Local Team Evens Score In Ninth Yearly Clash In Series Of Frays Between Rivals

FINAL SCORE IS 1-0

GOOD TEAMWORK AND EXCELLENT PLAYING TECHNIQUE IS EXHIBITED IN LAST GAME OF SEASON

Scoring a 1-0 victory over Westhampton, the Harrisonburg varsity played their best and last game of the season Saturday afternoon on the lower hockey field. Good team work was displayed by both teams despite the somewhat slippery field.

Captain Seay of Westhampton was the outstanding player of the visiting team and would probably have scored several times had it not been for the excellent defensive playing of L. Allred, E. Todd, right fullback, was by far the most outstanding player of the game. Her quick actions kept quite a few balls from going into the goal. E. Wilkins, during the first half, scored the only goal made. This is the first game H. T. C. has won from Westhampton since 1929 when the score was 5-4. Last year the game ended in a 1-1 tie. The two teams are now on even terms—each varsity having won four games.

Despite the bitter cold weather, there were a number of rooters to watch the team fight to victory.

The line up was as follows:
H. T. C. Westhampton
D. McDonald .....RW..... M. Canada
E. Wilkins .....RI..... Taliafero
L. Allred .....Center..... M. Lowe

Carol Service To Be Given Dec. 11

Violin, Cello, Organ to Accompany Singers of Ancient Carols

MISS MELONE DIRECTS CHORAL SONGS

Memories of ancient and traditional Noel will be revived as songs of was-sail are sung at the candlelight carol service which will be held on Sunday night, December 11, at 7:30 P. M. in the Harrisonburg Methodist Episcopal Church under the direction of Miss Vera Melone, music professor at the college.

There will be a long processional by candlelight and the choir will sing old English carols from the repertoire of the Westminster Choir and those which have appeared on the programs of English carol singers.

Violin, cello, and organ music will accompany the carolers.

The program included Jesu Bambino, Pietro Yon; A Rose Breaks into Bloom, Johann Brahms; Once in David's Royal City, H. J. Gauntlett; The Three Ships, Colin Taylor; When the Crimson Sun, old English Noel; The Holly and the Ivy, Rutland Boynton; When I Was a Learner, a negro spiritual; Good King Wenceslaus, traditional; O, Holy Night, Adolph Adam.

Scouting Groups Organized Here

MISSES BORN AND TOBITT CONDUCT LESSONS IN GIRL SCOUT CRAFT. P. ED. MAJORS TAKE COURSE

A class in scout training was recently organized at H. T. C. under the direction of Miss Ida Mae Born, New York, National Girl Scout Councilor, and Miss Jeanette Tobitt, England, member of the Girl Guides of Great Britain.

During the hours devoted to this work instructions concerning the organization and maintenance of scout troops were given. At each meeting the girls taking the course were divided into patrols and given some question to discuss. Games and songs suitable for younger children were learned. The fundamentals of the tenderfoot, second class, and first class tests were set forth.

Miss Tobitt gave an interesting account of the origin of scouting in England, its development, and growth. Miss Born talked of the development in America.

This course, preparing one to be a scout leader is given annually at H. T. C. All physical education majors are advised to take this work during their time at college.

SENIOR-SOPHOMORE GAME ENDS IN TIE

PARKINS, MacDONALD, COYNER, HAGA MAKE SCORES

On a half-frozen, slippery field the seniors and sophomores waged a sharp battle, Wednesday afternoon, which ended in a 2-2 score.

With short passes, good team play, and clever stick work the ball was passed from end to end and side to side of the field.

The sophomores scored first, Parkins making the goal. Almost immediately the seniors took the ball down the field and after a scuffle around the circle, Haga shot the ball into the goal.

MacDonald, sophomore wing, and Coyner, senior center, made the other two goals.

Both teams showed the improvement which comes from a long season of training.

It has not been definitely decided whether the tie will be played off or not, but both teams seemed unwilling to let a drawn score be the final one.

