Soviet Editors Tour Eight U. S. Colleges

Eight colleges and universities to be visited by eleven Soviet student editors who will make a three-week tour of the United States this spring were announced today by the Institute of International Education, New York City.

They are Columbia University, Fordham University and Hunters College in New York City; Tuskegee Institute in Tuskegee, Alabama; The University of New Mexico in Albuquerque; Sanford University in California; the University of Chicago; and the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Other colleges and universities will be added to this list.

Listing is the probable order of the tour. The Soviet editors will also visit Williamsburg, Virginia; Denver, Colorado; and Washington, D. C.

The student editors, who arrived in New York April 19 on the Queen Elizabeth, are coming to the United States to acquaint themselves with American student life. They have been granted entry into the United States by the Department of State and Justice "in the national interest." Their tour is being made at the expense of the Soviets.

Forum discussions with American students and faculty will be one of the principal features of the campus visits. It is hoped that the Universities and colleges designated will invite student editors and other representatives from near by campuses to participate in the reception of the Russian student editors.

The Institute of International Education was asked by the State Department to administer the tour. The choice was based on an itinerary submitted by the Russians. The trip is planned to show a cross-section of higher education.

Class Of '58 Brings Musical Program

A treat is in store for Madison College next Wednesday when the Washington and Lee University Band will present a concert at the noon assembly in Wilson Auditorium. The program is sponsored by the Class of '58 as an important feature in the Freshman Class Day program.

Director of Music at W. & L., and leader of the Band, Mr. Robert Stewart will bring thirty members of the University Band to present the concert and for the noon meal.

Highlighting the hour long musical program, which according to Mr. Stewart "... Will please the students ...", will be a medley of popular tunes from "The King and I", "Get On Board", a rhythmic novelty by Paul Yogder; and "Scotch Folk Song Suite".

Students Hear Talk By Psychiatry Prof

Speaking for Wednesday Assembly was Dr. Edward Stainbrook, Ph.D., M.D. He spoke on the meaning and significance of the behavioral science.

Dr. Stainbrook opened by stating that this age has been called "The Age of Self-Awareness". People have become more interested in the self as a unit and its relation to others. Man is seeking to understand behavior and solve the problems of interaction of people.

The formative years in man's life are the first four or five, according to Dr. Stainbrook. Attitudes then formed determine what the individual will be. The first step in the child's life is defining himself as a unit among units. Once the child defines the limits of his body he must learn to use others to fulfill his needs. By failing in this he must depend upon himself which may result in withdrawal into the thought world and possibly insanity.

Dr. Stainbrook discussed feeling for others, attitude toward situations, conformity and non-conformity showing these as constructive or destructive.

Travel And Security Offered Girl Grads As Marine Officers

Woman Marine 2d Lt. Elizabeth M. Faas, at her Arlington office just across the Potomac from the Nation's Capital, is offering women college students and graduates opportunities for travel, good pay, security and advancement, as officers in the Marine Corps.

A graduate of the College of Holy Names in Oakland, Calif., and responsible for the selection of women officer candidates from colleges in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and the District of Columbia, Lt. Faas enthusiastically endorses the advantages afforded intelligent young women as Marine Corps officers.

But the Marine Corps is no place for a woman afraid of responsibility, she adds cautiously. "As a commissioned officer, the former college student may find herself in command of a detachment of women in such places as Honolulu, Frankfurt, Germany, Naples, Italy, or at posts in this country ranging from Boston to San Francisco.

Plenty of time is allowed for sight-seeing, too. In addition to week-ends and time off, the woman officer receives 30 days paid vacation each year. She also receives a starting salary ranging up to $338.00 per month, free medical and dental care, regular promotions with pay increases, and other benefits.

