Dick Levin To Render Dance's Musical Strains

Climaxing the festivities of May 8th, from 9 until midnight will be the traditional May Day dance, featuring Dick Levin and his orchestra from North Carolina State College.

The theme of "May Day Through the Years" will be depicted by backdrops at each end of Reed gymnasium revealing scenes of past May Days at Madison. Decorations will be centered around the ceiling which will be woven out of crepe paper on pastel shades.

Anitamae Snead, Queen of the May, and her escort will lead the figure, consisting also, of the Maid of Honor and the entire May Court with their escorts. The figure will be highlighted by the formation of a crown. They will be served refreshments in Alumnae afterward.

Tickets, $3.50 drag or $3.00 stag, will go on sale Wednesday morning in the P. O. lobby. A limited number of bids will be sold. All members of the faculty are cordially invited.

The dance is put on by the social committee with Judy Freeman as chairman.

Freshmen Offer Finnian's Rainbow

As students and other friends of the Freshman class entered the auditorium on Wednesday, April 28, they were ushered to their seats by merry elves. The occasion was the Freshman Class Night production called Finnian's Rainbow.

The setting was the woodland forest of the elves, and the story was based on the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow which belonged to the elves. Finnian, an Irishman, played by Lloyd Gossler, found this pot of gold and stole it from the elves. Other major characters were Shirley Fairfield as Maureen, Myrl Dake as Danny and Beverly Goulder as Ogg.

The theme was expressed by a number of solos and dance routines. The program was opened by Sally Lance singing "Somewhere Over the Rainbow". Shirley Fairfield rendered three solos: "I Want to be Evil", "Blue Moon", and "Money is the Root of All Evil". "Chiribiribin" was sung by Elinor Ritchie. Jeanne Asble created a sensation singing "Monotonous". The spicy singing of "The Man I Love", by Carol Wallace, added more variety to the program. Other numbers were "Gold Song" by Barbara Traugott and "Enjoy Yourself" by Lloyd Gossler. The singing of "Night and Day" by Myrl Dake added another male note to the program.

Included also was "Embraceable You", as a duet by Phyllis Meyerhoefer and Eloise Lohr. Carol Musselwhite played a flute solo, and Lloyd Gossler a trombone solo. Two dance solos were rendered by Gayle Swanson and Betty Watson. Marie Caton entertained the audience with an Elf Monologue. Other highlights were "Skunk Dance" by Betty Lee Payne and Jean Gray, and "Devil and Angel Dance" by Betsy Jo Wood, Nancy Smith and Ginny Robinson.

The program was concluded by the singing of "We Ain't Got a Barrel of Money" by the entire cast.

Seven Va. Colleges Come To Madison For A Music Day

On Saturday, April 24, at Madison College, a Virginia Inter-College Music Day was held with Bridgewater College and The Shenandoah Conservatory of Music as cohosts, and Dr. Glenn Gildersleeve acting as general chairman. Staff members and students represented the following colleges: Hollins, Radford, Lynchburg, Longwood, Richmond Professional Institute and Mary Washington. Two sessions were held in the morning, one for instrumentalists and the other for vocalists. At 12:30 both groups had luncheon together in the Junior Dining Hall, at which Miss Vanette Lawler, Executive Secretary of the Music Educators National Conference, discussed the subject "Looking Forward in Music." At two o'clock in Wilson Auditorium, a concert was given by members of the two forenoon groups. Jane Miller, president of the Madison chapter of MENC made the arrangements. Instrumental activities consisted of an All-State College band of 75 players, with Mr. Clifford Marshall of Madison College, Mr. Glen Law of Shenandoah Conservatory, and Mr. Dave Kessler of Bridgewater College, as conductors.

