Dr. Newell Speaks For Religious Week

During the past week, February 10-14, many students have heard the inspiring messages of Dr. Arthur W. Newell, speaker of Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored by the Y.W.C.A.

Dr. Newell, who is pastor of St. John's United Church of Christ in Richmond, used as his topic "Think on These Things" which was divided into two parts—"My Faith Looks Up" as the noon-day series and "The Mark of a Christian Life," for his evening series.

The noon-day series began Monday with "You Need a Faith for Trying Times." "Learn to Express Faith in Simple Terms" was the topic on Tuesday; Wednesday's was "Go Lose Yourself." Thursday, Dr. Newell spoke on "Whatever You Have He Has Need of It" and Friday, "Be A Member of the Supporting Cast."

Topics for the evening series were: Monday, "There Will Be Love;" Tuesday, "There Will Be Patience;" Wednesday, "There Will Be Forgiveness;" Thursday, "There Will Be Respect for Persons." Tonight (Friday) Dr. Newell will end his talks with "There Will be Respect for Persons."

Dr. Newell talked to the girls at buzz sessions in the dorms every night at 9:30, and a faculty reception was held in Alumnae Hall on Tuesday night.

A coffee hour was held on Sunday night at Sprinkle House in honor of Dr. Newell, and various other activities were held during the week in observance of Religious Emphasis Week.

Religious Emphasis Week is an annual event sponsored by the Y.W.C.A., with Barbara Bishop acting as chairman.

Harrisonburg Band Plays At Madison

On February 19, 1958, the Harrisonburg High School Band will perform in assembly under the direction of Mrs. Lucille Marshall.

This seventy-six piece band will play the following selections: "Emblem of Unity March," by J. J. Richards; "The Star-Spangled Banner," "Dixie," "The Au Pays Lorraine Overture," by Balay; Triple Trio of Clarinets featuring the clarinet section, Three Corales, "Trumpet Tango," "Scarf Dance," by Chauminade; "Trepak" by Tschaiakowsky from the "Nutcracker Suite," a Trombone Trio, a Medley of Popular Tunes from Broadway Shows and the "Washington Post March" by Sousa. The variety of selections should indicate a vivid and varied international repertoire.

Madison Makes Plans For May Day With Fine Arts Festival And Pageant

by Joan Lambert

On Friday, May 2, all classes will be suspended until Monday at 8:00 a.m. Instead of attending classes, students will be given the opportunity to hear a poet, see two art exhibits, and attend many other special events for this week end.

As is the tradition at Madison the first week end in May is designated as Homecoming and May Day, but this year in connection with this Arts Festival has been planned. This festival is, in no way, to supersede May Day and has as its purpose to develop a big week end, not to detract from it.

One of the reasons for the added Arts Festival is that this year Madison celebrates her 50th anniversary. The administration is planning numerous special events for this year, of which this Arts Festival is but the first. Furthermore, it was felt that May Day week end was the most suitable time for alumni and friends to attend an Arts Festival, for many would normally be on campus then.

From the schedule of tentative plans, it is evident that the festival will not interfere with the traditional May Day events. Since classes are cancelled Friday, the first event begins at 2:30 p.m. with one of the greatest living contemporary poets reading some of his poetry and then talking on modern poetry.

Following this at 3:30 p.m., will be an art exhibit with paintings entered by students representing all of Virginia's colleges and universities. In connection with the Art Exhibit there will be a 50th Anniversary Tea.

The festival will continue its events after dinner with Stratford Players presenting a one-act play at 7:30 p.m., followed by a foreign movie. Special events will resume Saturday morning with another art exhibit and Alumnae Coffee Hour from 9:00-10:30.

Miss Nancy Hale, one of America's most distinguished short story writers, will lecture at 11:30 a.m. Following this there will be the traditional Alumnae Luncheon from 1:00-2:30 p.m.

May Day, as it has been known in past years on this campus, will take up the remainder of the afternoon. The evening portion of the festival will feature the combined voices of the Madison College and University of Richmond Glee Clubs in a choral concert. Climaxing the week end will be the May Day Ball, with the May Queen and her escort leading the figure composed of her maids and their attendants with their escorts.

