Religious Emphasis Speaker, Bailey

"What Lack I Yet?" is the theme for Religious Emphasis Week, Feb. 28 through March 3, at Madison College. Homer W. Bailey, minister of Centenary Methodist Church in Richmond, Virginia, will speak on this subject. Bailey has been minister of Madison College's Centenary Methodist Church since 1953.

Student Receives Assistantship

Marilyn Zirk, a physics, biology, and chemistry major with a mathematics minor, has received a $1,000 assistantship to the University of Tennessee where she will do graduate work in radiation biology.

Eta Lambda and Y.W.C.A. and was selected for religious emphasis week. The senior class.

Upon their arrival the group split into two groups. One group travelled on the north and the other south. They noted there were few if any modern farms, and a high percentage of the people were laborers.

The Holy Bible is a rarity in the Soviet Union and it is impossible to come by one.

Warped opinions are held of us by young Russian, said Lovitt. No real poverty was seen, but the people lived without modern conveniences. In one instance the barn had electricity but the house had kerosene lamps. The living quarters are simple; the women wear dark clothes, and children, no make-up is available, hence pale faces. Lovitt found that the Russian people possessed a sense of humor and were very friendly.

"I am not an expert on the Soviet Union. No one in the United States seem to know what is really going on in any one of us. I found Russia to be a Land of Paradox, a country from which people can never be turned over to the other."}

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

A professor, correcting examination papers, came across one which bore no statements, figures, or data other than in answer to the questions. Instead it had only a sketch of a grave and conclusion with an inscription reading: "Bared to the memory of the memory which only dies a sudden death on these occasions."

Automatic Washers Due Here for Dorms

Four washing machines are being considered by S.G.A. and Recreation Council for Madison. If these are purchased it was agreed by members of the council they should be installed on each side of the campus so everyone might have access to them.

Dean Wilkins, adviser, commented, "Other schools which have purchased the machines have had them eventually pay for themselves."

The utility was suggested since lace blouses and other hand washables cannot take the rough treatment given them by a school or any large scale laundry.

If this project passes all channels with approval, it will be undertaken by the S.G.A. and Recreation Council. Since this is the first big objective of the council, its members have consented to join with S.G.A. in order to appropriate the necessary funds.

"Let's keep our fingers crossed that these "washday blues" will soon be something of the past!"
Treasure Your Honor

The time to which we have been looking forward is at last just around the proverbial corner. Yes, exams are very much with us these days, and the time has come to think, again, seriously of our responsibilities to our school and most important of all to ourselves. Our Honor System gives us the opportunity to grow so much, if only we take advantage of it. If we just remember that all work done during exams and at other times is to be our own, that we must never claim credit for something which is not ours, if we rely upon our own intelligence and ingenuity in our work, then the Honor System will give us so much more than we can ever give.

Chadwick Pryor, Honor Council Chairman

Defeating Our Purpose

When plans were tentatively set for taking a bus-load of girls to a V.P.I. dance, it was obviously overlooked that Madison was having a dance on the same night. The plans were completed, and the result was definitely an error in foresight, for the Cotillion Cabaret Dance could be noted Tuesday night, the calendar before Christmas. The V.P.I. dance was announced last week.

In the past it has been proved that it takes an exhaustive and effective campaign to draw students to our dances. For the dances on this same caliber, such as the Cabaret dance tomorrow night, a turnout of approximately 40-50 couples at the most is expected—subtract this from small showing and you find Madison out of the competition.

A known fact exists that "little streams flow into bigger streams," and certainly a prime example of this would be Cotillion's purpose for sponsoring their dance. The expected profit is to go towards granting Madison a larger dance, they have a big name band on campus for the dance weekend coming up in February. Only through support can such an undertaking be successful.

Since Madison is already defeated, the dances are well ahead in advance. It would be to Madison's advantage to keep in mind the possible recurrence of this weekend's conflict.

G. M.

Odds And Ends

In the rust of post-Christmas and pre-exam planning, several items have escaped our attention and others have just arisen.

First, on behalf of the entire student body, we wish formally to thank the President and his executive council for their consideration of the request for a change in the dates of the Christmas vacation from school. An affirmative acknowledgement of this request was genuinely appreciated by all the students who benefitted by it.