Vocal activities were conducted by the Virginia Chapter of the National Association of Teachers of Singing. Madame Gilderoy Scott, a leading voice teacher of Washington, D. C. was the discussion leader for this session and was assisted by Mr. William J. Lee of Greenbriar College, Lewisburg, West Virginia. Songs by modern American composers were presented by students from the different colleges represented as well as by three teachers; Mrs. Dave Kessler, of Bridgewater, Miss Ann Elizabeth Biggs of Shenandoah Conservatory, and Miss Gertrude Bureau, of Madison College. In connection with the singing of the songs, there was a discussion of the songs, as well as the problems of singing and of the teaching of singing. Mrs. Hazel W. Gildersleeve, was the chairman of this session.

Children's Art Display Features Human Figure

"The Human Figure in Child Art," an exhibition of original drawings illustrating general tendencies in children's art work, which is now on display in the Juvenile Room of the Madison College Memorial Library, will close on May 1st.

Documentary panels in the exhibition, on loan to the Madison College Art department from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, explain the processes in the transition from a child's early portrayal of the people around him to his later efforts to define character, figure and perspective. A youngster's first artistic attempts are highly imaginative, but by the time he is nine or ten, he begins to

To Have Or Have Not

It has been brought to our attention by the issuance of the new catalogue that after 1954-55 English literature will not be offered. This seems very unfair to those students who will enter Madison in the future and will desire an English major or minor. The unfairness lies in the fact that English literature is such a basic necessity in the understanding of literature and in teaching literature in high school. Senior English in most high schools consists of a large amount of English literature, and teachers who have not had an adequate survey course in this field will be ill equipped to teach in high school literature.

Another unfairness in this change is that there will be freshman English majors or minors, particularly minors, who will find it difficult to fit this course into their schedule next year. They will have to either arrange their entire schedule around that one course, and, if this is impossible, they will have to go through a lot of red tape to get another course classified as meeting the English literature requirement. Also in regard to requirements, a majority of colleges require English literature in the sophomore year, and anyone desiring to transfer would be lacking that particular credit.

English literature is not only beneficial for teaching and meeting requirements, but it also helps one appreciate literature and know and understand some of the most famous writers of all times. It stimulates an interest in good literature, and anyone who has taken it will agree they both enjoyed it and benefited by it. It seems wrong to cut it out for no obvious reason when there are several good reasons for keeping it.

Don't Tease Death

The worst automobile accident toll in the nations history — more than two million casualties — was recorded in 1953. This shocking record is certainly a shameful one. Even worst, the records were made without the majority of us even realizing it.

Traffic deaths reached the total of 38,500 while the injury count climbed to 2,140,000.

Excessive speed was determined to be the most serious driving mistake in 1953. Twenty-five per cent of the years fatal accidents were caused by drivers under twenty five years old.

Week-end crashes caused the deaths of 15,800 and three out of four of these accidents occurred in clear weather and on dry roads. Eighty per cent of the vehicles involved were driving straight ahead. Studies of highway accidents showed that most of the vehicles were in excellent condition, and that curved roads were no more hazardous than straight ones.

Saturday has been found to be the most dangerous day of the week. One reason is that more cars are on the highway then. Also Saturday night is the time when drinking and drivers combine. Everyone should remember that even one drink before driving is too many. "In most accidents, the guilty party is man and not machine, mind and not motor, reflex supposedly a time for rest, but for many are a beginning of a permanent rest.

The pedestrian record of casualties has shown improvement during the past years. However, "jay walking" or crossing between intersections, is still a major cause of deaths and injuries.

There are numerous safety organizations in this country dedicated to safety education. State, County, Local, and Parkway Police constantly patrol streets and highways.

It is clear that most accidents need not occur. Only those who do the driving and walking can keep the traffic problem under control. Only by personal care and caution can we end the reign of terror which we ourselves have started.

Worley's Whirl

by "Skippy"

Michelde Notredame, author of Nostradame's Essays, centuries ago, predicted many world-shaking events; The highlight of this week was to be the end of the world. Here is how it all happened.