This Arts Festival week end is free and open to students, friends, and residents of the town. Invitations will be sent to Governor and Mrs. J. Lindsay Almond, members of the Legislature and their wives, and faculty members in the Division of Humanities in other colleges and universities.

Campus Selection Betty Davis To Be Apple Blossom Princess

by Avis Autry

"Surprised and honored," Betty Jane Davis described her reaction to being chosen as Madison's representative to this year's Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester.

APPLE BLOSSOM PRINCESS—Betty Jane Davis receives flowers and congratulations from Pris Shafer, S.G.A. president, as she is announced Madison's Princess to the annual Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester.

The gala affair will be held May 1 and 2 when Betty and the other court members will enjoy such social functions as luncheons, teas, the Queen's Ball, and a pageant. The highlight of the festival will be the Apple Blossom parade on May 2.

She hails from Quinton where she attended New Kent High School. Her activities there include May Queen, a member of the Teen Council, Valedictorian, and a member of the glee club.

At Madison, Betty Jane is working for a double major in Chemistry and biology, planning to do laboratory work after finishing college in June. A few of her campus activities include glee club, Cotillion Dance Club, and a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority. She is a senior representative to the SGA, having also served in this capacity in her freshman year.

With an attractive smile, Betty Jane Davis will add a sparkle to the Festival with which Madison will be pleased.

Camp Opportunities Open To Students

"Summer is a'cumen!" College girls and women graduate students interested in summer jobs which combine scholastic values with opportunities for outdoor living will find thousands of openings awaiting them in Girl Scout camps.

Hundreds of counselors over 18 years old are needed to share these wholesome experiences on a partnership basis. The basic requirements are good health, enthusiasm, patience, adaptability, and love of children. Candidates also must be in sympathy with the objectives and philosophy of Girl Scouting.

For students 21 years or older, there are numerous openings as unit leaders, waterfront directors, program consultants, food supervisors, health supervisors, business managers, and assistant camp directors. Camp Directors must be 25 or over.

Salaries vary with the assignment and the candidate's previous experience, qualifications and training. Depending on the length of the camp season and the location of the camp, laundry and travel expenses may be included. A basic pre-camp training session of about five days' duration is provided for all staff members.

Many schools allow field work credit for Girl Scout camp jobs, toward degrees in such subjects as social work, sociology, education, science physical education, and recreation.

Your Vote Counts!!

In only eleven more days it will be the responsibility of the student body to elect the campus leaders for next year. This is a duty which should not be taken lightly by anyone, but one which requires careful consideration by each student on this campus.

We must not vote for candidates on the basis of their being our friends, but instead we must weigh carefully their qualifications for the office for which they are running.

"Qualifications" include not only their past record in campus organizations, but also their attitude toward the office, as well as their relations with the faculty, administration, and student body. We should keep in mind that whomever we choose will not be able to execute the duties of her office alone, but will be required to work closely with all who are connected with the college.

The Nominating Convention and Electoral Board have been conscientious in their selection of major candidates; thus it is left up to us to use the same forethought in choosing the officers.

During this forthcoming campaign we will all be subjected to those students who will attempt to persuade us to vote a certain way. We will hear many times over reasons why "so-and-so" is the one for which we should vote. Do not let yourself be high-pressured into voting a certain way. Listen to all sides of the issue, and carefully weigh everything you have heard.

Remember, everyone has the right to vote; and no one should complain about the major officers next year if she has not exercised this right.

Therefore, realize that YOUR vote is very important, and when election day arrives, VOTE!

R.R.

Herman's Herd Heard

The visit to our campus by the well-known Woody Herman and his Third Herd was a more successful endeavor than anyone anticipated. Wednesday night's concert was well supported by the student body, as evidenced by the auditorium being filled to capacity. It is believed that an informal concert of this type appeals to more students than a dance, whether formal or informal, would.

We are grateful to S.G.A. for providing this form of entertainment, and hope to see more of the same in the future.

Teach Unto Others...

Stop and think about this one minute! How many students and faculty members know and realize how important it is to be congenial and friendly in the classroom and outside? Favorable attributes not only lead to a higher quality of work but also it many times inspires one to seek a higher education, which he would not have done without the teachers having such a great influence over his life.

