Greek Week Benefits Charity

Greek Week's third day of activities took place Monday evening in Keezel gym, and yesterday the sororities began their powderpuff games. Fraternity football was also played with Phi Alpha Pi facing Phi Kappa Beta and TKE playing SPE. The powderpuff and fraternity play-offs in football will be held Thursday followed by an all-star game. Fun and game booths will be the highlight of Wednesday night festivities. The booths will be varied in nature and no one will charge more than a dime. Proceeds go to charity and all students are urged to participate on the quad from 5:30 p.m. until dark.

The Greeks will present their skit, The Oddity, Thursday evening in Wilson Auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. Based on Homer's Odyssey, the play revives the voyage of the men from Frederick-Ark College to Madison. The skit was written by Candy Borges, Lucy O'Hare, and Martha Sowers and will be directed by Candy. Sigma Phi Epsilon will sponsor an Open Party at 10 p.m. on the quad, culminating in a brief award ceremony for the best decorated chariot. Races will then take place the following day at 1:30 p.m.

A tug-of-war across Lake Newman will conclude the activities of the week. Finally, the points will be tallied and the winning fraternity and sorority will receive their trophies at a presentation behind Moody Hall.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Collegiate Moral Low

Morale on the American college campus is at an all-time low and no wonder. It's the power of negative thinking.

It is much easier to criticize than to praise, more American to see the bad instead of the good, and more collegiate to be dissatisfied with everything in general.

Considering ourselves collegiate, we criticize everything about which we have any doubt. But should we not also praise those things which please our approval?

America has accustomed to the freedom of speech and thought so long that her citizens now interpret freedom of speech to mean freedom to find fault. Talk with one of the students on campus who has lived in a country without personal freedom and see if you do not feel a sense of elation after you have finished the conversation.

This situation provides an excellent atmosphere for low morale among the students and instructors. Even when a student is pleased with a lecture he feels sure he has gotten more from the lesson than the instructor intended because lectures are supposed to be dull.

And the instructor feels that he has failed to get across all he intended because of the cool reception which his lecture got from the student.

We have replaced good, clean humor with the sick crude joke. Things are funny only at the expense of others.

If the weather is sunny, it is too sunny; if the weather is rainy, it is too rainy; if it snows, we have too much snow.

It's the power of negative thinking.

Things are funny only at the expense of others.

This is the best time to try to improve our attitude and our phis past week has been intended because of the cool reception which his lecture got from the students.

The reason, of course, was the cool reception which his lecture got from the students.

It is much easier to criticize than to praise, more American to see the bad instead of the good, and more collegiate to be dissatisfied with everything in general.

Price Conducts Summer European Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Price will conduct a tour of Europe this summer. This tour will be June 8-June 29 and in includes travel in France, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Italy, and England.

Mr. Price, Assistant Professor of English at Madison College, has lived and traveled extensively in Europe. He studied at the Johns Hopkins University, the University of Virginia, and the University of Leeds in England. He taught English in Europe through the overseas extension of the University of Maryland. Mrs. Price, also in education, is on the staff of Rockingham County Public Schools.

The tour, directed by the Cosmopolitan Travel Service and joined at young people, will cost $698. This includes air fare from Washington to Europe and from London to New York on Trans World Airlines. There are also some flights in Europe to minimize road travel and allow more time for sightseeing.

Inquiries concerning the trip can be made to the Cosmopolitan Travel Service or to Mr. Price as soon as possible. He can be reached at Madison College at the following numbers: 434-1945. Ext. 272 or 434-1945.

BREEZE BRIEFS

The 47th Annual meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science will be held May 8-10 at Washington College in Fredericksburg. Members of Madison chemistry, geology, mathematics, psychology, and physics departments will attend.

The Alpha Upsilon Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma has elected officers for the 1969-70 term. They are: President, Nancy Sykes; vice-president, Meg Kable; treasurer, Linda Armstrong; recording secretary, Carolyn Ranson; corresponding secretary, Gerry Fitzpatrick; scholarship chairman, Bennie Jordan; junior Panhellenic representative, Betsy Atkins; junior Panhellenic representative, Rose Marie Merritt.

The Historical Geology class will visit the rock, mineral, and fossil displays at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C., May 15. The class has been invited to tour the Zeiss Optical Facilities at Silver Spring, Maryland on the same day. Dr. Farmer will lead the trip.

Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority has elected the 1969-70 officers. They are: President, Susan Angle; vice-president, Lee Porter; corresponding secretary, Susan Buerg; recording secretary, Nancy Booker; treasurer, Bev Trainham; senior Panhellenic representative, De Raynes; junior Panhellenic representative, Sharon Dugan. Kappa Delta has elected officers for the academic session.

