Editor John Metcalfe States Destiny Of Races In Oratory

John C. Metcalfe, editor of "Background", Washington newsletter on world and national affairs, will be the principal speaker for Pi Omega Pi, national business education fraternity, at its meeting to be held in Wilson Hall on the Madison College campus on Wednesday, March 20.

Speaking on a subject entitled "Where Are We Going?", Mr. Metcalfe will present an analytical talk on the problems behind the scenes in the nation's capital, including highlights of his recent extensive European observation tour.

Introduction

He will be introduced by Carol McCormick, senior business education student from Arlington, Virginia and President of the honor business fraternity on the Madison Campus.

Some of the articles by Mr. Metcalfe which gained world attention include the expose of the German-American Bund, Turkey's severance of diplomatic relations with Germany in World War II, the abdication of King Christian X of Denmark, the content of the Chinese-Soviet postwar treaty, the United States support of France in cession of the Saar, and the resignations of several topflight American diplomats.

Reveals Yalta Secret

Mr. Metcalfe was teamed with the late Bert Andrews of the New York Herald Tribune in first revealing the secret Yalta agreement, which caused consternation throughout the world.

He is the holder of a number of awards, including the National Headliners Plaque, Norway's St. Olav Medal and the Chilean Legion of Merit, all given to him for distinguished journalistic achievement.

Activities

He is a member of the National Press Club and Overseas Writers Club, of Washington, D. C., Overseas Press Club of America, Inc., of New York City, White House Correspondents Association and State Department Correspondents Association.

Mr. Metcalfe has delivered some 3,000 professional lectures in the past 20 years, having appeared before audiences in all 48 states and in foreign countries.

Banquet

The honor business students at Madison will climax their Pi Omega Pi with a banquet at Shenandale in Elkton preceded by an initiation ceremony inducting new honor business students into the scholastic fraternity.

Professional lecturer, John C. Metcalfe, will analyze the problems of the nation's capital and highlight recent European observations.

Robert Commands Musician's Talent In Recital Tonight

Walter Robert, pianist, will be heard in concert tonight in Wilson Auditorium at 8 p. m. in the third of this year's Madison lyceum series.

In addition to the program tonight, Mr. Robert is giving a lecture-recital Saturday, March 16, at 10 a. m. in the Recital Room of Harrison Hall.

In the program, which will be informal and is open to students and faculty, Mr. Robert will play and discuss representative works in the piano repertoire.

A musician of wide talents who has toured Europe, America, Canada, and Cuba, Walter Robert has just returned from a concert tour in Italy, Spain, and Switzerland.

One critic has characterized him thus: "As a pianist, Walter Robert completely commands the resources of the instrument, with tone production always singing, always musical, always expressive, and with fully matured technical resources."

ZTA Presents New Scholarship Award

Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity has announced its intention to set up a new scholarship award this year. The award will be given to an outstanding Madison senior in education.

Candidates for the scholarship will be screened by a committee with the following criteria in mind.

Candidates should be a woman of the senior class enrolled in a teaching curriculum with a cumulative quality point rating of at least 3.25 and should have spent their junior and senior years at Madison College.

Candidates should have participated in representative major and minor activities, should possess a record of good citizenship, and should be persons of sound moral and spiritual values.

She should be a person of poise and social sensitivity, and should and show promise of professional possess a good professional attitude competency; and finally she should be well adjusted emotionally.

If the candidate is a transfer, her record at the previous institution should be investigated using the criteria noted above.

Presentation of the scholarship will be made on Madison's Moving Up Day in May when other student honors and awards are announced.

Founders Day Marks Beginning Of College, Jamestown Settling

Dr. Glenn C. Smith Delivers Annual Anniversary Address Thursday Noon

On March 14, 1908, forty-nine years ago, Madison College was founded. Yesterday, Thursday, March 14, the college commemorated this event by celebrating Founders Day.

Since this year also marks the 350th anniversary of the founding of Jamestown, our Founders Day was designated to help celebrate this anniversary of the first permanent settlement in America.

At the noon assembly on Thursday, Dr. Glenn Curtis Smith, professor of social science and history, and former president of the Harrisonburg Historical Society, spoke on the subject, "The 350th Anniversary of America." The program opened with the traditional academic procession to the music of the Madison College Orchestra. The invocation, scripture reading, and benediction were delivered by Dean Percy Warren.

