National Players Present 'King Lear' In Wilson Auditorium, January 12

William Shakespeare's KING LEAR will be presented on Monday, January 12, 1970 in Wilson Auditorium at 8:00 P.M. by National Players, international repertory company from Washington, D. C., sponsored by the Lyceum Series.

Now embarking on its third decade (21st consecutive year) of touring, National Players is the longest running national touring repertory company in the United States. Founded with the idea of bringing exciting theatre to people everywhere, National Players has won the acclaim of critics in New York, Chicago, Dallas, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Miami and Houston as well as audiences in smaller cities and towns of the East, Midwest, South, and Southwest.

In each of the past twenty years on the road, the company has traveled roughly 35,000 miles through thirty states and Canada. They have made nine overseas tours for the Department of Defense and have been received at the White House by Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, and Johnson. Graduates of Catholic University's famed Speech and Drama department, each of the Players has had professional experience and was selected because of exceptional acting ability.

All of the fire and color and sweep of the greatest English playwrights' most majestic tragedy have been caught in the handsomely mounted new production by National Players.

Tickets are available at the door and reservations may be made by calling 433-6197.

Board Approves Basic Studies Requirements With New Program Effective September 1970

During the past several months, there has been much discussion on campus concerning the revision on the basic studies requirements for all students and the additional course requirements for the B.A. and B.S. degrees.

For several years, the Basic Studies Committee of the faculty has been given careful consideration to recommendations for changes in the present program of basic studies. During this period of time, opinions of students were sought by the Committee; also, there was a student advisory committee which gave careful study to the situation and made its report to the Basic Studies Committee of the faculty last year.

The recommendations from the Basic Studies Committee of the faculty of the revised courses were submitted to the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction early this fall. The Provost, who is chairman of the Curriculum and Instruction Committee, requested the Presidents of the Men's and Women's Student Government organizations to appoint committees to review these proposals and submit their recommendations back to the Curriculum and Instruction Committee. Accordingly, this was done.

On October 28, 1969, the Curriculum and Instruction Committee approved the basic studies requirements and the additional courses for the B.A. and B.S. degrees, which were subsequently submitted to the faculty at a special meeting on Saturday, November 1, 1969. After full discussion and careful consideration, the faculty approved a revised program of basic studies requirements and additional courses for the B.A. and B.S. degrees for submission to the Board of Visitors of the College, which has to approve the minimum degree requirements for all students.

The Rector of the Board of Visitors appointed a special committee of Board members to review the recommendations from the faculty and from the official student committee for changes in the basic studies and the additional requirements for the B.A. and B.S. degrees, in order to have its recommendation presented to the Board for final action.

This committee met on the afternoon of November 11, 1969, and gave careful consideration to the recommendations from the faculty for the new basic studies requirements and the additional requirements for the B.A. and B.S. degrees. During this review by the Board Committee, the Provost, Assistant Provost, and the Deans of the four Schools appeared for the purpose of explaining the position of the faculty in regard to the recommendations submitted. (Dr. Charles Blair represented the School of Education in the absence of Dean Caldwell.)

Also, the Board committee requested the Presidents of the Men's and Women's Student Government organizations to appear and present the recommendations from the official student committees concerning basic studies. Accordingly, these student officers met with the Board committee and careful consideration was given to the recommendations and to the views of the students, as presented by these two student leaders.

The committee of the Board then recommended to the Board of Visitors, at its meeting on November 12th, new basic studies requirements for all students, effective September 1970, and additional requirements for the B.A. and B.S. degrees. Only one change was made in the basic studies requirements recommended by the faculty—namely, the addition of three hours of mathematics for all students, with the provision that a special mathematics course appropriate for B.A. non-teaching candidates be developed by the Mathematics Department. In the additional requirements for the B.A. degree, no changes were made in the recommendations submitted by the faculty. However, for the B.S. degree, since three hours of mathematics had been added in basic studies, the additional requirements in this field were reduced from six to three semester hours; also, the recommendations for additional requirements in natural sciences

Reports Issue Lake Warning; Area Described As "Disaster"

Reports released by the Biology Department have given conclusive evidence that the scenic attraction on back campus is actually a biological disaster area and disease collector. The report also strongly urges all members of the Madison community to avoid Newnan Lake as much as possible.