The teacher who has these attributes does not necessarily have to be the ideal teacher in every way possible. He does not need a personality that sweeps you off your feet, or looks that send you swirling into seventh heaven. He is not expected to dole out all "A's," or be easily swayed into a channel of thinking which is irrelevant to the class. He should be reasonable, understanding, and fair in all he does. Above all, he should try to inspire his students to higher aspirations—an almost impossible task.

On a comparatively small campus the relation between professors and students are many times closely-knit. One will always find those professors who take a real interest in their students and have the student's welfare as their prevailing concern. Then on the other hand there are those who are not at all aware of the student's being human.

This criticism is not aimed directly at Madison College, but to all institutions of learning, and the teaching profession. This is also a reminder to all the future teachers here at Madison. Remember how you felt about the various professors which you had and try to follow the example of the good ones.

The students are not asking for a show of favoritism or a lowering of standards in education where all work is "A" work. All they ask is what is rightfully due them—fairness.

"Six-Footer" Men Or Scarves Sweep Ladies Off Their Feet

by Ellen Raines

Never let it be said that the age of romance and chivalry died with the knights in armor. Never once think that the poets' spring love songs cannot be equaled today. In those days, spring was the time for love, and indeed, such is nature's plan. After a long rest, the world wakes with new awareness. It is so easy to love and be loved in such surroundings.

In nature's plan, she overlooked the appearance of a strange species known as the American male. While winter is still very much in command of the seasons, and a blade of grass, a single bud, or a chirp of a robin are still memories of the past year, he impatiently refuses to wait for spring. On February 14, he makes known his love and bids for his lady's heart with a bouquet of roses and a box of candy. He doesn't wait for conditions to be perfect before he starts his pursuit; like the true knight he is, he braves snow, girls' schools, and fathers to win the hand of his love.

I'm sure no knight on a dashing steed ever swept a girl off her feet while she was standing in snow up to her knees, and poets always waited for a background of petals and rose buds before writing odes to their loves; but not our knights in crew-neck sweaters and slacks. Although time has a way of mixing up customs, the blossom of knighthood is still very much in evidence. Knights used to ride into tournaments proudly bearing the colors of their ladies; today girls roam the campuses proudly wearing the colors of their knights around their necks in the form of "six-footers." These colors tell all that the knights are fighting the powerful dragon of knowledge at such battle fields as Tech, U. Va., and V. M. I.

Today is the day of chivalry and romance, and Spring comes early when someone just can't wait any longer to say, "Will you be my Valentine?"

Mainly Men

by Larry Bohnert

Sigma Delta Rho fraternity spent an enjoyable evening with Zeta Tau Alpha sorority discussing a round of topics including, "What is the social status of men on Madison's campus?" and "Should wives have a job?" Afterwards, refreshments were served.

A roller-skating party is being scheduled in the near future with Alpha Sigma Tau sorority.

Sonny Wine graduated in mid-semester, vacating the presidency of the YMCA. Sonny has been a fine and inspirational student-leader, and his presence will surely be missed on and around Madison's campus. Vice-President, Eddie Broyles, will lead the organization until major elections.

Madison's Dukes have added three men to their team and are looking forward to some victories this semester. Although the scores didn't indicate their playing ability last semester, good basketball playing is being demonstrated by the team at all of the games. Come out and support them this semester!

Juniors and Seniors recognized several familiar alumni on campus last week, as Doug Soyars and his wife, Judy Yancey Soyars came through Harrisonburg on their way to Boston. Doug is now in the service and is being transferred to Germany to play clarinet in an Army band. Judy will stay in Boston until she is allowed to join her husband in four months.

His subject was, "Problems of Beginning Teachers," and a social followed the meeting.

French

French Club held their meeting February 11 at 7:00 p.m. The club met at Dr. Woelfel's home to enjoy a Mardi Gras party. All the members were dressed in masquerade, and parlor games were played. Refreshments were then served.

Hey There!

by Connie Lou

Welcome all new transfers! Madison always enjoys seeing new faces beaming on its campus. Just make yourself at home and join in on the jovial Madison spirit.

Well, another new slate is started for another new semester. The time to start on those good grades is now. Remember, if once you don't succeed, just try again.

The next few months will be busy ones for everybody, so hold on to your head. The major candidates are all planning for their campaigns, so Harrison Hall will be noisy with hammering and nailing. Good luck to everyone!

