EXCITING GAME OF VOLLEY BALL PLAYED

Kiwanians Defeat Rotarians. Enthusiastic Yelling for Both Clubs. Game Interrupted

On Friday night, February 16th, the Rotary Club met the Kiwanis Club in a Volley Ball game in the Normal Gymnasium for the benefit of the Normal Athletic Association.

At first glance anyone might have thought the gym was ready for a Junior-Senior game. Each of the clubs had decorated his end of the gym. The effect of the blue and gold at the Kiwanis end and the orange and black at the Rotary end, with the club banner over each, made a very attractive picture.

At 8 o'clock amid cheering, Captain Scott led his team of Rotarians out, determined to bet Sheff Devier's team from the Kiwanis Club. As Mr. Duke and Dr. Gifford were on the Rotary ten, the Seniors and Degrees were singing "Here's to the Rotarians, our side will win." Dr. Converse helped the Juniors and Post-Graduates root for the Kiwanians. The Kiwanis Club had brought fancy paper hats for their rooters. Later they served apples to their crowd. (Incidentally those on the Rotary side got their share of the apples).

It was decided that the club beating three out of five games should be declared winner of the occasion. The games were quite exciting. At first it looked as if the Rotarians were going to win, but the Kiwanians sent the ball back too hard for them. One of the Rotarians seemed to forget that the object of the game was to bat the ball back over the net; he insisted upon catching it in his arms. The Kiwanians won the first three games, so it was not necessary to play any more.

About 9:15 during one of the most exciting parts of the volley ball game, a girl appeared on the balcony with a peculiarly triumphant smile on her face. One glance was enough for the students. They simply went wild. The walls of the old gym rang with yells as it had never done before. Regardless of the game in progress the girls ran out on the floor, hugging anyone who happened to be next to them, and yelling as loudly as possible. Presently there was a lull, and Mr. Conrad announced that the score of the Radford game was 20 to 13 in favor of Harrisonburg. After a few minutes things quieted down enough for the volley ball game to be continued.

COTILLION CLUB DANCE

The first Cotillion Club dance was held in Harrison Hall last night. All day and early in the evening men were pouring in from the four corners of the earth; our four corners being the University, V. P. I., W. & L. and V. M. I. (also other places between). The colors of the girls' dresses, the men's dark suits, and the decorations all blended into a harmony which even Miss Alken would have thought beautiful. The music was furnished by the Galety Orchestra from Harrisonburg. Dancing was indulged in until 11 p. m.

SECOND VARSITY GAME PLAYED FEBRUARY 9TH

Tall Sycamores Carry Off Victory. Harrisonburg Normal School Puts Up Good Fight

On Friday night, February 9th, Radford Normal defeated Harrisonburg Normal in a very interesting game of basket-ball. On February 10th, the Daily News-Record, Harrisonburg's newspaper told about the game in such a pleasing way and with such style that does credit to this paper, that it seems absurd for the Breeze even to try to surpass it. So the Daily News-Record account of the game is being presented below. The name of the writer is being withheld for safety's sake.

"Tall sycamores grow in the Southwest no less than in Rockingham. And in a basketball game what a Tall Sycamore can do, towering about the rest of the players like a peak of the Andes, is a caution.

Last night in the gymnasium of the State Normal School, Harrisonburg lost to Radford by a score of 17 to 16, when the Tall Sycamores of the Southwest stood in front of the basket and blocked the ball by a toss of an arm or a nod of the head.

It was a brave fight throughout. Radford was first to score (she had other players, too; but they were only six feet tall or such a matter). It was five minutes before Harrisonburg made her first basket, and at the end of the first half, ten minutes later, Harrisonburg was four to Radford's nine. The locals were going a strong pace, but there was the T. S. of S. W. Harrisonburg's forwards were playing a plucky game and the team was back of them delivering the ball, but up where the basket and the T. S. were the ball changed its course almost every time.

The second half was no better. Radford scored eight more points to Harrisonburg's six. Harrisonburg was playing a fast game and a keen game, but having to climb the mountain was too much of a handicap. Radford (T. S. of S. W.) won. It was a great game.

VARSIITY RECEIVES 22 PEPPY "WIRES"

Messages Sent By Organizations and Individuals. Much Interest Manifested By All

Harrisonburg spirit seems always to have a chance to assert itself. Nearly always the circumstances are different, yet they seem to fit anywhere—but here's a story that just must be told.