Line-up:
Seniors (2) Sophomores (2)
Mentzinger .....RW..... MacDonald
Finnegan .....CF..... Courter
Coyner .....RI..... Allred
Baker .....LW..... Bryant

Faculty Members Attend V.E. Meet

Drs. Boehmer, Duke, Gifford, Are Present At Educational Meet

ATTEND KAPPA DELTA PI TEA

Faculty members and former students of Harrisonburg State Teachers College attending the Virginia Educational Association in Richmond last week were entertained at an Alumnae luncheon, a Kappa Delta Pi tea, and at various dinner parties.

The alumnae luncheon was given in Richmond Hotel at noon, Thursday, November 24. Ruby Norford, new president of the Richmond alumnae chapter, wielded the gavel. Short talks were made by Dr. S. P. Duke, president of H. T. C., and Dr. Florence Boehmer, dean of women. Thirty people, including Dr. Duke, Dr. Boehmer, Dr. W. J. Gifford, Mrs. Rosa Loving were present.

Several alumnae also attended the Kappa Delta Pi tea given in Richmond Hotel at 4:00 Friday afternoon.

Margaret Herd, an alumna of H. T. C., gave a dinner party Friday evening in her Richmond apartment.

There were twenty guests, including Ruby Norford, Dr. Boehmer, Dr. and Mrs. Sidney B. Hall, and other Richmond.

Miss Palmer Talks On College Garden

ART PROFESSOR SPEAKS TO LOCAL GARDEN CLUB ON NEEDS OF SCHOOL PROJECT

Miss Grace M. Palmer, professor of fine arts, discussed the college garden project, at a recent meeting of the Garden Club held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Lineweaver.

Miss Palmer discussed many interesting features of the work being done. Approximately eleven dollars has been spent for conditioning the soil and for posts for the rose fence; and from twelve to fifteen dollars, for work by the men which included ploughing three or four times and putting in the fence for climbing roses. All the other work has been done by the girls.

Some of the most successful flowers have been the French dwarf and African marigolds, snow-on-the-mountain, and gladiolas. In the spring the gardeners hope to have lots of iris, jonquils, narcissi, and Madonna lilies. For next year they need larkspur, petunia, and zinnia seed and many yellow chrysanthemums.

To carry out plans for the future much shrubbery is needed. Rose slips have been set out in hopes of getting some rose bushes.

Y.W.C.A. Presents Seasonal Pageant

IDENTITY OF MADONNA WILL NOT BE DIVULGED UNTIL NIGHT OF PLAY

In accordance with its usual custom the Young Women's Christian Association will present a Christmas pageant, Christ is Born in Bethlehem, on December 15 at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of Wilson Hall.

The madonna for the pageant, whose identity will not be revealed until the night of the production, will be chosen by the student body from the following nominees: Frances Malloy; Elizabeth Warren; Lois Bishop; Sally Face; Virginia Ruby; Marietta Melson; Ann Davies; Betty Marie Coffey; Kay Carpenter; Ruth Hardy.

YEARBOOK WILL HAVE ORIENTAL BAZAAR DEC. 13

Novelties and Gifts from Hawaii, Egypt, China and Japan Will Be Displayed At Annual Fair

CLUBS PRESENT STUNTS

L. DREWRY AND C. MANKE PREDICT SUCCESSFUL UNDERTAKING FOR ANNUAL PROJECT TO BE HELD IN LITTLE GYM

Hawaiian, Egyptian, and Oriental goods will be the featured displays at the Schoolma'am Bazaar on Saturday December 10, after dinner in the Big Gym, according to Lois Drewry, Clifton Forge, editor-in-chief. Candy and soft drinks will also be sold.

Catherine Manke, business manager of the Schoolma'am is being assisted by Hilda Hisey and Hazel Wood in preparations for the bazaar. According to a statement from this committee, a shipment of goods was received last week, and a shipment of articles from a Japanese firm in New York is expected at an early date.

Various campus organizations have been put to work on stunts for the bazaar, and posters are under way. Prizes will be awarded for the most original and attractive posters and stunts.