Spring Registrations Are Completed

The 47th Annual meeting of Sigma Sigma Sigma has elected officers for the 1969-70 term. They are: President, Karen Woodward; vice-president, Donna Parker; recording secretary, Mary Stickley; treasurer, Janie Essley; assistant treasurer, Nancy Carter; editor, Monica Walker; membership chairman, Nancy Munson; senior Panhellenic representative, Mango Murphy; junior Panhellenic representative, Janet Whitson.

Geology staff members will attend a field trip in the crystal-strewn rocks of the Piedmont area on Saturday, May 10, led by Dr. Sherman K. Neuschel of the United States Geological Survey.

The Pegasus Club held a riding clinic for its members on Sunday, April 27, under the direction of Mrs. Claire Parker, head of the Physical Education Department at Fairfax Hall. The riders improve their equine techniques. Mrs. Parker, a member of the National Committee of the Division of Girls and Women's Sports (DGWS) of the NEA (which establishes standard rules for all sports), is rated an expert judge as well as a highly skilled horsewoman.

Pi Omega Pi, Madison's honorary business fraternity, held its initiation April 23.

Members attending from Madison College were Terry Bowman, Nancy Carter, Elizabeth Harves, Frank Holick, Kenneth Kacmarski, Jeannie Lehrman, Brenda Sutton, Ebenezer Whitmore, and Dr. Paul Steagall, sponsor.

A highlight of the convention was the election of Miss Nancy Carter to the office of state recording secretary of Pi Beta Lambda. Of the five awards given for the par- lamentary law procedures contest, Miss Elizabeth Harves and Mr. Terry Bowman received 5th and 3rd place awards, respectively. Another third-place award was given for the pages preparation, awarded by the Madison College chapter.

Under the direction of Dr. David E. Fox, Assistant Dean of the College, spring registration for the academic session will be held May 8-10 at the Kressel Gym. Students may still pick up catalogs for the spring session outside the Admissions Office.

Interested students are reminded that June 18 is registration day for summer school. Classes will begin June 19 and end August 11. Students who wish to avoid registration lines are urged to complete the following steps:

1. Supply all information requested on the given registration cards. If a student does not receive a room assignment, consult the Director for a housing line to complete this information.
2. Complete three copies of the summer program card.
3. Consult your advisor and have the three program cards signed.
4. Leave all completed registration cards and two program cards with the Registrar prior to the last day of registration.
5. Payment of Fees—During the period May 2-June 14, you must pay the Treasurer in Fairfax Hall the full amount of the summer charges.
6. Present receipt to the Registrar Office prior to the last day of the summer session identification card.

If these steps are completed, there will be no need to report to class on June 19. If a course adjustment is necessary, it will have to be made on June 18 by completing a course adjustment card.

Questions concerning the above procedures should be addressed to the Assistant Dean of the College.

Business Majors

Attend Convention

Madison business students attended the annual Phi Beta Lambda (Future Business Leaders) State Convention held at Virginia Beach on April 18-19. Eleven Colleges were represented at the convention.

Members attending from Madison College were Terry Bowman, Nancy Carter, Elizabeth Harves, Frank Holick, Kenneth Kacmarski, Jeannie Lehrman, Brenda Sutton, Ebenezer Whitmore, and Dr. Paul Steagall, sponsor.

A highlight of the convention was the election of Miss Nancy Carter to the office of state recording secretary of Pi Beta Lambda. Of the five awards given for the parliamentary law procedures contest, Miss Elizabeth Harves and Mr. Terry Bowman received 5th and 3rd place awards, respectively. Another third-place award was given for the pages preparation, awarded by the Madison College chapter.

Supreme Court Adds Headache

by Frank Humphreys

In handing down a decision recently on the question of welfare payments, the Supreme Court has perhaps created an additional barrier for the already overcrowded urban areas.

The decision struck down the one-year residency requirement now used in some localities, and also stated that welfare recipients would be completely justified in moving to an area in which higher welfare payments were made.

Major social problems facing the country have almost been remanaged by the shams and ghet-tos of large urban areas in recent years. Migration from the rural life to the promise of big city have swelled the list of indigent poor and in most cases have contributed directly to an increase in the crime rates.

In rendering this recent decision, the Supreme Court has seemingly invited more complications to an already gigantic problem. And by openly criticizing the welfare rolls that they move to a area where larger payments are made, the legal eagles are inviting more trouble which will plague the nation.

Consider the indigent poor in rural Maryland. Many of them, due to the demands of their life holds a continuance of his sub-standard status quo and the barest minimum of subsistence living.

