SGA Appeals to Concerned Individuals; Positions Open for Major, Minor Offices

Your SGA needs concerned individuals willing to give their time and efforts to building SGA as a strong organization. With the approaching elections, SGA is looking for just such individuals -- how about you? If you have the time and ability, your SGA needs your participation. SGA can only be as strong as its members! The upcoming elections for SGA officers are scheduled as follows:

After Monday, Feb. 2 - Declarations go out and may be picked up from your class parliamentarian, the SGA Office, in the Campus Center, and the SGA parliamentarian.

Monday, Feb. 14 - Declarations due to be returned to the SGA for major offices. Campaigning begins for major SGA offices. Tuesday, Feb. 22 - Elections held for major SGA offices. (NO I.D. required to vote.)

Tuesday, Feb. 29 - Declarations due to be returned for minor offices.

Tuesday, March 7 - Elections held for minor offices.

Tuesday, March 14 - Declarations due to be returned for class representatives to the SGA. Campaigning for these offices begins.

Tuesday, March 21 - Elections held for class representatives.

Each candidate will receive a list of election rules from the SGA when he files his declaration. To be eligible to hold an SGA office you must meet the scholastic requirements found on page 43 of the Student Handbook.

Please consider running for an SGA office. You are the SGA and the SGA needs you! The following offices of your SGA are open and you may be the individual needed to fill one:

Major Offices: executive heads of: SGA; Honor Council; Women's Recreation Association; Men's Athletic Association.

Minor Offices: Legislative Vice-president of SGA; Judicial Vice-President of SGA; Legislative Secretary of SGA; Treasurer of SGA; Vice-President of Honor Council; Vice-President of the Women's Recreation Association; Vice-President of the Men's Athletic Association.

Class Representatives: 6 representatives from each class to the Senate; 4 representatives from each class to the Judicial Council.

Announcement

Bridge Club meets Tuesday night at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom. If you are interested in playing or in learning to play, please attend!

Funds Allocated For New Building

Over 3 million dollars of the Governor's recommended capital outlay budget has been directed toward the construction of a new science and mathematics building for Madison College, according to a college official.

Also included in the Governor's recommendation is the conversion of the present heating system on campus to a gas furnace with an oil standby system. Further suggested appropriations include approval for continued student housing. Minor maintenance repairs have also been included in the site work recommendations.

The total budget appropriations for operating expenses of the college total $28,368,010. Of the amount, $10,732,010 are from the general funds of the Commonwealth. General fund money is that appropriated by the state and Madison received a 38% increase over the previous biennium.

The balance of the $28 million comes from student tuition, room, board, laundry and other auxiliary enterprises at the college. Madison had requested $32.7 million in operating expenses and $14 million in capital outlay.

CPB Releases Poll Results

The Campus Program Board appreciates the great response from students on their Popular Entertainment Survey. The results will help in scheduling a wide variety of activities next year. With the availability of better facilities, the Campus Program Board hopes to hold concerts and other programs featuring artists, groups, and other performers which the students have suggested in the Survey. Below are the results of the Survey as of February 2, 1972: 445 Surveys were returned.

-Letters to the Editor-

Dear Editor:

Several of us former news hounds have read the opinion-- rated in The Breeze as an editorial-- in which the writer classes those who evade the draft as the real heroes of the wars. The writer possibly does not read and understand the Bible.

The Bible says that God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that man might be saved. So, to be godlike, the youngster, faced with armed service, would have to bear arms so that man might be saved.

I know of none who actually believe in war. I know of none who approve of crime, in which persons bent upon pillage and murder invade our homes and our businesses. If the thesis of "Land of the Free, Home of the Brave" were correct, these persons would have to submit peacefully to beatings and assassination. Logic is wonderful when it makes sense but like fine wines and liquors, it changes with age and becomes more gracious in its application.

