Seven Selected for Who's Who

Dr. Daniel MacFarland, sponsor for the Class of 1969, announced the names of seven seniors who were selected for representation in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1968 at the Senior Class Day program on Thursday, October 31. These students were chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, citizenship, and continuous service to the college by a joint student-faculty-administrative committee made up of the senior class officers, President of Honor Council; Dean O. Renbough, Dean John Rice, Mr. Herbert Whitmer, Dr. Paul Cline, and Mr. Sidney Blund. A list of nominations was submitted by the senior class officers and the major campus organizations, which was then reviewed and voted on by the committee. Each student elected had to receive 3/4 of the total number of ballots cast.

The seven seniors chosen were:

Karen Anderson — President of Honor Council. Karen is an Elementary Education major from Springfield, Virginia. Her activities include: German Club, VYCA, Bluestone staff, Honor Council representative, vice-president and president of Honor Council for two summer sessions. President's Second Open Meeting Set On Thursday Nite

The second Open Meeting held by President Miller will be Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in Blackwell Auditorium. All students are urged to attend. President Miller will be prepared to answer questions concerning the projected growth and development of the College and the effect that the passing of the Bond Referendum will have upon Madison.

Virginia State College Presents Colloquium

A colloquium on Asia, as an activity of the Virginia Colloquium for Asian Studies, will be held Saturday, November 16, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Virginia State College in Petersburg, Virginia. The subject of the colloquium will be "Asia—Aspirations and Needs." Professors from Randolph-Macon Woman's College and Mary Washington College will speak on patterns of development and cooperation and politics in India. Dr. Na-Wei Chang, Minster counselor in charge of Cultural and Educational Affairs, Embassy of the Republic of China, will speak on social and political conditions in Free China, and Mr. Won-Ho Kim, Director of the Korean Information Office (who is also serving as the cultural and information attaché to the Korean Embassy), will speak on Korean economic achievements in recent years. Any Madison student or faculty member interested in attending the conference must contact Dr. John Wood immediately at his office (B-1, Jackson Hall) or through P.O. Box 248.
Nixon to Lead Country

The elections are over, and the results are in. President-elect Richard M. Nixon was selected to be our leader for the next four years. His ascent to this high office came about in perhaps the closest election in the past century.

The results of the election prove that more people are interested in achieving a better government, and quite possibly there are more people interested in working toward this aim. Colleges around the nation are brimming with new students, and those of us now in college have the opportunity of a lifetime ahead of us; we can actively participate in our government so that it will revert to being a servant, rather than a master, of the people; we can ultimately be spurted back to a truly democratic society. This "government by consensus" theory has gained much support lately, and it could cause Nixon some serious problems in his attempts to carry out the duties of the office to which he has been elected.

The office of the President was not established mainly to carry out the wishes of the people. This job was left to the legislative branch of government. What a president is supposed to do is to give dynamic leadership to a nation. He is not always able to do this when taking public opinion into heavy consideration. By no means is the president supposed to deliberately offend public opinion if it is in the for the good of the nation. But quite frequently, the public does not have all the facts available to the chief executive, and therefore has a limited view of the situation at hand. Nixon will have to give of himself, to provide what the American people have been searching for since the assassination of President Kennedy... a dynamic, dedicated leader, willing to stand up for the United States in every way and at every cost. What a president is supposed to do is to give of himself to illustrate the fact that the country is evenly divided in support of Republican and Democratic candidates for the presidency.

Tams to Provide Soul Variety

Sigma Epsilon will sponsor the Tams, perhaps the most talented vocal group in the music. Tonight, they play for two concerts in Wilson Auditorium December 6 at 7 p.m. and Christmas Eve at 9 p.m. in Alumnae reception room. Guest speaker will be Mr. Atkinson who will talk on the aspects of publishing and printing. Refreshments will be served.

The Criterion Club is sponsoring a creative writing workshop for interested students. Various professors will be available to evaluate original works of prose and poetry with a general meeting to be held each month to read the works.

The next meeting is tentatively scheduled for Thursday, November 21, at 9 p.m. in Alumnae reception room.

Studying Overseas Now Possible

Many students get the wrong impression when they hear someone on campus mention the Foreign Studies Committee—they assume that this organization concerns only those who are fluent in a foreign language. This is a misconception of the committee's purpose and function.

Although Madison's foreign students are its most immediate concern, the Foreign Studies Committee was set up to advise any student interested in studying overseas to join already existing programs at other Virginia colleges, universities and non-profit organizations, and to establish Madison's own summer program abroad. Recently, preliminary steps have been taken to incorporate a coordinated plan among state schools, and to institute a Madison College sponsored project in music for the 1969 summer session.

