GRASS ROOTS IS COMING

One Performance Only

SAC Announces Grass Roots Concert

The Student Activities Committee said in a recent announcement that the popular rock group, "Grass Roots," will present a concert at Madison. The concert will be May 8 at 8 p.m. in Wilson Hall.

"Grass Roots" have been one of the most popular recording groups in the country for more than four years. They got their start in Israel, where two of their members met, and later returned to Los Angeles to start putting their sound together. Their first record, "Let's Live for Today," sold a million copies, and "Grass Roots" have been going strong ever since.

Other top-40 winners for the group include "Heaven Knows," "River is Wide," "Out in the Country" which the group performed at Woodstock, "Wait A Million Years," and their recent smash, "Temptation Eyes."

"Grass Roots" have made no flashy headlines. They have concentrated on making their music, and making it better. Nothing sudden, just solid.

Tickets for the concert are $3.50 and $3.00 each, and will be on sale at the information counter in the Warren Center. There will only be one concert, so tickets are limited.

Soprano Redford's Recital Tomorrow

The Music Department of Madison College presents Shirley Redford, a soprano, in Senior Recital this Sunday, at 3 p.m. in Latimer-Shaeffer Theatre. Miss Redford will be assisted by Wandalyn Boley, pianist, and Brenda Riley, clarinetist.

Miss Redford's program will include a recitative and aria from "Acis and Galatea" by Handel; an aria by Scarlatti; German selections by Schubert, Schumann and Brahms; French selections by Reynoldo Hahn, Gabriel Faure, and Gustave Ferrari; and others.

Miss Redford has attended Madison College for all of her undergraduate work. She has studied voice under Sally Lance of the Music Department for four years. In her freshman year, Miss Redford took second place in the Virginia National Association of Teacher Singers State Competition.

She has also assisted with another Senior Recital during her sophomore year, and has soloed with the Madison College Orchestra on several occasions.

Admission is open to the public at no charge.

Novice Debate Team Takes First; Forensics Sponsor Campus Comment

Madison College's Novice Debate Team won the First Place trophy at the Virginia State Championship Debate Tournament held at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia, April 23.

Donna Will and Bob Makofsky went undefeated to win honors as the top affirmative team, while Jane Reiser and David Bottenfield sustained a single loss to be the top negative team.

The First Place trophy making them "State Champions" was awarded to Madison College for the best record of a four man debate unit.

All the students are first year debaters at Madison, and all without previous high school experience. They have won trophies three of their last four tournaments, but the State Championships was their

Seniors Revamp Graduation Plans

This year the Senior class voted on a different format for graduation which is set for June 6 at 2:15 p.m. on the quad. The new format eliminates senior weekend and involves the Deans of the schools of Education, Humanities, Natural Sciences, and Social Sciences.

In the past the Seniors had to come back to school on Friday before graduation in order to practice on Saturday. A party was usually held Saturday night for the Seniors, but attendance was always low. This year the party will be eliminated and practice and all other activities will take place on Sunday.

Another change will be in the Baccalaureate Service. Instead of this service, Seniors will go to the church of their choice with their families.

The graduation ceremony will be slightly different, also. The degrees will be given out in alphabetical order according to the four schools. This is in contrast to the past method of mass alphabetical order. The seniors will receive a blank roll of paper during the actual ceremony and after graduation they will go to the head of their school to get their degree.

Graduation activities will begin early Sunday morning with the Senior Breakfast at 8:30 a.m. in the dining hall. The seniors will go to practice around 9:30 a.m., and President and Mrs. Carrier will host a coffee for the parents in the Student Union.

At 10:30 a.m. the seniors will go to the church of their choice with their families. After church there will be a luncheon in the dining hall for the seniors and parents.

The next major event will be graduation at 2:15 p.m. It will take place on the quad facing Wilson Hall. In case of rain, the ceremony will be held in Wilson Auditorium.

The guest speaker at graduation will be Dr. Marshall Hahn, president of VPI. His topic has not been announced yet.

The class of 71, with an expected total of 612 graduates, including 49 honor graduates, has not yet decided on the gift to leave the college. Any seniors with suggestions are asked to contact Nancy West.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Response to the demonstrations currently being held in the nation's capitol has varied from whole hearted support to hearty disapproval. Whatever the reaction, however, the demonstrators have made their presence felt.

