Speaker Davis Is "Doctor's Wife Who Has A Prescription For Adventure"

Vivacious, chic and bubbling with good humor, Lydia Davis, the Wednesday assembly speaker, sponsored by Sigma Phi Lamba, has attracted unusual experiences like the highly sensitive migrations.

It has been said of Lydia Davis that "she's the doctor's wife who found that marriage gave her a prescription for adventure.

Lydia Davis was born in New Zealand, where she studied law at the University of Otago. It was there that she met "Dr. Tom" a young medical student. When her husband doctor had decided to return to the Islands, to be a missionary in the Cook Islands to minister to their medical needs, Ms. Davis traveled to the far-flung islands of the group to organize clinics with the Davises for children, she devoted a large part of her time to the Davises decided that medical work in the Pacific. Lydia was "ship's cook" and she had learned how to sail the small sailboat, "the small sail," Bobby and Timmy, and two study-volunteer friends. Lydia was in the happy short-term that she lived in a houseboat. In collaboration with her husband, Dr. Tom Davis, she brought her family to "the Islands" in 1954 and was there until 1961. She returned to New Zealand in 1955 by the New York Herald Tribune. Two years later, she followed this with a full length novel, "South Sea Holiday." She has completed work on a second which is about sorcery in the South Seas.

Student Fractures Skull; Proves Fatal
by Winfield Waitte
On October 29, 1957 a fatal accident took place in Johnston Dormitry where two Madison girls were skull-lifting their respective garbs. Our visitor in an overstuffed Jayne Mansfield, one of the most distinctive and original blondes on the campus.
[i]t's not a cruel trick, it's a transfigured paradise, with slanted eyes and one long black eyebrow. She is more fairy-tale than fact, and is more realistic than the recorded accounts of the magical story. The magic and mystery of the young girl's dreams is a reality. The girl who has the capacity to be both a dreamer and a realist is a rarity in our world.

The particular assignment required that she study the physical makeup of the human body. For reasons unknown at the present time, she was sent to the infirmary on the order of the doctors. She was treated for a headache and was given rest. The headache persisted and the patient was advised to return to the infirmary.

The accidental patient was Velma Walker, Dolly Byrd and Ginny Schaaf. They had been attending classes and had helped in various ways with the different activities on the campus. Velma Walker was a member of the Women's Association and Dolly Byrd was a member of the Freshman Honor Society.

The accident occurred on Saturday, November 2, when the girls were walking on the campus. Suddenly, one of the girls stumbled and fell to the ground. The other two girls attempted to help her up, but she was unconscious. They immediately called for help and the girls were brought to the infirmary.

The doctors diagnosed the case as a skull fracture. The patients were given medication to relieve the headache and were advised to rest. They were advised to return to the infirmary if their condition worsened.

The incident caused a considerable amount of concern among the students and faculty. The incident was an unfortunate reminder of the dangers of the injury. The students were reminded to be cautious and to report any incidents to the authorities.

Sport's Flash
With Ash

If this thing they call the Asian flu hasn't had any other good points, it sure has had one. Everyone will admit that it has afforded them with something to think, worry, and talk about. But so much for the flu.

Last Saturday Madison again lost their hockey games, this time dropping two to Longwood 4-1 and 2-0.

Preceding the scheduled varsity contest, was a game with the alumni against the Shenandoah club. It was like old times seeing Tilgh in the game, Big Ash at fullback, Harrelson at wing, and all the other old grads back in their old positions. It was a very enjoyable game with the final score showing the alumni over Shenandoah, 3-0.

On the topic of hockey, I'd like to congratulate the student body for their loyal support throughout the season. Saturday at one o'clock showed many students at the sidelines for all three games, in spite of the penetrating cold. Just want you to know that your support was greatly appreciated by all.
