Madison College To Operate School Named For Two Madison Educators

For the first time in its sixty years of preparing teachers for the schools of Virginia and the nation, Madison College will operate, beginning September of this year, its own elementary school. The church-sponsored school, named for two retired faculty members of the college, Miss Katherine Minor Anthony and Mrs. Mary Louise Steeger, both of whom are natives of Harrisonburg.

Purpose of the School

With the exception of training the education of teachers, the function of the campus school is changing. Four purposes of the Anthony-Steeger School, which will receive much attention, are to serve as a model school in the community, thus providing opportunities for those interested to observe and learn from the use of the building. There is no uniform" the new school, which is located in an old industrial building on the campus, as the building is, in most instances, damaged and not usable. The school will include a model classroom, a model kitchen, a model science laboratory, and a model art room. The school will be used to train teachers and to provide limited student teaching opportunities for college students.

This school will not be used, except in a limited way, for students who are enrolled in the college. More than one student teacher shall be assigned to the teacher-in-training. During the first year, neither the college nor the school building shall be used for student teaching experiences. The Physical Plant

The central building will include the classroom, the science laboratory, the art room, the computer lab, and a small gymnasium. The building will be used to train teachers in the use of the building. The school will include a model classroom, a model kitchen, a model science laboratory, and a model art room. The school will be used to train teachers and to provide limited student teaching opportunities for college students.

May Day Weekend

May Day Weekend To Feature Dance

Dancing is the most popular sport in Bermuda, and while white community will be held on May Day, it will be on an evening school. The May Day Dance, to be held in the high school at 9 and 11:30 midnight.

Students Receive Dietetic Internship

Students receive the May Day Dance, will be held on campus. "Anniversary Ball" will be in commemoration of the Golden Anniversary of Madison College. The dance will be a social event for the students and faculty of the school.

Madrugadas To Give Musical Program

Madrugadas will give a program for the Young Men's Christian Organization at Madison College. The program will consist of music, student speeches, and a dance.

Room Assignments To Take Place Soon

A student's mouth fell open, a fork in his hand, as he passed the dormitory. Several dozen students began to plan when they would live next year on the campus. The dormitory will be on the north side of the campus, near the main entrance. The dormitory is for males, and the students are to be housed in single rooms.

Happy faces accompanied these sixteen excited travelers as they boarded a Pan American Clipper in New York. "Just as we sailed off, we were told, we found out about a new restaurant in Bermuda," one happy student said.

Fifteen Travelers Return From Trip To Vacationland On The Bermudas

"What did you do Easter?" is not the question to ask a few of the vacationers, who are off to the Eastern end of the Bermudas, is the vacationers will be in the town of Fishhook, which is about two-thirds is colored. The Bermudas, which is about two-thirds is colored, is a virgin area, as more than a million are shipped to the United States, Canada, and England.

The trip will be the first in the series of educational trips to Bermuda, which is about two-thirds is colored. The Bermudas, which is about two-thirds is colored, is a virgin area, as more than a million are shipped to the United States, Canada, and England.
Breeze Suggests Council

The six major organizations on campus function as separate units, each one designed to perform their respective duties. The absence of a mutual bond or tie between these groups often leads to unintentional conflicts and lack of cooperation between the various organizations.

We are suggesting that these organizations combine their efforts in a co-coordinating capacity, which will serve to benefit the student body at large.

The establishment of an Organizational Council, consisting of a representative from each major organization, would lend itself to constructive ideas and suggestions submitted by the students as to how these organizations could more efficiently meet the needs of the student body.

The second purpose of this Council would be to promote and establish closer cooperation between the major organizations. We feel that this Council would act as an effective agency through which the representatives might exchange ideas, and discuss problems relative to the functioning of their respective organizations.

We do not advocate that this Council become another organization with delegated power, duties and elected officers.

Informal meetings could be held monthly to carry out these functions.

This editorial has been directed to the leaders on campus and the student body in entirety in the hope that the need for such a council will be recognized and some action will be taken.

THE BREEZE

Give

We have been fortunate over the years in having a number of foreign students employed at Madison College, who have been aided by the Foreign Student Fund.

This year an earnest appeal was made to the student body to contribute to this fund in the hope that the $900 goal could be reached by April 15, but because that goal has not yet been reached, the time has been extended to May 1.

Each of the organizations and classes received a letter appealing for contributions. It suggested that the money be taken to the Treasurer's Office, as no personal solicitations would be made.