One VVAW member presented a passionate plea to a senate committee for the immediate withdrawal of all troops from Viet Nam. Students met with the Foreign Relations Committee, and at one point, even the always-cool Senator Aiken blew his composure and asked why the demonstrators did not leave the country if they thought it was so bad. Naturally, their (students) response was that they loved the country very much, which was why they wanted to change it.

Two letters to the editor of the local Harrisonburg newspaper were opposed to what the demonstrators were doing. One condemned the "Peoples Peace Treaty," while the other found actions he had observed between certain demonstrators very offensive. (The offensive actions were public displays of private physical and emotional actions.)

This weekend, demonstrations will continue, with all branches of the protest movement represented: anti-war, women's lib, gay lib, et al. In publicity materials sent out by participating groups, targets were announced against which the demonstrations would concentrate their efforts. But will all these efforts be of any real value?

In remarks on nationwide television, Vice President Agnew warned the nation against placing any stock in the demonstrations. He noted that "only" 200,000 people participated and that represented "only" two percent of the population of the U.S. He also said he found it shocking that senators and other members of congress paid any attention to the demonstrators. Certainly, Mr. Agnew, they are only citizens of the U.S., why pay any attention to them?

Though there are many different drummers, the demonstration beat goes on, and will continue to go on until the elected representatives become more responsive to the needs of the people. The vote-18 amendment will insure this, if it is approved.

Letters To The Editor

Touche!!

Dear Editor:

We talked in my office at some length one day about freedom of the press for campus publications. At that time you mentioned that there is a responsibility for the campus newspaper to adhere to the ethics and practices of sound journalism.

How then can you justify your charges which seem to center around the unethical or even dishonest practices of the Harrisonburg businessman. You accuse, but you do not state the crime. This kind of journalism should be reserved for the gossip column, not the editorials. Yet you speak of ethics.

It is my hope that the merchants of Harrisonburg will recognize that this particular editorial speaks only for an editor who can't seem to find a snack bar hamburger or a night spot beer that is priced within his budget!

Betty Finlayson

(ED. NOTE: Your constructive comments are well-received. If you will re-read the editorial, however, you would discover that the "crime" of "economic rape" in fact was stated. Subsequent to the editorial, a meeting was held between members of a campus group and representatives of two local businesses. At this time, grievances were aired, and the merchants were given the opportunity to respond directly to their "accusers." More of these meetings are planned in the near future to bring about an understanding between merchants and students. By the way, in talking to the two businesses at the meeting, it was learned that their business had dropped as a result of the editorial. That was one of the reasons they came to the meeting. But where are the others in the Harrisonburg economic hierarchy? Out having "grand opening" sales many months after their stores open, or out having anniversary sales, in which one has to spend hundreds of dollars just to save a few dollars on a smaller item worth little more than what it is being sold for.)

Yea, Campus Center!

Dear Editor:

When in the world will those post office boxes be fixed? Mine has not been working since February when the offices were changed, and I can only get my mail by having an employee open it from the inside.

Needless to say, I have to get there between 9-12 and 1-4:45. It gets quite aggravating to realize you finally have a letter, only to have to wait 15 (or more) minutes until the P. O. opens. I have reported it, and get the same excuse: "I don't know when the man will be back." Can't somebody do something???

Sincerely,

Judy Campbell

WMRA-FM

NOTES by Lesli Brown

WMRA will help to promote "Drugs on Trial Week" with a special series of programs next week at 4 p.m. daily. The programs will vary from different ways of preventing drug abuse to the actual spotting of a drug abuser. These programs are presented by the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

While you're learning about drugs, why not learn about some of our U.S. senators too? A program, U.S. Senate, is aired every Saturday at 6 p.m., and each week a different senator is featured.

Travel The World In Song and Future Of... are two programs which highlight Monday's schedule. The former is a series put out by the U.S. Navy, and it takes the listener on tours of different countries musically. It is aired at 4:45 p.m.

The Future Of... is a program which features discussion about society's alternative futures in a wide variety of subject areas. This program is aired at 7 p.m., and next week's topic will be "Judaism."