As a Gold Star father, I have the Purple Hearts, Air Medals and other decorations which our sons achieved. They despised killing, but what they did was done to preserve the ways of life of all--even of the truly conscientious and of the phonies who assume the cloak of such profession to cover the real cowardice that lies beneath.

Civil rights should be granted only where the recipients have met their civil obligations. Congress has spelled its definitions of rights but has not adequately spelled the civil obligations one must meet in order to be eligible for the blessings of civil rights. Yet, it still is the duty of every clear-thinking person to help any person attain his or her civil rights UNLESS, in obtaining, that seeker impinges upon the civil rights of others.

According to The Breeze editorial, as an individual, I might, if I thought best, drive my car on the left-hand side of the street

--regardless of how many people I might slaughter. And . . . I should be immune from prosecution, merely because the rights of the individual succeed the right of the masses under civil law . . . if The Breeze is correct.

In many schools, lists of those who oppose activism and its riots and destruction, are available to prospective employers. These cost around 50¢ per initial sheet or sheets. Few employers would care to employ a graduate of the school for which such a list is published if he thought that person had believed in or been engaged in civil disorders.

In final analysis, the decisions are being made and will continue to be made by the SQUARES. These people are the only ones who can offer large numbers of good jobs to graduates and others. They possess most of the production money of the nation. They believe that the student who disobeys school and other laws is likely to be a trouble maker if employed.

--Joe R. Cavanagh
A News Hound since 1911.

Dear Sir: This is another complaining letter. Yeah. But hopefully maybe it will induce some response and/or reaction.

I wrote to that great Action Committee some time ago about the possibility that the two stereos in Shorts dating lounge might be repaired or replaced. I've yet to get a reply. And those poor useless stereos are still down there. Does anybody have any suggestions? Be much obliged.

Also the D-Hall has a new number you can call to find out what they call food for the next particular meal . . . I have been able to actually hear the recording two (2) times in all the times I have called M-E-N-U. (You usually get a busy signal.) And you know what I got? A sweet-voiced recording of what I had had for breakfast three hours ago.

Whoopeee! Can't the Breeze publish a menu that would give us an idea of what we have to stomach? Since the Breeze comes out on a Friday it sure would be a help if they could print up the menu for the following week. I also note that in the ground floor lobby there is no longer a menu posted inside the glass case. How come?

Well, I had to write and ask you all this; I feel better now. (Of course, I'll feel even better if someone can provide some sort of solutions . . .)

Thanx,
K. A. Uhler

Dear Miss Uhler:

The staff is in the process of acquiring weekly menus from the dining hall to be printed for your convenience. If the student body would like us to offer this service on an extended basis, please let us know. The BREEZE Staff

College Center Receives Grant

Madison College's Center for Economic Education has received a Sears-Roebuck Foundation grant for use in the college's 1972 summer workshop program, according to Dr. Daniel Hall, Director of the Center for Economic Education at the college.

The workshop is designed for elementary school teachers who are interested in a program of economic analysis and in the development of methods and materials used to teach economics in the elementary grades. The graduate workshop is scheduled July 3-21 and will be three credit hours.

Madison is one of 25 institutions of higher learning in the nation chosen for the fellowships. Recipients of these fellowships at Madison College will have their tuition paid by the grant as well as a stipend of $50 per week to be given upon satisfactory completion of the workshop. Coverage of expenses for room and board when required, one-way cost of travel, a library of selected study and teaching materials, and special consultant services during and following the workshop are also included, according to the Madison Director.

Applications for the fellowships must be received by March 1, 1972. Persons may receive additional information and application by contacting Dr. Hall at the college.

Dr. Hall and Dr. Garney Darrin, Director of the Anthony-Seeger Campus School at Madison College, are the scheduled faculty for the workshop.

