Glamour Searches For Best-Dressed College Girls

GLAMOUR Magazine has begun its search for the 1964 "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America." Madison College is assisting in the search by selecting the best-dressed girl on our campus.

The student body will choose this girl from the following list, compiled by a special committee after receiving student suggestions, at an assembly on Monday, January 13 at 6:30 p.m. The candidates are Janet Wood, Nancy Spady, Ann Babich, Carol Mauk, Diane Pennewell, Sandra Stowe Wood, Lois Cardarella, Molin Blaylock, Chris Woods, Barbara Cassidy, Judy Oyhus Amos, Marcella Blaylock, Vicki McQuinn, Diane Powell, and Carol Ward.

In selecting the best-dressed young lady from Madison, students should consider the following criteria:

1. Appropriate look for off-campus occasions.
2. A clear understanding of her fashion type.
3. Clean, shiny, well-groomed hair.
4. Imagination in managing a clothes budget.
5. A workable wardrobe plan.
6. A deft hand with make-up (enough to look pretty but not overdone).
7. Individuality in her use of colors, accessories.
8. A suitable campus look (she's in line with local customs).
9. Good grooming, not just neat, but impeccable.

Pianist to Appear In Senior Recital

Miss Beverly Sawyer will be presented in a senior piano recital on January 16 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of Anthony Seeger School. She will be accompanied by Miss Mary Wood, a sophomore Voice major.

Miss Sawyer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sawyer of Portsmouth will receive her Bachelor of Music Education degree this January. She is studying with Mr. William Leland.

Her campus activities include Sigma Alpha Iota Music Fraternity, Kappa Delta Pi, M.E.N.C., Sigma Phi Lambda, Concert Choir, and Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority.

The repertoire will include Beethoven's "Eccossaises", a prelude and Fugue by Bach, Debussy's "Pour Le Piano Suite", and works by Tcheprnini and Katchaturian.

Miss Wood, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wylie R. Wood of Norfolk, is a contralto voice and piano major. She studies with Mrs. Edythe Schneider and Mr. William Leland. Her campus activities include Sigma Alpha Iota Music Fraternity, M.E.N.C., Concert Choir and Sigma Phi Lambda Honor Fraternity.

Miss Wood will sing "Jesu Schloft" by Bach, and Aria from Handel's "Xerxes", and other numbers by Mozart, Charles Griffes, Vaughn Williams, and John Duke.

John Lehrberger, mathematics professor, will present the fourth in a series of lectures sponsored by the Mathematics Department in Burress 8, January 14 and 16 at 3:30 p.m. His talk will be on "A New Approach to an Old Stumbling Block in Analysis."

The Madison College Faculty Music Recital Series, for January will feature Miss Marianne Webb, organ instructor and Mr. Lowell Watkins, assistant professor of music.

Music Department To Present Faculty Members In Recital

Two Madison professors will present their work. Miss Marianne Webb, organ instructor, will give an organ recital on January 14, 8:00 p.m. in Wilson and Lowell Watkins, assistant professor of music, will be featured in a piano recital, January 12, 4:00 p.m. in Anthony Seeger Auditorium.

Marianne Webb

Miss Webb received her B. M. degree at Washburn University, where she graduated summa cum laude. Her Master of Music degree, with highest distinction, was received at the University of Michigan. In the summer of 1960 she began her study for the Ph.D. degree at Syracuse University, and from 1961 to 1962 she was awarded the Fulbright Grant to Paris, France. She was organist and instructor in organ and piano at Iowa State University from 1959-1961.

One of many awards and honors, Miss Webb received from the National Music Fraternity of Music, Sigma Alpha Iota, includes the Honor Certificate and the Sword of Honor.

Some of her more recent recitals include one given for the Mid-West Regional Convention of the American Guild of Organists, one in the National Cathedral of the Holy Trinity and where she gave a recital in the Church of Saint Eustach. In November and December she played for two different chapters of the American Guild of Organists.

The program will be as follows: "Allegro" (from the "Sixth Symphony") by Charles M. Widow, "Song of Peace" by Jean Langlais, "Giga" by Jan Baptiste Loeillet, Chaconne in E minor by Dietrich Buxtehude, Fantasie and Fugue by J. S. Bach, The Nativity Suite by Olivier Messaien.