Nostra-Lostra stuck his leg out of the window and said "Hark, either a mighty big bird flew over or I would assume the sky is falling in. I must go tell Nora-Dora, the prexy of the Stupid Government, so she can warn her kingdom of girlie-dirties. So Nostra-Lostra hopped to see Nora-Dora and told her that the sky was falling in and Nora-Dora said, "That's hot, but don't ya think we better clue the bloomin' kingdom?" "Reet", said Nostra-Lostra so off they went. As they ambled down the bunny trail, they met Hoggy-Woggy and said, "Hoggy-Woggy have you heard?" "Heard what, Nora-Dora and Nostra-Lostra?" "Get with it Hoggy-Woggy, don't you know the sky is falling?" "Nay, what a faux pas! We must pass the word."

So they cut across the campus-rampus to get the president of A.A. (awful athletes), Jo Shmo, and give her the full scoop. "Jo Shmo, do you know the sky is falling?" "Why, no," said Shmo, "let me grab my hockey stick and we'll dribble along to signal the rest of the team." The group stopped at Doc Wocs for a big orange and there they met Wilkie Dilkie and Diller Miller havin' a lemon-sand. They skipped the big orange and said, "Wilkie Dilkie and Miller Diller, the crazy sky is falling in!" Wilkie Dilkie said, "My stars", and Miller Diller agreed. All was over heard by B2 and she said, "That wasn't ordered!" But no sooner had she said those words, than there was a great huge rumble and the sky fell in. But cheer up, all these worries were in vain; it was only the hydrogen bomb.

Any similarity between this episode and "Chicken Little" is purely coincidental.

Skip's Scoop

By Skip Michael

Well, hope you had a nice Easter vacation and are all ready for all the big events coming up to finish up the year. Seems as though this is the time of the year when everything piles up at once. However, if we just keep driving everything will come out for the best.

The fraternity elected officers last Friday night and the results were; President—Francis Mason Vice President—Eldon Padgett Secretary—Skip Michael Alumni Secretary—Dale Long Treasurer—William Garrett Chaplin—Donald Salt Sergeant-At-Arms—Kenneth Johnson Fraternity members should please remember the debate to be held with Zeta Tau Alpha on Monday night at 6:45 P. M. I hear the debate may center around McCarthy so it should be real interesting. A big vote of "Thanks" goes to retiring President "Teak" Long and all the other officers for helping to make this year a big success. We certainly had fine officers this year. Don't forget the picnic to be held for the fraternity members on Tuesday night. We will leave from Alumnae Hall at 5:00 P. M. sharp. See you there.

Next Wednesday the Men Students will have charge of the assembly program. Boys, don't forget the chorus practices tonight (Friday) at 7:00 and Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. Everyone please come!!!

Hope to see you all at the Tea Room tomorrow night. Don't forget that it is up to you to keep the Tea Room open by your patronage. Two big events are taking place that night. "Doug Soyars is going to sing and I am going to fry hamburgers. "Doug" will have a song just for you and I will have a big hamburger for each one of you so don't fail to put in an appearance.

The men students have asked me to thank Johnny Lou Thompson for all the help that she has given us this year. The gal has really worked hard and has done a grand job. We want her to know that we appreciate everything she has done to make our year much nicer on this campus.

Three hermits lived in a cave and spent all day staring at a wall, never speaking. One day a stallion ran past the entrance. Six months later one hermit mumbled, "That was a pretty brown horse." Two years later another hermit said: "That wasn't a brown horse, it was white." About a year later the third hermit got up and stalked toward the entrance of the cave. "If it's going to be this con-

Well, that's about it for this week. Until next time, think about this one. "When you are completely satisfied, remember what happens to a fat turkey." Be Good. "Skip"

My Word!

by 'Smitty'

My word! it's back to ye ol' grind —and what a grind. Between registration, May Day pictures, tests, term papers, class nights, and spring fever, everyone's saying "Oh woe, oh rue." But cheer up, only 29 days, 17 hours, and 30 minutes, and we'll be waving good-bye.