Glee Club To Begin Florida Trip Sunday

Sunday, April 24, will be the beginning of the Madison College Glee Club's tour to Miami, Florida, where it will participate in the National Federation of Music Clubs biennial convention. Madison Glee Club was the only Virginia club invited to appear at the national convention to be held April 20-30, at which time they will sing a program of songs entirely by American composers. Included will be "April Gardens" by George Hicks, "The Magic Hour" by Gardner Read, "An Easter Alleluia" by T. Tertius Noble, "April" by Annabel Buchanan, and "Pueri Haebræorum" by Randall Thompson.

Recent election results naming the officers who will lead the Senior Class of 1956 feature Margaret Hartsel, from Roanoke, as president. A physical education major, Margaret is an active participant in intramural sports, played extramural hockey and has her national officiating rating in basketball and her instructors certificate in swimming. President of Sigma Phi Lambda, an honor society for scholastic achievement; she is also program chairman of the Mercury Club; a member of Kappa Delta Pi, an honorary society in education; and a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority. She has served on the Student Government Association.

Marilyn Zirk was chosen by her classmates to serve as vice-president; Jackie Yeates as reporter; Sue Ann Brown as business manager; Mickey Murphey as secretary; Angelita Suiter as treasurer; and Jack Leffel as sergeant-at-arms.

New senior representatives to student government are Fern Jennings, Jean Ann Platt and Rettie Warren; and Pat Cannon, Eleanor Lehman, and Marcia Maier will attend meetings of the Honor Council.

Winner of the Miss Good Posture contest is Martha Grae Slough, who was presented before the student body in Monday assembly, April 18. Second place runner-up is Bonnie DeLauder, who is pictured with Miss Slough.

Can YOU Pass It?

A number of parents scolded their sixth-graders last month for bringing home report cards that fell short of perfect. But suppose the kids, instead of bringing home report cards, brought home their exams? How would parents fare? How would you fare?

1. Are these statements about the Boston Tea Party true or false?

- A group of irate citizens, disguised as Indians, scrambled aboard three British ships in Boston harbor one night.
- Fed up with the poor quality of tea the British were sending to this country, they dumped the cargoes into the water.
- All this happened after the Revolutionary War.

2. Each of these three men founded an American colony. Name the colony. (a) Roger Williams; (b) William Penn; (c) James Oglethorpe.

3. Which of these cities was the first capital of the U. S.? Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Washington, Charleston.

4. In the column at the left are six historical figures. At the right are their famous discoveries and conquests. Match them up.

Only briefly since 1916, at which time the late Raymond Carlyle Dingleline became affiliated with Madison, have there been intervals during which some member of the Dingleline family have not been actively associated with the college. Their presence and influence over the years extending, fortunately, to this date have been of inestimable benefit.

Perhaps there is somewhere a like educational institution so endowed with a similar family association; this we do not know. However, we students, joint beneficiaries of such an association, feel the situation to be unique in that our college and the name of Dingleline are so interwoven as to be synonymous.

Raymond Carlyle Dingleline Sr., entered the college faculty as professor of history and social sciences, and in such capacity took keen interest in all related administrative activities. Especially was he interested in student government, serving as advisor to this group for many years. He wished for Madison adequate library facilities; his efforts were instrumental in securing them. It was he who selected the name of our present well-equipped library. Just as he was interested in all phases of education, so was he interested in civic and religious work in the city and community. It is food for reflection that during his 25 year tenure he saw Madison grow from three buildings, which still stand, to its approximate present facilities. His was a steady influence to a fledgling college. His achievements were many, and his death in 1941 was a severe loss. All who knew him remember his warm genial spirit.

Quite naturally, and again fortunately for Madison, his two daughters attended Madison, participating wholeheartedly in its many activities.

We find in Dr. Raymond Carlyle Dingleline, Jr., who joined the Madison teaching faculty in 1948, the like qualities of his father. His quiet, fatherly presence in the classroom and on the campus, adds emphasis to the wholesomeness and fine atmosphere which is traditional at Madison. He, also, takes an active interest in all phases of college work at Madison and in the community. History teaching attracts the major portion of his time, and he feels that history teaching and teaching go together. A continuation of the fine Student Government and Honor System now enjoyed at such level at Madison, are his wishes for the college. We students are indeed glad that there was an intangible desire and fatherly influence that prompted Dr. Dingleline to teach, and to join the Madison faculty.