Program Adjustments Set For Monday, February 3

The period for program adjustments is Monday, February 3, 8:00-12 noon. Detailed instructions and data on closed sections will be available by January 10.

A student is subject to a fee of $5.00 for any changes in courses or schedule for the second semester unless the change is made February 3 before noon. This fee may be excused if circumstances are completely beyond the student's control and if the change is approved by the Dean of the College.

Classes for second semester will begin at 1:30 p.m. on February 3.

Lowell Watkins

Mr. Watkins' years of piano experience are included in a wide musical background. He received his Bachelor of Music degree from Westchester State College and his Master's degree from Columbia University. His former teachers include Dr. Lloyd Mitchell, Dr. Raymond Burrows, and Dr. Austen Conradi at Peabody Conservatory. He has been a teacher of piano at Madison since 1948.

Selections from his repertoire include Bach's "Partita in B Flat Major", a Mozart Sonata, a Chopin Nocturne and Etude, Debussy's "Bruyeres" and "La Cathedrale engloutie" in addition to "The Vale of Dreams" and "The White Peacock" by Griffes.

Stratford Compels Work and Plays

Two Madison students will be initiated into Stratford Players January 17, 1964. Mary Carolyn Schrop, senior, and Elizabeth Foresman, junior, have had to fill numerous qualifications to qualify for membership in Stratford.

Membership is by invitation following accomplishment of a certain high standard of work. One must have a sophomore rating, have assisted in two Stratford productions, and have worked a minimum of one hundred hours in connection with Stratford productions.

The Stratford Players promote interest in all phases of dramatic work, including acting, directing, staging, properties, make-up, and television production. Past productions have included plays by Tennessee Williams, Aristophanes, Thornton Wilder and Garcia Lorca. A minimum of two plays are produced each year.

Madison To Observe Honor Emphasis Week

Madison College will observe the eighteenth anniversary of Honor System during the Honor Emphasis Week, January 12-18.

In observance with this occasion the Honor Council will show a film entitled "The Harder Right", part of the series "West Point," at the Wednesday Assembly, January 15. The Council is also sponsoring buzz sessions in all dormitories on Wednesday, January 15 at 6:30 p.m. At these buzz sessions proposed ideas concerning the relationship of the student body to the Honor Council will be discussed.

The Honor System was started in 1945 under the direction of the president of the college, Dr. Samuel P. Duke. Before this time Madison College had no honor system of any kind. The only mention of honor was found in the Handbook which devoted a one-half page reminder to the students. The Honor system was put into effect with the publication of the 1946 Handbook.

Every student attending Madison College is a member of the Honor System. After the system is fully understood, students are asked to sign the Honor Code and live by it. The observance of Honor Week is not only the eighteenth anniversary but also a reminder to students of the responsibility that they pledged to accept when they agreed to live by the Honor Code.

ETS To Sponsor Teacher Exams

National Teacher Examinations sponsored by the Educational Testing Service will be administered on February 15, 1964 at testing centers throughout Virginia. The nearest center to Madison is Bridgewater College.

The examinations are given annually and can be taken as personal development evaluation. Some departments of education now use the test results for teacher certification. Candidates should obtain a list of school systems that require or encourage teachers to submit National Teacher Examination scores from their faculty advisors or by writing to the Princeton Office of Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Registration closes on January 31, 1964.

Common and optional examinations may be taken. Included in the list of common examinations are professional information, English expression, social studies, literature, fine arts, science and mathematics, and nonverbal reading. The optional examinations range from early childhood education to art education. In order to know which exams should be taken, students should contact the school system, state department of education, college, graduate school, or recognized agency to which they plan to have the scores sent.

Other testing centers in Virginia are Hampton Institute, Hampton; St. Paul's College, Lawrenceville; Virginia State College, Norfolk; Virginia State College, Petersburg; Radford College, Radford; and Richmond Professional Institute, Richmond.

Bulletins containing information about steps for registration, fees of examinations, regulations, and sample test questions can be gotten from Student Placement Office.

Contests Offered To MC Students

Several contests are now being held in which Madison students may enter. The contests are listed below:

MISS RICHMOND CONTEST

The Ginter Park Woman's Club of Richmond is sponsoring for the seventh consecutive year the Miss Richmond Pageant.

