The seniors and graduating sophomores can look forward to a memorable last day campus stay. The day begins with a Senior Breakfast at the pleasant hour of 8:30 a.m. in Junior Dining Hall. The Senior will be given a gift which will long remember. So that the graduates can receive the degree they are expecting, there will be a compulsory graduation practice on Friday, May 31, at 9:00 p.m. Following this necessary little get-together, the Art Department will begin at 4:30 p.m. at Hillcrest with the beautifully planned Garden Party for Graduates. There is a rumour about the exotic refreshment drink that will be served. It has been suggested that if anyone has the slightest idea about this surprise—they are to keep their mouth tightly closed. The Glee Club will give a concert at 7:30 p.m. in Wilson Hall. Dr. Bucher has selected a program of entertainment music for the enjoyment of everyone. Following the concert, an impressive service will be given by the Y.W.C.A. with the message to be delivered by Dr. Albert G. Edwards from the Harrobcrg Presbyterian Church. At the close of the Worship Service, the seniors will light their lanterns and retake to the Quadrangle to form the traditional "M." The Seniority Service will end with the salute from the class to the seniors go out one by one. The Alumnae Association will greet them as they leave to be housed in Alumnae Hall following the service. Classes Choose Leaders For Coming School Year

The class of 1958 recently elected their class representatives for the coming year. Those serving on student government are Betty Jane Davis, Carol Childress, Ann Turner, and Pat Moore. Connie Hensy, Kitty Kelly, Doris King, and Alice Pumney are on the Academic Council. The next and last Wednesday Assembly, May 15.

Home Economists Hold Fashion Show

On May 21, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., the clothing division of the Home Economics Department will present an exhibit in Maury Room 12. Jean Bowers is the general coordinator of the exhibit. She is being assisted by Charlotte Grim, co-coordinator; Anna Ruth Barnett, secretary; Suzanne Grout, committee chairman; Mary Lou Startzman, properties chairman; and Anna Wolfe, Stewart Brooks, and Rachel Reynolds, Class co-coordinators. The clothing show is instructed by Miss Jeanette Lockard.

Faculty Members Leave Memories

Retirements

Twelve of Madison's faculty members will not return next year for various reasons. Those retiring are: Mr. Alfred K. Eagle, Professor of Guidance; John N. McDermott, Professor of Social Science and History; Miss Aloma Allen, Head of the Art Department; Dr. Otto Frederikson, Professor of Social Science and History; Dr. Charles H. Hoffman, Head of the English Department; Dr. John A. Sawhill, Professor of Latin. To those we say, "Well done, you've earned your rest."

Those who have resigned are: Dr. Imogene Daver, Professor of Education; Miss Elizabeth Patterson, Associate Professor of Education who will take a teaching position at Simmons College in Massachusetts; Miss Mary E. Smith, Associate Professor of English who will be married in the near future, Dr. Weidler, Associate Professor of Education who will accept a position at the University of Arizona. To those we say, "Good luck in all your endeavors."

Dr. Sawhill has been granted to Mr. Rado Lashma to entertain his grandchildren.
Do You Applaud?

It has been said that the most important part of a performance in its audience — and a good audience is joy and an inspiration to those who are performing. One of the ways in which to become a part of a good audience is to applaud at the correct times. Therefore, for those who are not always sure just WHEN the applause is correct, a few general hints are hereby gathered and presented.

First of all, let’s look at the matter of when NOT to applaud. Primary in this category may be considered SACRED numbers, after which there is no applause. (We should remember too that spirituals are included in this group). If these numbers should be in a foreign language and you are unacquainted as to the "type" number each piece in, consult your program notes and announcements, or let someone significant word in the text by your guide.

Also, do not applaud between movements of a composition. Here are some hints as to how to tell the difference between the end of a movement and the end of the completed composition: Watch your program, or, easier still, watch the conductor. He’s your safest clue as to the finale of a piece. At the end of a movement he may turn to the pages of music before him on the stand, stand poised to lead the following movement, or even become "HALF relaxed. Don’t applaud but wait until he becomes fully relaxed with both arms at his side. This will usually mean the composition is complete and the performers swear your judgment. Sometimes the conductor may even turn and face the audience at the end of the composition. This is a definite sign that the piece is finished!