On Thursday, February 15—the day after Valentine—the Harrisonburg team left its home and went out visiting. To East Radford Normal it went to be greeted by two telegrams when it got there (the beginning of the spirit mentioned before). The hostess began to entertain. The team rested. More telegrams came. The girls were then so pepped up that there was nothing left for them to do but win. (Maybe the biggest part of the story is that they did win, but that's not the part to be told here). Those telegrams kept on coming until there were twenty-two of them.

When the victory was over, the "messages" were divided among the team. So that the school might have them all too, they are being printed. As you read them, see if you'd call this Harrisonburg spirit and decide if you think these helped the team win.

- Here are the telegrams:
- "Knock out big Anna in first round. We are pulling hard.
  - Roselyn's Table".
  - "We are wishing for you and betting on you.
  - Alberta, Mary Lees, Sadie and Rebecca."
  - "We are back of you in victory or defeat.
  - Student Body."
  - "We are betting on you.
  - H. E. Club."
  - "Atta girls. Best luck—we know you can do it.
  - The Gang."
  - "On with the Game. The P. K. Juniors are still squealing."
  - "Cheer up—The P. K. Juniors are squealing for you."
  - "We are back of you.
  - Degree Class."
  - "Best wishes for a victory. Beat 'em good.
  - Rotary Volley Team."
  - "We are back of you now.
  - Junior Class."
  - "We are back of you, old team. Get 'em.
  - Senior Class."
  - "Fight to the finish. We are back of you now.
  - Danville Club."
  - "We are betting on you.
  - The Five."
  - "Don't get hurt. We're betting on you.
  - Ruth Paul."
  - "On with the game H. N. S. Squad at Home."
  - "Climb those sycamores.
  - Lelia Brock Jones's Table."
  - "Saw down those sycamores.
  - Lee Literary Society."
  - "Yea team. Fight 'em.
  - P. G's."
  - "Good luck, team.
  - Grammar Grade Juniors."
  - "Above the sycamores lies victory.

NORMAL TEAM DEFEATS RADFORD. SCORE 20-13

H. N. S.'s First Victory Over Radford. Game Played on Foreign Floor

The Harrisonburg Varsity team defeated the Radford team Friday night, February 16th, by a score of 20 to 13. The game was played on the Radford floor.

The H. N. S. team left Thursday to play its first game of the season on a foreign court. They journeyed to Radford determined not to let the height of one of the guards make them lose another game to the girls from Southwest Virginia. The Radford and Harrisonburg teams have met twice a year for three years. Each time Radford has been victorious. The game this year was one of the hardest-fought games the two Normals have ever played. It ended in a victory for H. N. S.

At the end of the first half the score was 13 to 9 in favor of Radford. In the second half Harrisonburg scored eleven points, but Radford did not score any after the first half. Out of the fourteen fouls called on each team, H. N. S. threw eight goals, while Radford threw only one.

In the first half Rosen and Clark played forward, Bell and Wagstaff were in center, and Chinault and Coleman guarded. The T. S. of S. W. guarded Clark, so Rosen threw the goals. Then Zelma took Clark's place. In the second half Long took Rosen's place. Long shot two goals, making the score 14 to 13 in favor of Harrisonburg. Then Gimbel changed, guarding Long. After about five minutes' play of the second half, Gimbel was disqualified on account of three personal fouls. Later in the game Radford's side center was put out of the game for the same reason.

During the second half the Harrisonburg team worked like a well-oiled machine. They scored eleven points and did not allow their opponents to score at all.

The Radford girls entertained the H. N. S. girls during their stay at the school. One of the features of the entertaining was a lovely supper in the Blue Gate Tea Room after the game Friday night.

STRAY GOAT AT H. N. S.

If goats could sing instead of bah, the one lone Stratford goat would have made herself hoarse during the past week singing "All Alone."

Mildred Morecock was the lone goat. She was not initiated with the other Stratford goats because of her late return after the holidays due to sickness. She endured the sweet agony of initiation all alone and without help.

The contest in the Breeze is still open. Send in your contributions and carry off a prize.

- We're back of you now.
- Grammar Grade Club."
- "We have written you victorious on our "Page."
- Page Literary Society."
- "Go to it. We are betting on you.
- Frances Club."

ANOTHER NEW REPORTER

Each of us knows how much excitement reigned when "The Breeze" first began to blow and when the staff was elected and appointed. All wanted to know who was on it from the school at large. Exciting times to remember!

Last week we had to announce about one reporter's having to resign. Here comes another, but when we realize Grace Heyl's responsibilities and honors that she has to "hold down", we're sure none of us can possibly see how she can do it. She doesn't seem to be able to solve that problem either, and after considering it and weighing it well in the balance, she has decided as she puts it that "it will be best all the way around to resign". She still promises her whole-hearted support, however, and we know that she means it.

