Students Pledge Cooperation
In Maintaining Honor System

Uppercrustmen have been signing the honor pledge all week, and will complete pledging tonight. This pledge serves to reinforce the privileges and responsibilities of selfgovernment in group living and I realize that I am fully the work that Y has planned for this impressive service which will end night in Wilson auditorium at 6:45.

Dr. Y gives Illustrated Talk On Atom Bomb

Dr. John H. Yoe, head of the department of geology of the University of Virginia, was guest speaker at Wells assembly on October 2. Dr. Yoe described an illustrated talk on the Bomb at test at which he was present. He began his speech with the background of the atom bomb when in November, and a "C" average for the preceding quarter.

This experiment introduced to the world two new elements, one of which was an isotope of uranium, the other being plutonium, which was discovered when the bombs were releas-ated from Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

"This bomb is quite small, measure-te in terms of the modern bomb, with jettisoning from 2 lbs. to 225 lbs., plus other materials," Dr. Yoe

An Improvement

Madison "sait what she used to be!" With the addition of the thirty-old boys to our campus, the old place is really buzzing! You will find that many new students are out of high school and have no idea what a masculine face can make. Some of the girls have actually started polishing up their beloved old saddles! In this direction is where we must immediately neglect their "Little Sisters" after the first exciting week of school is over.

It's not that the freshmen are forgotten, but many of us feel that they would rather mingle with their own classmates, than with upperclassmen. Naturally, our new students probably do feel more at home with their particular set of friends, but an occasional "get together" with "Big Sisters" helps them to broaden their horizons.

Upperclassmen, let us keep up that "sisterly" friendship with our freshmen, and invite them to attend movies, or play tennis, or to bring their supper bags over, or a Sunday night church. You will appreciate it and all of us will certainly enjoy it.

Keep Off The Grass!

Remember Little Sister . . .

It seems to have been the habit in the past, for all "Big Sisters" to immediately neglect their "Little Sisters" after the first exciting week of school is over.

It's not that the freshmen are forgotten, but many of us feel that they would rather mingle with their own classmates, than with upperclassmen. Naturally, our new students probably do feel more at home with their particular set of friends, but an occasional "get together" with "Big Sisters" helps them to broaden their horizons.

"Warsaw Concerto" and "A Love Like This," from "For Whom the Bells Toll," go on a splash of Cavallaro, his band, and his piano at their best—which is plenty good.

"Our Town," from the picture of the same name, is coupled with "I'll Love Again" by Glen Gray's band, his vocals and Bobby Hackett's trumpet go quite a way to forward making this the hit that it should be.