Dr. Margarete Kauhs, one of the members of the committee, has coordinated various programs relating to foreign students and has selected students from abroad to assist in the Language Department and meet with local civic groups. The formation of a foreign students' interest student club has also been suggested, and Drs. Hall and Lehman are available to aid foreign students in any way they can. Other divisional and departmental advisors include the committee chairman, Mr. John Stewart, of the Division of Humanities; Miss Helen Inlin of the Music Department (who helps qualified students in applying for Fulbright Grants); Miss Mary Jane Wall and Mr. Lawrence Gel- ler of the Social Science Department; Mrs. Kate Hobson of the Division of Teacher Education; and Dr. Siegfried Waller of the Social Science Department. In addition, Mr. Francis Turner is looking into possibilities for financial aid to students who apply for study abroad.

To improve communication between the committee and the student body, the chairman recommended that three student members be chosen: Sue McCray from the Beeze staff, Maretta Christopherson of Denmark, and Sarah Swartz, who spent the summer in Europe under a VPI program, have been suggested. It has also been recommended that a new statement regarding the function of the committee be included in the 1969-70 catalog, and that the plans of a Madison College sponsored study abroad program be viewed favorably by the appropriate authorities.

Dr. John A. Sawhill, a former professor of English at Madison, has been invited to the campus to discuss the development of such an overseas program.

The Tams

James Brown, Jackie Wilson, Solomon Burke, and the late Otis Redding and Sam Cooke. They have appeared on TV at theaters, clubs, auditoriums, and colleges throughout the U.S., often with their own shows. Occasionally, they have appeared on the same bill with such names as Ray Charles, The Supremes, The Temptations, Herman's Hermits, Paul Revere and The Raiders, Tommy Roe, Stevie Wonder, Billy Joe Royal, The Lovin' Spoonful, Sonny and Cher, Sam and Dave, The Swingles and The Medallions, and Sandy Posey.

In addition to this soulful group, an orchestra plus an emcee and at least one other act make their show a complete review of some seventeen top acts. Due to their show and the sale of their ABC LP's, the Tams are consistently voted into the Top Ten on America's college campuses. The demand for the Tams is so great that promoters are now asking for dates as far ahead as 1970. But, they will be at Madison College December 6, 1968.

Icon Exhibit to Be on Display

In Duke Gallery in November

An icon exhibit will be on display in Duke Art Gallery until November 26. The icons, consisting of religious paintings, mostly on wood, are a personal collection of Dr. John A. Sawhill, a former professor of English at Madison. The collection is the result of three trips which he and Mrs. Sawhill made to Europe under a VPI program in music business today, for two groups of music business today, for two groups of American Legion. For sixteen years, he has been Virginia's state judge in the Latin Tournament.

Dr. Sawhill typifies the modern "Reb Beaumont." Devoted to grand opera, he has attended the Metropolitan Opera in New York more than two hundred times. During one of his numerous trips to Eu-

Men Express Opinions of Girls

by Sue Mutispaugh
Male students on campus have expressed their opinions toward the girls at Madison.

Mike Cappeto — Senior
"I think it is good that the school is becoming more co-ed. It has increased social activities and the school now seems more like a college. Yet, some of the girls here aren't as accepting of the change at Madison. They think of it as it was in the past, but it doesn't bother me much."

Rick Pollock — Freshman
"Sororities should sponsor more activities such as mixers, open parties, etc.

John Hipp — transfer, Freshman
"The girls here are very friendly, but if some of them want Madison as it was in the past, they can transfer to Radford."

Mike Kohler — transfer, Junior
"I like the girls here better than those at Frederick. Most of them dress very well, except for breakfast."

Wayne Heatwole — Junior
"I feel that the girls have made a good adjustment to the change. They've shown more interest in activities at Madison than they did in the past. Some of the women on campus used to be dominant, but this is mainly due to the set up of campus organizations.

Keith Drescher — Junior
"A school should be co-ed to fulfill the requirements of a college experience which should be as close to modern society as possible. The social life of a student is just as important as the academic life, if not more important. One of the advantages of the school is that a boy can find just about any type of girl here."

Jenny Blaber — transfer, Sophomore
"The first few days I was here, none of the girls would speak to me, but now they've gotten used to the idea that there are boys on campus, and now they're very friendly."

Carl Cole — transfer, Sophomore
"The girls here are friendly and not dominant. Madison still is not a co-ed college and will not be as long as the sexes are segregated. There are two government organizations, etc., I would not see one student government."

Bill Drummond — Freshman
"Some of the girls seem to be resentful toward the boys for some reason."

Relay Team Sets New Record

Madison's 100-yard free style relay team set a DGWS record of 1:35.1 as the swimming team placed second in a triangular meet with Mary Baldwin and Old Dominion. The old record was 1:37.3.

Mary Baldwin captured first place by a slender margin of one and one-half points while Old Dominion placed third.

The recording set relay team is composed of Joyce Pluhaer, Jo Ann Hughes, Pat Argenzio, and Marlene Langdale. Miss Langdale also captured first place in the 80-yard individual medley. She was also the winner of the 100-yard event.