One's first impression of Mrs. Agnes Dingleline, wife of the late Mr. Dingleline, is that of friendliness and efficiency. As executive secretary to Alumni, a position she has held for three years, or as a loved house-mother of Sigma Sigma Sigma, a position she has held since 1949, she performs each task cheerfully, graciously, and capably. Mrs. Dingleline too, taught here for one year when Madison was quite young, and she along with Mr. Dingleline watched Madison grow. Mrs. Dingleline speaks highly of the friendliness and real Christian fellowship which prevails at Madison. She believes that there develops here at Madison, a desire to serve; students are feeling that they are given to give.

Yes, we are indeed fortunate to be a part of the constant tie between Madison and the Dinglelines, a tie which we hope may continue for years to come. Perhaps Dr. Dingleline's young daughter, who is interested in history, may wish to follow her father's profession and further the bond between Madison and the Dinglelines. Time alone will tell us.

Hi Everyone!! Isn't it a wonderful feeling to know that in 44 days Madison College will be adjourned for another season. Take our Saturdays, Sundays and time spent on exams and we only have 25 days of classes left. Oh well, it doesn't hurt to think about it. A lot can be accomplished in 25 days so I'd better start "completing". I hear some of the seniors have butterflies already. Tough luck! There comes a time when everyone must graduate. Or almost everyone. Isn't that right, Sloop?

The "Long" Brothers will rule the two major men's organizations next year. In elections held last week Dale Long was elected to the presidency of the men's Student Government while his baby brother "Buck" was elected to head the fraternity for the coming year. Congratulations and all that to both of you. I know we are in for fine leadership in both organizations. A column on these and the other elected officers will be found in next week's Breeze.

Bon voyage, Glee Club!!! Y'all have a marvelous time and be real good. We'll be thinking of you on the beautiful beaches of Florida.

To whom it may concern: One of the three stray cats the campus has adopted is not housebroken! Don't leave it in your room all night!!!

Free passes this week go to Don Wilkens and Eddie Melton to the State and David Brewster and Jimmy Conrad to the Virginia.

Now girls, watch that sun tanning and I'll see you next week.

Shootin' The Breeze

with Nat

It has been a rather mixed-up week, hasn't it? Some sun, a little rain, and a few clouds. Perhaps the weather fitted your moods of mixed emotions, resulting from the return to work after several days of "lazing" around. Certainly hope everyone had a nice Easter; I know mine couldn't have been better!

Congratulations are in order to several of our sister Madisonites, who recently have been pinned or engaged. Diane Hunter is sporting a diamond from Walter Ashbough, who attends Cornell University; Agnes Stevenson is engaged to John Showalter of Harrisonburg; Carolyn Addison accepted a diamond from Cary Quarles over the holidays; and, Suzanne Young now has a fiance' Tommy Whittaken, who is serving in the United States Navy. Among the pinned on campus are Joan Kafer to Donald Gosden, attending Gettysburg College in Pennsylvania, Meg Covey to Bill Thacker of the University of Virginia; and Martha Ann Morgan who is wearing the Air Force Wings of Norman Dennis, stationed in Knoxville, Tennessee.

Dr. Percy H. Warren addressed the members of the Pulaski Education Association on the topic "Our Greatest Resources" March 19. Also, on March 21, Dean Warren spoke to the teachers of Princess Anne County using as his subject "Evaluating the School Program."

Senior members of the Rockingham County F. H. A. Federation, which includes Harrisonburg, Elkton, Montevideo, Broadway, Bridgewater, Mt. Clinton, and Dayton, were entertained by the Frances Sale Club April 21, with a short program and social hour.

Sunday evening, April 3, Dean Garber gave a buffet dinner which was attended by the Freshman class officers, the freshman dormitory presidents and their class advisors Dr. and Mrs. Mengebier.