Extensive surveys have been conducted over the past several months to determine first the source of water flowing into the lake and then to determine the extent of pollution present. From the results of the survey, the following conclusions were presented:

- that the lake does contain human waste, probably from a concrete sewage system running either parallel to or under Sibert Creek, which feeds the lake;
- that there is an extremely high probability of the presence of typhoid germs currently in the lake water;
- that there is definitely present in the lake the amoebae that cause amoebic dysentery, a disease of the intestinal tract.

Members of the Biology Department strongly urged all students to use extreme caution when around the lake. Coming into contact with lake water could cause serious disease, at the least, and even possible death, as in the case of typhoid.

Results of the survey, along with recommendations for appropriate actions to be taken, may be obtained by contacting the Biology Department in Burrus Hall.

Mr. Horace Burr of the Speech and Drama department chats with a group of students in preparation for the first Stratford production of the new year.

Ohlsson Directs Xmas Concert

Madison College Oratorio Chorus, Orchestra, and faculty and guest soloists will present George Frederick Handel's "Messiah" on Thursday evening, December 18, at 8:00 p.m. in Wilson Auditorium. The production is under the direction of Dr. Gordon L. Ohlsson, head of Madison's music department.

The 120-voice Oratorio Chorus is comprised of students, faculty, and guests from the community. The Orchestra is also a Madison College product — its members are selected from students, music faculty, and invited guests.

Station WMRA-FM Airs Duke Games

Intercollegiate basketball found its way onto the airwaves of the campus radio station last Saturday night when the Dukes game with Frostburg was broadcast live. WMRA-FM thus became the first radio station to give live airtime to a major athletic event at Madison College.

Station manager Gaylee Ingram, in announcing Saturday's broadcast informed the public that all future Duke home games will be carried live. The announcing duties will be handled by Jack Atkinson of the English department, and Jay Ramsey, an undergraduate student.

Live broadcasts are made possible through telephone lines hooked up directly from the point of origin of the broadcast to the control room of WMRA-FM. In addition to the crew at the games, personnel are needed to man the control board at the studio.

Spotters will be needed for all games, and persons interested in helping in this capacity may do so by contacting station manager Ingram through Box 58, campus mail, or at the studio on the second floor of Alumnae Hall.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

"Let's Keep Christmas"

(Condensed from Peter Marshall's "Let's Keep Christmas")

The old message: "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord" is still the heart of Christmas.

And this message can neither be changed — nor quite forgotten although there are many things that tend to make us forget.

Have you been saying, "I just can't seem to feel the Christmas spirit this year"? That's too bad. As a confession of lack of faith, it is rather significant.

You are saying that you feel no joy that Jesus came into the world . . . you are confessing that His presence in the world is not a reality to you . . . Maybe you need all the more to read the Christmas story over again; need to sit down with the Gospel of Luke and think about it.

When Christmas doesn't make your heart swell up until it nearly bursts . . . and makes you all soft and warm inside, then you'll know that something inside of you is dead.

And you'll listen to the wonderful Christmas music on the radio, some of the songs will be modern — good enough music perhaps — but it will be the old carols, the lovely old Christmas hymns that will mean the most.

And then you will remember what Christmas means — the beginning of Christianity . . . the Second chance for the world . . . the hope for peace . . . and the only way. The promise that the angels sang is the most wonderful music the world has ever heard — "Peace on earth and good will toward men."

So we will not "spend" Christmas . . . nor "observe" Christmas. We will "keep" Christmas — keep it as it is . . . in all the loveliness of its ancient traditions.

May we keep it in our hearts, that we may be kept in its hope.

What Does It Mean?

Christmas, today, stands for many things. What does it mean to you?

When the Christmas holidays begin, all thoughts of studies and meetings are left behind. In their places we substitute being with our loved ones, Christmas shopping, going to parties, and generally, our thoughts are controlled by the ever-present holiday spirit.

But, is this all that Christmas really stands for to you? The old familiar thought that Christmas is not what it used to be is more prevalent than ever, and the people at fault are none other than you and me. In all our excitement of being home, planning and buying gifts, and making a mental schedule of things we want to do, do we not leave out the true meaning of Christmas, which is to celebrate the birthday of Christ?

