'Greeks' Present Holiday Dance

"Silver Bells" will be ringing in the holiday spirit as Madison College welcomes Dick Levin and his orchestra on Dec. 11.

Sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, the Christmas dance will be held in Reed Gym from 8:00 to 12:00 p.m. The gym will be transformed into a bit of Santa Claus Land as the theme "Silver Bells" is carried out in the traditional colors of red and green.

Holiday music will be provided by Dick Levin and his fifteen piece orchestra from the University of North Carolina. Sure to be enjoyed by all who attend, he will play songs arranged for his orchestra by Paul Tanner, who is associated with Tex Beneke's orchestra. Dick Levin is already quite familiar to a lot of the student body, having held over 500 engagements in the southeastern states.

Leading in the figure will be Suzie Sublett, chairman of the Panhellenic Council. Other members in the figure will be the remaining officers of the Council, representatives and presidents of each sorority and the president of the men's fraternity. The figure will form a bell and also the letters P. C. for Panhellenic Council.

Refreshments will be served in Reed to those who are in the figure during intermission. Some members of the figure along with all faculty members who attend will be served in Alumnae Hall.

Bids to the dance will be on sale Monday through Friday, Dec. 6 to Dec. 10, in the P. O. lobby for $4.00. These tickets will also include the concert by Dick Levin on Saturday afternoon at 4:30. Anyone who would like to go to the concert only, may attend for 50 cents.

Annette Fletchall, social chairman of the Panhellenic Council, has been serving as general dance chairman. Mrs. Bernice Varner is advisor to the Panhellenic Council.

Dance Clubs Gain 33 New Members

Thirty new Cotillion members were received on November 23, after two days of goating. They are: Lois Baker, Sue Baldwin, Shirley Brankley, Barbara Jean Brown, Margaret Ann Brown, Marie Caton, Martha Cromer, Liddy Cullen, Jo Ann Gordon, Freda Hatcher, Carolyn Huffman, Shirley Humphries, Joan Kafer, Margie Lineburg, Emmy Marlowe, Helene Sellner, Jenny Shaeffer, Jane Soyars, Martha Ann Morgan, Joey Oebourne, Helen Stephenson, Lois Suter, Dru Turner, Joan Van Saun, Carolyn Wise, Gail Woodson, Judy Yancey, Betty Ann Lynch, Jane Webster, and Hilda Winkleman.

After goating for the German Club, ten Madisonites became members of that organization. The following are new "Germans": Barbara Gilley, Glenna Howell, Sue Peters, Anita Webb, Barbara Golladay, Annette Fletchall, Barbara Cooper, Phyllis Myerhoffer, Shirley Fairfield, and Wilma Via.

Grace E. Matz Returns As Class Day Speaker

To be featured as the assembly speaker on Junior Class Day, December 8, will be one of Madison College's former students, Miss Grace Elaine Matz, of Baltimore, Maryland. Miss Matz, who majored in physical education, received a B. S. degree in education at Madison in 1953. Last summer, having written her thesis, she obtained a M. S. degree, and is presently teaching in Cristfield, Maryland.

After graduating from Madison, she attended for one year the University of Illinois, where she held an assistantship in teaching in the field of research. While there, she worked with Dr. Thomas K. Curation, who is nationally and internationally known in his field, that concerning physical fitness and the growth and development of students.

In presenting her topic, "This Is Your Madison," Miss Matz will cover events that led to the founding of the college, sidelights of its establishment, its growth, curricula, faculty, and buildings.

Serving as the president of the Student Government Association in 1953, Miss Matz was also the chairman of personal and campus affairs of the Y, vice-president of the freshman class, president of the sophomore class, and a member of the extramural basketball and hockey teams during her career at Madison. Other than being chosen as an outstanding senior and as a student in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, she was a member of the Student Faculty Committee, the Nominating Committee, the Virginia Reserve Hockey Team, Alpha Sigma Alpha, German Club, Mercury Club, Lutheran Student Association, Kappa Delta Pi, and Sigma Phi Lambda.

Glee Club Renders Christmas Vespers With R-M Chorus

Assisting the Madison College Glee Club in the presentation of the annual Christmas vespers to be held in Wilson Hall at four o'clock on December 5, will be the Randolph-Macon Men's Church. The two choruses will sing choral selections from the Christmas portion of "The Messiah", by Handel.

As the second part of the program, the Randolph-Macon men, under the direction of William Troxell, will sing a group of selections pertaining to the Christmas season.