Following the opening remarks by President G. Tyler Miller, the student body and Glee Club joined in singing "Blue Stone Hill", our first Alma Mater. The Glee Club then gave a rendition of Bach's anthem, "We Hasten With Sager Yet Faltering Steps."

For Founders Day, Dr. Glenn Smith divided his talk into "three unequal parts." He outlined the festival celebrating Jamestown's founding, cited outstanding men of Virginia who contributed to America, and in conclusion asked students to thank God for their American Citizenship.

Purposes

In Dr. Smith's address, he told the purposes and some of the benefits of the Jamestown Festival which will be held in the Jamestown, Williamsburg, and Yorktown area during the months of April to December. He also elaborated on the contributions which the people of Virginia have made in the contemporary development of the United States.

Great Virginians

In speaking of these contributions, he told of five of Virginia's greatest men who gave much of themselves in the expansion and development of our country. The men about whom Dr. Smith talked were: George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, Robert E. Lee, and Woodrow Wilson.

The State Board of Education, the Madison Alumni Association, local legislators, retired faculty members, and friends of the college were invited to the luncheon which was held in Blue Stone Dining Hall following the assembly.

The entire assembly program was recorded and will be rebroadcast over station WSAV on Sunday, March 17 at 3:05 p. m.

During Summer, Students Resume Studies In Mountain Environment

Plans have been announced this week for the summer session at Madison College, by Percy H. Warren, Dean of the College.

Summer school will be divided into three sessions: the eight-week session from June 17 to August 9 at which only undergraduate courses will be offered; the intersession from June 10 to June 28, and the six-week session from July 1 to August 9 at which only graduate courses will be offered.

The 1957 summer session will offer courses for undergraduate credit in art, English, music, biology, chemistry, mathematics, physical and health education, physics, business and business education, geography, home economics, library science, social science, history, and education.

Graduate courses will be offered in art, biology, business education, chemistry, education, English, geography, home economics, mathematics, music, social science and history.

Special features of the Madison graduate program are courses planned for elementary and high school teachers who wish to renew their certificates or work toward the M.A. or M.S. degrees in Education. Veterans will be admitted under the G. I. Bill.

In a delightful mountain environment, students may carry out their summer work in a climate where nights are cool, and where there are few large city distractions. Special rooming accommodations can be had for mothers who wish to bring their children. Recreational programs are arranged for children while mothers are in class.

Catalogs may be obtained from the Office of the Dean, Madison College.

Kappa Delta Pi Taps 10 For Membership

In assembly Monday, March 4, Kappa Delta Pi tapped its newly elected members. Students are elected to this Honor Society in Education on the basis of strong scholarship and leadership potentiality from the juniors and seniors who are preparing to teach.

Those juniors who were recently elected are: Barbara Ikenberry Drivers, Jody Garner, Joy Hollar, Kitty Kelly, Gladys Lewis, Betty Jo Loving, and Betty Lou Simpson.

New senior members of Kappa Delta Pi are: Paul Bailey, Glena Orrell Bennett, and Lynne Ramsey.

Fencers Engage In Intercollegiate Bout

This Saturday morning, March 16, a group of girls from the fencing team at Mary Washington College will arrive on the Madison campus. The purpose of this meeting is to further the knowledge of the students on the skills of fencing and to provide an exchange for both local and visiting fencing clubs.

Beginning feature of this sports day is a movie to be shown from 11:30 to 12:15 on fencing instruction and technique. Following this the guests will be served lunch with the Madison club members serving as hostesses. Starting at 1:45 an instructions class and match will be held by Dr. Sinclair, Madison's fencing instructor. She will be assisted by the Mary Washington instructor.

After this instruction match, the public will be invited to attend fencing pools by the students. In these fencing pools, there will be fencing between the two schools, and matches between the members of the same fencing clubs.

From 4:00 to 4:30 p. m. the members of both clubs will attend a tea in Alumnae Hall, which will close the activities of the day.

On Saturday, March 23rd, both of the Madison College fencing teams will go to William and Mary to attend an intercollegiate match.

Modern Dance Festival Attracts Orchesis Club To Greensboro For Regional Dance Competition

Leader of Orchesis, Mrs. Lewellen Hewitt, is accompanying the dancers to the modern dance festival this week end at Woman's College, University of North Carolina.