The bazaar, sponsored by the Schoolma'am staff to give additional funds for betterment of the annual and, incidentally, to furnish people with unusual Christmas presents, bids fair to be a big success according to Lois Drewry and Catherine Manke, editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively.

The admission will be ten cents as usual.

ACT NOW!

A palmist reads your hand, then turns to you and says, "I shall answer three questions for you; what would you like to know?" Instantly there is a common reaction. Are these precious questions to be wasted about one's past? Indeed not, the natural reaction will at once be questions concerning the future.

Everyone of us seems to be concerned with the morrow. We all seem to hope that fate has in store for us the happy things that will bring, through some unknown manner, contentment and peace. Our dream castles are founded on achievements in the future; we live in hopes of the "to be."

Perhaps life is passing some of us by, because we are so anxious about what tomorrow will bring that we are unconscious of what is going on today. We are living in an age in which we travel quickly. We have no time to be always thinking about the good we are going to achieve. Perhaps our manner of living would be more coherent if we adhere to the present and let the future, partially, take care of itself. Logical thinking would consider that if we accomplish with the tasks placed before us today, we shall be able by our experience to achieve more difficult tasks in the future. Today is the time; opportunity is always knocking. Shall we hear? Shall we see?

LIFE

"Life is such a funny thing," say the poets. Funny in a strange sense not necessarily humorous. Moments of ecstasy are oftentimes overshadowed by those of melancholy. There are our good days and our bad days, and life isn't complete without either. LIFE IS SUCH A FUNNY THING, unexplainable to all of us, and yet how hard we try to define the impossible. Each experience should be of value, no matter how valueless it seems. Education means little or nothing when we think of life in the whole. From a birdseye view of life, many of us wish we could be in "someone's else boots" for a day. Yet, if we carefully consider our own lives, there are many worthwhile and undiscovered things we disregard as meaningless. Unhappiness is in the individuals own hands. Many times smiles are only outside masks hiding inner feelings. But smiles grow. The neighbor next to you may be influenced by your smile. Life, it is true is not what it seems to many of us. Still, if each were to write an autobiography, the situations and problems of life would be similar. If we adopted a philosophy such as Robert Browning emphasized—the constant groping toward the unattainable—our lives would be much more worthwhile. The past should not be looked upon as the best days. Our picture of the future should be rosy-hued. Ideals gained through day-dreaming are not fruitless. Beautiful as they are, we are still confronted by this thing called LIFE. Fatalistic attitudes are artificial and assumed merely for effect by the majority of human beings. Puzzled, we shake our heads and laugh and still say: "Life is such a funny thing."

BEHAVOIR

To possess the power of winning love and friends is a power every individual should cherish. With this power the poor girl is rich; without it, the richest girl is poor. The power of winning friends and love depends upon behavior.

Behavior is a revealer of real character. We must constantly strive against selfishness, ill-temper, irritability, and indolence. Generosity, kindness, self-denial, and industry are the traits which inspire love and win friends. The young girl who speaks loudly, and jokes and laughs and tells stories in order to be heard by others; who enjoys being the object of remarks; who expresses opinions on all subjects with forward selfconfidence, is regarded among cultivated peoples as disagreeable.

What, then, are the characteristics of the agreeable and beautiful manners that are the charm of the well-behaved girl? First, we should place gentleness, quietness, and serenity or self-expression. The greatest blemish of today is obtrusiveness and exaggeration. By obtrusiveness we mean a style

I See By the Papers

Getting out a paper is no picnic: If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety. If we publish things from other papers, we are too lazy to write. If we stay on our job, we ought to be out rustling news. If we do print them, the paper is filled with "junk." Like as not, some fellow will say we swiped this from another paper. He's right—We did—

She said she would prepare herself for a career of some sort after college because "father simply won't have a lazy daughter around the house who's not interested in anything but loafing."

The World's Need

So many Gods, so many creeds,
So many paths that wind and wind
While just the art of being kind
Is all the sad world Needs.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Worthwhile Pointers

Most of the things that are put off until tomorrow should have been done yesterday.

There is plenty of room at the top without pushing anyone off.

