MRS. PEARL P. MOODY GIVES LECTURE ON DIET

All Members of Physical Education
Classes Present. Learn Best Way
To Gain Normal Weight

Mrs. Moody, head of Home Economics Department at H. N. S., gave a lecture to the students of the physical education classes in the auditorium, Thursday night, January 31. The lecture was mainly concerned with the diet.

We should know something, even though it is very little about what our food does for us. The three fundamental functions of our food are: To give energy, to furnish material and to furnish regulators of body processes. It is not how much we eat but the choice of what we eat that counts.

Vitamines, which have only in recent years been discovered and recognized, are very important in everyone's diet. Vitamines are gotten mostly from green and leafy vegetables and from fresh fruits. If one does not get enough vitamins in the diet, certain diseases result. These diseases are treated by furnishing the thing, the lack of which caused the disease.

How do we find out how much we need to eat? The amount is measured by calories. What is a calorie? It is the unit by which we measure heat and energy. There are only three groups of people who need to count their calories. First, there are the ones who are more than ten percent under weight; second, those who are twenty percent over weight; and third, those who are sick.

In considering our normal weight we should take into consideration the zone between 10 per cent under weight and 20 per cent over weight rather than just the line of normal weight set down by the charts. If you are within this zone you are fairly safe. Flesh, to everyone under the age of 35, is considered an asset, but to anyone over that age it is a liability. This view is held by all the Life Insurance Companies.

In summing up her lecture, Mrs. Moody said she wanted all to remember the following things:

1. Eat a little of everything on the menu.
2. Eat sweets in moderation.
3. Emphasize milk in meals.
4. Eat leafy vegetables.

BEFORE LEGISLATURE

In order to hasten the passing of the bill which provided for the change in the name of the State Normal Schools to State Teacher's Colleges the measure was introduced into the Senate and the House of Representatives at the same time. In the Senate it was referred to the Committee on Public Institutions and Education. It was reported by this Committee to the Senate favorably by a vote of 7 to 3. In the House of Representatives the bill was referred to the Committee on Schools and Colleges. This Committee reported favorably with only one dissenting vote.

The bill was brought and passed by both Houses during the last few days. It now needs to be signed by the Governor.

ROTARY AND KIWANIS PLAY FAST GAME

Kiwanians Defeat Rotarians in Volley
Ball. Former Again Victorious
When They Play Normal Girls

The Kiwanians and Rotarians entertained a large audience of town people and Normal girls in the Gym, Saturday night, February 1, where the Kiwanians defeated the Rotarians, and then as victors, defeated the Normal squad in a game of volley ball.

The entertainment preceded the game, however, for while the players were batting the ball back and forth over the net (and frequently out into the audience) Dr. Converse had a very narrow escape. The ball going at full speed missed his head by the narrowest margin—but fortunately he escaped with nothing worse than shattered nerves.

What happened to the Senior and Kiwanian cheer-leaders? Were they lost in the shuffle? Well, that was the general impression until after they arrived at 8:10, and then it was evident that they had been adorning themselves in their Pierot costumes.

The Junior and Rotarian cheer-leaders performed their duties in clown outfits and they should be congratulated—they made excellent clowns.

Before the game started it was decided that the winners should be those winning three out of five games of the series.

The first game was rather overwhelmingly won by the Rotarians, but after that the Kiwanians recovered from their stage fright (if that was their trouble) and won the next three.

The Kiwanians then played the Normal.

First the men and then the girls would score until the score stood 12-12 but the men finally showed their superior strength and won 21-13.

Not only did the school enjoy seeing Mr. Duke, Dr. Converse, and others play, but the Athletic Association appreciated the financial "push" which the Kiwanians and Rotarians gave them with this game.

MR. LOGAN TALKS TO "BREEZE" STAFF

That the writing and editing of a newspaper in a school is an interesting but rather difficult problem was the statement of Mr. Conrad Logan in a talk made to "The Breeze" staff on Tuesday, January 22.

Mr. Logan discussed with the staff many plans for "The Breeze" next year. These plans consisted of such problems as the number of students on the staff, the size of the paper, and the advisability of changing the members of the staff often so that new ideas might be added.

Such a reference as "Newspaper Editing and Writing" by Willard Bleyer was mentioned by Mr. Logan as a good book for the members of the staff to read and study in order that they might be able to write with greater ease, and might more thoroughly understand the life of a journalist.