Following this, the Madison College Glee Club, Edna T. Shaeffer, director, will present its traditional fantasy. Carols of many different countries will be sung along with the presentation of original Christmas card scenes and the singing Christmas tree, which through the years has become quite an appealing feature of the annual program.

Doris Rutherford Showalter, former president and accompanist of the Madison Club and now an honorary member, will be organist for this program.

Prayer and the benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Lynn Dickerson, D.D.

Student-Faculty Group Makes Year's Plans

According to Dr. Raymond Dingleline, the standing Student-Faculty Relations Committee has been organized for its work during the 1954-55 school year.

To consider problems in connection with the social and dormitory life and also the social rules and regulations in the handbook is the main purpose of the committee. In short, using Dr. Dingleline's words, it "considers anything connected with the student life at Madison."

Three students from each class, two ex officio members, and eleven faculty representatives compose the group.

Representing the seniors are Barbara Smith, Agnes Stevenson, and Juanita Wood. The junior class sent as their representatives, Sue Clark Brown, Beulah Ellis, and Joyce Rink-er. The sophomore class sent as their representatives, Jane Chitwood, Jo Gildersleeve, and Betty Watson. Grace Manley, Priscilla Shaeffer, and Nancy Turner are the newly-elected freshman members. Ex officio members are Margaret Covey and Norma Proctor.

Dr. Dingleline assumes the responsibilities of chairman. Serving with him are Dr. Caldwell, Mr. DeLong, Mrs. Garber, Dr. Hamrick, Miss Hoover, Mrs. Lockard, Mr. Partlow, Dr. Poindexter, Dr. Shawver, and Mrs. Wilkins.

"Speaking for the committee, I urge students to bring suggestions and problems to members of the committee," commented Dr. Dingleline. He added that a suggestion box, under an appropriate sign, will be placed in the lobby of Harrison Hall into which students may drop suggestions.

Neglected!!

Somewhere along the way high school graduates of today have been sadly neglected in their education. We, as future teachers, should take note of the alarming fact that they do not subscribe to the freedoms granted us by the American way of life. The proof of this was revealed in a poll Purdue University took of the high school age group. The results follow: fifty-eight per cent think police are justified in giving a man the third degree to make him talk; only forty-five per cent said newspapers should be permitted to print the news freely except for military secrets; thirty-three per cent said that persons who refuse to testify against themselves should either be made to talk or be severely punished; twenty-five per cent . . . would prohibit the right of people to assemble peaceably; twenty-six per cent believe that police should be allowed to search a person or his home without a warrant. These are only a few examples.

This is not a situation to be looked upon lightly. We live in a time when our liberties are constantly menaced by dictators and demagogues. Now more than ever our schools should educate for democracy and it appears that this is not the case. Many of us will soon be teachers and it is not only our right but our duty to teach the youth of today what American democracy means, why it is important to each of us as individuals and as a nation, and why, at any cost, it must be preserved.

Hi! Anyone glad to be back? I am but maybe it is because I feel lucky to get back after all the happenings around here last week! I'm glad buses don't run every week.

Say, did you all know that Madison's own Madrigal Ensemble has a radio engagement this Sunday at 2:30 p.m.? Anyone is invited to tune in the Mt. Jackson Station so give a listen.

This coming week belongs to the juniors and we hope to make it a big one—we'll be looking for you at assembly and class night.

What Is Life?

by "Mac" McKaye

The artist knows that when he creates something beautiful, it can be destroyed. Yet his satisfaction is not in the object, but in the subject; that thing in him which penetrates the splendor of beauty itself.

The supreme satisfaction will be in the knowledge that the law of life exists. Therefore we must conceive of life as a presence so complete that the word infinite, with all it implies, is adequate to express it.

There is a universal wholeness seeking expression through everything. I am calling it simply life. The religionists call it God. The philosopher calls it reality. God is life and life is God.

Let us start with the simple proposition that life, which is spirit or intelligence, is the sole and only creative agency in the universe. We are part of life's self expression and in

Dear All,

This past week has held some really exciting days for me. Besides being in the presence of Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer and taking a day off to go to Canterbury, I received a package of good ole' American food.