Secondly, the student body, primarily the men's student association of the Senate, deems it fitting to bring to the attention of the student body that their action in the matter is worthy of comment. Since at least 10 dances are planned well ahead in advance, it would be to Madison's advantage to keep in mind the possible recurrence of this weekend's conflict.

G. M.

Treasure Your Honor

The time to which we have been looking forward is at last just around the proverbial corner. Yes, exams are very much with us these days, and the time has come to think, again, seriously of our responsibilities to our school and most important of all to ourselves. Our Honor System gives us the opportunity to grow so much, if only we take advantage of it. If we just remember that all work done during exams and at other times is to be our own, that we must never claim credit for something which is not ours, if we rely upon our own intelligence and ingenuity in our work, then the Honor System will give us so much more than we can ever give.

Chadwick Pryor, Honor Council Chairman

Defeating Our Purpose

When plans were tentatively set for taking a bus-load of girls to a V.P.I. dance, it was obviously overlooked that Madison was having a dance on the same night. The plans were completed, and the result was definitely an error in foresight, for the Cotillion Cabaret Dance could be noted Tuesday night, the calendar before Christmas. The V.P.I. dance was announced last week.

In the past it has been proved that it takes an exhaustive and effective campaign to draw students to our dances. For the dances on this same caliber, such as the Cabaret dance tomorrow night, a turnout of approximately 40-50 couples at the most is expected—subtract this from small showing and you find Madison out of the competition.

A known fact exists that "little streams flow into bigger streams," and certainly a prime example of this would be Cotillion's purpose for sponsoring their dance. The expected profit is to go towards granting Madison a larger dance, they have a big name band on campus for the dance weekend coming up in February. Only through support can such an undertaking be successful.

Since Madison is already defeated, the dances are well ahead in advance. It would be to Madison's advantage to keep in mind the possible recurrence of this weekend's conflict.

G. M.

Odds And Ends

In the rust of post-Christmas and pre-exam planning, several items have escaped our attention and others have just arisen.

First, on behalf of the entire student body, we wish formally to thank the President and his executive council for their consideration of the request for a change in the dates of the Christmas vacation from school. An affirmative acknowledgement of this request was genuinely appreciated by all the students who benefitted by it.

Secondly, the student body, primarily the men's student association of the Senate, deems it fitting to bring to the attention of the student body that their action in the matter is worthy of comment. Since at least 10 dances are planned well ahead in advance, it would be to Madison's advantage to keep in mind the possible recurrence of this weekend's conflict.

G. M.

Treasure Your Honor

The time to which we have been looking forward is at last just around the proverbial corner. Yes, exams are very much with us these days, and the time has come to think, again, seriously of our responsibilities to our school and most important of all to ourselves. Our Honor System gives us the opportunity to grow so much, if only we take advantage of it. If we just remember that all work done during exams and at other times is to be our own, that we must never claim credit for something which is not ours, if we rely upon our own intelligence and ingenuity in our work, then the Honor System will give us so much more than we can ever give.

Chadwick Pryor, Honor Council Chairman

Defeating Our Purpose

When plans were tentatively set for taking a bus-load of girls to a V.P.I. dance, it was obviously overlooked that Madison was having a dance on the same night. The plans were completed, and the result was definitely an error in foresight, for the Cotillion Cabaret Dance could be noted Tuesday night, the calendar before Christmas. The V.P.I. dance was announced last week.

In the past it has been proved that it takes an exhaustive and effective campaign to draw students to our dances. For the dances on this same caliber, such as the Cabaret dance tomorrow night, a turnout of approximately 40-50 couples at the most is expected—subtract this from small showing and you find Madison out of the competition.

A known fact exists that "little streams flow into bigger streams," and certainly a prime example of this would be Cotillion's purpose for sponsoring their dance. The expected profit is to go towards granting Madison a larger dance, they have a big name band on campus for the dance weekend coming up in February. Only through support can such an undertaking be successful.

Since Madison is already defeated, the dances are well ahead in advance. It would be to Madison's advantage to keep in mind the possible recurrence of this weekend's conflict.

G. M.

Odds And Ends

In the rust of post-Christmas and pre-exam planning, several items have escaped our attention and others have just arisen.

First, on behalf of the entire student body, we wish formally to thank the President and his executive council for their consideration of the request for a change in the dates of the Christmas vacation from school. An affirmative acknowledgement of this request was genuinely appreciated by all the students who benefitted by it.