Series Presents Political Scene

1972 is going to be the Year of Politics on the American college campus. For the first time in our nation's history, the student community will be a fully-enfranchised political force, shifting their focus away from the indirect political path of demonstrations to the direct route of the ballot box. With the eighteen-year-old voter law in effect in 1972, millions of young people will be voting for the first time. The political pundits have already been arguing for months about the influence these new voters will have on the outcome of the November, 1972, election. Many of the experts have raised the fear that these young voters have so little practical experience with the political process that they might be easily swayed by the most superficial considerations.

Because of high interest in politics on the campus in 1972, and because of the belief that young people must have the best possible information in order to vote with intelligence, a closed-circuit television videotaped program series will present the major political spokesmen in America answering the questions concerning the new generation of citizens.

Each political figure will be questioned by a panel of college students who have been especially selected to represent the broad spectrum of political viewpoints in the general student population. Students viewing the program will be asked to send in the questions they would like to ask the politicians.

In the past years, appearances by presidential candidates have been limited to carefully controlled paid appearances or the inherently-limited one-minute commercial. This series instead, will be a unique open situation with the spokesmen each facing a panel of college students, each forced to explain fully their every position, and each being prodded beyond vague political pronouncements to concrete and specific statements on their view of the kind of country they want America to be.

This series of programs is entitled "The New Voters." It will contain ten hour-long programs on video-tape. Beginning next Monday, Feb. 14, the series can be viewed on the mezzanine in Warren Campus Center. There will be showings at 4, 7, and 9 p.m. Mon. thru Fri. The first of the series will feature the Chairmen of the Republican and Democratic National Committee.

Madison Initiates New Credit Plan

"Learn now, pay later," may be the new slogan at Madison College for the February opening of second semester. According to college officials, a Master Charge credit plan through Virginia National Bank will enable college students to charge their tuition.

"The college will pay no charge for the use of this service," stated John Richards, branch manager of the Harrisonburg bank. Mr. Richards added that parents who wanted their ceiling raised on their Master Charge credit limit in order to use this payment plan should see an official in their local bank.

The usual ceiling for credit is $400, but credit can be extended by individual warranty up to $2,500, according to the bank manager.

The college alumni office will also make available the facilities of Master Charge for gifts by individuals to the Madison College Foundation, according to a spokesman for the college.

Stovall Named Supervisor of Madison College Printing Office

David Stovall has been named supervisor of the Printing Office at Madison College, according to Dr. Ronald E. Carrier, president of the college. This is the first time a printing office has been set up within the college.

Dr. Carrier emphasized the local use of the print shop. "This is mainly for small jobs needed within our own operation on a day-in and day-out basis. It will also allow the staff more efficiency since there is now a central office responsible for the channeling of printing."

Mr. Stovall says he was swamped with requests when he came to the job. January was the first full month of operation and he estimates that over 100,000 sheets went through the press during the early part of the month.

"This is an effort on the part of the administration to make "in-house" publications convenient. We just produced in a three-day period 90 copies of a 253-page booklet on Madison's Self Study," stated Mr. Stovall.

The college has been preparing the self-study for the re-accreditation visits of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education during the spring of 1972.

The shop facilities include an A. B. Dick 360 C. D. press, an IBM computerized typewriter, a platemaker, folder and stuffer machine and a 24" cutter. The printing office is in the basement of Wilson and employs two full-time staff members and one student assistant.

According to Mr. Stovall, who has been a part-time student at the college for four years, his new job is very pleasant because of the regular hours, the benefits, and the idea of working for one organization with similar needs.

Besides, Mr. Stovall's wife, JoAnn, is on campus as secretary for a departmental chairman and his four children are attending Anthony-Seeger Campus School.

"You might say we're really a Madison College family," stated Mr. Stovall.

Mr. Stovall, a 1957 graduate of St. John's High School (Washington, D.C.) was formerly with Good Printing for six years as Technical Illustrator.

David Stovall, the new supervisor of the Printing Office, operates press.

Greek News!!!

Sixteen people from Madison attended the tour of Du Pont in Waynesboro Wednesday night, January 12. Phi Beta Lambda, the national business fraternity on campus, sponsored the tour.