Perhaps we are caught in the evils of the thriving Christmas commercialism, which has influenced us since we were old enough to understand it. By Christmas commercialism we mean the way in which Christmas is built up to be nothing more than a time to buy gifts, start our Christmas Club savings for next year, and get in on the fabulous buys during the after-Christmas sales. Have you ever thought for a minute what it would be like to see a picture, portraying part of the Christmas story instead of vividly colored newspaper advertisements of gifts to give? What a welcome change this would be.

Let this Christmas be significant to you. Allow yourself to receive more of the true Christmas spirit than just attending church and singing carols on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. Find the spirit of Christ and when you do, keep it, not only for this Christmas, but throughout the year. Pause a moment and think; what does Christmas mean to me now?

The Breeze staff extends to Madison College their heartiest and sincerest wishes for a very happy and meaningful Christmas vacation.

Let's Be Frank

by Frank Humphreys

Student bodies at various universities reflect divergent backgrounds and motivational patterns. As the individuals that comprise the groups, so too are none of the groups alike in many respects.

Take the case of the student body at Eastern Mennonite College. Faced with a shortage of funds to begin construction on a new campus library, these students unselfishly banded together to attempt to raise over $100,000, which was the amount needed.

Within four short days, less than 1000 hard-working students raised well over $112,000, which figures out to about $112 per student. Considering that these students are not from families in the upper-income brackets, and considering that their school is not located in what you could call a large metropolitan area, their feat is truly phenomenal.

All the money was raised through initiative. Sales were held, and virtually every saleable object on campus was put on the auction block. To gain additional funds, students took to fasting, using the money which would have been spent for meals to go toward the new library.

In a community such as Harrisonburg, actions of this sort do not go unnoticed. Mayor Roy Erickson recognized their efforts by presenting them with an award lauding their unselfishness in time of need. Other local organizations, responded in similar fashion.

The movement even gained national recognition. Wire-services were quick to pick up the story and give it nationwide coverage. The BREEZE would like to add itself to the growing list of well-wishers.

With the above thoughts in mind, let's come back across town to Madison-on-81. Judging from the unchanging pattern of life here at Suitcaseville, U.S.A., our student body would be hard-pressed to raise money for a comic book for the library, let alone for the library itself.

Do not be misled — money is not the issue here. The real issue is student actions, or lack thereof. One would almost think that Madisonites just did not care!

"But, Hark, what sounds from yonder halls emit? It is the youth, and change is their God. Arise, omnipotent God, and kill the envious conservative, who is already sick and pale with grief!"

While not a literary masterpiece, the above paraphrase is very appropriate. As of now, with the exception of a small group of students interested in measured change, the only ones on campus getting involved in anything besides drinking and dating are those that have quickly been labeled "radicals." Why, most of you would not know a radical if he came up to you and shook your hand.

What these radicals are saying, and the way in which they say it, may not win them any popularity polls. But all they are trying to do is to provide some motivation for the "silent majority."

Book Shows Future of Conservatism As Reality In Past Election Results

When political reality begins to coincide with political prophecy, the prophet must be reckoned a man worth listening to. In 1967 M. Stanton Evans analyzed the political position and practical future of conservatism in American politics. He predicted that in fewer years than most political writers would agree to the influence of the conservative voters would bring about the election of a Republican president and a vice-president acceptable to the South.

Since THE FUTURE OF CONSERVATISM first appeared in 1968, the results of the elections have shown that the majority of his predictions were correct. The author has revised several chapters of the book and added a new chapter incorporating the results of the election. In the new material he discusses whether or not the Nixon victory can be considered a victory for conservatism, the meaning of the Wallace movement and Spiro Agnew. He also discusses the effect on the Democratic party of Lyndon Johnson's withdrawal from the race, Mc-Carthy's campaign for the nomination and the assassination of Robert Kennedy.

THE FUTURE OF CONSERVATISM is one of the few books available that deals with the political possibilities rather than the ideology of conservatism. Covering the issues, events and personalities which have marked the resurgence of the Republican party since the 1940s, the author is always interesting and provocative.

M. Stanton Evans is editor of the Indianapolis News, and an associate editor and regular contributor to National Review. He is also the author of REVOLT ON CAMPUS, THE LIBERAL ESTABLISHMENT, THE POLITICS OF SURRENDER, and THE LAWBREAKERS.