Be sure and get the Washington Star this Sunday when Madison's May Day program makes the news. Featured are pictures of the May Queen, Maid of Honor, four maids, and six members of the Modern Dance Club representing their May Day dance.

Madison's Glee Club is hitting the spotlight, too, on its spring tour. They will be televised Sunday around 5:00 p.m. in Norfolk over Channel 4 and Monday around 1:30 p.m. in Richmond on Channel 6. Don't forget to watch for them on your nearest T.V. set.

Several came back to campus April 20th with more than Easter eggs. Betty Withrow received a diamond from Bryan Walker from Richmond. Anita Mae Snead is sporting a diamond from Walter Glover Garner, Jr. in law school at University of Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Seegmuller announce the engagement of their daughter, Marie Louise, to Mr. Jean-Claude Lepelletier. We remember Marie-Louise as our foreign student last year. Her present address is 36 Rue de L'universite, Strasbourg, France.

Now for a few "tidbits" on our faculty. Dr. Stephen T. Turille was selected by the State Department of Education in Richmond as a member of the visiting committee to evaluate the Roanoke schools. Miss Celeste Ulrich attended a meeting of the National Association for Physical Education of College Women held at Bryn Mawr College. Dean Walter Gifford, Dr. Charles Caldwell, and Dr. Helen Nance will attend the Alumni Association meeting in Culpeper this week. Miss Dorothy Garber entertained the officers of the Student Government Association at her home last Tuesday evening.

Please take note of the editorial "To Have or Have Not". It's up to the students to petition such an issuance if they are against it. Schedule changes are made to benefit the student body — it is up to us to make known any disagreements we may have!

Joseph Ney's fashion show, put on by Madison's business students, really proved profitable. Ruth Caulson won the door prize, a bathing suit, and Sue Clark Brown won second prize. Helen Jones took third prize.

If you feel that "Saturday night is the loneliest night of the week," just run over to the tea room, stag or drag. Tomorrow night, the grand opening for Saturday night dances, features music by Madison's combo so don't miss it.

Sure do hope your May Day dormitory decorations are well on the way. Time is limited so get to work on making them "bigger and better" this year.

Dick Levin and his orchestra from North Carolina State College will provide the music for the May Day dance from 9 until 12. Tickets go on sale Wednesday so don't miss one of the biggest dances of the year. All faculty members are invited.

I'd like to close with this little ditty. You can tell a Freshman By the way she struts around; You can tell a Sophomore By the things she has found; You can tell a Junior By her worries and such; You can tell a Senior But you can't tell her much! Bye now!

Dr. Marion Nesbitt, a graduate of Madison College now teaching in Maury School in Richmond, will speak to all those interested this Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. Her book "The Public School of Tomorrow" came out last year and revealed her teaching experiences in a school known for its school and community relations. "My husband won a thousand dollars at poker the other night and he split with me."
 "You mean he gave you half?"
 "No. He took his thousand and left!"

In a gay mood, a man telephoned a friend at two o'clock in the morning. "I do hope I haven't disturbed you," he said cheerily.
 "Oh, no," the friend replied. "I had to get up to answer the telephone anyway."

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

They're all the rage with college kids, with gals and men alike. So round, so firm, so fully packed—I speak of Lucky Strike!

Barbara Bennett
 Lawrence College

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason... enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.

When buddies ask me for a smoke, what do they get from me? "Here's finer smoking, pal," I say, "Cause L.S./M.F.T.!"

At the last meeting of the French Club, Judy Freeman, president, handed her gavel to June Simmons, newly elected president. The other new officers are Jean White, vice president; Peggy Sacra, Secretary; Jeanne Justice, treasurer; and Shirley Reynolds, Reporter.

The meeting was held entirely in French with Judy presiding. After the election, plans for the future were made. The club voted on having a picnic May 12 but no place has yet been decided on. Janet Hefner, who will edit the French Journal, asked for everyone's full cooperation in turning in material for the publication. The deadline for stories is May 1.