Mr. Ross Hersey and two of his associates acted as guides. The Madison college students first saw Du Pont's computer center. The next part of the tour included seeing the processes for making acetate, orlon, and lycra fibers.

Howard Woody's Sculpture Exhibited

Artist Howard Woody will exhibit 25 pieces of his sculpture beginning last Monday in Madison College's Duke Fine Arts Gallery. The artistic approach used by Woody is to emphasize the construction and assemblage processes rather than the traditional carved or modeled processes, according to information accompanying the artist's works.

Woody's sculpture has been displayed in 20 states across the country and was exhibited in 41 one-man exhibitions in art museums, galleries, universities, and colleges.

He is currently serving as associate professor of art at the University of South Carolina. Professor Woody is listed in "Who's Who in American Art," "International Directory of Arts," "Who's Who in the South and Southwest" and "Dictionary of International Biography." He was also the founding officer of the Southern Association of Sculptors, Inc., and is at present a board member of the National Sculptor Center.

The exhibition will be shown in Duke Gallery through February 25 and is open to the public at no cost. Hours are Mon.-Fri., 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

"Bounces For Beats"

Anyone for all-night basketball! The Madison College Varsity Club is sponsoring "Bounces for Beats," this year's theme for the heart fund week of Feb. 20-26.

Fraternalities, sororities, clubs and dorms are invited to compete for the highest donation. An engraved trophy will be presented to the group raising the largest donation.

A bouncing marathon will be held in the student union ballroom on Fri., Feb. 25. The varsity club will continuously bounce a basketball from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

In Keezell Gym, a basketball endurance contest will be held from 7 p.m. Friday night until 7 a.m. Saturday. Any team may enter for 25 cents for a 20-point game. Winners may play again for 15 cents a game. (continued on page 6)

George Toliver goes up for two points between two EMC defenders. Toliver scored 34 against Rhode Island in his best effort yet.

Madison Sweeps Marauders; Cooper Scores 29 in Win

A tight zone defense helped the Dukes pound 53-38 halftime lead by Millersville State, 103-84, forcing the Marauder's at home Monday night. The 6-10 center, Mike Frye, Dukes shot a red-hot 80 out of the middle and hold- per cent from the foul line ing their leading scorer, as they dumped the Marau- Vern Fisher, to three- ders after a narrow 65- points for the first period. 63 victory at Millersville earlier this year. Millersville won the re- bounding battle 50-46, but the Dukes countered by hit- ting 49 per cent of their field goals to the Marau- ders' 30 per cent.

Roger Cooper led the Dukes with 29 points and 16 rebounds. George Toliver and Tim Meyers followed Cooper with 22 points apiece. Meyers, Toliver and Gary Butler had per- fect nights at the foul line, Meyers also pulled down 11 rebounds. Tomorrow the Dukes play host to D. C. Teachers at 8:30 p.m. Results of the Shepherd game played last night will appear in the next issue of the Breeze.

Dukes Top Anchormen, 105-95 As Toliver Pours in 34

Placing five men in double figures, the Dukes outran the Rhode Island Anchormen, 105-95, last Monday night at home after a two-week semester break. It is the second time the Dukes have passed the century mark this season.

George Toliver led the Dukes with 34 points, the highest single player out- put for the Dukes this year. Gary Butler and Lenny Mosser followed with 24 points and 20 points re- spectively. Toliver and Mosser were red-hot from the outside in the first half.

Tim Meyers added 12 points and Joe Frye 10. Frye led the rebounding department with 11 and held Donald Suggs, the Anchor- men's 6-9 center to 17 points.

The Dukes opened a 52-40 halftime lead with the Anchormen drawing within nine points several times in the second half, but never offering the Dukes a serious challenge.

As Rhode Island fell farther behind they began to foul heavily and the Dukes pumped in 31 or 44 free throws for a strong 70 per cent. Butler made 10 of 12 tosses from the char- ity stripe for an excellent 83 per cent.