The Breeze has received literature concerning a Handbook on International Study, World Study Tours, and the American Friends Service Committee. These communications have been posted on the Breeze bulletin board in Logan 8 for anyone who desires information concerning these activities.

Mrs. Bernice Varner and Miss Anne Hardesty of the Home Economics Department are attending the Pennsylvania Home Economics Spring Weekend this Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23.

We are pleased to see that the Scribblers Nook which featured "Day Dreaming" by Ann Hearl was published recently in the Mary Washington newspaper.

Mrs. Mona L. Coffman, who spoke on "Democratic Teaching of Type-writing and Shorthand", appeared on the panel at the state meeting of the Virginia Business Association at the Hotel Roanoke, on Saturday, April 2.

Many thanks are extended from the student body to Mr. Hicks, Mr. Marshall, and "Willie" Hoagland for the music accompanying the silent foreign film, "The Four Horsemen of Apocalypse". That "old time effect" was gotten from stuffing the piano with paper!

Gosh! We have so much news after the holidays we couldn't print it all, so look forward to a "news-packed" Breeze again next week.

Flaming Flicks --

One of the screen's top tough guys, James Cagney, again lifts his career to sensational heights, in a robust and suspenseful "Run For Cover," which opens at the Virginia on Sunday. In a new production of Vista Vision in Technicolor, Paramount presents Cagney as a worldly wise and hard-bitten sheriff, with strength unmatched since "Shane". He is faced with an undesired reputation, which John Derek contends with an injury that hobbles him and makes him feel bitter and inadequate. Cagney follows the lawful, Derek the opposite in solving their problems.

Vivica Lindfors, co-star, performs on the top level as a woman who's quiet strength is tested by her love for Cagney, and sense of duty to Derek.

Interestingly backgrounded against the savage splendor of Brazil's famous Matto Grosso jungle-country, "The Americano" comes to the Virginia Theater next Friday and Saturday, with a cast topped by Glenn Ford, Frank Lovejoy, Caesar Romero and Ursula Thiess. It is the story of a Texas cowboy who finds both death and love in crossing the jungles to deliver a herd of Brahma bulls to the wealthy South American ranchero.

"Waikiki Beach" — even the Glee Club would admire Ma and Pa Kettle as they boil hilariously in a lulu of a riot at Honolulu. "Ma and Pa Kettle at Waikiki", will be shown at the State Sunday through Wednesday. Wait till you see Ma do the Hula and the Alaka Island Beauties tempt Pa. Margarie Main, recently honored in Who's Who, makes a seventh debut in the Kettle series along with Percy Kilbride. See the wild cat chase filled with the merriest mirth the pair have ever dished up.

There will be a new joy in the land . . . a new glow inside you . . . a new smile on your lips as you become part of the beloved book that topped the nation's best-seller list for 128 weeks, which comes to the screen next Saturday at the State Theater. Richard Todd and Jean Peters, "The Most Changeable Face in Hollywood" portray the story of a man's experience with God and the woman who loved him. "A Man Called Peter".

lities, tennis courts and officer clubs are available during off-duty hours. The companionship of other college graduates often ripens into lasting friendship.

Commissions are granted after the completion of two six weeks classes, held during summer vacation at the beautiful Marine reservation, Quantico, Virginia. Located a short distance from Washington, Quantico is the home of the famed Marine Corps Schools, attended by military students from many foreign countries. It is here, too, that agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation—the FBI—are trained.

Students may withdraw from the classes, without obligation, any time prior to being commissioned. In Lt. Faas' words, it's a "chance to have your cake and eat it too." After commissioning, the new officer agrees to remain on active duty for two years.

At the end of two years the young woman, if she desires to leave active duty, will find she has acquired experience that will help her qualify for a well-paying civilian position. If she wishes, she may remain on the reserve rolls as a civilian, and maintain eligibility for promotion and retirement.

"Make your education pay off," Lt. Faas advises college students. "Your years of study form a valuable asset—an asset the Marine Corps recognizes as being irreplaceable."

