Madison Style Setters Enter American College Girls Contest

by Susan McCrary

The Breeze is once again sponsoring Glamour magazine's "Top Ten College Girls in America Contest." The junior and senior class executive committees have selected ten of Madison's most stylish dressers to compete in the contest; of these only one girl will be chosen by the student body to represent Madison in the national competition. The five junior and five senior candidates are Susan Angle, Nancy Ittner, Michelle Flora, Lois Evans Craun, Shay Gilchrist, Carole Coleman, Cindy Evans Henshaw, Joan Bailey, Linda Gush, and Anna Lagos.

The girls were chosen on the basis of figure, grooming, and individuality in approach to fashion. Each girl fully qualified by being an initiator or achiever in some campus or community activity. When Madison's representative has been selected, she will be photographed in a typical campus outfit and an off-campus outfit (daytime or evening). She must describe her participation in her field of interest in 500 to 750 words, detailing in detail, what type of activity this is, who sponsors it, why she chose this type of involvement and what role she plays in it.

1. National recognition in the August College Issue of Glamour and in newspapers throughout the country.
2. Photographs taken by leading fashion photographers for the August issue; these will be taken sometime in the spring either on campus, in New York, or in some other location determined by the editors. All expenses paid.
3. A personal gift from the editors of Glamour.
4. An all-expense-paid trip to a foreign country where the winners will be the guests of Glamour as a festival or international exhibition.
5. The Honorable Mention winners will also receive a gift from the editors. Last year Madison's Sue Harvey won an Honorable Mention.

All Top Ten College Girl contestors will be chosen on the basis of interest in 500 to 750 words, (Continued on Page 3)

Scholarship Fund To Be Established

The Percy H. Warren Women's Honorary Society, a Mortar Board colony at Madison College, has established a scholarship fund which was started with an anonymous donation. The scholarship will be awarded annually to a rising sophomore who, in the opinion of the members of the society, best exemplifies the high standards required of society members.

Members of the society are selected each year from the junior class on the basis of outstanding scholarship, leadership ideals, and integrity. Membership is limited to fifteen members.

The society will appreciate any donations to their newly initiated scholarship fund.

Cause of Fire Still Questioned

The cause of the early morning fire which damaged a block in downtown Harrisonburg was determined, but Fire Chief J. W. (Bill) Humes says that there are no indications of arson.

An area 100 feet by 300 feet was leveled, wiping out two businesses (Larson's Fabric Center and the Valley Barber Shop) and several warehouse and storage areas. Seven other firms (the Staunton Fox Restaurant, Jarrell's Shoe Store, Byrd's Shoe Shine Parlor, Valley Books, Lloyd's Hallmark Card Shop, the Virginia Theater, and Peoples Drug Store) suffered varying degrees of fire, smoke and water damage. At least three more businesses (Charles Matthias Clothing Co., Douglas Pearce Inc., and the Valley Sports Center), which escaped direct damage to their stores, lost merchandise stored in vacant areas. The total loss is estimated at $400,000.

Chief Humes, along with numerous other businessmen and residents, complimented the firemen for the professional way in which they battled the fire. Members of the ladies' auxiliary kept coffee available to weary firemen who were forced to work in a heavy downpour that passed over the area in the early morning hours.

Wednesday morning's fire was the second $400,000 blaze to hit the same block of Harrisonburg in less than a decade.

Princeton Prof Says Future Trends Should Be Influenced By Coeducation

Lawlessness Continues.

Last week two D.C. area policemen were fatally shot while performing their routine duties: they were in the process of impounding an illegally parked automobile. Their deaths add to the ever-growing list of law enforcement officials that have lost their lives while rendering a service that they believed in and one which is extremely vital to us all.

This trend toward lawlessness has far-reaching implications, and it is indirectly involving a larger segment of the population. Acts of this sort run the gamut from the individual actions that caused the death of the two policemen to organized civil disobedience by large groups. Everyone is concerned about this problem, but few seem willing to do anything about it.

Among the activists in this line, however, is a group termed as "The Three Stooges Plus Six," or the United States Supreme Court. When few of the recent decisions have been unanimous, these staunch examples of judicial intelligence seem to be doing everything in their power to make a career of crime glamorous and profitable. They strive to protect the rights of the accused, which is a noble gesture indeed; but in the process they are actually handcuffing the police and not the offender. It becomes quite apparent that there is a drive on to give better protection under the law to those who break it rather than to those who abide by it.

The commission report on the actions of Chicago police during the Democratic Convention was released recently, and again these bastions of law enforcement got a slap in the face. Unfortunately, this has never been possible, and with the recent trend of violence is even more remote than ever.