Rhode Island won the rebounding battle 45 to 37, but the Dukes offset their taller opponent with a great number of high percentage layups.

WMRA Broadcasts

The Senate of the Stu- dent Government Associa- tion passed in their Decem- ber 14 meeting a resolu- tion to sponsor the away basketball games of the Madison College Dukes on campus radio station WMRA-FM.

John Mueller, Station Manager of WMRA-FM, brought the idea to the SGA. He stated that broad- casting all the Madison Duke's basketball games would be a great service to the college and com- munity, and could be ac- complished this year if the SGA could financially sup- port this undertaking.

WMRA-FM has made all final arrangements, and broadcasting of all the Duke's games is now being done.

Swimming Notice

We would like to an- nounce the following Open Dip Swimming hours: Mon- day - 9-10; Tuesday - 8-9, 9-10 (Laps Only); Wednesday - 9-10; Thurs- day 8-9, 9-10 (Laps Only); Friday - 8-9; Saturday - 3-5; Sunday - 3-5. Laps Only denotes use of the pool for swimming laps. We would also like to note the following regula- tions:

- All swimmers with hair long enough to get in their eyes must wear bathing caps. This in- cludes male swimmers also.
- All swimmers must take a shower before swim- ming.

3. Cut-off shorts will not be allowed in the pool.

4. Men must wear shoes to and from the locker room.

A full list of swimming regulations is posted at the pool. Please familiar- ize yourself with these so it will make our job a little easier. Thank you.

The sports staff of the Breeze would like to cor- rect a misprint in the Jan. 12, 1972 issue of the Breeze.

Eagle 5, the intramural soccer champions were coached by Brian Donahue, he did not play, Kent Scott led the team with five goals for the season. He was fol- lowed by Herb Sandifer and Marc Riccioni with four goals each. Other starters were Lou Suta, Dan Mac- Farland, Drew Molloy, and Kevin Coyle.

Dukes Edge Southeastern Outlast Second-half Surge

Surviving a second-half Friday night in Ft. Meyer, rally, the Dukes slipped by Va. George Toliver led the Southeastern, 65-64, last Dukes with 11 points and was followed by Tim Meyers and Gary Butler with nine apiece.

Duchesses Stomp Sweet Briar, 55-24

Backcourt ace Sue Redfield pumped in 20 points to lead the Madison Duchesses over Sweet Briar College, 55-24, Jan. 13, at home. The win boosted the Duchesses' record to 3-2 on the season.

In the preliminary game the JVs extended their undefeated record to 4-0 with a 71-13 pounding of Sweet Briar. Jill English led the JVs with 16 points and was followed by Cathy Lester and Curnie Webster with 15 and 13 points respectively.

The JVs also stopped Bridgewater 33-24, but the varsity lost 59-35, as Brenda Dutterer contributed 10 points to the cause.

The Duchesses travel to Salisbury College tonight for a 7 p.m. game.

In just over seven minutes midway through the second half, Madison's comfortable 35-19 halftime lead was destroyed by the shooting of Rodney Roebuck and Charles Sias.

The Dukes led 46-30 with 14:08 to go in the final half. At 6:45, the Hawks tied the score at 53-53, but the Dukes never fell behind. Meyers sank two foul shots that put the Dukes up, 65-62, with just 1:02 left.

Almost immediately Roebuck narrowed it back to one point at 65-64. Gary Butler lost the ball out-of-bounds, giving Southeastern possession with 11 seconds left. The Hawks called time out and when play resumed, Roebuck missed the final shot.

Meyers grabbed 13 rebounds, as the Dukes controlled the boards 47 to 37. From the floor Madison hit 26 of 65 field goal attempts for a cool 40 per cent.

JV's Finish 5-5 Vines Top Scorer

Pat Vines led the Madison JV's to a 5-5 season for 1971. The 6'1" freshman from Richmond, Va. averaged 19.4 points per game to lead the Baby Dukes in scoring. Vines had his best game against the EMC frosh when he tossed in 13 field goals and 12 foul shots for 38 points.