Orchesis Journeys To Festival Of Art

Attending the annual "Festival of Arts" at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, will be the Orchesis, Madison's modern dance club.

Opening on Thursday, March 14 and continuing through Sunday, March 17, the festival will include competition among dance groups from several hundred colleges and universities.

Leading figures in the fields of writing, painting, and the dance will head the festival as lecturers, panelists, critics, and evaluators.

Student writing, choreography, and drama will be read, performed, and evaluated, with Anna Sokolow, famed choreographer, and dance teacher serving as the prime leader in the festival.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hewitt and Mrs. Gutchow, Orchesis members selected to attend the "Festival of Arts" are: Barbara Edwards, Marie Foster, Risa Frank, Betty Roberts, and Sandy Slade.

Students Spite Self With Slugs

Astonishment reigned throughout the dining halls as the president of the student body announced to the students that unless proper usage of laundromats was immediately instigated, they would have to be removed.

Apparently no one seemed to be aware that slugs, excess soap powders and broken machines were in existence — at least in the Spotswood laundry.

Certain questions come naturally to mind. Are students fully aware of the advantages offered by laundromat installations? Or are they just too lazy, too indifferent and too nonchalant about the laundry to adequately use it.

The situation becomes even more appalling when one realizes that the Spotswood laundry serves not only freshmen dormitories, but at least two upperclass dormitories and four sorority houses — housing both juniors and seniors.

Someone, or some group, reading this is directly responsible! It is to you that this editorial is directed. Please don't destroy the privileges of all by being selfish for the purpose of one.

Your Opportunity . . . . .

Many students do not take advantage of the many opportunities which are offered to them here on campus. Everyone should remember that your education depends not just on book knowledge but on the many experiences to which you expose yourself during your life.

Tennis professional, Bill Bos, will be on campus Monday, March 18, to conduct a tennis clinic for interested students.

"Master lessons" will be conducted in Reed Gym at 1:30, 2:30, and 3:30 p.m. It is hoped that there will be an exhibition match with another player at 4:30 p.m.

All tennis enthusiasts, whether they are beginners or whether they know the game, are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Bos is able to conduct this program for the benefit of Madison through the courtesy of the Wilson Sporting Goods Company and Hawkins Hardware Store.

Why don't you make the best of this opportunity and attend this match and classes? It will be to your advantage and you will be the one who will profit.

C.F.

Who Knows The Answer?

Recently I attended one of your well known dance week ends, and I wish to express my appreciation to the two dance clubs for showing their good taste in dance music by choosing Tony Pastor and his organization.

With such competent people around, why is it then that Madison College shows the poor manners of keeping a gentleman standing outside in the bitter cold while waiting for his date to put in her appearance, especially when just inside the door there is a quite unused lounge? I realize that this is not true of all the Madison dorms, so I am only condemning those to whom this applies. Why the unconformity?

I have visited many colleges and at none of them are callers refused entrance to dorms that have waiting rooms. I wonder if the person responsible for this ever read the rules of etiquette.

G.H.

Music, Maestro

Additional assets to the Music Department are noted in the new high-fidelity phonograph. Madison's recently purchased phonograph has been installed in the Recital Room of Harrison Hall.

Dr. L. S. Bucher has announced that this fine instrument will be used in a series of one-hour recorded recitals to be held on Friday evenings at 6:30. These recitals were started March 1, and have been conducted each Friday following.

All students and faculty members are cordially invited to attend and enjoy these musicales.

. . . Throne Awaits Madison's Venus . . .

Gathered backstage before the "walking", members of Madison's 1957 May Court pat down fluffs, check up and adjust gloves and stoles before appearing for their walk through the audience. Results of student voting will be known Monday in assembly. Those who will appear as the twelve maids, the maid of honor and the queen will be tapped with a carnation presented by a member of the Athletic Association.

"Construction, Comeliness" Combine For Speculation Concerning Awards

Burning questions on campus these days seem to include "Who's going to win the Academy Awards?" Of course, no one knows but speculation is running high. Downtown the contest to determine who can guess what the experts will decide is receiving many entries. And, back in the dorms, the arguments run hot about who is really the best actor, which movie is the greatest, and which actress did the best job.