Secondly, the student body, primarily the men's student association of the Senate, deems it fitting to bring to the attention of the student body that their action in the matter is worthy of comment. Since at least 10 dances are planned well ahead in advance, it would be to Madison's advantage to keep in mind the possible recurrence of this weekend's conflict.

G. M.
Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing

by Connie Faulder

"Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing" even when you're 1000 miles apart on your 30th wedding anniversary. This is precisely what happened to Mr. H. K. Gibbons, business manager of Madison College, who recently celebrated his 30th wedding anniversary and 30 years of dedication to Madison College.

Seated behind a large desk in the Business office, he presides with dignity and business-like manner over the financial affairs of the school. He is the man behind the scenes where the offices, buildings and grounds, dormitories, library, store, and book store are concerned.

During high school and college days this man about Madison campus was known as an outstanding athlete. In 1936 he graduated from Roanoke High where he proved to be quite a football hero. After high school he decided to go into the army and took her along on double dates. When he arrived on Madison campus it was quite different from the present day layout. Managed, Jack, Ashby, the President's home, Harrison, Spotswood, Alumnae, Carter House, and the eastern part of Sheldon composed the State Teacher's College then. There were rail road tracks running into campus to the heating plant which was located behind Harrison.

This took 1935 Mt. Gibbons watched Madison grow and prosper to what it is today. The western part of Sheldon was built and the assembly room was located on the second floor. Reed and Johnston followed. Previously the homes of campus were in Dredgledine and a house which was located on the present site of the Reform Church, but in 1936-38 Madison acquired a house of their own on campus. The old Hook residence was purchased in 1930-30 to provide the students with a place to go to on week ends.

Then came Wilson, Mccrack, the 12-car garage, Senior, Junior, and the new heating plant. In place of tennis courts a new building to house the growing book collection was erected—Madison College Library, Sprinkle, Wellington, Shenandoah, Zirkle, Logan, Dredgledine, Burgess and the greenhouse were later acquisitions.

Don't Tea Room has been standing for quite some time but for a while it was under the name of Blue Bird Tea Room. It is a little more hokey-todyik today, if you know what I mean," said Mr. Gibbons.

Thirty years of devoted work to Madison and half of his life dedicated to a job he has fulfilled with the highest esteem describes the fidelity of the man who has been about the campus to see it grow and develop to what it is today. He is looking forward to the future with great anticipation. "I would do the same thing if I had it to do over," he said.

Patronize Our Advertisers

LOOLY! LUCKY DROODLES! HAVE A BALL!

WHAT'S THIS?

For solution see paragraph below.

THEM'S NO QUESTION that Luckies taste better—they're made of fine tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. There's no question in the Droodle above, either. In the Droodle, this is where ingredient Number Two enters the picture. A fistful of thumb tacks strategically scattered in surrounding chairs will have the desired effect of rendering them empty long enough for the clever reader to copy a note or two. Miracles do happen and Madison College students are no exception. On Friday, December 20th, before the deadline some writers have all necessary notes arranged for publication.

(Continued on Page 4)
HS Downs Dukes

The Madison College Dukes, meeting Hampden-Sydney in their second game of the season, January 12, on the opponent’s home court, dropped a well-played contest by the score of 96-85.

Dana, Hampden-Sydney's center, was the game's high scorer with 7 field goals and 2 foul shots for a total of 16 points. He was followed closely by the Duke's Koch with 14 points, settled on 5 two-pointers and 2 shots from the free throw line.

The high scorer for Bridgewater's J. V.'s at Bridgewater on January 10.

The schedule for the remainder of the season is:

February—

2  Bridgewater J. V.'s  Home
4  Bridgewater Independent's Home
9  Shenandoah College  Away
16  Swaver Independent's  Away

The line scores for the Hampden-Sydney game:

Hampden-Sydney

PG. F. T.
Smith, f 0 0 0
McGirt, f 0 0 0
Jones, f 1 2 3
Penn, f 1 2 3
Pletcher, f 1 2 3
Sayler, e 2 0 2
Dunn, e 2 0 2
Doe, g 2 2 6
Gigal, g 0 0 0
Pierce, f 2 0 4
Sherrill, f 1 0 1

Total: 29 7 45

Madison

PG. F. T.
Warner, f 2 0 2
Byrd, f 1 0 1
Pugh, f 1 0 1
Crawhall, e 0 0 0
Koch, g 5 4 14
Dudley, e 0 0 0
Ackard, e 1 0 2
Bowman, g 0 0 0