Mr. Logan very carefully took up the importance of a good "lead" and

WOODROW WILSON

PROCLAMATION ISSUED ON DEATH OF WILSON

President Coolidge Issues Proclamation. High Praise Given War Chief. Flags At Half Mast

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 3.—President Coolidge's proclamation on the death of Woodrow Wilson follows:

By the President of the United States of America.

"A PROCLAMATION:

"To the people of the United States: "The death of Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States from March 4, 1913 to March 4, 1921, which occurred at 11:15 o'clock today at his home at Washington, D. C., deprives the country of a most distinguished citizen and is an event which causes universal and genuine sorrow. To many of us, it brings the sense of a profound personal bereavement.

"His early profession as a lawyer was abandoned to enter academic life. In his chosen field, he attained the highest rank as an educator and has left his impress upon the intellectual cult of the country. From the Presidency of Princeton University, he was called by his fellow citizens to be the chief executive of the state of New Jersey. The duties of this high office he so conducted as to win the confidence of the people of the United States who twice elected him to the Chief Magistracy of the Republic.

"As President of the United States, he was moved by an earnest desire to promote the best interests of the country as he conceived them.

His acts were prompted by high motives and his sincerity of purpose cannot be questioned. He led the nation through the terrible struggle of the world war with a lofty idealism which never failed him. He gave utterance to the aspirations of humanity with an eloquence which held the attention of all the earth and made America a

LECTURES HERE ON PICTURESQUE AMERICA

Dr. Charles D. Williamson of National Park Service Gives in Photolecture
Impressions of National Parks

Dr. Charles D. Williamson of the National Park Service delivered a splendid lecture on "Picturesque America" in Sheldon Hall, Wednesday night, January 30th, at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Williamson carried his audience by means of his beautiful word pictures and wonderfully colored slides, from the prehistoric scenes and homes of cliff and cave dwellers to the present beauties of our great West and the Indian as we know him today. He realistically and forcefully brought out the indescribable beauty of the Grand Canyon; the wonder of the imperishable petrified forest, immortalized in agate; and the life, customs and legends of the Hopi and Pueblo Indians.

Indian life was interestingly and beautifully pictured. The arts of pottery making and basket and blanket weaving were described by realistic slides. Many queer customs, such as the wedding and divorce proceedings, the snake dance which never failed to bring rain, and the legend of the spider woman were portrayed.

All the wonders of our own West, the colors of the rocks, the beauty of the flowers, the wide expanse of desert, the forests and streams, were brought home to us. As we gazed reverently on these scenes, all of us had a better conception of this famous quotation—

"To him who in the love of nature holds
Communion with her visible forms,
She speaks a various language."

GAIN AMONG JUNIORS

When the new girls arrived at H. N. S. last fall, little did some of them think that in a few short months they would have gained so much as fifteen or twenty pounds.

The average gain in weight among the Juniors is 10%. There are several reasons for this gain. Living by a definite schedule, sleeping more and following a regular course of eating, are the factors which have contributed chiefly toward this increase in weight.

A well-balanced diet gives one the proper food values and plenty of sleep with proper ventilation are very necessary for good health. Most of us depend entirely upon our physical education classes for our exercise, but this is hardly enough since we have it only three times a week.

The instructors in Physical Education require each student to keep a health record. This card states what she should weigh in accordance with her age and height, her present weight, and general health conditions. Changes in condition are recorded each month. It was from these records that the average gain was obtained.

This question of weight is a much talked of subject here at school. "What can I do to get skinny?" is the cry heard every day. This excess of flesh has in most cases the same underlying cause—that of eating between meals.

FIRST SNOW

Our first snow! What charm lies in these words. When we saw those first, fluffy snowflakes falling the other day we could hardly believe our own eyes. It was really snow—the very thing we had been wishing-for ever since the Christmas holidays.

The first snowflakes made their arrival in the afternoon, and before bedtime the whole campus was a perfect wonderland of white. Some of the girls were so glad that the snow had finally come that they couldn't wait 'till morning to be out in it, so there was a fast and thick snowball battle outside Alumnae Hall, as some of the visitors can testify.