Christmas vacation will begin at the close of classes on Friday, December 19 and will end with classes beginning at 8:00 a.m. on Monday, January 5, 1970. Note the change of dates as listed on the college calendar and in the catalogue.

The residence halls will not close officially until December 20, 3:30 p.m. Residence halls will re-open on Sunday, January 4, 12:00 noon. The Dining Hall will serve meals on regular schedule Dec. 19. A continental breakfast will be available Saturday, Dec. 20. The first meal after the holiday will be Saturday, Jan. 4, at 5-6 p.m.

Communication Plays Important Role In Rapidly Growing, Complex World

by Frank Humphreys

Communication plays an important part in everyone's life, especially today with the large stockpile of information. It is for this reason, to better one's understanding of the written word, that the Reading Clinic is operated.

Under the direction of Henry Goff, the center not only provides educational training for those going to continue in this field, but also offers free clinical services to all those who wish to avail themselves.

Currently there is a masters program in effect where all work is done by the student at the graduate level. This program prepares those in education who desire to concentrate on the reading skills. Over 20% of the education graduates took specialized training in the reading field.

The center also provides training to those who may have some deficiency in their reading skills. For a Madison student, who receives first priority, one may take a free battery of tests to determine their individual strengths and weaknesses. A corrective reading improvement program is then available at a nominal cost of $15 to the student.

Small children with varying degrees of deficiencies may also take advantage of the services offered by the center. When the child comes in for help, a thorough examination is given to determine the extent of the problem. If it is minor, it can be handled locally. In severe cases, however, the child may be referred to the University of Virginia Medical Center or another qualified medical institution for the appropriate care and treatment.

The center's programs are based on standards established by the International Reading Association. These basic standards are far surpassed in the conduct of the training conducted at the center, according to director Goff.

In addition to heading the Madison reading center, Goff is also chairman and treasurer of the Professional Standards Committee of the Virginia State Reading Association, an affiliate of the I.R.A. He said that plans for the future could include the evolution of a program to provide the technical training to the student interested in this field at the undergraduate level.

Model U. N. Set for March 4-7

The Middle South Model United Nations will be held March 4-7, 1970 on the campus of George Washington University in Washington, D.C.

Students selected to represent Madison will be staying at the Marriott Hotel in Washington along with representatives from West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and other Virginia schools.

The cost to each student will be $10 and absences from all regular classes will be excused. Further information and application blanks can be obtained by contacting Dr. Paul Cline (Harrison 103) or Gwen Firek (Box 1013).

Final Basic Requirements Approved

(Continued from Page 1) and social sciences were changed so that these requirements would be four hours in natural sciences or three hours in social sciences.

Freshman students entering in September 1970 and thereafter will be required to undertake the new basic studies and meet the following degree requirements, IN ADDITION to the basic studies requirements:

ADDITIONAL DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

|------------------|----------------|
| B.A. Degree      |                |
| Foreign Language | 6-14 Sem. Hrs. |
| Philosophy       | 3 Sem. Hrs.    |
|                  | 9-17 Sem. Hrs. |
| B.S. Degree      |                |
| Mathematics      | 3 Sem. Hrs.    |

Natural Science (4) or Social Science including history (3) 4 or 3 Sem. Hrs.

7 or 6 Sem. Hrs.

Students currently enrolled at Madison ordinarily follow the academic program for their major appearing in the College catalog for the year they entered or re-entered Madison. Should a student currently enrolled question whether or not to elect to meet the new basic studies and degree requirements, he should wait until the new College catalog appears in the Spring of 1970, in order to examine the courses and distribution required by the total four-year program of his major. A student who elects the new four-year program will have to meet it in full and will be required to notify the Registrar's Office in writing of his change of catalog.

Present freshman, sophomore, and junior students who wish to receive the Collegiate Professional Certificate will still need to meet additional specific requirements. For example, elementary education majors will still need four semesters of physical education; all persons seeking teacher certification will need a course in American history. Thus a student who may want to change catalogs will need to examine carefully the new 1970 Spring catalog before making a final decision.

WHAT'S YOUR EXCUSE?

Of the 55,500 people who lost their lives in traffic accidents during 1968, at least 8,000 to 10,000 could have been saved, and more than half of the 2,000,000 disabling injuries could have been lessened in severity if the safety belts available had been fastened.

Over the holidays, please drive safely and remember to fasten your safety belt.