An ounce of performance is worth a ton of complaint.

—Theodore Roosevelt

If you can mend a situation, mend it; if you can't mend it, forget it.

A big man is usually a little man who took advantage of an opportunity.

Beginning right is half the battle.

The Flavor Lasts

A certain chewing gum, made familiar to most of us through advertisements and probably through our using it, has been telling the world that the superiority of its claim on gum-chewers is that "the flavor lasts." The fact is plainly stated. There is no hypocrisy by this claim for the gum that has made by this claim for the ghm that has made a certain name famous.

Every one of us has a chance to live among people so that our presence will be pleasing. In what we say and how we say it, in what we do and how we do it, and what we are and how we are—it is all a matter of conduct, disposition and attitude.

We need not only make a pleasing first impression; we must have wearing qualities so that our desirability will last. However, we must not claim to be what we are not. In fact, the flavor of character must last.

It may be that now and then people are met who are about as popular as a worn out piece of gum. The flavor in the gum is something added to it that makes it different from other gums. There is something to be added to life to give it the pleasing and lasting flavor that will make for popularity and usefulness. Let us all strive to develop our personality, our conduct, disposition, and attitude so that we shall have that pleasing flavor that makes our character last.

of speech and manners that attracts attention and remarks; by exaggeration we mean the constant use of the superlative. Such expressions as "perfectly awful," "too lovely for anything," "horrible," may be heard in conversation upon trivial and unimportant subjects.

There is a constant opportunity for observation of conduct and manners of polite people, by which young people may and should profit and learn to observe the preferred forms of society. But the best manners can never be acquired except as they become the natural expression of gentleness, kindness, respect for elders, and a desire to do good.

WHAT DO COLLEGE MEN WORSHIP?

"The two million dollar chapel recently built at Princeton has not only failed to gain a real grip on the students but is steadily losing even what little respect its great dignity and beauty did inspire at the start," says William Poole, Princeton '31 and the son of Ernest Poole, the writer, in an article in the December College Humor. "Some call it the Two Million Dollar Protest Against Materialism; more commonly it is known as 'Moby Dick.' A whale of a building—only that. Why hasn't the money bought what it paid for?"

"Students hoped that in this new chapel the same freedom would be accorded to us as is granted to undergraduates abroad and in a few colleges in this country—freedom to decide for ourselves whether or not we should go to church. The authorities, however, refused and held to compulsory chapel on Sunday. Long ago they had given up compulsory week day chapel. Compared to what our fathers had in the rigid old Presbyterian days it was distinctly 'light wines and beer.' But even this mild dose was too much. . . . Lectures on religious subjects replaced regular chapel service, but little interest was stirred. Yawning crowds of young fellows, back from gay week-ends in New York and Philadelphia on Sunday nights, are hardly an inspiring audience to a preacher.

"One reason for this listless attitude is the fact that in many cases parents and families have been as indifferent as the sons. Not that we are complaining of this lack of religious training. In such matters, we believe, we should be left to think for ourselves. But when we made the effort, we found so much thinking to be done that we got lost in the woods and came to no deep convictions of faith. At Princeton, also, it is distinctly bad form to show enthusiasm or serious interest in anything whatsoever. So how could we dare get excited about this subject of religion, even if we cared to? . . .

"Possibly," Mr. Poole concludes, "the depression may work out a change in the attitude of the undergrad ten years from now. He will be brought up to think and to feel in ways unknown to us. If he does, he may bring to college a new and larger attitude which will not be ashamed of enthusiasms. Will any chapel be able to hold it all? Or will the new religion be larger than any house of God?"

Eleven college men were asked to give briefly their thoughts on religion, and the results, printed under their photographs, afford an interesting symposium of the prevailing attitude of the younger generation toward the church.

You can always tell a senior
By her grave and sober air.
You can always tell a junior
By the way she combs her hair.
You can always tell a sophomore,
But you can't tell her much.
You can always tell a freshman
By the way she gets in "Dutch."

Did you know that the title of the latest gargle song is, "I Call My Girl Tonsillitis," cause she gives me a pain in the neck."

