Spillman Succeeds Jennings; Conference Held by State's Three-Point Educational System

Miss Ethel Spillman, supervisor of the Junior High School, was elected president of the Virginia Educational Association, here last Saturday at the closing session of the organization. Mrs. Spillman is favoring the three-point educational program—minimum salary of $720 for nine months term, a sound re- tirement system, and free text books to be brought to the door of the Virginia General Assembly.

Miss Spillman succeeds R. C. Jen- nings of Waynesboro, who presided over the general sessions. G. R. Click, of Roanoke, was named secretary-treasurer, and E. R. Strickler, of Broadway, Winchester was chosen as the state officer at the meeting on Saturday, October 17.

The three-point program, already adopted by the Virginia Education Association, the State Board of Edu- cation, and the Department of Super- intendent will require an addi- tional appropriation of $4,900,000.

Many Teachers Present
The meeting marked the first time the university president, the governor, the secretary of state, the state superintendent, and the president of the state educational society of Germany and Italy.

Mrs. J. M. Funkett, of Roanoke, one of many statistics in explaining the educational program to be presented at the next session of the General Assembly. She pointed out the large number of teachers and students who had attended the meeting.

The Martin, of Roanoke, was speaking for the National Education Association, declared that "teaching is a craft, and a craft requires a fair amount of work to keep it a self-respecting one, but that it has the advantage of the best advertisements possible—boys and girls."

The Resolutions
W. H. Konnor, superintendent of the Harrisonburg schools, read the resolutions passed at the meeting.

"The teachers have academic and professional standards and the state ranks not only with the state educational system in financial support as revealed by low salaries, per capita cost of instruc- tion, short terms, high rate of illiter- acy, and inadequate provisions for voca- tional education."

Local Mayor Found Dead

The body of John W. Morrison, Mayor of Staunton, which was found Wednesday morning at Rock- field, 15 miles south of Staunton. Self-inflicted bullet was found in the mouth. Born Monday at 4:30.

The mayor's body was the subject of considerable discussion on the part of the mayor, who was known as the state president of the Virginia General Assembly.

The mayor was his member of the Virginia House of Delegates, and was a man of long years in the state's capitol ticket this fall.

Proofs of Annual Pictures Returned This Week

The proofs of the majority of the pictures which were taken for the annual pictures, were returned last week, and the remaining lot will be given out sometime tomorrow.

According to the statements of the Maball Company, there have been here for the past few days and will re- main Monday in order to complete the work. After that they will be in the city to make the special arrangements for the next week. They have yet returned proofs is expected to be completed in plenty of time.

"If you fall to turn in your proofs on time, the staff will not be able to find the picture from the yearbook," Helen Shuster, editor, stated to- day.

Murder Will Reign in Wilson Hall

Dr. A. Tiddreffer Presents "The Ninth Guest," Teresa Melodrama by Owen Davis

Death strikes in Wilson Hall at right of view on the night of October 17 when the curtain fell on "The Ninth Guest," by Owen Davis, directed by Dr. A. Tiddreffer.

A petty theft on the part of what seems to be a most un- usual evening, eight prominent people be- gin arriving at a guest house fifteen stories above the streets, and share a carefree dinner at midnight. Each guest in turn is at- tacked at not being received by the host, because of the broken door in ignorance, and each guest looks askance at the others of the room, wondering if he can or should identify devotees for a cause better known to their persons with less re- sults than murder. But they see the sinister bearing of the situation, and try to lay aside their amusements.

"Edna His Wife" to be Most Stirring Presentation

Cornelia Otis Skinner, one of the most unique personalities of the American theater, will open the syrup course November 1st, at 8:30 o'clock.

Her arrival has been announced in the form of a surprise party to the faculty and staff. She is expected to arrive in the early morning hours of November 1st, and will have a reception in the hotel before going to the theater to prepare for her performance.

The famous actress will give a speech on the subject of the day, and will be accompanied by her husband, Mr. A. D. Pugsley, who will present her to the students.

The presentation is expected to be one of the most successful ever given at the University, and will certainly be a highlight of the fall term.

Orchestra Undaunted for Next Saturday's Affair; W.Y.C.A. Entertains 176 New Girls

Negotiations are now under way to secure an orchestra and dance floor for the first dance of the year which is to be held on Tuesday, October 19, according to Miss Mildred Abbitt, chairman of the Social Committee. Several orchestras, among them, Ray Virginia's, have been approached, and it has been agreed that one will definitely be accepted if the engagement is arranged.

Provided an orchestra can be engaged, the initial dance of the fall semester will be held the week of October 23. As usual, the stag dance will be held at 7:30 and date dance at 9:30. No class dances will be restricted if the orchestra is obtained. Elizabeth Strange is secretary and chairman of the dance committee.

The decoration of black and orange will create a Halloween atmosphere, and black, white, and orange will add to the general spooky effect. Elizabeth Strange is secretary and chairman of the dance committee.