The past few weeks have been busy ones and in our haste, we have unintentionally neglected to do our part in supporting this drive.

I feel certain that if we would give our contributions to our class presidents, they would take them to the Treasurer's Office.

Family Style

"Bless, O Lord, this food to our use and us to Thy service,
And give us such a frame of heart
That we may eat and not seek,
Nor seek and not eat.
Oh, may we ever be sure that we are having food,
Yet not to forget that it is only a shadow of bread
That will never bring a soul to bread
But only fill the hunger of the heart and the soul.
May it be with us as the morning
And the evening shall find in us
A prospect of better things to come
And a hope and a reward for our efforts.
Bless us, O Lord, and keep us ever in Thy light.

Registration Time

When the smell of blossoms fills the air
And a touch of spring is everywhere
And the campus breathes a new taste
And hope that with luck you just might pass
The long awaited course in basket making
Aimed at a sum total of nonsense
It's commonly known as SPRING REGISTRATION

You tell your adviser, "Now let's take it slow"
Saturday classes and eighth period won't go;
Do I have to take that, Won't this do as well?
And find sunbathing carries no credit
When you've finally consented to not
And find that some
This is only the beginning of worse
And the campus bursts with a new taste
And hope that with luck you just might pass
The long awaited course in basket making
Aimed at a sum total of nonsense

With Ash

Mentally now we start to mark the close of another year. Yes, as the old major officers step out and the new ones step in we know that graduation (and exams) are not far away.

If I may, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Sam on the great job she did as president of the Athletic Association. We all enjoyed working with her. However, now we all know the job is left in the very capable hands of Martha Talman, the new president. Best of luck to you Martha!

Now for the news—First of all it sure is nice to see the sun again after all these months, isn’t it kids? The spring intramurals have finally gotten into full swing with the exception of tennis.

This Saturday, tomorrow at 2:30, Madison will be hostess for the Virginia vs. Baltimore Intramural game. You upperclassmen will recall that this game was played here last year. Since then, however, many of our fellow classmates have improved their skill in the game and will be participating in this year’s game as members of the Virginia team.

Next Saturday, April 26, the Madison extramural archery squad is having a match with Westhampton, with Madison again being the hostess school. As yet, the squad has not been formed, but those girls that are interested are in the process of trying out.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Miss O’Neill on the award that she received over the weekend. Miss O’Neill, we are extremely happy to see the sun again you can be sure. For the first time since tryouts started the girls have been able to go out on the courts this week.

For some reason the girls that are trying out for the extramural tennis team are extremely happy to see the sun again you can be sure. For the first time since tryouts started the girls have been able to go out on the courts this week.

Tennis Enthusiasts Welcome Spring

And Chance To Try Outside Courts

As the sun peeps out from behind the clouds and the temperature goes up from zero to above freezing we can see the tennis enthusiasts looking wistfully through the locked gates of the courts watching the workmen roll the courts.

For some reason the girls that are trying out for the extramural tennis team have not felt that the gym provides the proper atmosphere for their best play. Many good tennis rackets can be raked as one stretches for a hard forehand, anticipating one with power and speed second only to Pete Sampras and crack—there goes the racket right into the basketball backboard.

Miss Berkley relates the tale about one of her beginning classes after she asked if there were any questions and they replied, “Yes! When is it going to stop raining or are we making tennis an indoor game?”

Well to end we’d like to say—“Spring is coming (at last) Fall is told/ The sun is finally out/ And we wish the tennis teams well!”

Tennis enthusiasts Betty Roberts and Pat Slutzky watch closely as Sara Jane Shearer gives Debbie Dean that last minute briefing.

Madison Plays Host To Baltimore Team

LaCrosse, an original American Indian game, was first seen at Madison a year ago. The Madison students have made much progress in LaCrosse intramurals under the capable coaching of Miss O’Neill and Miss Beckley. Our coaches have been chosen to play on the Virginia team in the National LaCrosse tournament which will be held in Baltimore in May.

The Virginia LaCrosse team will play the Baltimore team tomorrow, April 19, at 2:30 p.m. on the Madison field. Following the game there will be a tea in Alumni Hall for the team members and officials. The Virginia team is composed of faculty members and students of Madison and other Virginia colleges. Those playing from Madison will be: Gail Matthews, Sara Jane Shearer, Betty Stone, Sandra Anderson, Pat Slutzky, Sarah Jane Welch, Peggy Spross, Jackie Poe, Pam Gay, Ellen Ashburn, Miss Berkley, and Miss O’Neill.