For the first time in history waitresses are now employed at the W. & L. dining hall. This has been done "for a change of atmosphere and scenery, and also to increase patronage."

around the town

By HELEN KITCHIN

Can you realize that it is only about two weeks before we go home for Christmas? It surely seems great—!! Now, lets see who's doing what—'course so close to vacation time there isn't so much going on among those who went home last week-end — Sid Henderson, Piercy Williams, Dot Williams, Lois Bishop, Catherine Bard, who took with her Peggy Mears; Martha Franklin, Liz Warren, Bill Crisman, Eunice and Lois Meeks, Ann Cogburn, Mildred Mullins, Pat Patterson, Mattie Wright, Babe Simmerman and myself —Since it was so close to Thanksgiving there were lots of dances going on, in Lexington, Blacksburg, Roanoke, Richmond, and other places. Sally Face, Virginia Orange and Conway Grey went to V. M. I. and Jean Averett, Martha Saunders, Marjorie Baptist went to W. & L.

Well now for the visitors on campus—Louise Harris' mother and sister were up from Lynchburg and Mary Blankenship's folks were here from Clifton Forge. Katherine Keller had as her guest on Sunday her family. These lucky people that always have company on Sundays. Guess you saw Margaret Tate on campus—who was visiting her sisters Mildred and Kathleen also Nancy Burns Combs of Richmond visited the Tates. Did you see Louise Thweatt? She was visiting Liz Carson—It's surely nice to see all the old ones back—isn't it? Grace Madden of New Market had as her guest Marion Smith and Kitty Taylor—Pam Parkins visited Kitty Bowen at Weyers Cave and reported a nice time and Dot Lipscomb went to Winchester to visit friends—Surely was a lot of girls going in different directions—Peggy Smith and Louise Borum were in Charlottesville, Madaline Newbill dined with Mrs. D. Thompson on Sunday—Oh yes, I almost forget, Miss Kate Davis was the guest of her sister Eleanor Davis, both spending a short while in Washington with friends and relatives. Have a nice time? That reminds me of another visitor, Red Henderson who was Cootie Melchor's guest—"Red" hasn't forgotten how to play a piano either—Hazel Koontz was at her home in Elkton over the week-end. Helen Meyer has gone to her home in Richmond for good, we'll miss Helen heaps.

Hattie Courter had a birthday party on Saturday—and it surely was nice—how does it feel to be a year older Hattie? And after I tell you about Ruth and Ruby Miller being home and also Margaret Kent, June Gulliford and Mary Glover going to Pulaski, thats all I know—everything! Better watch though because Santa will be snoopin' around before long.

Alumnae News

Many of the Alumnae were back for Tanksgiving and the week-end. The final hockey game of the season also attracted many of the old girls.

Among the old familiar faces that returned were: Frances Ralston, '32, who is spending the winter at home; Delphine Hurst, '31, who is teaching at Norfolk; Nellie Cowan, '31, who is teaching at Charlottesville; Marie Burnette, '31, who is teaching at Fayette's City, Pa.; "Red" Henderson, '33, who is teaching the first grade at Brookneal; "Jac" Johnston, '32, who is teaching near Washington; Louise Thweat, '34, who is living at her home in Petersburg; Margaret Tate, '33, who is teaching at Lebanon; Alma Bean, '34, who is teaching at Balston; Kitty Bowen, '32, who is teaching at Weyers Cave.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Jenny Lind Lucas Hockman, to Mr. Hubert Meredith Cather, both of Winchester, which took place on Monday, July 18, 1932 at 12:15 o'clock, in Snow Hill, Worchester County, Md., on the Eastern Shore. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Snow Hill Methodist Church with the pastor, the Rev. H. S. Schlinke, officiating at the ceremony.

Miss Hockman had as her maid of honor, Miss Margaret Mears, of Cheriton, Va., who was dressed in a tan ensemble with accessories to match, and carried and arm bouquet of talisman roses, tied with bronze tulle ribbon.