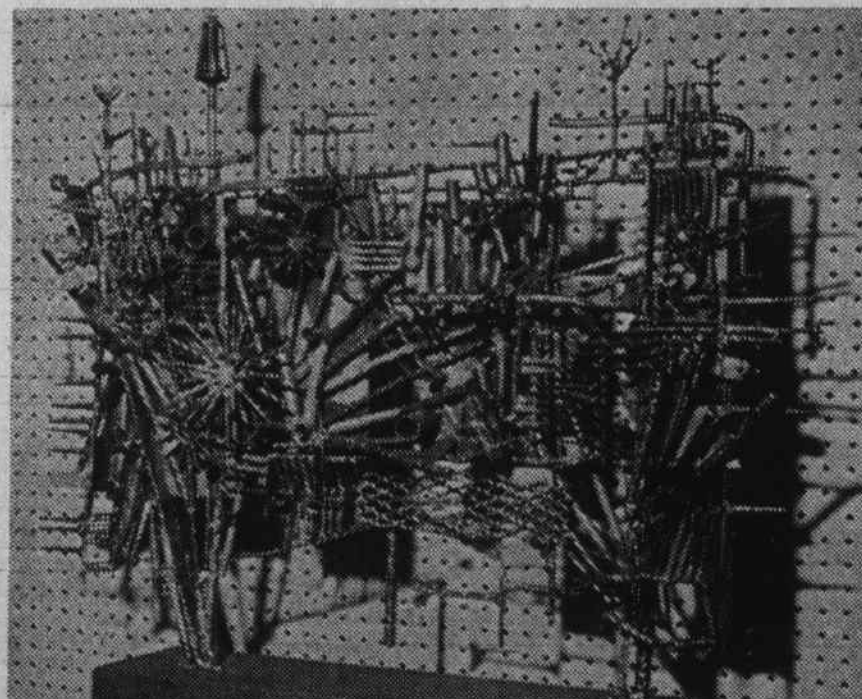

The awards to Miss Richmond of 1964 will include a $400 scholarship and an all-expense-paid trip to Roanoke for the state finals, to which the winner of the Miss Richmond title will go; if she wins the state title, she will enter the national competition for the title of Miss America.

The deadline for entries is February 10, 1964. Further information on the contest may be secured from Mrs. P. Wilson James, 3613 Edgewood Ave., Richmond, Virginia.

MADEMOISELLE MAGAZINE

Mademoiselle Magazine is sponsoring an Art Contest and College Fiction Contest for talented women students in these fields.

Four women will receive these awards. The two College Fiction Contest winners will receive $500 each plus the publication of their stories in Mademoiselle. The two winners of the Art Contest will each illustrate one of the winning (Continued on Page 3)

"Passcendae" (pictured) a metal sculpture by Kenneth Beer is one of the various art works by members of the Rockingham Chapter of the Virginia Museum which are on exhibit in Alumnae Hall until February 10. There is one art work displayed by each of the members who are exhibiting. Four members of the Madison faculty have contributed to this exhibit of twenty object d'art. Many are open for sale.

Cramming Proves Undesirable When Studying For Exams

In his message to Congress on the passage of the National Education Improvement Act of 1963, the late President John Fitzgerald Kennedy said, "Education is the keystone in the arch of freedom and progress.... A free nation can rise no higher than the standard of excellence set in its schools and colleges."

Examinations are one of the ways in which our schools judge the "standard of excellence" of students. On Thursday, January 23, we at Madison will begin a week of examinations to test our knowledge of the courses we are now studying.

During all examination periods, there are those students who are able to study in an organized and calm manner and who are able to allow themselves at least eight hours of sleep and at least three nourishing meals a day. Then, there are those students who must get by on No-Doz and two to five hours sleep per night and must resort to "cramming in the facts" with the hope that they have memorized enough to just pass or make such-and-such a grade.

College students need not be told which of the two types of exam-takers are preferable. If the student will now—if he has not done so already—set one or two hours a night aside for reviewing and reading, he will not need to "cram" during the examination week. Reviewing now may mean losing one or two hours of sleep a night, but that is better than losing almost all sleep during exams.