Enjoy good music? Serenade in Blue, a program presented by the U.S. Air Force, may be heard Thursday at 4:45 p.m. It features every kind of music from jazz to the big-band sound.

American Profiles is offered twice a day for five minutes each. Some person or organization which has made a contribution to society is covered.

The end of one of our most successful programs is almost here. China Conversations, discussing U.S. relations with China will have its final two programs this Tuesday and Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

LP PREVIEW by Bob Conroy

A few new groups have cut and released new albums. Most notable among the newcomers is Tin Tin, an easy-rock group whose single "Toast and Marmalade for Tea" is climbing the national sales charts. Their album, featuring good and easy sounds, has included "Come On Over Again" and "She Said Ride."

Seems like Atco has another winner on their hands from CSNY. The two-record Four Way Street is music performed in concert, and for Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young fans, this one is a must.

Another new group, Rio Grande, has their first album out on the RCA label. Victor also offers the Morning, Noon & Nite Liters who play "funk 'n' roll." This description fits their music, and they show signs of good soul.

Alice Stuart's Full Time Woman album cover suggests a driving sound equal to the motorcycles pictured, but this Fantasy LP is easy and folkish instead. Fantasy also waxes Abel, whose new Please World, comes on a lot like Chicago.

Carole King, a soul version of Barbara Streisand, moves the listener with cuts like "I Felt the Earth Move" from her new Tapestry album.

Don't go to dinner in the D-hall tomorrow. It will be locked, but dinner will be served on the courtyard between Shorts and Eagle Dorms as a prelude to a dance sponsored by the Student Government Association.

A dinner of submarine sandwiches will be served between 5-6 p.m., followed by a dance featuring two Madison College rock bands, Abraham and Son. The dance will last until 1 a.m.

The dance is open to all, but boarding students must pick up their tickets for the dinner. Tickets may be picked up at breakfast or lunch, or anytime before 3 p.m., in the Food Service Office.

A similar "eat-out" will be held again on Friday, May 7, with a barbeque chicken dinner planned. Abraham will play at the dance following dinner -- same time, same place.

the Year award at Madison College beginning next year, Dr. Ronald E. Carrier, president, announced today.

It will be given at commencement exercises to the teacher at the college who is selected for the annual award. A committee is being appointed to determine the procedures for selection.

Daniel E. Stark, manager of the Harrisonburg Kawneer plant said, "Speaking for my company, I feel this is a most satisfactory use of our contribution. Our company benefits from the values of higher education and the awarding of an outstanding teacher is one way of demonstrating an appreciation of this fact."

Dr. Carrier said, "Our college has many obligations and performs many services. Nothing we can do, however, is quite so important as the quality of our faculty's teaching which, by its effectiveness determines our students' learning.

"To promote effective teaching and learning is our primary mission. By the establishment of this award, the college is taking a specific step to define, to recognize, and to reward distinguished teaching."

He added, "I believe this award will be an indication of our support and appreciation of those many facets which culminate in the art of effective teaching from which evolves exceptional learning perpetuated in the minds of students, from which the whole of society benefits."

Student Activities Committee is sponsoring an introductory lecture on "transcendental meditation" on Monday, May 3, at 8 p.m. in the Warren Center Ballroom.

Anyone can begin to use the full potential of his mind in all fields of life through transcendental meditation. This is a way to expand the conscious mind, tap an inexhaustible reservoir of energy and creative intelligence, and bring fulfillment to life. This form of meditation comes from man's ancient heritage. It is a safe, natural and spontaneous method for expanding the mind, and it works for everyone.