The bride was attractive in a skipper blue crepe traveling ensemble, trimmed with poudre blue flat crepe, with accessories to match, and carried an arm bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mr. Cather had as his best man, Mr. George Tankard, of Accomac, Va.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. Cather and his bride left for a wedding trip to Virginia Beach and Norfolk. Mrs. Cather is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson L. Hockman, of No. 5 South Washington street, Winchester, and is one of the most attractive and popular members of the Winchester younger set. She is a graduate of Handley High School, class of 1929, attended Lynchburg College, and graduated from the Harrisonburg State Teachers' College last June. She is an accomplished musician, both vocally and instrumentally, being particularly talented in violin.

Mr. Cather is a son of Mr. James A. Cather, of the Northwestern grade, this city. He is a graduate of Handley High School, and for several years past has been connected with the Winchester Steam Laundry in Warrenton and this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Cather have taken an apartment at No. 23 South Stewart street, where they will make their future home.

At a meeting of the Harrisonburg Chapter of the State Teachers' College Alumnae Association held at Alumnae Hall Mrs. Howard Rolston was elected president; Mrs. William Shreve, vice-president; Miss Janet Biedler, treasurer, and Miss Lucille McGlaughlin, secretary. Work for the coming year was discussed, after which bridge was played. Miss Frances Sibert winning high score and Miss Emma Byrd second high. A lovely gift was presented to Miss Sarah Milnes, the retiring president.

The marriage of Miss Frances Carraleigh Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jones of Gordonsville, to Joseph Edgar Singletary of Winston-Salem, N. C., was solemnized this evening at 7 o'clock in the Gordonsville Christian Church by the Rev. Robert A. Cooper, pastor.

The church was decorated with ev-

Richmond's first symphony season opened on November 28 in the Mosque under the direction of Wheeler Beckett.

Dino Biorgioli, leading tenor of La Scala Company, was the guest artist. The orchestra played Caesar Franck's D Minor Symphony, Dies Mistersinger overture, Invitation to Waltz, and Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance.

Gloria Jacqueline Perkins, nine-year old violin prodigy of Winston-Salem, N. C., will play on Thursday night at the first of a series of children's concerts.

Music plays a very essential and important part in the educational system of Germany, and is the last subject to be left out of the curriculum if any subject is to be dropped. If the children are not able to buy books, the teachers furnish the material or supply them with books. Much emphasis is placed on the singing of folk music in Germany.

This subject was discussed at the meeting of the Virginia Music Teacher's Association held in Richmond last week.

Suggestions were made at this conference for a state-wide program in organizing orchestras and bands in the high schools.

The Westminster Choir of Princeton, N. J., under the direction of Dr. John F. Williamson, broadcasts a varied song program every Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 P. M. and Wednesday night at 9:00 P. M. over the National Broadcasting Company network.

SYMPATHY

The Breeze extends deepest sympathy to Benrice English, Dorothy Spencer, and Alma Ruth Beazley in their recent bereavements.

AMHERST

Amherst, Mass.—Coddling of students was denounced by Amherst College's new lawyer-president last week as he gave his inaugural address to the student body and visiting college presidents.

Students, he said, should be self-reliant by the time they get to college. He continued:

"I would trust them to live from day to day as young men should, instead of trying to prepare them for living. I would regard them from the start as young citizens, instead of hoping to train them to be citizens in the future.

"Our American fault as citizens is not our healthy resistance to rules, but our failure in adequate self-discipline. And so I would in college life place increasing confidence in the student body to live as young men of education should; to observe the conventions of gentlemen; to attain an increasing mastery of self-direction and self-discipline.

"As one necessary step in this direction, my colleagues and I have relaxed the rules for motor cars in Amherst, which were imposed some years ago after a series of tragic accidents. Instead of being completely banned, motor cars will be regarded as a privilege open to any upper classmen in good standing with a scholastic average of 75, if he submits a written request from his parent or guardian."

NOVEL BASED ON RED GRANGE ALMOST PHOTOGRAPHIC

"In San Antonio, Red was in a barber shop getting his locks snipped, when a young fellow got out of the next chair, came over, shook hands, and said, 'Hello, Red. You probably don't remember me. Sam Wood introduced us when you were making a picture in Hollywood. My name is Rogers.'