The student will discover that he will get much more out of his course if he will study consistently—trying not to memorize but to comprehend and apply what he has learned—he will leave college with a much broader and more adequate background upon which to build a future. The student who studies all along sometimes gets angry when he hears of another student who studied half the time and received a higher grade; he should remember, however, that many students simply memorize for a particular test or exam and immediately forget what they have supposedly "learned". The student who studies consistently and takes the time to reason through his courses and to apply what he is learning will reap a great deal more long-range benefits than the students who practices mere rote memorization.

At Madison, as most students are aware, making at least average grades are important if the student wishes to hold an office on campus, to join a Greek-Letter organization, to receive unlimited cuts and so on. The reward for study is high in academic and social spheres of the college world; more important, though, is the reward that academic and social accomplishments hold for the student beyond his years at Madison.

In Kennedy's words—
"For the individual, the doors to the schoolhouse, to the library and to the college lead to the richest treasures of our open society: To the power of Knowledge—to the training and skills necessary for productive employment—to wisdom, the ideas, and the culture which enrich life—and to the creative self disciplined understanding of society needed for good citizenship in today's changing and challenging world...."

P.S.

Honor Council Upholds Ideals Of Conduct, Thought, Speech

The Honor Council of Madison College was created to foster high ideals of integrity and straightforwardness in conduct, thought, and speech.

The duty of the Honor Council is to investigate any suspected violations of the Honor Code and to impose necessary penalties for the violations. One particularly important part is to see that the Honor System is explained to all students, especially the incoming freshmen. This is done during Orientation Week in September.

Cheating, lying, and stealing, and failure to report the above breaches of honor are all under the jurisdiction of the Honor Council.

To broaden one's understanding of the extent of jurisdiction of the Honor Council there are a few important points to keep in mind. All scholastic work should be the work of the student. If there is any doubt concerning the honor requirements of a certain class, the student should not hesitate to ask his professor about them, or to look at a file of requirements by each professor which is kept by the Honor Council. Another important factor is that the student who gives aid is just as responsible as the one who receives it. It cannot be stressed enough that a student's signature on her paper is her pledge also.

When a violation of the Honor Code has been committed, the student having reported herself, or having been reported shall have the right of a full and impartial hearing by the Honor Council and any convictions shall be based on a two thirds vote of the full membership of the council. If the charges are not upheld or the case dismissed, the details of the hearing are deleted from the minutes.

Penalties range from probation to expulsion. In all cases, except those involving suspension and expulsion, the decision of the Honor Council is final. However, in those cases involving suspension and expulsion the recommendation of the Honor Council shall be submitted to the Faculty Judiciary Committee for review and recommendation to the President of the college, who may suspend or dismiss students for such violations. A second conviction for any violation may result in recommendation for dismissal from the college.

The President of the 1963-64 Honor Council is Martha Engel, Vice President is Peggy Hedly, and Secretary is Diane Miller.

Free Lance Writer Praises Medical Service

by Marshall Cook

In reference to the article, "Madison Needs Full-Time M.D." I would like to make an apology. The article which I wrote on that occasion was based on reports I had received from some young ladies at our institution on the conditions and procedure at the Infirmary.

Since that time I have had these chances to view said proceedings under a truly pragmatic light. During all these instances I was almost immediately taken care of by completely cooperative and highly competent medical personnel. I also, in my follies, received personal observation, treatment and prescription from the so called never-to-be-found doctor. The cynics on campus will say that of course I was seen because I came during sick-call hours, but this is not so for in all cases my arrival for medical treatment was many hours before or after the regular hours. Others will comment that my being a male student affected the case but during my Infirmary visits four girls were treated for their ailments and received the personal attention of the doctor himself.

While I was there quite a few other things were made known about the medical life on this campus. (1) A completely qualified registered nurse is on duty day and night to look after the college needs. (2) The doctor makes reasonable and frequent visits to the Infirmary to see the very ill and injured and those with other infirmities. (3) Even if the doctor was not there and a person with a serious ailment arrived, the nurse on duty would send that person to the hospital or contact the doctor. In closing I would like to say what a good job our medical staff is doing. Taking all things into consideration I hope that the medical staff can continue to do so in the light of our ever-expanding populous.

