMES W. KUHNS

James W. Kuhns, professor emeritus of psychology, died March 31. He was a resident of the Virginia Mennonite Retirement Community and a member of Park View Mennonite Church. A former clinical psychologist, Kuhns joined the JMU School of Psychology faculty in 1970. Prior to joining the Madison faculty, Kuhns was a high-school