Who is taking her place? We thought about it, and decided that it would be only fair to give the honor to one who is returning next year. She was to be taken from the student body at large as the retiring reporter was chosen in this way. Margaret Ritchie has been selected by the staff. She has already done some Breeze writing and stands well in her classes. We welcome her to all the honor and hard work that we can offer.

TO THE "LEFT-BEHINDS"

Everybody cheers the Varsity team and praises them for their hard work. They deserve it, but did you ever stop to think of the rest of the squad; the ones who made it possible for the team to be what it is? They are the ones who go down to practice every night, without ever a word of complaint. If it were not for them, the team would have no one to practice against. The team is chosen; goes off on its trips and the rest of the squad stays at home. When the team comes home victorious, the student body is wildly excited over them, and they should be. The "left-behinds" cheer as loudly as the rest of us. What I want is for us to pause a moment in our cheering of the team, and give fifteen "rahs" for the rest of the squad.

ADVISEES ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Dingleline entertained their advisees at a delightful supper on Sunday night, February 18, at six o'clock. Those present were Misses Nancy Horne, Lillian Perkinson, Estelle Luck, Alma Lugar, Madge Willis, Sue Ritchie, Elizabeth Sparrow, Mary Pratt, Margaret Ritchie and Georgie Holland.

A RESULT OF THIS WEEK

Dere Editor:

I hope to tell you this ain't been nothing but a Better Speech Week. Some Janes have been tickled green over the whole dog-gone thing. But I hope to tell you, kid, that there are heaps like me, that are just dumb bells and it takes them a coon's age to catch the drift and for it to soak in.

A whole lot of Janes had to jazz around to all the classes an' chew the rag for five minutes on better speech. It 'twant nothing but fun for the skirts in the class, but the way some of the Janes' knees, that handed the cruel line, played "Home Sweet Home" 'twant nothing but agony for them.

Better Speech Week did heaps of good. But I ain't nothing but thrilled to a peanut that it's gone up the spout, 'cause if it had lasted much longer I sure would have croaked, and folks would have been struttin' their onions to the bone-yard with yours truly.

I hope to tell you I ain't nothing but glad to have slung this line for your paper. And if you ever want to sling it again, I'll be tickled pink to do it.
X. Y. Z.

IT IS A TIME-SAVER

Dear Editor:

As for my opinion on the printed examination, there is nothing that I can think of just at present which would be more beneficial to the students at H. N. S. There are many reasons why I think the examinations should be printed. First, some of the rooms are so badly lighted that the questions when written on the board cannot be read. This causes the students to ask questions, thus disturbing the others of the class. Second, if the teacher dictates the examinations, she is liable to go too fast, and the students make mistakes. The examinations here are so short that if one should happen to get one answer wrong she is liable to "flunk". Third, the printed examination would be a great time-saver for both student and teacher.

R. A. J.

THE MONEY IS A SMALL MATTER

Dear Editor:

I think that your plan of having printed exams is just fine. It's just what most of us have wanted, but we didn't know how to express ourselves.

Even though I am only an insignificant Junior, I can realize how hard it is to take an exam in a room where people (including myself) are asking questions just all the time, as it seems. However we can't help asking questions because we can't see the board. Think of the grand and glorious feeling of having printed exams. As to the money, I am sure that every one of us would be willing to pay almost anything to obtain the much desired silence during an exam.

I am sure that if this plan is put through, every student here now and all future students will praise you highly for suggesting the plan.

Just a Junior.

NEW OFFICE

Dr. Gifford has at last moved into his new office. For a long time Dr. Converse and Dr. Gifford have been sharing the same office, but now they have the realization of their dreams. Each one can boast of an office of his own.

THE CAMPUS CATS

THE REAL BLISS

I think it is joy, I think it is bliss,
I think it is thrilling a wee maid to kiss.
To have her stand upon her very tip toes,
And hold up to me her small mouth like a rose.

Now, it may be all right to kiss ladies so fine,
Some think it is sweeter by far at the time;
But give me the sticky red lips of my pick.
I prefer peppermint to the taste of lip-stick.
Catherine Byrd.

SORRY, BUT I'M NOT A FROG!

During one of his recent classes Mr. Chappellear asked each girl to hand in an adverse criticism on his teaching, and received the following:
I think you expect us to cover too much territory at one jump. We are not frogs. Sorry.

DO YOU FEEL THIS WAY?

I never saw a purple cow,
I never hope to see one.
And that's not all, for furthermore I'd rather see than be one.

"I'M A KIWANIAN"

Mrs. Johnson (explaining volley ball to Kiwanians): "You go around in a circle. It doesn't matter which way, just so you rotate."
Mr. Conrad: "We aren't Rotarians."