The next morning no one used the underground passage; too great was the lure of snow covered walks. The faculty had difficulty in holding attention in classes, for our minds seemed filled with the good times we had planned. We became real snowball warriors, feasted on snow ice cream, flew across the campus in sleighs and received occasional bumps as we unwarily stepped on spots of ice-covered pavement.

The good times were not all that this first snow meant to us for who could view the indescribable beauty of the campus and surrounding country without thinking of the Great Artist, whose handiwork this was? Only those who saw it can realize the wondrous beauty of a white shimmering landscape, ice-prismed trees, and the glory of a blue and gold sunset sky behind snow-covered mountains.

WISHES

If wishes could come true what a great time we would have at this school. Never would we have a first period or an eighth period class. Occasionally, we would have chapel to break the monotony. It's useless to think of having special English. We would stand at the mail box during that time, talking or yelling just as loud as we like.

Few would be seen in the dining room; no one would have to run to her meals. On Sunday, some would come to breakfast because they had nothing else exciting to do. No longer would we have the same menu so often. Something entirely different in every respect (wonder what it would be?).

Just stop on your way to the mail box so you could say, "I've been to class." Saturday about 11:30 a. m. we would go in the library to get out a good book to read over Sunday.

All Juniors would be seen down town at night.

Study hour would be an unheard of thing; the lights would never go out; not a bell would ring at bedtime.

Suppose these wishes should come true. Just suppose they should. Would they suit us then? No! From some unknown source would come this thought—"What has the day brought forth?"

G. G. PROGRAM

Tuesday night, January 29, the Grammar Grade Club presented a very delightful entertainment, in the order of a tableau. Behind the curtain music and songs were heard. As a strain of "Old Black Joe" greeted our ears, the character to represent that song appeared before us. "Just a Baby's Prayer at Twilight" was very effective. Many other songs, both classic and ragtime portrayed the characteristcs very clearly to us. The most beautiful picture was that of "Old Virginia" and Doctor Wayland, the author was seen in the screened frame. This was the last number on the program. The tableau was a very attractive affair.

The program was as follows:

"CURLING ALLEY"

Mr. Duke is the real friend of the straighthaired girls, for through his kindness our school now boasts an official beauty parlor, "Curling Alley". In the underground passage between Jackson and Harrison. This passage is supplied with numerous electric sockets where the girls have been accustomed to curl their hair.

The other day Mr. Duke happened to pass through when more girls than usual were undergoing the curling process for beauty's sake, and he was much surprised at their originality—using the school workshop for a beauty parlor! At first he thought that this might cause fire and thus endanger the safety of the school so he ordered the current turned off. Great were the lamentations of those who had not curled their hair; but greater still was the grief of those who found themselves with cold curling irons, half a head of curls, and half of straight hair. After considering the matter, Mr. Duke decided that there was less danger of fire in the underground passage than in any other place on the campus, so he ordered the current turned on. We all thank

Mr. Duke for his kindness.

"Curling Alley" is and has been for sometime one of the most popular and greatly patronized places on the campus.

CAMPUS CATS

When the post-office opens on time
And the Student Council's out of a job,
When flunks are no longer a crime
And Miss Aiken's "artists" don't daub,
When the tea-room opens at five
And Spottswood near Science is fixed,
When students on candy don't thrive
And Juniors and Seniors are mixed,
When the rising bell ceases to ring,
And girls for their mamas don't cry,
When finals don't come in the spring
Then Harrisonburg Normal will die.

Whether it was due

To the lack of

Or merely the result

Of keen observance—

I know not

But last night

Was particularly

Noticeable

So much so

That it was quite

Evident

One girl—Oh, don't weddings just thrill you?

Second girl—No! I'd just as lief be given a death sentence as a life sentence.

When Psychology comes in the morning

And you think that you are going to pass,

While everyone answers right but you
And you hear, "I'll see you after class."

When you flunk in a test in your chemistry

And make sixty-five in your grammar,

And the teacher calls on you in Foods class

Then all you can do is to stammer.

And then at the end of a perfect day,

When you sit all alone with your books,

How the long hours drag in the library

And oh! how dismal you look.

They say this world is almost mad.

Do you really think this true?

Sometimes we all are very queer

And oftentimes some of us are very good
And happy as can be—

Just 'tween you and me!