If a sacred-sequester concert ends with a sacred number, or if an encore is sacred, a good suggestion is to withhold applause until the curtains close or begin to close.

“Just Remembering”

It was many and many a year ago on this campus that we reviewed, when the seniors came to study, and then graduated this year. They were freshmen then and quite unsure of what to do or say. For class president they elected Shirley Barnett to lead them on their way.

The things they did for their freshman year now relate to them. When sense of nutrition occurs they simply and blush.

Bowling in a focus ball with coke bottles and peppers with them call with dollars and many others.

For class sponsors they chose Dr. and Mrs. Smith. These two have been wonderful to reach graduation with. The famous Freshman Class Night will be remembered for another memorable Day. It was called “Fingara’s Rainbow” and so forth.

Movement Day number one arrived, their names were changed at last. It had all been fun before, but now they really had a "bliss!"

Another new year had come, for another memorable Day. They chose to raise their second one Take It Away.

A certain Dean “Winkins” replaced our own dear Dean, but she proved not half as good—she was too mean.

Anne Warren led her sophomore class through all its tribulations. They celebrated this great year with jubilations.

She knows “Oldhome” and also “Hamlet” especially for Junior and Senior girls.

So the junior year and with it major and minor elections. All of them were filled to the highest expectations.

Two’s the way for class president, we ran. They were Shirley Humphries and Betty Henderson.

At last the long-awaited days of hope had come. It was exciting to be seniors and maybe sad for some.

The class now found for their lead— a remarkable and capable girl. They fell glad to step behind Ann Head.

“Two Coins in Manhattan” was their senior theme. All participated with enthusiasm and spirit.

Now in your Mortarboard and gowns, with ambitions in your heart, favors must be said and true friends must part.

Class of ’57, we very much hope that (And hope to get them some- day, too!)

Notice

All Libraries are open for business, Tuesday May 2. Books needed for examination work may be borrowed for a few days but no grades can be issued to any student who has not returned all library books by the last day of class. Seniors must get the books before they can take part in the Commencement rehearsal on Friday, May 16.

Well, seniors, you’re heading for your last round-up. Here’s hoping from the entire staff of the Breeze that you have many wonderful and glorious years ahead of you. We’re all very proud of you and really hate to see you go. Old seniors never die, they just stay away.

Congratulations are in store for a few students. The English department awarded Maria An- gela with a chemistry handbook and a physics handbook was awarded to Martha Bratty for the highest achievement. Our own Betty Ross has won a "smarter set" of Reed & Bartan’s Silver Sculpture plaque with a china and Tiffan’s crystal for her entry in the "Read On Competition" held on campus last spring. This is a big honor.

The Alumni Association appreciates so very much your fine efforts at the Freshmen Prom this year as a printed publication.

Sit down, eat, and attend girls.

Lassified carefully and don’t make a move till you’ve read this, then run up to the office and sign your name on the line: Ready! Here goes another class of seniors getting a good young man here to teach journalism next year. Who wouldn’t want to take the two semester journalism course with the journalism professor who is young, handsome and single? Please do not push while in line waiting for the post. This is a "first come—first serve". Chins up, kids, we’re heading for exams. Summer and vacation time are here, so get a little bit more energy (no solution as to where to spend it) college is not the time for Breeze —underclassmen don’t make it—that’s not made it back! Bon Voyage!

Every year’s the same occasion, every year seems to be our last. When the seniors are leaving you can’t help but think of all the traditions. Our own Alma Mater has said: "We would like to see our boys put on their caps, Thursday!"

Many of the classes now find that the seniors are the people we're most proud of during our four years here. They were freshmen then and quite unsure of what to do or say. A feeling that exists among them is "It’s too bad!"

Glee Clubs Offer Spring Selections

Monday, May 20, at 8:00 p.m., William Madison College Glee Club will be heard on a spring concert of music presented at the Madison College Auditorium. It will be the final performance of the season for the combined glee clubs of Madison College and the University of Virginia. The program will include both songs from the above and arrangements to meet friends there, Culpeper; Grace Manly, Washington, representatives. They are Berta Biritos, grams committee. Seprin

A spring concert of music presented on the Avon. There will be a day of honors in London, Paris, and Rome.