Letter To The Editor Council Petitions For Student Aid

Open Letter to All Students:

We, the members of the Honor Council, would like this opportunity during our Honor Emphasis Week to bring a few of our ideas to your attention. We feel that there is a need to strengthen the ties between the student body and the Honor Council. We feel that this situation could be improved by providing a representative in each dorm to work with the Honor Council.

There is a great need for this in our system. It is impossible for a representative on Council to live in each dorm since the classes elect the representatives. Therefore, we recommend that each dorm elect a student to work with the Council in investigating and reporting violations of the Honor Code.

It must be emphasized that the Honor Council is not a police force since our jurisdiction does not cover all the things expected of us. We would also like to emphasize the privilege of being able to live in the atmosphere of trust that we may leave our rooms and valuables and return to find them intact. Unfortunately this atmosphere no longer exists in many of our dorms, yet some of us can remember when it did.

We would like to hear your opinions on these ideas and any other that you may have. We hope that we can incorporate these ideas into our system with cooperation and support.

Sincerely,
The Honor Council

Cupid Strikes During Vacation

Cupid did not wait until Valentine's Day to pierce the hearts of Madisonites with his arrows of love. Eighty-one girls returned to campus after the holidays married, pinned, or engaged.

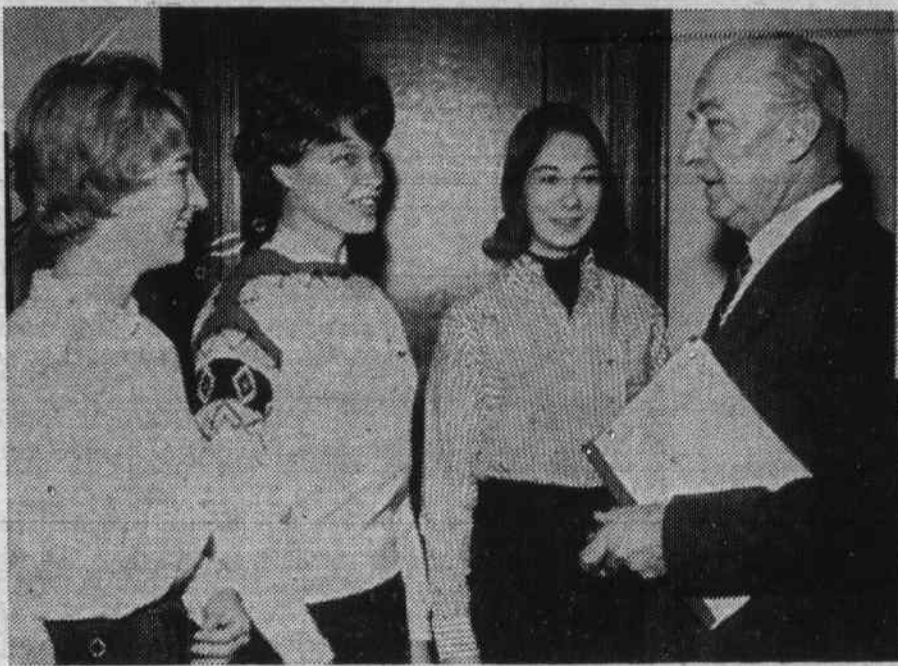

Those who were married are Judy Oyhus Amos, Coraena Dovel Simmons, Diane Lansford, Betsy Rickards, Sandra Luce Wesson, Joyce Faye White Hardy, Mary Kibler Groff, Margaret Shackelford, Nancy Gore, and Ann Rice.

Those engaged were Toni Ross, Bonita Traylor, Nancy Briggs, Kathy Taylor, Carol Carmine, Elenor Green, Linda Black, Becky Scruggs, Alice Booth, Sharon Anderson, Pat Thomas, Tana Sensabaugh, Mary Claire Rankin, Donna Bass, Karen Chism, Pat Gordon, Ruth Ann Birdsall, Pat Keller, Ellen Frank, Mary Catherine Smith, Elenora Bradely, Elaine McGlathery, Nancy Catlett, Ann Lewis, Sara Poland, Carol Howard, Francis Cox, Marjorie Miller, Carolyn Arehart, Ruth Carey, Joanne Heatwole, Jackie Hadson, Sallie Ann Mahaney, Sharon Cather, Donna Lovell, Martha Bardsley, Lois Blackwell, Jane Churchwell, Ramona Hatcher, Sara Powell, Betsy Zimmerman, Betty Davis, Elaine Stratton, Marcella Blaylock, Helen Gay Thomas, Shirley Posen, Nancy Spady, Carol Guff, Sarah Fitzwater, Cookie Wright, Carol Prister, and Jerilyn Hollansworth.