"It was Charles 'Buddy' Rogers, who had then skyrocketed into stardom. That 'you probably don't remember me' was typical of the modest kid. He was a good egg and his hat was the same size as when he had been an unknown. He was in San Antonio, with Dick Arlen, Gary Cooper, et al, making WINGS."

The above incident is typical of the intimate touch used by George Dunscomb in his novel current in the December issue of College Humor. There is a thrilling account, as photographic as a newsreel, of an actual football game between the Illini and the Chicago Maroons, "back in the days when Red was a lanky college junior and Chicago was a football school with a team that feared no man, even a Galloping Ghost—a game in which the Redhead came from behind, scored three touchdowns, accounted for gains totaling four hundred and fifty yards by his running and passing but finished sore at himself because the score was tied." . . . George Dunscomb has probably originated a new style of tabloid biography in this story, which has brought forth more fan letters than any individual feature ever published in College Humor.

ergreens, cathedral candles and yellow and white chrysanthemums.

An organ recital was given by Miss Agnes Beckham while the guests assembled. This was followed by two solos by Miss Margaret Crockett of Berryville, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of ivory satin and lace, made entrain. The veil of illusion was attractively arranged, forming a cap caught with sprays of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor was Mrs. A. L. Jones Jr., of West Orange, N. J., sister-in-law of the bride.

The maid of honor was Miss Virginia Jones, sister of the bride. Little Miss Betty Glass Oliver, of Chatham, Va., was flower girl, and little Miss Barbara Lee Jones of West Orange, N. J., niece of the bride, was ring bearer.

The groom had as his best man his father, W. O. Singletary of Winston-Salem, N. C. The ushers were A. L. Jones Jr., West Orange, N. J., J. B. and J. W. Jones, Blacksburg, Va., and Pat Jones, of Huntsville, Ala., all brothers of the bride.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents for the members of the two families and for out-of-town guests.

The bride holds a B. S. degree from State Teachers' College, Harrisonburg. She also has attended Columbia University, New York City. For the last two years she has taught in North Carolina.

The bridegroom was graduated from Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., and later attended the University of North Carolina. He is now connected with the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., Winston Salem, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Singletary left for a Southern motor trip soon after the ceremony. Upon their return, they will be at home in Winston-Salem.

OHIO STATE

Columbus, O.—In the last few years there has been so much trouble surrounding the selection of the annual Home Coming Queen of Ohio State University that the students this year allowed the visiting University of Pennsylvania football squad to pick the queen from among a number of candidates.

Miss Annabel Dunlop of Columbus was selected.

Once in the past corrupt balloting resulted in the election of a prize agricultural school cow as the home coming queen.

PACIFIST EDITORIAL WINS MILTON PRIZE

ical in the South during the calendar year 1932 the best editorial or editorials advancing the cause of International Peace. The term "South" shall be understood to mean the following states: Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Maryland. The term "editorial" shall mean an article prepared by, or under the jurisdiction of, the editorial staff of a newspaper or periodical and reflecting the paper's point of view.

The awards are not administered as a competition, but are bestowed in recognition of a service rendered to the cause of International Peace. Throughout the year the administrators will use every effort to survey the Southern field for contributions toward this cause. Editors, however, are asked to lend their assistance by submitting copies of printed editorials in behalf of International Peace in order that none worthy of consideration may be overlooked. They should submit two clippings of their published articles pasted upon white sheets 8½x11 inches. One sheet should be labeled with the name and address of the author, name of periodical in which the article appeared and date of publication. The other sheet should contain only the clipping. All communications should be addressed to "The George F. Milton Award, Division of University Extension, Box 4218, The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee," and must be received by December 31, 1932.

In addition to the award in journalism, the Milton Fund provides for a cash award of $200.00 to the woman writer in the South who has accomplished most for her sex. The estimate of achievement will not be necessarily based upon work accomplished during the calendar year 1932, nor necessarily upon work of purely literary merit. The administrators ask the cooperation of all women's organizations throughout the South in suggesting women whose outstanding service merits consideration by the judges.