A NEW INTERPRETATION

Mary to Edna: "What do you think you are—a llac?"
Carraleigh: "The 'l' is there, all right."
Sallie: "And so is the 'ac'."

WHEN SLANG IS TRAGIC

Rebecca Gwaltney: "If I won't ever more strut my onions!"
Zoen Kuh Zien: "I don't see why you want to strut your onions. They smell so bad."

Tom Says:

The way those girls did yell when the varsity team entered the dining after defeating Radford in basket-ball would have made anyone but an H. N. S. girl think that Bedlam had "let loose".

She—"Don't you just love nights like these?"
He—"No; sometimes I study."

Head of table: "Jane, will you have meat?"

Junior: "No, thank you, I don't care for anything but cabbage and potatoes."

Head of table: "Why, you are a vegetarian, aren't you?"

Junior: "No, I am an Episcopalian, but I go to the Methodist Church."

A rabbit's foot may serve its purpose at a basket-ball game, but a cat's paw puts it in the background when there are mice around.

SECURED—A DIVORCE

Promptly at eight o'clock Saturday evening, February 17, the curtain opened on the courtroom in which Mrs. Clatterbuck was to get her divorce, and in which Sheriff Dolittle spent most of his time sleeping and shining his badge.

From the time Mrs. Clatterbuck entered, everyone felt that Mr. Clatterbuck would be a meek, henpecked husband. He was indeed, and was very grateful to Mr. Zickergoose for so manfully shielding him from the last lecture of his wife. Miss Woods won the admiration of everyone present. Her confidence in Judge Slayem, and the way she was on his heart was remarkable.

The cast was as follows:

List Of Characters

Judge Slayem ..... Florence Shelton
Sheriff Dolittle ..... Clotilde Rodes
Corinthian Obediah David Clatterbuck ..... Clarinda Holcomb
Mrs. C. O. D. Clatterbuck .....

Mr. Zickergoose (Lawyer for defense) ..... Anna Forsberg
Mr. Guginslucher (Lawyer for plaintiff) ..... Sallie Loving
Miss Ogliva Straydella Gecoppa
Phillippa Woods ... Edna Draper
Mr. Hamilton Duberry Cancarney
..... Carraleigh Jones
Miss Gowriter (Court secretary)
..... Elsie Burnett

CHAPEL

Monday, February 12—Mr. Dingleline gave us an interesting talk on "Current Events", bringing out especially the state of affairs in the Ruhr basin.

Wednesday, February 14—Mr. Dingleline entertained the students and faculty with some O. Henry stories.

Friday, February 16—Mr. Lineweaver gave us a talk on the history of the automobile, in which he traced its development from the early, clumsy-looking car to our modern roadster. He also gave us an idea of the number of cars built each year.

Monday, February—As this was the beginning of "Better Speech Week", the Post-Graduates and Degrees gave their stunt. In a very clever play, they showed us how we abuse our language by using slang and careless expressions.

Tuesday, February 20—Today the Seniors in a very attractive way presented their play, which pictured to us both the girl who is thoughtful in her speech and the girl who is thoughtless.

Wednesday, February 21—As this week is also "National Song Week", a very interesting musical program was given this morning. It showed the development of music through the Classical, Romantic and Modern periods.

Thursday, February 22—The Juniors gave a very attractive play representing "Better Speech".

Friday, February 23—A pronunciation contest was held, in which representatives from all the English classes participated. Great interest was manifested throughout this as well as much amusement being afforded all.

PERSONALS

"Jinx" Marshall visited "Peggy" Parham for several days.

Eleanor Bennett of Mary Baldwin Seminary spent the week-end with Lena Hitchings.

"Bet" Morecock of Stuart Hall visited her sister, Mildred, last week-end.

Marguerite Atkins attended the basketball game at Radford. She stopped in Roanoke for a short time on her way back.

Mary and Elizabeth Deal spent the week-end at their home near Winchester. Elizabeth did not return to school on account of illness.

Mrs. Lamphlet of Norfolk spent several days last week with her daughter. "Micky" accompanied her mother to Charlottesville for a short visit.

Edna Shrum and "Peg" Swadley spent last week-end in Dayton.

Mr. Sturtevant of Portsmouth visited his daughter, Mary, last week.

Mary Ford has gone to her home in Newport News for several days.

Mae Gatling has returned to her home in Norfolk, after undergoing an operation for appendicitis. Mary Ford accompanied her as far as Newport News, where Mr. Gatling met her.

Charlie Carter and Holmes Withers of the University of Virginia visited Carrie Malone and Ruth Bean last week-end.