Sound Syndicate Makes Debut; New Group Performs Well

by Anna Diehl Davis

Madison College Sound Syndicate made its debut on Friday, December 5, and it hardly could have been better. Featured in the Madison "Y" talent show as a non-competing group sponsored by the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, the Sound Syndicate performed six selections which kept the audience moving.

The twelve piece big band, patterned after the "Buddy Rich" type jazz-rock ensemble, opened their show with "Aquarius" and "Let the Sun-Shine In" from the musical "Hair". Immediate applause at the recognition of "Aquarius" signified the definite approval of the audience. Other selections on the program included: "Sunday Morning", "Harlem Nocturne", "Windmills of Your Mind", "Sunny", and "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy".

If one had to pick a highlight of the program, it would probably be the band's final number "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy". In addition to the fine, big band sounds, there were featured solos by Jim Nichols on guitar, Jim Sheldrake on trumpet, and Dave Starkey on alto sax. The tune ended in a flurry of screaming brass and wailing saxes, and the Sound Syndicate received a well deserved standing ovation from a fine audience.

The members of the band, all outstanding soloists are: Jim Sheldrake, Vic Bernhards, Andy Hall, on trumpet; Deacon Smith on trombone; Dave Starkey, C. T. Baily, on alto sax; Jimmie Taylor, baritone sax; Jim Nichols, on guitar; Cathy Collins, electric bass; Harold Howland, drums; Tommy McDonald, piano.

Leader Larry Tynes is one of the new members of the music department. Tynes major field is instrumental music, and he does extensive band work on both the secondary and college levels. He not only heads the Sound Syndicate, but the Brass Choir as well. In addition to these activities, Tynes plays a fine trumpet.

For those of you who missed the talent show and the Madison College Sound Syndicate, Phi Mu Alpha informs us that the band will be performing several times throughout the next few months. It is suggested that you not miss the opportunity to hear this fine band.

Christiansen Named to Board

Dr. Ted Christiansen, head of the department of special education services at Madison College, has been named to the board of trustees of the Rockingham Crippled Children's Rehabilitation Center, Inc.

The center was created for the purpose of providing for the needs of crippled children, especially in the areas of education, speech and physical therapy.

The organization and the Harrisonburg city school system co-sponsor a class for the physically handicapped at Lucy Simms School. It also sends children to the Easter Seal Camp in Buchanan County each year. The board of trustees has 20 members.

Each year the Institute of International Education administers the competition for summer study in one of the four British Universities.

These programs are designed for graduate students, including teachers in universities and schools and for undergraduate students who will have completed their degree requirements by June of 1970. A limited number of scholarships are offered to cover part of the costs of tuition, board and lodging. Information about these scholarships and additional pamphlets or applications may be obtained from: The Information and Reference Services Division, Institute of International Education, 809 United Nations Plaza, New York, New York 10017. The closing date for the receipt of applications is March 16, 1970.

Tour Includes Special Sights

In addition to the regular sightseeing itinerary for all major cities provided in the six-week cost of $997.00, the Summer Study Tour includes several special features.

A student in the Humanities, Social Sciences, or Education will find the tour to Chartres, the drive to Melk and its famous Cistercian Abbey, and the full day excursion to Stratford particularly attractive. An Art student will be especially glad to know that a side trip to Da Vinci's "Last Supper" is included. The excursion to Pompeii for sightseeing through the excavation and the museum is another special trip.

Think all of the side trips are just for the "cultural" side of it? No, some of it is just for the fun of it—like the visit to the "Vienna Woods" and the boat trip on the Seegrotte or the 1½ hour evening cruise on "La Belle Seine" through the illuminated city of Paris.

Complete cost for an undergraduate Virginia resident receiving 3 semester hours of credit is only $1,050.

Talk with your parents about the tour. What a great advance graduation present! Applications are available at the Assistant Provost's Office. Tour dates are July 1st-August 11th.

Instructors in Psychology, graduate students and psychology majors are requested to meet in Wilson 28 at 3:05 p.m. Thursday, December 18.

Dr. Ralph Napp, associate professor of sociology, will speak on "Bridging the Gap Between Sociology and Psychology."

BASKETBALL:

ALL SMILES — Coach Cleve Branscum has high hopes for the Dukes this season. Many returning lettermen and a promising crop of freshmen make the prospects for the future look even brighter for the new coach.