What is needed to create a reversal of this trend? No one pat solution is available, but it could well begin with increased understanding by all concerned. The offender should understand that what he does oversteps the bounds of liberty into a political action. It happens that an ironic simile can be drawn into custody. What this fugitive fails to realize is that he has infringed on his personal liberties while bringing him before the judicial system. This is a very serious offense to leave the dorm and perform his duty, a Madison graduate and member of Phi Omicron Tau. The following was issued by the Student Government Association, but not recognized, and at meetings with all Madison girls to be careful when attending parties at other schools — never go anywhere unsupervised, know your date, stay away from any dimly lit areas, and try not to become so uninhibited that you are unable to realize what is happening to you or to protect yourself as much as possible.

Another concern has come to the attention of the S.G.A.; we want to remind all women students that if it is a very serious offense to leave the dorm after the doors have been locked. Such an act not only warrants a judicial trial, but also endangers the other girls in the dormitory if the door is left ajar.

The Junior Class Weekend was highlighted by Ring Dance. The replica of the College ring was purchased by the class of 1970. It will be passed down each year.

Recent Assaults Cause Concern

Open Letter To All Women Students

The following was issued by the Department of Security of the University of Virginia. A copy was sent to Madison College and is being printed here for your information.

"Recent reports from city police about serious assaults on public streets and on private property near the University make it necessary for this written warning to be distributed to all students, faculty members, and staff.

Because of reports of assaults and attempted assaults on unaccompanied females this year, oral warnings about walking procedures had been given female University students in dormitories specifically concerned, and at meetings of female students, and some improved lighting installed in the University. Reports of molestations on University grounds were subsequently reduced.

It is strongly recommended that females plan their walking routes both in and near the University so that they do not walk alone in unpopulated or unlighted areas. It is further recommended that only main walking-routes be used, and that short-cuts around buildings or plantings or across fields be avoided at night."

In the light of this notice the Student Government Association would like to plead with all Madison girls to be careful when attending parties at other schools — never go anywhere unsupervised, know your date, stay away from any dimly lit areas, and try not to become so uninhibited that you are unable to realize what is happening to you or to protect yourself as much as possible.

The commission report on the actions of Chicago police during the Democratic Convention was released recently, and again these bastions of law enforcement got a slap in the face. Unfortunately, this has never been possible, and with the recent trend of violence is even more remote than ever.

Career-In Helps Collegians

The Industrial Relations Association of Bergen County, Saddle Brook, New Jersey, has announced its second annual "Career-In" to be held December 26 and 27 at the Marriott Motor Hotel at the intersection of Route 80 and the Garden State Parkway. The idea behind the "Career-In" is to bring together college seniors and graduates and corporate recruiters under one roof. This year, over 90 national companies will be on hand to interview an anticipated 2000 college seniors and graduates home for Christmas vacation. Last year 56 major companies participated, interviewing more than 1400 interested young men and women.

Records of the Industrial Relations Association indicate that in 1962 the average student participated in as many as ten corporate interviews. One ambitious student managed 27, which made him high man for the year.

Officials of the I.R.A. further stated that they are earnestly seeking the aid of College Placement Personnel in this effort, since the "Career-In" offers an additional outlet to on-campus recruitment activities in the placement of college seniors and graduates. A partial list of the participating companies includes:

- Aerot Life & Casualty Company
- Allstate Insurance Company
- Becton, Dickinson and Company
- The Bendix Corporation
- Bowon Engineering, Inc.
- Continental Baking Company
- Curtis-Wright Corporation
- Ford Motor Company
- Geigy Chemicals Corp.
- "W. T. Grant Co.
- Local Electronics Systems
- Melchior, Armstrong, Dessau, Inc.; Merck & Co., Inc.
- Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc.; Mutual of New York; Norden Division of United Aircraft Corp.
- Prentice-Hall, Inc.; Sinclair Oil Corporation.

Also:
- State Farm Insurance Companies; United Merchants and Manufacturers, Inc.; Western Electric Company, Inc.; Western Union; and The Procter & Gamble Distributing Co.

NASM Convention Elects Madison

Madison College was elected to associate membership in the National Association of Schools of Music at the 44th annual meeting of the Association in Washington, D. C. on November 25. Madison is one of three state-supported four-year colleges in the State to become a member of the NASM.

Dr. Gordon L. Ohlson, head of the Music Department, represented Madison at the meeting where 16 new schools were admitted to membership. The NASM, which includes 310 colleges, universities, and conservatories, is designated by the National Commission on Accrediting as the responsible agency for the accreditation of all music degree curricula.