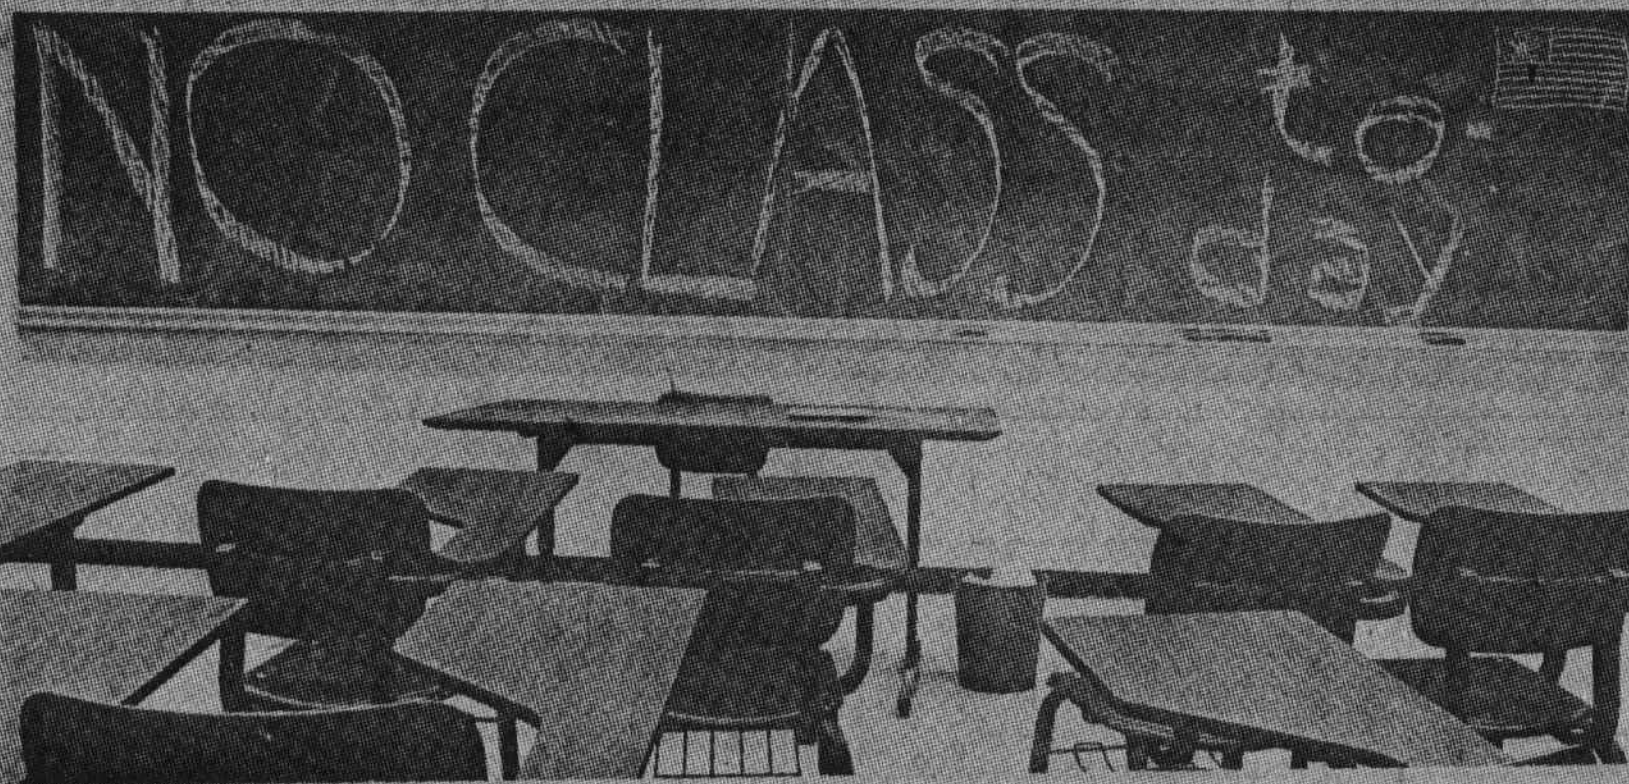

The lecture is open to the general public.

May 11, Spring Registration

The office of the Assistant Provost announced spring registration will be held Tuesday, May 11, for the academic year 1971-72. Spring registration will be held in the Warren Center Ballroom.

Printed schedules of classes will be distributed on May 5. Faculty members will get them first, so students are encouraged to check with their advisers. The schedules will be available for students in Wilson Hall.

Only evening classes, those that commence after 6 p.m., will meet on May 11 as regularly scheduled.

Eco-Ornithology Course Held

A summer course in Ecology and Ornithology will be conducted on the Sweet Briar College campus during the week of June 13-19. Taught by Dr. Ernest P. Edwards, professor of biology, the course will be an introduction to ecology, combined with a study of birds and their attributes.

