German And Cotillion Clubs Add New 'Goats' To Membership List

Bright and early — 7:00 a.m. to be exact — on Monday and Tuesday, November 25 and 26, votes were heard coming from Harrargon Hall singing the Cotillion and German Dance Club songs. The 76 Cotillion "goats" were wearing black outfits with the traditional Cotillion bonnets, hats, and carried umbrellas. The 17 German "goats" were wearing the traditional German outfits of white dresses with red sashes over back skirts and sweaters. Each "goat" carried a stuffed animal of some description. The singing continued for two days — whenever a "goat" was told to perform.

The singing girls were invited into the Cotillion Dance Club on Monday evening, November 25 at 7:00 p.m., under the leadership of their President, Charles J. Flanagan, who directed his girls in the Cotillion pledge and began the Cotillion performance at 7:00 o'clock in Wilson Auditorium.

The Cotillion girls are making no provisions for the title of "Queen of Cotillion," but even so they feel a great surprise is in store as to the outcome of the Cotillion ball.

Directing the Cotillion night production will be Kitty Keller, who is also credited with the writing of the script. Special recognition goes to Frances Evan White, Margaret A. Aydrey Wilson, Lights; and Sarah Glazier, Wardrobe.

The chairman for the committees are as follows: Mary Ann, Virginia, Bonnie, and Shirley Gries, Props; Mary Ann, Virginia, Bonnie, and Shirley Gries; Desirable Values, Clara Wilson, Costumes; Grace Mandy, Decrees; Pat Lumpkin, Miss Patsy; Katherine Jones, Programs; Sara Hodges, Dahlias; Barbara "Vicky," Dance Director; Nancie Harrison Hall, Bells, Bieron, Dotted, closed, and Disney; Connie Warden, Dance Card; Ferez Nance, Name Tags; Donna Clarkson, Invitations; Annie Lane Dabney, Manuscript; Noelle Cassidy, Class Songs.

Explosions Play Big Part In Journalism

Explosive situations are part of the journalism and the basis of the news, and therefore, journalism and the basis of the news, a normal part in Journalism, must be allowed. Marvin Mouse And His Mouse Spouse Meet Madison Monsters

by Kathie Warburton

My name is Marvin. I'm a mouse. I live back campus at Madison College, and on occasion I've been known to have a wave of my humble, home for the purpose of journeying there. This is a truly an enlightening experience: College—ones just never knew what he might encounter.

Several evenings ago I remarked to Martha, my mouse spouse, that I thought perhaps it'd make another visit.

Upon my arrival I didn't take me long to realize that there were some kind of strange goings on. As I scampers down the sidewalk (a Madison mouse never scampers on the grass), I seemed to be surrounded by an array of gay decorations. The dorm windows were brightly lit, and I scurried into one of the doors I carry face to face with a gigantic tree.

Now I tell you I've seen lots of college dorms in my 102 years, but I haven't witnessed anything like this one. It was sticky colored circle long. I came from the branches and gathering my courage I advanced cautiously to investigate. I bravely approached the little one on the lower branch and I did get a good-sized bite. I've been a monster staring right back at me!

Deciding the place must be haunted continued on my journey. Suddenly I heard a tremendous amount of noise from somewhere and yelling, and I was thinking somebody must be hurt badly when I came upon a large room. I pecked around the floor and there on the floor were two boxes, letters and papers and rubbish that I'd never seen.

After reviewing the evidence I reach the conclusion that the place was a madhouse. I had been led to think that mice and men were so similar. I've been led to think that mice and men were so similar.

Now by now I've been talked into believing in the possibility that there might be a monster about. In fact, should ever I come to Madison and there was a monster loose about, I'd be likely to get a fright when a mouse turned up the corner.

With Ash

It is said that it takes just as much good sportsmanship to be a good winner as it does to be a good loser. On Monday, the Dukes lost their opening game of the season to Shepherd College by the score of 4-5. The extramural basketball team has been selected. Congratulations to those girls chosen to represent Madison on the courts and best of wishing them and their coach, Miss Berkey, a most successful season. We'll give you more information on the team and their schedule in the next issue of The Breeze.

The two intramural sports which are in function now are square dancing and basketball. Square dancing will end next week, December 13. The only basketball game scheduled for this week will be the Madison girls' team vs. St. John's. All the girls are working hard on their tumbling and dance numbers. Till then... Let's donate those extra nickels and pennies to the T.B. drive.

Practice Teachers Go To Waynesboro

Students at Westwood Hills Elementary School had a special treat Friday, December 6, 1957. Twenty-six juniors. The college has good showing for their new teacher. Dr. Raymond J. Poindexter, professor of Education and head of the teaching program here at Madison, said, "It was a wonderful experience for the children, college students, and regular teachers.*

For the past six years he has led this successful program, and states that, "It has value for all concerned." 'It seems that the children study much harder in order to make a good showing for their new teacher. "Students who have continued in the field of education report to us it has been the best part of their college education." Dr. Poindexter stated.

Friday's visit to Waynesboro was the first teaching experience for those twenty-six juniors. The college has sent students to Waynesboro three times in the past six years.

The girls did not go unappreciated. For two weeks beforehand, they received special instructions to follow on the trip: Joan Lambert, one of the student teachers, said, "I think that every prospective teacher should go. It was a wonderful experience!"

The day before, the girls met the teachers in their classrooms and many topics were discussed, such as: how to take the roll, what to do during play period if it rained, and the time of lunch and the recesses.

It was rejoiced that the girls be sure to have the attention of all the pupils when giving directions or explanations; make sure they are carried out, and to stay with the pupils in classrooms, on the playground, or elsewhere.

Student teachers taking part were: Betty Hommowun, Kay Daggy, Dorothy Fischer, Joan Cook and Key Anderson,

Snell Is Swell As Sport's Personality

Our sport's personality this week is Betty Suittings, better known on campus as "Snell." Snell is a junior physical education major hailing from Winchester. She has her eyes on Richmond as a spot to teach after graduation.

Snell has been very active since she arrived at Madison in 1955. She has played extramural hockey for two years, extramural tennis for one, and is now starting her second year as a member of the extramural basketball team. Snell has also been very active in the intramural programs having participated in hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball. Snell and her teammates in the Intramural Basketball Team have been a constant threat to the Madison College Giants. Snell was also on the A. C., Central for a year and was selected for WHO'S WHO in freshman year.

She was also on the A. C., Central for a year and was selected for WHO'S WHO in freshman year. She was treasurer of her freshman class and vice-president of her sophomore class. She is a member of the Lion's Circle and has served as secretary-treasurer of the group. Snell is also a member of the Red Circle and is a member of the Kappa Sigma Alpha social sorority.

Our personalities may presently be found in Junior dorm studying kinesiology or in bed, gym playing basketball.