During the three-day session, the Honorable Roger Stevens, Arts Advisor to the President of the United States, addressed the meeting. Other participants included Paul Hume, Music Critic of the Washington Post, Harold Arberg, Acting Director of the U.S.O.E. Arts and Humanities program, Richard Sullivan, president of the Association of American colleges, and a demonstration of "Multi-Media Education" by Donald Shelter,

Intramurals

The Faculty and Shorts 3rd Floor share the lead in the "A" intramural basketball standings with 3-0 records while Phi Kappa Beta and Lincoln-Shenandoah remain close with 2-0 marks.

The Faculty scored a 41-40 win over the Studs and defeated Phi Alpha Fr, 62-32, in last week's action as Dr. Ed Lipton led the way in scoring. Shorts 3rd Floor also posted two wins. The dorm men downed Sigma Delta Rho by a 38-29 margin and zipped past Shorts 4th Floor, 54-31.

H. Hemp of Shorts 3rd Floor had the best individual performance of the week as he tallied 27 points in his team's victory over Shorts 4th Floor, while Larry Kramer of the Jets scored 25 points as his squad bested the Faculty. Other noteworthy efforts were 22-point sprees by Dr. Lipton, Randy Rudolph of Team 77, J. Breeden for Shorts 3rd Floor, W. Heatwole for Team 66, John Shulze for the Outcasts, and Kramer.

Dukes Experience "Competition"

Madison's cagers got their first taste of big-time basketball during the Thanksgiving break and found it not to their liking as they took a pair of thrashings in the West Virginia Tech Warmup tournament.

The Dukes drew the host team on the opening night of the tournament and wound up on the short end of a 102-66 score as Tim Floyd, Jim Franklin, and Butch Rinker. Pictured with Coach Huntsinger are the three returning lettermen from last year's basketball team. Left to right are Bob Hummer, Bob Toohey, Huntsinger, and Butch Rinker.

Franklin University of Columbus, Ohio, "Five of the Chicos scored in double figures while Mike Kohler's 15-point effort was high for the Dukes. Rinker added 14."

Despite the two sound thrashings in the West Virginia Tech tournament, Coach Phil Huntsinger and his basketball team were looking forward to the opening of the regular basketball season.

"We found out in a hurry," the genial Huntsinger said, "that we aren't ready for that kind of competition. The kids tried hard but just couldn't match the calibre of competition that we met in those two games." At that, the Dukes could have found things worse. The Navy Submarine team met West Virginia Tech for the tournament title, featured Olympic cager Mike Barrett who recently signed a professional contract with the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball League.

"Students and faculty members are reminded that the boys' basketball games will be played in the Harrisonburg High School gym while the girls will play their games in Kezelli gym."

The boys will have three games under their belts by the time this reaches print while the girls will open their schedule after the Christmas holiday break.

All male students who are interested in competitive wrestling or swimming are asked to contact Mr. John Rader as soon as possible.

SPORTS OF SORTS

Madison’s all-star flag football team earned only a split in two matches prior to the Thanksgiving break despite almost complete domination of both contests.

Despite holding Bridgewater to only four first downs in the game, the locals dropped a 7-0 decision when Bridgewater capitalized on a long punt return, a penalty, and a 10-yard reverse play to post the only score of the game.

The Bridgewater defense, aided by a couple of costly penalties, stopped two Madison drives inside the 20-yard line. A penalty at the five-yard line halted one thrust while another terminated at the 20-yard stripe.

Madison handled Eastern Mennonite so easily the following day that they never had to punt in chalking up a 24-0 victory as Harry Pusey tossed three TD passes and Ed Anderson scored on a three-yard run.

Madison’s first score came on a 50-yard pass play from Pusey to John Hiper, Anderson then plunged three yards for the second score and Pusey fired a 30-yard pass to Bill Marion and a 45-yarder to Jerry Swick to wind up the scoring.

The interior line permitted EMC to get off only two unruled passes while the defensive safety men enjoyed an easy day.

A faculty bowling league for men and women is now being organized with competition to begin shortly after Christmas. Intramural Director Dr. Lipton announced today.

Each team will be composed of three members and will bowl three lines. Interested faculty members are asked to register with Dr. Lipton through P. O. Box 356.

Poor team turnouts have hampered the opening of intramural soccer competition. At present, five teams have signed up for the competition. Those registered are teams representing Shorts 1st Floor, Faculty, Shorts 3rd Floor, the Studs, and a team composed of members of Sigma Delta Rho/Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.