CHAPEL

Wednesday, January 20—Mr. Crown, editor of the Harrisonburg Daily News-Record, talked to us about some of his experiences as a newspaper man. He said that a news reporter interviews all kinds of people from jail-birds to Presidents of the United States. "The successful newspaper man," he stated, "is the one who is fair to everyone and is able to keep a secret."

Friday, January 23—Mr. Dingle spoke to us about the Presidential possibilities in the coming election. Among the Democratic possibilities are Senator Underwood of Alabama and Senator Carter Glass of Virginia. Some of the Republican possibilities are Senator Hiram Johnson of California, Governor Smith of New York, and President Calvin Coolidge.

Wednesday, January 23—After the devotional exercises Mr. Duke introduced Mr. "Hawk" Marsh, who is in charge of the National Forest Preservation of the Shenandoah Mountains. He gave a lecture on "Why Forests Are Preserved and How the Work is Carried On". On closing he invited us to come out and get some first hand knowledge to which Mr. Duke assented provided the trip was made during the "trout" season.

Friday, February 1—A musical program was given. Miss Trappe played several violin selections. Then the Ensemble Class played several selections.

Monday, February 4—A memorial service was held in honor of Woodrow Wilson whose death occurred on Sunday, February 3, at 11:15. "Crossing The Bar" was sung by a quartet composed of Messrs. Kelster, Devier, Fletcher and Hopk'ns.

Dr. Wayland offered a prayer for this great man in which the entire student body joined in spirit. The perfect quiet of the assembly room showed that every one present felt the sacredness of the service.

Dr. Wayland gave us a brief sketch of Wilson's life, concluding his talk with showing the place Woodrow Wilson's name holds among the great Presidents of the United States. It has been said that George Washington was the most influential, Thomas Jefferson the most intellectual, Abraham Lincoln the best understander of human nature, Theodore Roosevelt the best all around American, but Woodrow Wilson was probably the World's Greatest Statesman.

The service was concluded with a vocal solo by Lucy James.

EX-PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON

THE BIRTHDAY PARTY

The students having birthdays in January were entertained at a birthday dinner in the dining room Saturday night, January 26. A most delightful dinner was served, after which the birthday cakes were cut.

Among the guests were President and Mrs. Duke, Dr. and Mrs. Converse and Misses Cleveland, Seegar and Turner.

MR. LOGAN TALKS TO "BREEZE STAFF"

expressed the opinion that a "lead" or beginning requires very great skill in the choice of words and the arrangement of the essential elements of the piece of news.

The importance of accuracy and honesty in journalism was emphasized by Mr. Logan since these two points affect to a large degree the success of any paper.

Mr. Logan stressed the gain obtained by exchanging papers with other schools so that new ideas and plans of forming the paper might be introduced and also that both the strong and the weak points might be better understood.

The entire talk which Mr. Logan made was helpful and inspiring and "The Breeze" staff sets out with renewed vigor to help make "The Breeze" a big success and to prepare it for its new journey next year.

OUR GRADING SYSTEM

From the foundation of this school until the year 1920-1921 the grades have been on the basis of A, B., and C passing, D conditional and E failure. The grade A did not then mean what it does now, an exceptionally good student, but a good student as we can see from the percentage of the different grades made by students in years 1918-1919: A 51 per cent; B 36.5 per cent; C 10.5 per cent; D 1.7 per cent; E .3 per cent.

An interesting comparison of the grades, on the percentage basis, has been made for the first term of the last four years. The Normal Curve of Frequency, or the "Bell Curve" system was adopted in the fall of 1920. By this system there is a distinction made between the unusually good student and the good student.

Five years ago only "A" students were on the honor roll, but when we consider the 51% of the grades in schools were A's this is easily understood. As many as one hundred girls were on the honor roll some quarters.

From a study of the system used in 58 colleges, universities and normal schools made by Dr. Gifford in 1920 it was found that 34 colleges and universities and 13 normal schools used the "Bell Curve" system, while 4 colleges and universities and 7 normal schools did not.

The following table shows the percentage grades made by students here in the fall quarter for the past four years:

	A	B	C	D	E-F
1920-21	21	33	21	14	5
1921-22	14	33	35	15	3
1922-23	10	32	39	15	4
1923-24	10	30	39	16	5

This shows that the method of grading used by H. N. S. is gradually approaching the scientific system.