Total: 15 15 45

Madison College, Friday, January 20, 1956

| | | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FG.</td>
<td>F.</td>
<td>T.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Free Passes to Virginia

Kathryn Jenkins
Kay Glover
Avis Mackey
Barbara Cooley
Nancy Tripper
Carol Childress
Eleanor Walter
Barbara Beckwith
Jim Koons

Free Concerts

Assuming that good teaching is the best reason for going to the ballet, Marina Svetlova and company provided in abundance, as proved by the enthusiasm of the Madison audience. The ballet was presented January 31 at Wilson Auditorium by the Community Concert Association. Asby accompanied by Jack Beaber, Svetlova was excellent and versatile. The performance also included Spanish accompaniment by Theodor Haig, pianist. In the Grand Pas in "The Nutcracker," Svetlova and Beaber performed the adagio with great technique of the classical dance. Suites of dances from "Les Sylphides" and "Romeo and Juliet" were also presented. The Grand Pas de Deux from "Don Quixote" climax of the evening's program.

Historical

Virginians At Work

Hanson Titles Book

Hanson, Professor of Geography, is the author of that old favorite, "Virginians At Work," which includes in his book the custom for freshmen for several years.

Mr. Hanson includes in his book a history of the state; elements of the natural environment and outstandingly readable. A glossary of geographic and scientific terms is at the end.

Community Concert Association

Present Ballet

The ballet was presented January 31 at Wilson Auditorium by the Community Concert Association. Asby accompanied by Jack Beaber, Svetlova was excellent and versatile. The performance also included Spanish accompaniment by Theodor Haig, pianist. In the Grand Pas in "The Nutcracker," Svetlova and Beaber performed the adagio with great technique of the classical dance. Suites of dances from "Les Sylphides" and "Romeo and Juliet" were also presented. The Grand Pas de Deux from "Don Quixote" climax of the evening's program.

Theatrical

VISIT

DOC'S TEAROOM

Fountain Service
Meals Sandwiches
"Shrimp in a Basket"
Soft Drinks, Pennants,
Stationery
Opposite the College

Radio and Player Repair

Guaranteed

Whitesell Music

RCA—Victor—Columbia
Deco—Capitol

New Releases Weekly

Virginia

5 BIG DAYS
SAT. thru WED.
Dial 4-492 for Movie Time

FMovie

ALAN LADD
HEDY M. ROBINSON
JOANNE DRU
HELL ON FRISCO BAY

Get ready for EXAMS

COLLEGE OUTLINE SERIES:

- Physics
- History
- Sociology
- Chemistry
- Government
- Economics
- Standards Classics of Literature

Free Passes to State

Faye Nanza
Roberta Soneshaugh
Rachael Rondel
Carol Shuttlesworth
Carole Fowlkes
Phyllis Walls
Larry Courser
Barbara Banks
Sam Koontz
Larry Bobart

FLASH!! Final score of the Madison-Bridgewater game Thursday night: Bridgewater JV's 60 — Madison Dukes 56.

Basketball season gets underway Saturday when the Duchesses travel to Sweetbriar. Good luck, girls—for Saturday's game and for the entire season.

- Dr. Elderor Metheny, vice-president of Physical Education
- American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, will be the guest of the Mercury Club at their meeting in Alumni Hall Thursday, January 26, at 8:00 p.m. Dr. Metheny is Professor of Education and Physical Education at the University of Southern California.

Basketball season gets underway Saturday when the Duchesses travel to Sweetbriar. Good luck, girls—for Saturday's game and for the entire season.

- Dr. Elderor Metheny, vice-president of Physical Education
- American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, will be the guest of the Mercury Club at their meeting in Alumni Hall Thursday, January 26, at 8:00 p.m. Dr. Metheny is Professor of Education and Physical Education at the University of Southern California.

Basketball season gets underway Saturday when the Duchesses travel to Sweetbriar. Good luck, girls—for Saturday's game and for the entire season.

- Dr. Elderor Metheny, vice-president of Physical Education
- American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, will be the guest of the Mercury Club at their meeting in Alumni Hall Thursday, January 26, at 8:00 p.m. Dr. Metheny is Professor of Education and Physical Education at the University of Southern California.