MAA Polls for New Nickname

The Intramural Council of the Men's Athletic Association is in the process of polling all male students for their opinion on whether or not the college nickname, "Dukes", should be replaced. The council will award a $5 check to the person who first submits the name which is ultimately selected. All men are requested to participate by filling in the following ballot and returning it as soon as possible to Mr. Lipton, Intramural Director, Box 556. The council will evaluate the names submitted and hold an election of the top ten names. If one name receives a majority of the votes, the council will submit that name to the MAA for approval and recommend it be sent to higher authorities for adoption. If one name does not receive a majority of the votes, the top three vote getters will be subjected to a second election.

WAA TIPS

The hockey teams played the Petersburg and Shenandoah clubs last weekend. The first team defeated the Petersburg club (which included several former Madison students) by a score of 5-0. The Shenandoah club defeated the 2nd team, 3-1. In this second game, Madison helped defeat Madison — on the winning team, there were several Madison teachers (Miss Oliver scored one goal) and a number of Madison's 2nd team members filling in for absent Shenandoah players (Janet Cravis scored twice). The final game of the season will be held this Saturday at Bridgewater, beginning at 2 pm.

The field hockey teams met two intramural teams last Tuesday and won a pair of victories. The first team was victorious, 6-0, while the second unit won, 4-1. As might be imagined, the games were loosely played and reverted to slap-stick comedy.

Janet Kirby and Debbie Davenport will meet in the women's singles tennis tournament with the winner to play Sharon Stricker for the championship of the advanced group. In the beginner's competition, Better C4 will play Jesse Davidson for the championship.

Everyone is reminded that bowling intramurals begin November 12. For further information, check the bulletin board in Keezell or contact Jody Van Wagenen.

ART

Known by his former students as "Dr. John," he believes that students in the humanities, as well as the sciences, should have something to see and touch. Therefore, his classroom frequently resembled a museum.

Dr. John does not limit himself to intellectual pursuits in the humanities. A former cross-country and track star, he enjoys canning fruit and is an avid and enthusiastic spectator of wrestling.

The icon exhibit currently on display is Dr. Sawhill's third exhibit at the college since his retirement. All students are invited to view it.

OPEN THURSDAY NIGHT
SPORTS OF SORTS

Coach Phil Hunchinger's basketball team journeyed to Hampden-Sydney a few days ago for a pre-season scrimmage and wound up on the short end of the score in what turned out to be more of a football game than a basketball contest. Seems the contracted officials did not appear and the whistles were turned over to a couple of students who promptly let the game get out of hand. The Dukes, slow to enter into the spirit of the thing, were not able to get their offense working consistently and were out manned on the boards by a couple of tall jumping jacks. "I think we learned a few things," Forward Bob Hummer said the following day, "but none of it had anything to do with basketball." The cagers will play a couple of more practice games before tackling the regular schedule which opens in two weeks.

Coach John Rader's soccer team displayed its best form of the season although bowing to VPI, 2-0, last week. It was the 'boomers' fifth straight loss.

Rader commended Jim Robinson and Chuck Wynter for their great defensive efforts and Jim Fleming for fine work in the goal.

The soccer team completes its season with a home game against the Lynchburg JV team this afternoon at Purcell Park. Game time is 3 pm.

Ever think you'd like to own a major league baseball team? Even the lowly Washington Senators? Well, by the time this goes into print the perennial cellar-dweller of the junior league will probably have new owners. It defies reason why anyone would want to purchase such a rag-tag team which has only a half dozen or so bona fide major league ball players. Frankly, a refrigerator franchise in Alaska would seem to be as profitable. But as Barnum once said

It has been common knowledge for some time that computers have many uses, but did you know that the gambling fraternity has begun to utilize the automated monsters in order to predict the probable outcome of the college and professional football games each week? It's true according to a recent issue of one of the better known sports magazines. Needless to say, the computers are not always right but they are correct to an extent as can be expected when one considers the human factor which has to be considered. Were it not for this intangible, teams would not have to play out the schedule. They would just get the result from their friendly computer and spend their Saturdays in a more peaceful fashion. What next?

BREEZE BRIEFS

"Sign-up sheets for chartered buses will be located in Dining Hall 3 until November 13. Students are reminded that when they sign up for chartered buses, their signature is their obligation to pay. All buses will leave promptly at 12 noon Wednesday, November 27, from Duke parking lot. Students will be responsible for seeing that their luggage is on the proper bus.

The next meeting of the 4-H Alumni Club of Madison will meet on November 13 at 7 pm in Wayland Recreation Room. All past 4-H'ers are invited to attend and join the club. The election of vice president will also take place.

This year, the club's service project is selling study lamps. These three-way lamps are excellent for study for they have a shield to prevent glare. Club members also assemble the lamps. Why not save your eyes and buy one of these excellent lamps? Contact any member of the club or Barbara Fletcher, this year's president.