On the other hand, with the beacon of hope provided by larger welfare payments in a place like New York City, this oft-neglected individual would not hesitate to move his family to a place where he at once arrived at his destination, money would be virtually waiting for him.

This false sense of security will be felt by many of the rural poor who may shortly begin their exodus to the cities. Swollen welfare rolls in these areas will continue to grow as will the myriad of other problems inherent to a sub-standard area.

To make matters worse, this decision could very well have possibly come at a more disadvantageous time. With summer fast approaching, and with the threat of another "long, hot"one staring us in the face, this decision could not have come at a more advantageous time. Romeo and Juliet' Praised
by Frank Humphreys

William Shakespeare would stand up in his grave and no doubt be very proud to see the latest film version of his dramatic tale of young lovers. The production, directed by Franco Zeffirelli, provides the public with a successful adaptation of what must be one of the Bard's best literary works. For the first time, the roles of the young lovers and their faithful friends and adversaries are actually played by young people.

And who could contradict the highly emotional scenes between Romeo and Juliet? Chastised by her mother for still being single while most of her contemporaries had married, Juliet becomes emotionally involved with Romeo. Though their love is not sanctioned by the lady of the house, the two lovers still manage to see each other, coupled with insufficient adult supervision for dealing with campus problems.

Students are frustrated at being a small cog in a big machine, feeling that the importance of their studies extends toward campus unrest, and with the excessive power that the administration is exerted by boards of trustees.

Other grievances common among the editors were inadequate parking facilities, inadequate teaching staffs and poor relations between the College and the community.

Demonstrations were condoned by 65 percent of the student editors surveyed, while only 45 percent approved of sit-ins as a method of correcting campus grievances. Forty percent of the editors felt that the counselor would confide to police and administrators, while only 10 percent believed he would confide to his classmates.

Fifty percent of the editors felt that the counselor should be an independent figure, with no connection to the campus authorities and no responsibility for student discipline. One editor even commented, "I see no reason to have a counselor on campus if they stand in the way of our freedom of expression."

The Qtrleton Student Association executive committee had sought a stronger statement, forbidding the counselor from making recommendations to the Dean concerning a student complaint. Counselor's recommendations to the Dean on such matters as whether a student should be allowed to drop a course without failing, where the counselor consulted the dean without the student's permission, were alleged to aid the Dean in "managing the student's environment."

This section was deleted from the final policy to allow the counselor professional discretion in such instances.

Sports Of Sorts

Red Barber, nationally known TV sports commentator, wrote in a recent article that he has a rule, commonly known as the "national past-time," is in deep trouble unless it does something to speed up the game.

After watching the world champion Detroit Tigers and the inept Washington Senators walk through a 240 ball game on the tube recently, it becomes apparent that the old redhead knows what he's talking about. The game was about as exciting as watching whiskers grow and just as slow.

Despite the lack of scoring, the game took well over two hours to complete. Is it any wonder that many teams are beginning to find themselves in financial trouble, at the gate? Fans are staying away in droves, because of pitchers who do everything but offer up prayers before deciding to throw the ball plateward.

Though a pitcher is supposed to be penalized if he takes more than 20 seconds to get to the mound, next pitch, umpires, who either can't count to 20 or who don't want to alienate pitchers or managers, refuse to enforce the ruling. On several occasions in the aforementioned game, the opposing pitchers took a full 30 seconds before releasing the sphere.

This could be the year that the Los Angeles Lakers overtake the New York Knicks in the NBA finals and the one player who makes that happen is Chamberlain. The big fella is a comer this year. The 76'ers. His under-the-boards antics in past seasons. Their new acquisition by the Boston Celtics. Mike Mott and Rich Pusey. This year he's doing nothing to dampen the spirit of team members.

The loss in their first outing has done nothing to dampen the spirit of team members. They fought hard against a standing athlete and above average scholar. O'Brien is the first winner in the history of the college.

The game was slow. whiskers grow and just as exciting about. The game was slow.

The lacrosse team lost a hard-fought game to Frostburg by a score of 9-8. Although it was a losing effort, offensive standout was Barrie Beecham with two goals, and Debbie Wilson, Nancy Derringer, and Pat "Pee Wee" Morris scoring one goal apiece.

The loss in their first outing has done nothing to dampen the spirit of team members. They fought hard against a standing athlete and above average scholar. O'Brien is the first winner in the history of the college. Congratulations go out this week to Mack Orenbaugh, recently named winner of a sportsmanship award. An outstanding athlete and above average scholar, Orenbaugh is the first winner in the history of the college.