Home games start at 8 p.m.

Basketball is currently occupying the popularity spotlight, and the 1969-70 Dukes are providing many interesting moments for their fans. Under the direction of head coach Cleve Branscum, the Dukes take a 3-2 record into tonight's game against UNC-Greensboro.

D. C. TEACHERS

Bouncing back from an error-plagued first half, Cleve Branscum's Dukes upset the highly-touted D. C. Teachers, 80-77, at Harrisonburg Dec. 6 for their first win of the year.

The lead changed hands 10 times in the first 15 minutes as the two teams battled on even terms. Then, unaccountably, the Dukes hit a cold spell which saw the visitors open up an 11-point lead which enabled them to leave the floor at intermission with a 39-30 margin.

The second half, however, was a different story. Within five minutes, the Purple and Gold had wiped out the nine point deficit to earn a 41-41 deadlock. And from there on in, it was a real dogfight.

George Toliver kept up his torrid scoring pace and Super Steve Misenheimer came alive with a couple of jumpers from the corner to stake the Dukes to slender leads. In addition, the Dukes began a steady march to the foul line as the Teachers got into trouble early in the half. Bob Toohey, the Dukes' floor leader and the other half of their T 'n T combination, sank nine of 10 free throws and tossed in a layup for good measure for 11 of his 15 points.

The Dukes finally opened up a six-point margin with a minute to play but had to fight to the wire for Branscum's first win as Madison's new coach.

Toliver shared game scoring honors with the visitor's Jefferson at 26 each. Gary Butler and Bruce Gibbons teamed up to haul down 11 and seven rebounds respectively to control the boards.

EMC

The Eastern Mennonite Courtiers, still on an emotional jag after their fund-raising activities of last weekend, capped a fantastic week by dumping the Dukes, 58-57, last Tuesday on the winners' court.

Sparked by little Ruben Padilla, who might be all of 5'6" after a few sessions on the rack, the Courtiers made it plain that they had come to play by jumping out to an 8-0 lead.

DUKES' STYLE

UP AND IN — Bob Toohey breaks free to drive the lane for a lay-up and a quick two points.

HOLE IN THEIR "SOUL" — Despite 3-to-1 odds, Gary Butler leaps high to haul down a rebound against D. C. Teachers.

NICE 'N' EASY — As if in a hypnotic trance, all eyes are turned as Bruce Gibbons stretches his 6'5" frame to the limit for an easy hook shot.

Dukes Battle Back After Suffering Cold Spells

Madison came right back with seven straight points and a see-saw battle began which took the score to 13-12 in favor of EMC.

Then for the third time in as many games, the Dukes went blank and failed to score for seven minutes while EMC continued to pour them in. Padilla and Calvin Williams bombed them from 15 feet and the front line picked the boards as clean as a Thanksgiving turkey. Before the Dukes recovered they found themselves behind, 32-16, at halftime.

Then the Dukes' press began to make itself felt as Toohey and Toliver harassed the Courtiers' backcourt men and Gary Butler and Bruce Gibbons began to take command of the boards. With 1:46 remaining, they found themselves only seven behind.

A three-point play by Steve Misenheimer and a quick basket by Gibbons narrowed the gap even more, and with 14 seconds left, the Dukes were only one point down. Gary Butler got the final shot of the game with two seconds left and missed a lay-up. It must be said, however, that it appeared as if he were fouled on the play, but no call from the referees was forthcoming.

Toliver once again led the Dukes in scoring with 16 points while Misenheimer and Gibbons had 14 and 12 respectively. Padilla led the winners with 17 points, 15 of them in the first half, while Calvin Williams chipped in with 13.

The Dukes evened their season record at 2-2 last Wednesday in defeating Luther Rice, 91-77, with Steve Misenheimer's 29 points leading the way. The Dukes had four men in double figures as they roared to an early lead and built up a seven point edge by halftime.

With Gary Butler and Bruce Gibbons dominating the boards and the team shooting at a 49 percent clip, the Purple and Gold avenged two defeats at the hands of the Minutemen last year.

George Toliver came through with another consistent performance with 18 points while Gibbons also scored 18. Bob Toohey added 11 while Gary Butler pumped in nine points. Gibbons and Butler wiped the boards clean with 13 and 18 rebounds respectively.