Men and women who have completed the sophomore year in college are eligible, and applications may be placed immediately. Several scholarships, offered on the basis of financial need, are available with priority given to teachers.

The course, which has been given for several summers at the college, will have an added feature this year. Participants who wish to earn college credit may continue their studies independently for a second week, either at home or by remaining on campus. For successful completion of the combination, the participant may earn two semester-hours of college credit, or if enrolled in a college with the 4-1-4 calendar, a half-unit of credit.

The first week will include lectures, intensive field work, laboratory work, and films. Those who wish to pursue a second week of study may specialize in either ornithology or ecology and will be given related assignments. They will be expected to write a short paper and complete a final examination, to be mailed to Dr. Edwards before Aug. 1.

No credit can be given for the first week alone, nor can the second week be taken without the first. The costs will be the same, whether the course is taken for credit or not.

Further details and information about costs may be obtained from Dr. Edwards, Sweet Briar College, Sweet Briar, Va. 24595.

- The Grandstander -

The Dukes' baseball team matched its number of victories posted last year when it split a pair with VCU Saturday. The win was the team's fourth against two defeats. Last year's record was 4-8 in Madison's first taste of intercollegiate competition. It seems a fair bet that this year's squad will better that mark.

* * * *

The tennis team might have lost its third straight match last Saturday but it was by no means disgraced. The Shepherd Rams, undefeated in seven matches, had its hands full in edging Bob Vanderwarker's netters, 5-4. The team record is now 2-3 for the season.

* * * *

Madison seems to have grabbed off the brass ring in hiring Dean Ehlers as its new athletic director effective July 1. Ehlers comes here from Memphis where he was athletic director of the city's public schools.

Previously, he was basketball coach at Memphis State where he took his teams to the National Invitational Tournament three times in years. This corner extends a hearty welcome to the newcomer though, at the same, time being sorry to see Cleve Branscum go.

* * * *

Like the baseball team, Coach Ward Long's golf squad has equalled its nine wins of last season—no mean accomplishment when one considers the rugged schedule the linksmen are playing this season. They stand 9-6 on the season with four matches to play.

* * * *

Controversial Denny McLain seems as flaky as ever if the episode in which he participated last week is any indication. Getting thrown out of a game over the way the plate umpire is calling them seems to hint that McLain still has some growing up to do.

Washington fans hope that the incident will not be repeated. Hundred grand players can't win many if sitting out a suspension.

* * * *

Curt Flood, another of the Senators' hundred-granders, has been anything but a sensation and has been picking up splinters on the bench. Not only has he failed to hit, but his fielding has left much to be desired.

It is suspected by many close to the game that Flood's one-year layoff has dulled the sharp skills which made him one of the game's superstars.

(Wednesday's sports pages claim that Flood has chucked it, claiming that a one and one-half year layoff is too much.)

* * * *

Before the week is out, Hank Aaron may join the fabled Babe Ruth and Willie Mays as the only players in baseball history to hit 600 homers in a career.

Aaron, 37, smashed No. 599 last Sunday against San Diego.

* * * *

Undoubtedly one of the most exciting rookies to come along in years is the Braves' Ralph "Roadrunner" Garr who played with the Richmond Braves in the International League last season where he led the league in hitting.

Garr was not given much of a chance to stay with Atlanta in spring training but has earned a starting role with his consistent hitting and daring baserunning. His talents have already gained him a large following.

* * * *

One of the few bright spots in an otherwise dismal start for the Cleveland Indians has been the pinch-hitting of Gomer Hodge (yes he was named after Gomer Pyle). Hodge, whose highest mark in organized ball has been .231, has collected seven hits and four walks in 13 pinch-hitting assignments thus far this year.

Tribe fans need something to take their minds off the pathetic showing of Sudden Sam McDowell and Hawk Harrelson. McDowell has already lost three and is walking every other batter while Harrelson is clubbing the ball at a .130 pace.

* * * *

The men's tennis team ran its season record to 3-2 with an 8-1 win over Eastern Mennonite as Al Mayer once again led the way.

Mayer captured the No. 1 singles match by defeating Carl Martin, 6-1, 6-3, as the Dukes swept all but one doubles match. EMC is now 1-2 on the year.