State Scholarships

The application blanks to apply for State Teachers' Scholarships for the 1955-56 session are now available in Mr. DeLong's office in Wilson Hall. Students who wish to reapply or to apply for the first time should pick up the application blank as soon as possible from the Director of Student Personnel Office. Students have until July first to make an application for the State Teachers' Scholarship and none will be considered after that time.

Students interested in continuing with the scholarships they now hold should come by the personnel office and reapply for them again next year. An early application for any scholarship assistance will be to your advantage.

Placement Director A. K. Eagle she will be on the campus at 9:00 a.m. May 4. Students interested in the Marine program may sign for an appointment on the sheet provided on the bulletin board beside the Guidance Office door.

Intramural softball season started officially Tuesday with the Giants shutting out the Indians by a score of 14-0. Thursday proved unlucky for those who were ready to play, for just as 4:30 rolled around so did the rain. The intramural softball players have been divided into five teams: the Giants, the Senators, the Indians, the Dodgers, and the Giants. Games will be played each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 4:30 p.m.

Volleyball finished not too long ago with Sheldon I finishing as the victors in the tournament. Sheldon I defeated Johnston in the final game by a score of 28-19 though Johnston had not lost a single game prior to the tournament. Ashby's forfeit gave Lincoln claim to the third place honors. Many thanks go to those who so loyally supported the volleyball program this year; you made it a great success.

Congratulations to the new fencing club officers for next year. Sara Welch will serve as president of the club while Nancy Gardner is the new secretary-treasurer. Miss Morrison has been taken into the club as an honorary member.

Hey, there! Don't miss the Bi-college sports day sponsored by the A.A. The time is 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Players from the intramural sports programs will meet Bridgewater College in tennis, table tennis, and badminton matches. These matches should afford some good watching.

Well, we found out who was Miss Good Posture around campus this past Monday in assembly. Martha Grae Slough claimed this coveted title with Bonnie DeLauder as runner up out of a group of twenty contestants chosen from the four classes. The girls were judged on posture alone by Miss Morrison, Mrs. Hewitt, Dr. Sinclair, Jane Wine, Ellie Laing and Bobbie Mayo. Thursday of last week was tag day. About 90 people on campus were tagged with signs bearing the words "I have good posture." They were picked by girls stationed in Reed, Johnston basement, Wilson and Harrison post office lobby and dining hall.

We really felt as if we had been at the Tulsa convention of the Southern District Meeting of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation or at least wished we had been when we received the reports from Mary Lou Carroll, Jo Kiser, Betty Myers, Norma Proctor, Miss Hartman and Dr. Sinclair who was convention president. They shared new ideas and souvenirs with the physical education majors Tuesday morning. The convention really sounded worth the long ride clear to Oklahoma.

May Day Dance Soon

Music for the May Day Dance will be provided by Les Michenir. The dance, to be held May 7, is only two weeks away. All students and faculty members are cordially invited.

If, however, you flunked, don't fret. According to a professor of educational psychology at New York University, a failure by a grownup "does not necessarily show an intellectual deficit."

The vast proportion of technical information learned in school is forgotten almost completely within two years — if you don't use it you don't get to keep it.

A word to those who did well: Don't be too cocky. You should see the seventh-grade test!

Choral Group Sings Concerts This Week

Under the direction of Miss Gertrude Burau, the Choral Ensemble of Madison College was heard in concert twice this week.

On Tuesday evening at 6:30 p. m. the group sang before a joint meeting of the Strasburg Rotary and Lions Clubs Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m. at a gala occasion honoring the ladies. Wednesday, the singers serenaded the Woodstock Rotary Club at its regular meeting at 12:30 noon.

Both programs featured madrigals, songs by members of the group, and other fitting choral literature.

Tech Band Will Play

Madison College Chorus presents the V. P. I. Regimental Band in a concert here at 8 p.m., April 29. They will come to Madison after being in the parade at the Apple Blossom Festival.