D. L. Moyers and Dave Davis followed Vines with 14.2 points per game and 10 points per game respectively. The Baby Dukes put only three men in double figures for the season.

As a team the JV's averaged 76.5 points to their opponents 78.5 points per game. The team was 3-2 at home and 2-3 on the road.

Mullen Named Coordinator

Miss Christine Mullen, a sophomore at Madison College, was elected Undergraduate Coordinator for the Eastern Region of the National Federation of Student Social Workers at the Federation's January meeting in Richmond, Va.

As one of the four coordinators in the United States, Miss Mullen is administratively responsible for the evaluation of any proposed student volunteer work as well as the coordination of academic course offerings, according to Dr. Barbara Stone, Acting Head of the Sociology Department at Madison.

The Madison sophomore also recommends social work programs to the Federation's Council on Social Work.

Trackmen Attention

Madison College is in the process of fielding its first Intercollegiate Track Team. We are already competing in indoor meets and we will have a full varsity schedule this spring.

If you are challenged by the prospect of being part of the First Intercollegiate Track Team in Madison College history, please contact Coach Challice Joe McMillan, Alumni Hall -- Housing Office, 433-6275.

Campus Visited by SACS Chairman

Dr. George A. Christenberry, chairman of the Accreditation Committee for the Southern Association for Colleges and Schools, was on the Madison College campus, according to Dr. Emmert Ikenberry, Dean of the School of Natural Sciences at the college and chairman of the Self-Study Committee preparing the document describing academic programs for the accreditation committee's use. "The visit from Dr. Christenberry was preliminary to the coming visitation from the 11-member committee," according to Dean

Criteria Set for Outstanding Educator

Greater Madison, Inc., a community support group of Madison College, has set criteria for an award naming the Outstanding Educator in the Shenandoah Valley, according to Mr. D. P. Davis, Jr., president of the group.

"The Outstanding Educator award will be given to the person who has rendered distinguished service to education on the level at which he works," he continued.

The only requirement is that the person's work must be done in the Shenandoah Valley, according to Mr. Davis. The area was defined as Roanoke County on the South to Frederick County in the North and includes the following counties: Roanoke, Botetourt, Rockbridge, Augusta, Rockingham, Page, Shenandoah, Warren, Frederick, Clark and cities therein.

Nominees will be voted on by the Directors of "Greater Madison" and the recipient announced at the First Annual Educator's Banquet in February.

Ikenberry.

The college will be re-examined for accreditation this March (12-15) by SACS, a regional academic accreditation agency. The Association re-examines its approval of colleges every 10 years, according to Dr. Ikenberry. Madison's last accreditation approval was in 1962.

"The Self Study has been in preparation for two years, and represents the efforts of 135 members of the teaching faculty and the representatives of the student body, the Board of Visitors and administrative officers who served," stated Dr. Ikenberry.

Madison is also scheduled for a visit from the National Council of Accreditation for Teacher Education in March.

Now you can buy Fisher stereo right here on campus.

FOR BIG DISCOUNTS ON FISHER STEREO EQUIPMENT, CONTACT:

LEE MOYER
Harrisonburg, Virginia 22801
Tel. (703) 433-2771 ext. 337

From now on, there's a better way to buy stereo equipment at tremendous discounts than consulting a mail order catalog.

You just consult Fisher's student representative, instead.

He'll show you a catalog of Fisher equipment, and give you advice on the equipment that suits your needs. And, if you want, he'll arrange for a demonstration so you can hear what you'll be buying. Then, he'll process your order, at a tremendous discount.

Fisher selected this student because he is uniquely qualified to act as your Fisher representative. He knows a lot about high fidelity. He's a reliable person. And since he's a student himself, he knows what students need in the way of stereo equipment.

And since he's the Fisher representative, he's got what you need. Because Fisher makes practically everything.
