Senior Counselors Will Give Advice

For Incoming Freshmen, Transfers

Two new senior counselors will work continuously in the freshman residence halls on Sunday, September 16, welcoming all freshmen, parents and visitors.

The work of the senior counselors is not only concerned during Orientation Week but throughout the year. The dean of residence halls, realizing that freshmen need help, takes her advice from an experienced student who will be back on campus as an upper classman.

While assisting freshmen, a senior counselor receives valuable training in the student services department, and she will probably do the same job during her stay here at Madison.

In selecting these student leaders, every effort is made to精选 suitable candidates:

1. A better than "C" average
2. Leadership in student organizations
3. Good personality

Four Good Counselors

Senior counselors will give advice on the following topics:

4. Good characteristics
5. Patience, tactfulness, and courtesy
6. Well informed in educational requirements and extracurricular activities.

Future In Physics Promises Success

Girls, would you like to have dozens of men on your hands, clamoring to have you spend some time with them?

Girls, how would you like to spend your summers in a good payng position when the Wife of the Women is at least 007 to 15?

It's easy. All you have to do is become a physicist (full career.) And don't forget, all physicists are tall, dark, slender, handsome, and rich. Pardon me, candor—and the truth in advertising policy of this paper forces me to admit that the above statement isn't quite true. Some physicists are blондettes!

But anyway, wouldn't it be heаsy to spend your summers working at a good-paying job among theCho 774 Frenchmen so that after graduation you would be able to sit back and enjoy any of a large number of offers—jobs—and still be penniless?

For further information see Dr. Wells or Dr. Toller. Better hurry—only a limited number of vacancies exist. Good luck, Class of 1960.

As Orientation Launches
"Frosh" Face Full Week

Dear Students:

Welcome to Madison College! It is in a genuine joy to have you as members of our student body. We hope that your experiences here will be both pleasant and profitable and we assure you that we will exert our very best efforts to that end.

I hope that each one of you will come to my office for a chat in the near future. You are always welcome.

The office of the Dean of the College is located in the northwest corner of the first floor of Alumnae Hall.

Sincerely yours,

Percy H. Warren, Dean

Dean of College

Pres. Miller Suggests Persistent Participation

To the New Students of Madison College:

It is a real pleasure to welcome all of you who are new students in this, the fortieth year in the life of Madison College. You may be surprised to learn that I hope most of you will continue as students here to graduation. It is my sincere desire that throughout your college career you will find increasing satisfaction and rewards as members of our student body.

For the next few days I am sure many of you will feel somewhat lost in this new environment. You will have new friends to make both among the students and faculty and you will have many new experiences. Although those of you who are freshmen are members of the class of 1956, I feel that over four hundred, I hope it will not be long before you feel that you are no longer members of the others classes on the campus, the faculty, and the administrative staff. Your senior counselors, the student leaders who returned early especially to welcome you to your new home, will all I am sure—will try to make you feel at home.

Your attention is directed especially to the orientation program outlined in the following schedule. You will find this period to be a busy one, but also a profitable one for you. If you have not had the opportunity to meet all of the students at Madison, it is urged that you use every opportunity to meet the members of the other groups. You should make use of the faculty members serving as curriculum advisers as well as the members of the student government, the faculty and administrative staff to know you better through individual conferences and screening tests. You will find this period to be a busy one and also a profitable one for you.

As I said to the new students in my greetings last year, at the beginning of each new year most of us make resolutions. May I suggest, beginning of each new year most of us make resolutions as they will be glad to advise and help the students at Madison. It is urged that throughout the session you should make as rapidly as possible with the many opportunities which are provided for you here at Madison. You should take full advantage of them by putting forth your best efforts in all of your activities. I hope that you will not only pursue your studies with diligence and profit but that you will also be gainfully employed in activities, both in student affairs and enjoy the benefits of recreational activities which are indeed imporant to you. Many students who have been college career you will find increasing satisfaction and rewards as members of our student body. Dear Freshmen:

Welcome, welcome, welcome! We've so glad you are here—these words of the song express the way we feel as we greet the promising young people who are on our campus for the first time.

This is your week, freshmen! Orientation is devised to smooth your path into the Madison way of life—to answer your hows, whens, and ways. We believe the Madison students are about the finest students anywhere in the Commonwealth. They, like you, come to us from the mountains, from the plains and from the seashores; from the cities, from the towns, and from the farms. They have had the determination to continue their education. If they can do it, so can you. We hope you will have had the determination to come to us from the mountains, from the plains and from the seashores; from the cities, from the towns, and from the farms.

The main reason you came to Madison is to learn. Aim high, for the more you conscientiously strive for your goals, the happier and wiser you will be. I hope to learn to know each one of you, personally. When difficulties arise, be sure and come by my office in Alumnae Hall because it is my desire to be of service to you at any time. May the coming four years be unforgettable in terms of all that is good, all that is honorable, and all that is worthwhile for you.

Cordially,
Dorothy S. Garber

Welcome to Madison!
I'm so happy to extend to each of you a warm and sincere welcome to Madison College.
For you, the new students, this is the beginning of a rich and important plan in life where you will meet new friends, learn new things, accept new responsibilities and find a richer fuller life.
Already you are learning some of our traditions and customs and experiencing this love and friendship which makes up the real Madison "spirit".

For the returning girls I'm anxious to see you again; renew friendships;

For all of us, college life here at Madison offers many opportunities for our development physically, intellectually and spiritually, all of which I hope you will take advantage. For then only can one become a happy and effective member of our college family.
Best wishes to everyone for a wonderful year!

Sincerely,
Anne Warren, President

Director of Guidance
You may need assistance in the beginning. Fortunately, Madison College provides such assistance through the guidance offices, the curriculum advisers, the guidance council and other sources. You will find a friendly faculty and student body ever ready and willing to help you solve your problems.

Students who have not definitely made a vocational choice should see the Director of Guidance on the ground floor of Reed Hall. He can make available to you information obtained from specialists and other tests and furnish you with a wide variety of occupational information.

We trust that your years at Madison College will be happy and profitable. We are glad to welcome you to our campus.
Sincerely,

Alfred K. Eagle