To start at the beginning, the fella who sits beside me in medieval history is sort of carried away with the idea of making a Young Conservative out of me. So Tuesday he invited me to a meeting they were having that afternoon and when he told me that the Rt. Honorable R. A. Butler was speaking to them, I jumped at the opportunity. At five that afternoon the North Cloister of University College was packed with student political enthusiasts, myself included. I had no idea that the English people held Mr. Butler in such high esteem as they do. When I came back to College Hall and told the girls that I had seen and heard him, they went wild with excitement. And it's easily understood; he is quite a charming gentleman. But I was slightly annoyed when he proclaimed for the umpteenth time that "England is completely independent of the United States." If I hadn't been so terrifically outnumbered, I would have eagerly challenged him on this point. I did, though, enjoy hearing him so much. He spent most of his talk defining the British expenses which he classified as, (1) defense, (2) social service and (3) agriculture (farmer subsidies). Naturally, he didn't overlook any of the several opportunities he had to belittle the opposing Labor Party — which made it all the more interesting.

When Friday finally came I was simply bubbling over with excitement about going to Canterbury. My room-mate, Eleanor, and I had enjoyed ourselves so much on the American Express tour to Windsor that we were anxious to take another one before the conducted sight-seeing season ended. And we just made it, too. The tour we took yesterday was the very last one until the spring.

We had decided that by the law of averages Friday was bound to be a pretty day and we lost all faith in statistics when we awoke that morning to the pounding of rain on the roof. What a low blow! But Mother Nature must have been quite won over by our forlorn expressions and before we reached Canterbury the sun was beaming.

There were eight of us on the tour (you can tell this is an "off season"), an Australian family of three, a Lon-

Well kiddies, Smitty is off to the mad rush of student teaching and I am off to the mad rush of editing "The Breeze". My first problem was a name for this column. In case you are wondering, I found this name in Wilson basement. My second and greatest problem was—what does one do without Smitty? We'll sure miss her and do our best to keep up the standards that she has established for the paper.

Guess all of you are now facing the problem of adjusting to classes and getting up early after being pampered by the turkey vacation. Holidays ruin us but aren't they great! Also, if you're like me you have the problem of losing the five pounds gained from eating turkey, turkey soup, turkey sandwiches, turkey hash, etc.

Don't forget that Monday, December 6 we will vote in assembly for outstanding seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen for the feature section of the "Schoolma'am". Also, the Madonna and Joseph will be voted for at this time so don't forget to bring a pencil and lots of ideas on whom you want.

After many years with Mr. Percy Warren, now dean of the college, our Honor Council has selected a new sponsor. Dr. David Hatch, of the history department, has been chosen to serve in this position.

Miss Beyrer and Miss Tate will attend the College Conference for Health and Physical Education at Natural Bridge December 6 and 7. The theme for this year's conference is "Evaluation". As chairman of one of the three discussion groups, Miss Beyrer is in charge of the health education section.

Some of the members of our faculty have been visiting various high schools throughout the state. Mr. William DeLong is attending college days and nights in Wytheville, Bristol, Marion and Albemarle County. Dean Garber is visiting schools in Boydton, Farmville, Hopewell and Virginia Beach. College days at Rockingham, Page, and Augusta County high schools are being attended by Dr. Stephen J. Turille and Mr. Eagle has visited in the schools at Lexington, Radford, Roanoke, Salem, and Natural Bridge.

Here are a couple of notes on dancing. Social dance lessons will start this week as a part of A. A.'s intramural program. Lessons begin December 1 with Imogene Edwards in charge and will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday until December 15 from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m. There will be lessons for beginners. After you have your dance lesson why not go to the "Sock Hop" following the Saturday night movie. It is sponsored by the S.G.A. and is held in Reed Gym. There's no charge and you need no date, though if you have one be sure to bring him.

Monday night, November 22, Dean Warren spoke at Panhellenic Sing to the sororities. His talk was on what is expected of sororities by the administration and, as always with Dean Warren's speeches, it was enjoyed by everyone. Also, at Panhellenic Sing the Scholarship cup was given to the sorority with the highest scholastic average. Congratulations go to Sigma Sigma Sigma for placing first and to Zeta Tau Alpha for taking second place. This makes the second year in a row that Sigma has won the cup—nice work gals!

From all I've heard Junior Class, Night should really be great. It's next Wednesday night at 8 and I think you'll be sorry if you miss it.