Students who received pins are Dee Jones, Bonnie Woodford, Ceil Merritt, Jane Turner, Sally Riggs, Liz Stevens, Valerie Landon, Betty Slayton, Elis Deffress, Juanita Crumpler, Holly Conrad, Babs Petersen, Terry Toohey, Dixie Ralph, Carolina Carver, Carole Twomey, and Janice Brown.

Miss Mary Ann Lifford will be the guest speaker at the Wesley Foundation House on Sunday, January 12. Miss Lifford will speak about her participation in the Methodist workshop in Mexico last summer.

Miss Lifford is president of the Student Government Association and member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority at Longwood College, Farmville, Virginia.

(L. to r.) Students, Judy Young, Mary Jo Gaynor, and Patricia Ferguson, listen to a reply of Mr. Nagy to Miss Gaynor's question concerning his forced exile. In addition, they asked him to expound more fully on his conclusion that Communism is reactionary as opposed to progress.

Nagy Speaks On Communism

Ferenc Nagy, former Prime Minister of Hungary, spoke to students and faculty at the January 9

noon assembly on the nature of communism.

In his talk, he answered the question, "Is Communism reactionary or progressive?" He concluded that it is definitely reactionary. He said, "I do not see any real progress in Communism...only the strangling of the achievements of mankind."

Mr. Nagy, now residing in the United States, was forced into exile by the Communists in Hungary. While in exile, he served as a member of the Hungarian National Council, President of the national Peasants Union, and Chairman of the Assembly of Captive European Nations.

In the afternoon, Mr. Nagy met with students who asked questions of him concerning different aspects of the world situation, past and present.

Some of the topics discussed were the Communist Chinese movements against Russia, Middle and Far East countries, the Berlin and German unification problem, international trade agreements today, and Hungary in 1956.

The German Club will sponsor an informal dance, "The Jigsaw Puzzle," Saturday, January 11, in Keezell from 8 to 12 p.m. Music will be provided by the Naturals, a combo from Shepard College. Price of the tickets will be $2.00 per couple.

Colonial Dames Sponsor Annual Writing Contest

College Fiction Contest stories for publication, and each will receive $500 for her work.

Entries should be submitted to the College Fiction Contest or to the Art Contest, Mademoiselle, 420 Lexington Ave., New York, New York, 10017. Additional information and rules can be obtained from the same address. For both contests, entries must be postmarked no later than March 1, 1964.

COLONIAL DAMES CONTEST

The Society of Colonial Dames of America is sponsoring a contest to award an undergraduate student submitting the best essay on a person or topic pertaining to the colonial period of American history.

Entries must be submitted between April 15, 1964, and June 15, 1964. All essays must be between 2500 and 4000 words in length and accompanied by a bibliography and footnotes. They must be submitted on 8½ x 11 inch paper, typed on one side of the paper, double spaced, and fastened in a folder.

Style, originality of thought, accuracy of data and references, neatness, punctuation and spelling, will be considered in making the award.

Five Seniors Come Back To Campus With Memories Of Student Teaching

Madison seniors came back from their eight weeks of student teaching with memories of pleasant and exasperating experiences.

After their first flings at teaching, the seniors have some comments and advice for would-be teachers of the future.

Nancy Davis, who taught a combination of fourth and fifth grades, found "my student teaching experience very, very enjoyable, and I loved my children. Student teaching is very worthwhile because the individual finds out whether or not she is suited for teaching. I found that the daily lesson plans were needed for a while, but after I became more accustomed to the work, they weren't necessary."