Sandy Wilkinson, like so many others thinks Rock Hudson has done the best job this year and deserves the Academy Award. But Barbara Wimberly says that really Glenn Ford should have the best actor award. Phyllis Moulden liked "The Wrong Man," and thinks Henry Fonda deserves recognition for his part.

Shirley Gilbert says, "I don't care who wins, just so Kirk Douglas does." "Lust For Life," and "The Indian Fighter" are the movies in which he appeared. Bill Koche likes Marlin Brando and, because of her "construction", he would nominate Kim Novak. Judging from the number of Jimmy Dean pictures attached to bulletin boards, it looks like Jimmy would have a lot of votes. However, many feel that "Giant," his latest movie was not quite his best. And, as Nancy Wilson says, "Somebody living should get an Academy Award." Others feel that he should have the award, but will not receive it.

To Dosie Talbert "it doesn't make one iota" of difference. But, Lillian Graves feels strongly that Rock Hudson will get it. She puts it like this, "He's so handsome!" Kevin Miller admits, "I don't even remember seeing a movie in 1956," so he has no preference. Martha Childress would like to see Doris Day receive this recognition, but feels she hasn't had any very good movies lately.

Both Ingrid Bergman and Yul Brynner received votes from Mary Lou Haywood for their performances in "Anastasia." Grace Manly seconds the motion with a vote for "Yul Brynner anywhere, anytime, anyday." Rock Hudson received many votes and so did Ingrid Bergman, but most people seemed to find it very hard to decide. If we have this much trouble, we can extend our sympathy to the experts who have to decide on one person for each; and hope our own favorite wins!

I Remember Now!

The absent-minded professor entered a drug store and said to the druggist, "Would you please give me a package of prepared tablets of the monacetic-acidester of salicylic acid." "I suppose it's aspirin you want?" inquired the puzzled druggist. "That's it!" cried the professor, greatly relieved; "I never can remember that name."

Merchants Sponsor Movie Sweepstakes

Daily News Record joins the State and Virginia Theatres and WSAV Radio and TV in sponsoring the "Academy Award Sweepstakes." The big guessing contest, in which the moviegoer will pit his wits against the experts, will run from March 1 thru March 26.

All Madison students may participate in the "Sweepstakes" and try for a prize.

Prizes offered by three local merchants and the theatre include a Diamond Ring for a man or woman from Fink's Jewelers, a complete Sportswear Outfit for a man or a woman from Joseph Ney's, a seven piece Dinette set from Schewel's Furniture Company, and two annual passes, good for two patrons anytime, to each of the three top local movie experts to attend the State and Virginia Theatres. These prizes will be on display soon in each of the theatres.

"Sweepstakes" gives everybody a chance to match their movie and star selections with the experts. Mark the ballots which will be in the three stores, at the two theatres, or can be obtained at this newspaper, and drop them in the official ballot boxes in the lobbies of the State and Virginia Theatres.

Academy Award Sweepstakes is a guessing contest that gives the contestants an opportunity to pit their wits against the Hollywood experts. Entrants who guess the winners most closely matching those chosen by the Academy in Hollywood on the night of March 27, heard and seen here at about 10:30 P. M., will be awarded valuable prizes.

Business Club Host For Regional Meet Saturday, March 9

The Future Business Leaders of America from nineteen high schools in the vicinity convened at Madison College on Saturday, March 9, for their annual regional meeting.

Some 150 students and their advisers attended the daylong session, during which awards were made to outstanding students in a series of eight competitions including a spelling contest, a bulletin board display, scrap-book displays, and the Mr. and Mrs. FBLA Contests.

Harrisonburg Rotary Club gave $25 to the winner of the public speaking competition.

The morning session got under way with the pledge to the flag and the national anthem, followed by the FBLA creed and song. Students were welcomed by President G. Tyler Miller and Dr. S. J. Turille.

Miss Sara Anderson, Regional Adviser and program chairman for the convention, then introduced the candidates for next year's offices, after which the election was held. The Culpeper Chapter then presented a short skit.

Mrs. Marion Wood, Educational Consultant for the I.B.M. Corporation of New York, was principal speaker at the afternoon session. Her address was on "Preparing for the Interview."

Officers for 1956-57 are President Hansford Diehl, Waynesboro; Vice President Peggy Sanders, Fishersville; Secretary Joan Lockart, Winchester; Treasurer Janice Hutchinson, Charlottesville; Historian Paula Hawkins, Culpeper.