That does it for this week. 'Til next time I'm

Temporarily yours,
Butler

Juniors Will Serve As Teachers For A Day

Thursday, December 9, at noon, 32 junior girls, majors in elementary, secondary, or dual education, will go to Waynesboro, Virginia, and observe classes in the Wenonah Elementary School. Friday, December 10, when the principal and teachers are in Richmond, Virginia, observing in schools there, the Madison girls will operate the Waynesboro school. The Madison students will stay in local homes Thursday night. Those participating in this program are: Marcia Maier, Rita Ritchie, Mary Sue Missimer, Mary Cullen, Beulah Ellis, Martha Morgan, Shirley Blackwell, Virginia Chafin, Alice Chandler, Pat Conroy, Em Sutton Holland, Peggy Johnson, Connie Lawrence, Jeanette Via, Kathryn Harding, Helen Diffie, Eleanor Lehman, Jean Howard, Barbara Murphy, Barbara Johnson, Eleanor Gouldin, Lucy Davis, Jerry Walker, Page Callis, Patsy Jones, Dorothy Groves, Margaret Hartsel, Ann Lewis, Myrl Dake, Bill Shiffett, Sandra Williams, and Ann Pugh.

WHAT'S THIS DROODLE?

For solution see paragraph below.

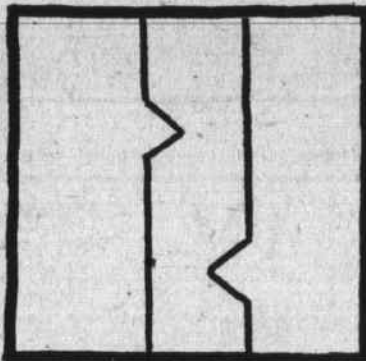

ACCORDING TO THE LARGEST and latest coast-to-coast college survey, college smokers prefer Luckies—and by a wide margin. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. Thousands of students appreciate Luckies' better taste almost as much as the pair in the Droodle above, titled: Sweethearts attempting to kiss and enjoy better-tasting Luckies at same time. Luckies taste better for good reasons. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, "It's Toasted" to taste better. This famous Lucky Strike process tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better—cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Basketball days are here and what a crowd to play! Twenty-seven teams make up the Purple and Gold Leagues and practice games started Wednesday night. These practice games will continue through January 11 and then the real competition begins. Rules, teams, and schedules are posted on each dormitory bulletin board, so don't forget to check there and come on out for a bang up good time!

Peggy Waring, Bev Bowman, Rosie Plentovich, Susie Plentovich, and Jan Bolen, accompanied by Miss Beyrer, will attend a swimming clinic at Mary Washington College tomorrow. Representing the Porpoise Club, this group will present to the clinic one of the numbers used in the show last year, Mystery Street.

Intramural basketball tryouts began yesterday and will continue on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday at 4:30 p.m. until the squads have been picked. Elimination of players will not begin yet so that each person may play for a few days whether picked for the team or not.

A number of the physical education majors attended the basketball clinic on interpretations of rules and officiating technique held at Bridgewater College last night. This clinic was directed by Miss Tandy and the Bridgewater students with Miss Hartman and Miss Morrison assisting.

doner who was taking the trip for the third time because she enjoys it so, two lady professors from Missouri State College and Eleanor and myself. We left from Russell Square at 8:30 A.M. in the drizzling rain, optimistically shouldering our cameras. We left London over the Waterloo Bridge and in a short time passed over the Meridian and saw the Greenwich Observatory. From here we took the Old Kent Road to Rochester Way which, logically enough, led us to Rochester. Here we had a twenty minute stop and Eleanor and I were like two exceedingly childish children as we "played" in the castle. The Rochester Castle was blown up by Cromwell to keep it from being used by the Royalists and today it is only a shell, occupied solely by pigeons. I couldn't help being amused by a sign tacked up in the center of this floorless, roofless cavity. "Any persons committing nuisance on this premises will be prosecuted." Eleanor and I climbed to the top of the tower and looked down on the beautiful Rochester Cathedral.

WHAT IS LIFE?

creating us it has put itself in us. We cannot ask for a greater love than this and more love could not be given.

The main impulse of life is love. No one has ever shared a greater life than the one he can share with his God of love. Many times we stumble and cry out, "Why hast thou forsaken me?" We doubt our God of life, our God of love; but we must try to comprehend the meaning; then the cry, "Why hast thou forsaken me?" will be lost in the exalted concept that "They that dwell in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

We must seek the source of life if we would live. So seek happiness and it shall be granted. Seek immortality and you shall find it. For to seek is to find and to find is to understand and through understanding is life.