Judy Oyhus Amos, a student teacher of government, United States History, and American civilization to juniors and seniors, stated: "My advice to prospective student teachers is to get plenty of sleep before they go and to carry lots of reference books with them. They should never be afraid to say 'I don't know.' They should go into student teaching with an open mind and a positive attitude. I learned more during student teaching than any other time in my school experience, and it's much more rewarding than settling down with a book here at school."

Holly Conrad did her student teaching in a combination fourth and fifth grade and remarked "I could write a book. I think the best course at Madison is student teaching, but there is not enough emphasis on disciplinary tactics." "I was quite prepared" was the statement given by Suzanne Buchman, a first grade student teacher. "It was wonderful, but you should stay calm." Advice given by Suzanne was, "take all your materials because you face all types of problems, also study ways of discipline. I feel that the education courses at Madison should be combined." Her one wish was that the secondary teachers could have the experience of teaching elementary school.

Sandy Becraft's comments were, "I had a very good co-operating teacher as adviser and really enjoyed it even though it was a lot of work. I felt prepared except at first I felt insecure, but after a couple of weeks I felt fine. I made

Palmer Conducts Research On Quality Of Library

A recent survey by Mr. Forrest Palmer, Madison College Head Librarian, has determined that most of the books which are included in the new White House Library are also in the Madison Memorial Library.

The White House Library is designed to represent the American works from every phase of American life and the volumes included come under 32 categories of subjects, such as history, literature, science, and philosophy and psychology. These books are to be used by Presidents of the United States for reference.

It should be noted that of the 28 titles in education of the White House list, 24 are in Madison's library.

Students To Elect Best-Dressed Girl Staff Cameraman Wins Top Awards

10. Good figure, beautiful posture.
11. Poise.

Upon selection of Madison's best-dressed student, her entry blank and three photographs will be sent to the contest judges—GLAMOUR's Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, Art Director, Fashion Editor, and Beauty Editor.

Prizes for the ten national winners include recognition in the 1964 College Issue of GLAMOUR and a personal gift from the editors of GLAMOUR. The highlight is an all-expense paid visit to New York from June 1 to June 13 where the girls will be presented to over 1500 members of the fashion industry at a fashion show in Carnegie Hall. They will make visits to New York's cultural centers and be entertained at the theatre, luncheons, receptions, and dinners.

Twenty girls chosen as Honorable Mention winners will have pictures and short biographies appearing in a Fall, 1964 issue of GLAMOUR.

Allan Litten, staff photographer for THE BREEZE and BLUE-STONE and chief photographer for the Harrisonburg DAILY NEWS-RECORD, received a first and two second place awards for photography from the Virginia Press Association.

The first place award was given in the feature photography division. Mr. Litten's picture was of two children in choir robes before a stained glass window. His second place awards were in news and sports photography divisions.

He also received a first place award for color photography with an autumn picture featuring a pretty girl against a background of corn stalks.

Mr. Litten has been chief photographer on the NEWS-RECORD since 1957 and has been featured often in VPA awards lists in the past few years. In 1955 he won first place in the press association's feature picture division and was named runner-up in news and feature divisions last year.

He is a past president of VNPA and a member of the executive board.

Seniors Lead Men's Bowling

by Floyd Freeze

The Seniors continue to hold a comfortable lead in Men's Intramural Bowling competition. Their record stands unblemished with a 9-0 win-loss performance. The Senior Team also has the High Team Game of 625 and a High Team Set of 1243.

The Junior Team has undisputed possession of second place while the Freshman and Faculty occupy the third and fourth positions respectively.

Fencers To Hold Workshop

The Madison College Fencing Club will present a fencing workshop on Saturday, January 11 at 2:00 P.M.

Dr. Samuel Munson, Professor at George Washington University, will be the guest speaker.

Munson has been connected with fencing activities in Washington for twenty-nine years during which time he has progressed through team and tournament experience to the position of Head Coach of The District of Columbia Fencers Club.

Members of the Fencing Clubs of Mary Baldwin College, Mary

Washington College, Waynesboro Fencing Club, and V. M. I. will also be at the workshop. The V. M. I. fencers will put on a saber demonstration.

The nine fencers from Madison, advised by Dr. Caroline Sinclair, are holding the workshop in order to develop skills and meet with other members of fencing clubs to relate different ideas.

All students are invited to attend.