* * * *

Senior Pam Wiegart of the girl's golf team captured medalist honors in the UNC at Greensboro Invitational tournament last Saturday by shooting a five over par 62.

Eleven colleges competed in the 18-hole event.

* * * *

The archery teams opened their respective seasons against the University of Richmond, 2259 to 1908, as the women bowed to Westhampton, 1986-1915.

Sue Vincke and Ann Bollinger paced the women with 534 and 514 respectively while Martin Spencer with 600 and Bryan Daniels with 570 aided Ryder in the men's cause. Ryder came up with a 614.

No. 1 Collegiate Golfer In State

Osborn Shoots Medalist As Dukes Tie For 3rd

Jack Osborn won medalist honors and Billy Lam finished fourth as the surprising Duke golfers tied for third place with William & Mary in the state meet over the windy Lower Cascades course in Hot Springs last Monday. Virginia Tech was the meet winner for the 13th time.

Osborn fired a 78 on the front nine and trailed Allen Holmes of the Gobblers by six strokes going into the second nine. The high winds played havoc with Holmes who skied to an 82 while Osborn shot a 75 for a nine over par total of 153.

The Duke medalist mixed 21 pars with 12 bogeys and three birdies for his winning total. Lam, a sophomore, came in with a consistent 79-77 to finish two strokes behind Holmes and Barry Marple of Old Dominion.

Coach Ward Long, who said prior to the meet that his team had reached a peak, saw his judgment vindicated although his golfers shot far below their usual form. Tommy Pollard and Denny Fellona, for example, had been shooting in the 70's all year. Neither could approach their season averages under Monday's conditions. Pollard, another sophomore, shot 86-79 while Fellona had an 80-90 pair of rounds.

Calling his performance "my biggest thrill in golf" Osborn attributed his win to staying out of trouble particularly in the second round when he finished with a three over par 75.

Osborn's victory snapped a Tech streak of seven years in which a Gobbler had either won or tied for medalist.

Second place in the meet went to Randolph-Macon which finished six strokes behind the winners. Other teams in order of finish were the University of Virginia, Old Dominion, VCU, Washington & Lee, Christopher Newport, VMI, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Richmond, Hampden-Sydney, and Bridgewater.

The Dukes finish out their schedule with out of town matches against George Mason and W&L. They were shooting for their 10th win of the season at home against Hampden-Sydney. Results were not available as this went to press and will appear in the next issue of Genesis II.

Twinbill Combination Eludes Duke Nine During Recent Doubleheaders

by John Hulver

Larry Hunt posted his fourth consecutive victory as the Dukes split a twinbill with Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond last Saturday. The Dukes lost the first game 3-2 on a seventh inning single and then unloaded a 9-7 victory over the Rams at Hotchkiss field, which has no outfield fence.

VCU jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning of the opener as the Dukes' infield committed a costly error. In the second inning Ram pitcher Jim Pitts tagged starter Ron Fridley for a solo homer.

Kenny Collins retaliated with a two-run homer in the third with Jim Sparling on base to tie the score. Collins and Sparling each rapped two hits in the first game and by the end of the day Sparling had pushed his batting average above .500 for the season.

Fridley did not allow another run but tired in the seventh and was relieved by Hunt. Ram Tommy Carter punched a single off Hunt to center field driving Pitts home to win the game.

Madison started the second game on the right track with a 3-0 first inning lead as Jerry Dellinger, Dave Snyder, Hugh Lantz and Collins all rapped singles. Collins drove home Snyder in the third inning to up the score to 4-1 while the Rams scored off starter Larry Hunt in the second.

This set up the fourth inning when the Dukes blasted four hits and scored four runs to open up an 8-1 lead. Hunt retired the Rams one-two-three in the fifth and needed Bob Corso's sixth inning solo homer to hold off a late rally by the Rams. Corso scored three runs and cracked three hits for the day.

Relief pitcher Bob Taylor tagged Hunt for a three run homer in the sixth and the Rams scored three more runs in the seventh before their charge fell short. The Dukes outhit the Rams 8-5 in the first game but the teams were tied in the second with 11 hits apiece.