From Lucchese, the tour goes to Paris for a greatly anticipated four day stay. The hotel made arrangements to meet friends there, (made, of course) so Paris will prove to be very interesting. Other activities include a trip to the Latin Quarter, Notre Dame, and the Bastille.

Italy

After a short stay in Lyon, France, and Monti Carlo, the travelers head for Italy, the land of Pizza and Persing. One large suitcase and an overnight ticket will be your only necessity.

Lucchese will be the scene of the opening night program. Lucchese was a color feature entitled "On the Boulevard of Atlantic City." No movie is complete without at least two cartoons.

The preparations for this trip are exciting but at times a little anxious. Each traveler is allowed only one large suitcase and an overnight ticket. For some girls, the suitcases totaled six in number but for a few more fortunate ones, only four were required.

It hardly seems possible that almost nine months have passed since you are planning to work this summer, have fun! I'll be looking forward to seeing you next September.

Whether you are one of the fortunate ones going to Europe, or if Madison, we are busily thinking of our plans for the summer.

With spring came the tennis and archery enthusiasts. The initiation of a new sport this year also came.

Hi fans! How's the studying going? Yes, there is just one short week of classes left and then come the all powerful exams.

Rackets And Team Meet Challengers

The persons behind the rackets on Madison's campus are Sara Jane Shearer, Pat Schalts, Liz Francke, on the individual racquets, and Hilah Edney and Betty Johnson behind a double racket. The "brains" behind the rackets are Betty Snellings and Dr. Tate.

These are the persons responsible for Madison's fine tennis team: Sara Jane, Pat, and Liz have represented Madison in the past with Hilah and Betty doing a fine job in the doubles. Sara is in tennis, co-ordinator last, but by no means least, Dr. Tate is the coach of the group.

The team has had three matches, one with Sweet Briar, one with Mary Baldwin, and one with Bridgewater. Sweet Briar proved to be very powerful as the Madison girls lost all their matches to them. The girls got revenges on Mary Baldwin however, as the final tally showed Liz, Pat, and Sara Jane winning their matches, and the double team losing theirs. The team also made a good showing in their match with Bridgewater.

THE GIRL OF THEIR DREAMS IS REAL

How would it feel to be called "dream girl" by a chorus of male voices? Anne Marie Clark says it feels terrific! And she should know for she was chosen "Dream Girl of Thata Chi" by the University of Richmond chapter at their annual banquet and dance held Saturday night, April 20.

Aim is pinned to Bud Rentman of Silver Spring, Maryland. Although he is president of Theta Chi, he was so surprised as Ann, when the social chairman presented her with a dozen red roses, a kiss, and the title, "Dream Girl of Theta Chi."

Students Take Civil Service Test

Forty-eight Madison girls slaved for three hours to finish the Civil Service Examinations given here.

Many of the girls who are placed in these positions will be able to stay in Wilson Auditorium on Friday, May 31, at 2:00 p.m. It is compulsory. All library books must be back or graduation June 5. All library books must be back or graduation June 5.

Dear Editor—

We who enjoy participating in the intramural sports programs are becoming increasingly alarmed by the lack of interest in this program on the part of the student body. We want to know if Madison students are being too busy; too involved; too LAZY—to get out and participate in some sport, either individual or team.

The Athletic Association supports sports by adding to the intramural program. The sports leaders spend hours posting lists, making up teams, scheduling their sports, and billing on the floor or field for every scheduled game period. It's disheartening, yes, DISGUSTING, when there is little or no turn-out. Take, for instance, the current softball season. Out of ten scheduled games, TWO have been played. The others were forfeits. And the same thing happened to basketball and volleyball. We are glad to say that individual sport turn out better than the team sports, but there is still room for improvement.

We know you've heard all this before, and we guarantee that you are going to hear it again. You are letting your Athletic Association and YOURSELVES down by not getting those people involved into action. It's amazing what a little exercise can do for you! You need not be an expert to play—most of us aren't. It's quite, you'll be surprised as Ann was when the social chairman presented her with a dozen red roses, a kiss, and the title, "Dream Girl of Theta Chi."