A fashion show will be sponsored by Mercury Club on Thursday, February 20 at 4:30 p.m. Mr. Richard Osner, a special sales representative from E. R. Moore Company, will be present to talk about gym wear. Everyone is invited.

At Convocation last Wednesday, Rev. Turner addressed the student body. The seniors and faculty had their traditional march down the aisle. This marked the beginning of the end for the seniors.

A Scholarship For Your Opinion In Reed And Barton's Contest

During the months of February and March, Reed & Barton, America's oldest major silversmiths, are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarship awards totalling $1050 are being offered to duly enrolled women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

Madison College has been selected to enter this Competition in which the First Grand Award is a $500 cash scholarship; Second Grand Award is a $250 scholarship, and Third, Fourth, and Fifth awards are $100 scholarships.

In addition there will be 100 other awards with winners having the option of receiving a $25 Savings Bond or a "starter set" of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $45.

In the "Silver Opinion Competition" an entrant is asked to name her favorite china pattern, her favorite crystal and the sterling silver design she likes best. Then in her own words she must tell why she has chosen the three particular designs. She can use as few or as many words as she likes. There is no set limit. Entries will be judged on the basis of interesting opinions rather than on literary techniques. Closing date is midnight, March 31.

Miss Priscilla Shafer is the Student Representative who is conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at Madison. Those interested in entering the Silver Opinion Competition should contact Pris at Carter House room 22, for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the Competition Rules.

Through the opinions on silver design expressed by college women competing for these scholarships, Reed & Barton hopes to compile a valuable library of expressions of young American tastes.

Today's Prayer

Our Father, God, help us to remember that You have called us to spend a part of our lives in study, and placed upon us a special trust of searching out wisdom.

Sometimes we look upon ourselves and find that we are offly half ready in heart and mind to accept this trust because of wasted hours and carelessness.

Grant, O Father of all Mankind, that we may know the dignity of our call to Studenthood; that we may never lose sight of the needs of the world that we are called to meet; and that we may be assured of thy presence and power in our everyday lives. AMEN

Prudent Student

From Nov. 16, 1951 issue of The Breeze

As a Freshman Student I wasn't quite prudent, I was even less discerning I thought I could pass in most any class Without much effort at learning.

Now, at the end of the course, I'm full of remorse, For a lesson I have learned; In order to pass In a Madison class, Grades must be earned.

The main highlight in the news this week is Madison's recent basketball game with Lynchburg College. On Saturday, February 8, the girls basketball team opened their season with two contests with Lynchburg on the latter's court. The final scores showed Lynchburg winning the first team game 70-62 and Madison winning the second team game 61-53.

On Saturday the Dukes also were engaged in a basketball contest with Shepherd College. Unfortunately the boys were again unable to come through and the final tally of points showed Madison on the bottom.

The activities now being offered in the intramural program are social dance, intramural fencing and volleyball. At present there is a little confusion as to whether the bowling alleys are on limits or not; so for the time being bowling intramurals have been postponed.

Come out and support the team this Saturday. Our girls play Longwood on the home court in Reed Gym for their first appearance here this season. The only other home game will be March 1, when the team plays Westhampton.

With the start of a new semester everyone has turned over the proverbial new leaf. Hope you are having better luck keeping it than this reporter is.

'Til then—See you at the basketball game this Saturday! Madison vs. Longwood at 2:00 p.m.

Lynchburg Tops Madison Duchesses

Saturday, February 8, saw the 24 members of the girls extramural basketball traveling to Lynchburg College for their opening game of the season.

Lynchburg entered the contest with an undefeated record and to the girls' sorrow kept that record.

The game started off slowly for Madison with the score at the end of the first quarter showing Lynchburg with a considerable lead over our girls. However the team started to click towards the end of the second quarter, and the score at the end of the half read Lynchburg 33, Madison 19. The second half was a more evenly matched contest and the girls moved closer to Lynchburg, but try as they may, they were unable to catch up. The final tally showed Lynchburg on top 70-62.

If one is considering the final score as the primary factor, the second game was the better one. At the end of this game Madison was the victor with the score reading 61-53.

This Saturday at 2:00 p.m., Madison plays Longwood College on our home courts.