The Dukes Nine split a doubleheader with Hampden-Sydney 7-3 and 2-1. Ron Fridley picked up his second win (Continued on Page 6)

Women's Tennis

Madison College will host the first Women's Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament held in Virginia on May 7 & 8. Ten teams will appear in the tournament under the direction of Miss Naomi Mills.

The Duchesses hopes in the tournament rest with Maureen Broe, Deborah Davenport, Sharon Dingleline, Dianna Gray, and Elaine Good.

Visiting teams include Mary Baldwin, Lynchburg, Hollins, William & Mary, Roanoke, Longwood, Bridgewater, West Hampden, and Mary Washington.

New Survey Seeks Comments By Travelers On Road Hazards

Richmond, Va. . . . Out of state motorists and traveling Virginians will shortly be asked to report any traffic safety hazards to the Virginia Highway Safety Division, John T. Hanna, the Division's Director, announced today.

Hanna said that with the cooperation of the Virginia Hotel and Motel Association special post cards will be placed in rooms. The cards, stamped and return addressed to the Division, will contain space for reporting the location, type of hazard and suggestions for remedying. There will also be space for the sender's name and address on an optional basis. Information received will be screened by the Division and, if appropriate, forwarded to the state or local agency most concerned.

"This project, we feel, will not only give the individual the opportunity to participate in the state's overall highway safety program but should be a valuable source of information for officials charged with formulating and promoting it," he said.

Noting that there are approximately 49,000 hotel and motel rooms in Virginia, Hanna said the cards would be distributed on a selected basis to determine response.

Students interested in helping fight forest fires in this area may volunteer by contacting Danny Hollon through the campus mail, or by going downtown to the Forest Service Office. With the tinder-dry conditions that now exist, volunteers are urgently needed.

Replacement ID pictures will be taken in the Food Service Office of Gibbons Hall from 2-4 p.m. Monday through Friday. If there are any questions, call 433-6251.

Crying Time Again

Booze And Sex Just Don't Mix

People who begin drinking a little liquor to facilitate sexual arousal are likely to end up crying in their beer.

That's the conclusion drawn by Dr. Ruth Fox in the May issue of "Sexual Behavior," a new magazine devoted to serious, authoritative information on sex.

A New York psychiatrist who is a past medical director of the National Council on Alcoholism, Dr. Fox writes that although a drink or two may initially "turn on" someone sexually by reducing inhibitions, alcohol is, in fact, a sedative and its frequent use results in a turning off process.

"It doesn't get your courage up," she writes, "it gets your fears down. But that down process continues. After the first few drinks, the basic sedative nature of alcohol comes into effect. It turns everything off, including eventually the capacity to feel and perform sexually."

Noting that Masters and Johnson found that excessive drinking was one of the most important factors associated with the main type of impotence, Dr. Fox says that a drink before sexual relations is not necessarily bad, but a real risk exists.

"After a while, the drink becomes as important as the sex, and eventually it can supplant it," she writes. As the years go by the number of drinks a person takes has a way of creeping up. And then one day an instance of sexual failure prompted by too much to drink sets off the kind of sexual inadequacy one sees so often."

The real danger, Dr. Fox believes, is that an isolated incident of sexual failure caused by excessive drinking can lead to a vicious cycle in which drinking and sex are transferred from beside companions into irreconcilable adversaries.

Although few studies on the effect of alcohol on women's sexual functioning have been made, Dr. Fox suggests that a woman who is heavily sedated by alcohol is not likely to enjoy sex. In addition, she points to some cases in which normally staid women have become sexually promiscuous while under the influence.

"Sexual Behavior" magazine is sold on newsstands. Its Board of Editors includes some of the most eminent doctors and psychiatrists in America. Other topics in the May issue are: "Clothing and Sexuality," "Are American Men Afraid of Women?," "Obscene Telephone Callers," and a debate on "Are Fantasies During Sexual Relations a Sign of Difficulty?"

ASIAN STUDIES

Two general opinions emerging from the conference were: (1) the United States should recognize Communist China; and (2) the chances of a Sino-Soviet war are, to quote one of the speakers at the conference, "...damn slim...."

By the way, Madison College did become a member of the VASC at the conference. It seems Dr. Wood went to the conference with the $100 membership check. And although Dr. Wood and some of the other faculty were taken out to dinner by the Consortium, the three Madison students were left with dinner at Kenney Burger.