Both decisions will be announced as soon as possible after the first of the year, and checks will be mailed to the winners. The administrators reserve the right to withhold awards if no contributions are deemed sufficiently worthy.

Sister Classes Tie Intra-Mural Games

The seniors and sophomores, sister classes, are trying for supremacy in the inter-mural hockey games which are being held. In the first set of contests which began with the junior-senior game Wednesday, October 19, the seniors won from the juniors 3-1 and from the sophomores 3-0. The sophomores trounced the juniors to the tune of 7-1. Of the second set of games, in which the freshman are scheduled to play, only one game has been played—the sophomore-junior game which the sophomores won 3-0.

These last games are expected to be particularly interesting since the school is anxious to know what the freshman have to offer in the way of future varsity material.

ALFRED

Alfred, N. Y.—Some 110 women students at Alfred University were driven out in a snow storm last week when a five-story co-ed dormitory was gutted by flames. Many of the co-eds managed to save a few of their personal belongings, but most of the women lost all they owned at school.

DePAUL

Chicago, Ill.—Dean Arthur Becker of DePaul University's school of music asserts that in his classes co-ed chorus blonds prove to be the best sopranos and brunets the best altos.

BROWN—COLUMBIA

New York—Miss June Joseph, 24, was painfully injured here when she was struck on the head by one of the falling uprights of Columbia's field goal posts when the Brown University fans, overjoyed at Brown's 7 to 6 defeat of the New York team swept out on the field to tear down the goals.

MINNESOTA

Minneapolis—The University of Minnesota Daily has fallen in line with those college newspapers of the country which this year have begun to suggest open and acknowledged policies of paying football players for the work they do for their colleges.

"Coaches are shifted as soon as a team has a losing streak," says the Daily. "Everything is done to keep the team winning and maintain gate receipts."

"The most important cog in the moneymaking machine is the football player, and his only return is 'that tired aching feeling' and a lot of slush about 'fighting for the dear old alma mater.' Why not pay the deserving workers?"

"I never knew until I got a car," said the bishop, "that profanity was so prevalent."

"Do you hear much of it on the road?"

"Why," replied the bishop, "nearly everybody I bump into swears dreadfully."

B. Cook Conducts Thursday Service

MRS. BALLINGEE MAKES SHORT ADDRESS

Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the local Y. W. C. A. was held in the Music Room of Harrison Hall immediately after breakfast Thanksgiving morning.

The entire program, under the direction of Eleanor "Bobbie" Cook, Charleston, West Va., was centered around the seasonal topic of Thanksgiving praises. Mrs. J. J. Ballingee, Methodist Church worker, gave a short address in which she stressed the necessity of a thankful spirit. Virginia Sloane, Winchester, read a Thanksgiving poem.

DEBATE CLUB GIVES DEBATE IN CHAPEL

The affirmative emphasized the fact that efficiency is the prime requisite of a teacher. Second affirmative speaker Wood cited statistical proof showing that marriage and teaching combine to an excellent advantage.

Negative speaker Frances Pence and her colleague, Ruth Shular, showed the irreparable harm a married teacher might cause to her home and to the school—in short, to society. She stated that the unemployment situation was aggravated by the employment of married women in the public school system—thus causing single women to be unable to secure a teaching position.

A decision in favor of the negative was rendered by the listeners in a standing vote.

Ruth Behrens, Timberville, Debate Club head, presided over the debate. Several more public Debates are to be given next quarter she stated.

The officers of the organization are Ruth Behrens, Timberville, president; Hazel Wood, Petersburg, vice-president; Alice Kay, Waynesboro, secretary; Frances Whitman, treasurer.

DETROIT

Detroit—How hard is it on a football player to watch all the games from the bench?

Johnny Metras, captain of the University of Detroit gridders can answer this. For two weeks, or during two games, he was on the bench with a minor injury. In that time he lost twelve pounds. He'd rather play, he says.