The Dukes cashed in on 27 free throws, 13 by Misenheimer, while the home team was able to convert only 11. The Minutemen, who were paced by 6'6" Marine veteran Jim Slebodnik's 23 points, shot a respectable 41.5 percent from the field. Slebodnik was an all-state choice in Pennsylvania during his high school career and spent the last two seasons with the Quantico Marines.

Branscum's Bunch surged into the lead early in the second half to romp to a 71-51 triumph over Frostburg State here last Saturday. It was the Dukes' third win of the year against two losses.

After a tight defensive battle in the first half which saw the Bobcats lead practically all the way, the Purple and Gold went to the press after intermission and soon broke open the game on some exceptional shooting by Steve Misenheimer, Bob Toohey, and George Toliver. High point honors, however, went to the visitors' Kevin Murphy who tallied 18 points.

All five of the Dukes' starters were in double figures and Bruce Gibbons and Gary Butler mastered the boards. Gibbons scored 13 points and pulled down 17 rebounds before going to the sidelines with an injury in the last few minutes. The slender Gibbons had a tooth knocked loose while battling for a rebound. Butler continued his fine work on the boards with 11 rebounds.

The Dukes went ahead to stay on a long jumper by Toohey early in the second half and gradually pulled away. Misenheimer had 14 points, Toohey 16, Butler 11 including seven of seven from the foul line, Gibbons had 13, and Toliver 15.

The Bunch winds up pre-holiday play against UNC-Greensboro here tonight at 8 p.m.

In the preliminary, the JV's put on a stirring second half rally to tie up the game at 85-85 against Augusta Military Academy at the end of regulation play, but were outscored 11-8 in the overtime session and absorbed their fourth loss against a single win. It was their second loss in two nights since they had bowed to Massanutten Military Academy, 77-68, the previous night.

Midway through the second half, the JV's trailed by 22 points. Larry Nemerow and Edgar Ausberry led the comeback which tied the game. Nemerow garnered 25 points while Ausberry grabbed 23 rebounds.

Roy Stauffer and Raymond Snapp paced the winners with 44 and 25 points respectively.

The JV's meet the W&L JV in tonight's prelim at 6 p.m.

Korean Native Appointed Here

A Korean native became one of the most recent appointments to the Madison College staff, according to an announcement from the office of the president. Dr. Chongkyn Yoon will be an associate professor of history, joining the faculty for the 1970-71 academic year.

Dr. Yoon, a native of Korea, received his early education in Seoul. He holds the B.A. degree in political science from the University of Oregon, the M.A. degree in Far East studies and the Ph.D. in international relations from the American University.

He has worked in Chinese affairs for the U. S. Intelligence Agency and the State Department; taught Chinese history at the Northern Virginia Center of the University of Virginia, and recently has been a part-time lecturer and assistant professor of Far East studies at the American University.

Job Application Can Make or Break Chances

A letter of application can make or break your chances for a summer job. It creates the employer's first impression of you, so it is very important to make that impression count for all it can.

Write your letter or letters at the very earliest moment. You may want to apply to as many as 8 or 10 employers since the job you want may already be filled or your qualification may be found inadequate. If you don't receive a reply within a reasonable length of time, write a second letter. Enclose a copy of the first one and suggest that it may have been lost.

Your letter should tell the employer the position for which you are applying, and how you learned of the vacancy; the reason you want to work and why you think you can do the job well. He also needs to know the earliest and latest dates you will be available for work. Most employers like to be told, too, that you appreciate their consideration of your application.

This year summer employers want to know about your appearance before they hire. "Clean cut," "short hair" and "neat" are words they like to see in letters of application.

Guides for letter writing and resumes are an important part of the Summer Employment Directory of the United States, which lists some 80,000 summer jobs, the employers and their addresses. The 208 page volume may be purchased for $4.95 from the National Directory Service, P. O. Box 65, Cincinnati, Ohio 45232. Also, the Directory of Overseas Summer Jobs, 152 pages, listing 50,000 summer opportunities, is available for $3.95.

The following are some of the points made in the Directory of Summer Employment to help you write your application letter:

—Make it no longer than one page; enclose a resume with details.

—Organize the letter. Make it clear, concise and neat.

—Address your letter to a person, if possible. Double check the spelling of names. Reread the letter, pretending you are the employer. If you doubt the spelling of any words, look them up.