Hearts, hearts everywhere to look at, hearts to eat, and even hearts to bring home with you. That's the "hearty" sort of a party Dr. and Mrs. Miller gave the Philathea Class on Friday evening, February 16th.

The Methodist girls were enjoyably entertained at a Valentine social given Thursday, February 15th, in the social hall of the church. Many attractive and peppy games were played, but soon an unusual excitement reigned. There was a huge cake from which everyone cut her own slice, and oh! the store of treasures that were found in these slices. Mildred Wysong found a wedding ring in her slice, and in Bertha McCollum's there was a diamond ring.

The members of the Norfolk Club were very delightfully entertained Saturday afternoon from 4-6 in the Y. W. social rooms by their president, Annabel Dodson. The Valentine color scheme was carried out in the decorations and favors.

PROGRAMS RENDERED

The Student Volunteers of H. N. S. were very fortunate in securing the active Student Volunteer Group of Bridgewater College for two programs on Thursday of last week. The first one was given at the weekly Y. W. service. Then afterwards they gave a very interesting and inspiring program for the Volunteer Group. Many students attended these meetings and reported them quite a success.

PARTY AT FRIDDLE'S

On Saturday night, February 17th, the Portsmouth Club was entertained from seven to ten o'clock at a Valentine party in Friddle's Grill Room by Miss Dorothy Spooner, the honorary member of the club.

All during Saturday, preparations were being made so that each costume would look the very best possible.

Cars were sent up to the Normal for the guests. They were met at Friddle's by Miss Mamie Omahundro, who led the way upstairs where Miss Spooner was receiving.

A mad rush followed while each girl tried to find her place at the table which was beautifully decorated with cupids and hearts.

The menu was Broken Heart Croquettes, Jealous Hearts, Eat Your Heart Out Salad, Hearts and Flowers Dessert.

During the supper, songs were sung which brought to mind the happy days spent in high school.

In a contest which was much enjoyed by all, Mary Alice Woodward received the prize—a box of candy.

A game was then played which decided the fate of each one present. Every girl was given an arrow, and was told to stand ten feet from a ring hanging on a string, to walk fast, and to hold the arrow in her hand, and shoot it through the ring. The lucky ones were declared brides-to-be, while destiny decreed the unfortunate ones old maids.

Dancing and other games were featured just as important in the evening's enjoyment, and ten o'clock came only too soon.

The guests, besides the club members, included Mesdames Le Hew and Fletcher and Misses Spillman, Blanche Ridenour, Anne Gilliam, Mary Swift and Mamie Omahundro.

TO SING OR TO LAUGH

On the night of Tuesday, February 13, a few of the Glee Club members bedecked themselves in their evening finery (or borrowed finery as the case might be), and rode down in great style to the Kavanaugh to sing to an animal husbandry convention. They gave four numbers and then were served. Judging from the many nickels which were dropped into the mechanical orchestra music box after the program, the girls seemed to be very welcome guests. On leaving they decided that a very appropriate ending would be "Till We Meet Again". But the seriousness of the situation was too much, and the song ended when it was only half through amid merry peals of laughter from the girls and whole-hearted applause from their audience.

P. G'S. ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Logan entertained the Post Graduate Class at a Valentine party Tuesday evening, February 13th, at their home on Cantrell Avenue.

Games, fortunes and music were the features of the evening. A large heart was stabbed by each guest which told what the future had in store for her. An attractive box of candy hearts was given for the best representative of valentine moulded of clay. Many attractive models were made. The best, cupid shooting his arrow, was made by Edna Draper. The guests were seated at tables to play Hearts. Anna Forsberg received a box of candy for making the lowest score.

The hostess was assisted by Miss McGuire and Miss Florence Shelton in serving delicious refreshments of strawberry shortcake and coffee.

A VALENTINE SUPPER

The Post Graduate Class entertained their honorary members Wednesday night, February 14th, at a Valentine supper in the dining room.

The table was decorated with hearts, candles and many other attractive Valentine decorations. The red and white color scheme was carried out. Much pleasure was derived from reading the "sayings" on the hearts and passing an appropriate one to the right person.

The guests included, besides the class, were Mr. and Mrs. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Chappellear, Miss McGuire and Nancy Chappellear.

ANOTHER BRIDE

Wedding bells ring every day for somebody. But they don't ring every day for folks at H. N. S. And when they did ring, no one knew they were ringing, for no one heard them and no one even thought they had rung until the elopement of Kitty Edwards was rumored.

And the rumor proved true, for on Saturday, February 17th, Kitty Edwards was married to Mr. Spencer Meech in Richmond.