—Type your letter on 8½ x 11 typewriter bond paper. Do not send duplicated letters — too impersonal.

—Always use zip codes — yours and the employer's. They are easy to come by through any post office or library.

—Keep a copy of each letter you write—you may need it later for reference.

Employers who are besieged by applications sometimes answer only those that are accompanied by stamped return envelopes. Your contacts will appreciate this added convenience, so by all means include it.

When you accept a job, be sure to have a signed contract between your employer and yourself. It is a matter of courtesy to notify other people to whom you applied that you are no longer available.

Now you are ready to apply for a summer job. Good luck!

G.I. Survey Released

A study of the veterans who entered college during the first three years of the current G. I. bill indicates that while almost half enrolled as freshmen, about one in five enrolled for a master's or Ph.D. degree.

The Veterans Administration said that more than half of the G. I. college students indicated their field of study.

Of this group 31 per cent chose business and commerce, 14.5 per cent education, and 11 per cent engineering.

Next in order are the life sciences (agriculture, biological, medical, and health), under nine per cent; technical courses, less than eight per cent; and social sciences, under eight per cent.

Business is also popular among veterans who trained in schools below the college level.

These additional statistics on veteran trainees were revealed in the report:

—26.5 was the median age at the time of entering training.

—70 per cent were in their 20's.

—8.5 per cent were over 35.

—28 per cent had completed at least one year of college.

—39 per cent had one or more dependents.

—99 per cent were male.

The report was based on the three-year period ending June 30, 1969.

The VA invited veterans in or out of school to contact their nearest VA office if they have any questions about veterans benefits.

Veteran students were urged to inform the VA promptly if they have a change in their course of study, address or number of dependents.

-- The Grandstander --

Despite a less than spectacular season, the Dukes' soccer team had a player receive an honorable mention rating on the all-state squad released last week. Steve Nardi was given mention despite missing the last two games with a leg injury.

Jim Sieber and Marv Horst of neighboring EMC earned spots on the first team while Allen Peachy won honorable mention.

Future opponents for Cleve Branscum's cagers are having their difficulties early in the season. Luther Rice rebounded from a 103-82 shellacking from York to dump the Quantico Marines, 75-66.

George Mason has dropped a 69-47 decision to Frostburg State and was beaten by Christopher-Newport, 79-67. The latter also defeated the Bridgewater frosh, 75-66.

St. Andrew's bowed to Eastern Mennonite and North Carolina Methodist while Va. Wesleyan has been drubbed by Fairmont and Norfolk Apprentice School.

A surprisingly large crowd came out to view the Dukes' opener against D. C. Teachers. It topped any which saw the Dukes in action last year though the team had a highly successful season.

The high point of the evening out side of the final score was the superb performance put on by a highly-talented group of D. C. cheerleaders. Resplendent in colorful red and white, they earned the plaudits of the crowd with their intricate routines.

There ought to be a law banning former heavyweight champions from trying comebacks. Sonny Liston was the latest in a long line of ex-titleholders to learn that the reflexes and stamina of a man of 34 or 35 are not the same as those of a fighter in his 20's.

Liston suffered a crushing KO at the hands of a trial horse named Leotis Martin a few days ago and should take the hint and turn to another method of making a living. The Liston of a half dozen years ago would have put Martin out of commission in no more than two rounds.

The pre-season basketball polls, which appear to have been designed for the sole purpose of selling newspapers, took it on the chin in the first week of the season when top-rated South Carolina lost its opener and highly-ranked Purdue bit the dust a couple of evenings later against Ohio U.

Through a process of eliminating losers, the No. 1 spot is now up for grabs between Kentucky and Alcindor-less UCLA. So what else is new?

* * * *

The Minnesota Vikings have just about convinced everyone that they are the best team in pro football in beating the Rams in Los Angeles recently. This sets up an interesting rematch later in the month in the icebox known as Metropolitan Stadium in Minneapolis. The winner will take on the Dallas-Cleveland victor for the NFL title. Look for the Cowboys to dump the Browns in revenge for a shellacking earlier in the season.

* * * *

The campus radio station will carry the play-by-play account of the Dukes' encounter with UNC-Greensboro tonight. Game time is 8 p.m. So if you can't make the scene, follow the Dukes via radio.
