WELCOME ALUMNI!

Miss Carleton, with the election ballots in hand, was elected president of the Madison College Alumnae Association. Mrs. Boyd, mother of three children—a son and two daughters, one of whom is Betty Page Duke, a freshman now at Madison—will be the presentation of the portrait on behalf of the Alumnae Association. Mrs. Garber, Alumnae Secretary, will present the picture on behalf of the Alumnae Association, and is now an instructor of art at George Washington University. The young artist, R. L. Stevens, a pupil of Richard Lahey, nationally known portrait painter, did the president's portrait. Mrs. Garber is vice-president of the Alumnae Association, and will be the presentation of the portrait in advance of the homecoming to honor Dr. W. J. Gifford, Dean of the College. Under the chairmanship of Dorothy S. Garber, Alumnae Secretary and Dean of Freshmen, faculty, students and the personnel staff have arranged themselves solidly behind the homecoming.

Presiding over the events of the week-end will be Mrs. Virginia Harvey, former president of the Madison College Alumnae Association. Mrs. Boyd is an instructor in physical education at the William Fleming high school.

Other offices of the same Alumnae Association are vice-presidents, Mrs. M. Michell (William, Collier); secretary, Mrs. W. J. Gifford; treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Boyd; librarian, Mrs. L. J. Boyd, of Roanoke, the newly elected secretary.

Over 6,000 letters mailed by the Alumnae Association have been sent to all Madison graduates, and all reservations for both town and campus events have been in advance through the Alumnae Office.

Portraits To Be Presented

The week-end's highlights will be the presentation of the portraits of Mrs. L. J. Boyd, Mrs. W. J. Gifford, and Dolly Page Duke, Madison alumna in the women's colleges will be given a step in the women's college admission process. Mrs. Boyd is vice-president, Mrs. M. Michell (William, Collier); secretary, Mrs. W. J. Gifford; treasurer, Mrs. L. J. Boyd, of Roanoke, the newly elected secretary.

Swan Song

Despite the thousands of times we have thought in the past that graduation from college would never come to us, it’s almost here. We’re so very happy and yet just a little sad, and maybe even afraid, too. As seniors we’re saying goodbye, but because we turn the page, we’re also beginning a new chapter in our lives. For our successors, the task of writing an editorial expressing the feelings of her class. That’s just what we’re doing now.

After almost four years of eating in the same dining halls, living on the same campus, attending classes in the same halls, moving around for all the news, and writing editorials which were sometimes very close to our hearts and always in response to us, it’s rather hard to leave it all. Trying hard not to be sentimental, we still must admit that we’ve enjoyed Madison, and most of all knowing the students and faculty of Madison College has been an immense pleasure.

To the freshman we want to say, “Be glad you have three more years, and do your best to make every minute a benefit to your life.” Sophomore, now that it’s your turn to lead the freshmen and show them Madison as it should be. Your place is always a helping hand and word to your leaders. To the juniors we leave the leadership of Madison next year. “WV know you are capable, but never be satisfied with the present. Work always for a better future.

Best wishes for each of you, the Madison College of the future. Always remember that you have our permanent chasing hearts. We leave you, our school, knowing that it will be better than ever.

You Can Help

Pencils? Paper? Old clothes? Shoes? We’ll take practically any!

Books, term papers, oral reports, and lesson plans took a beating this week in favor of sun tan oil (for the very brave in the sun) and suntan lotion around campus smelling the pretty flowers and blossoms in SPRING for us others... Jean Sutton and Bert Wallace have a lovely voice, and are the first-Madison girl-with-a-number. But, we’re afraid Bert has the edge on Sutton. ...While profs hate dust, and classes in anger, pity our poor student teachers over the high school coping with “spring fever” in senior year—oh, dear... as we leave!

HOMECOMING is here at last, and everybody’s eager to see us, especially the Red Jackets and the Breeze tonight and tomorrow. ..The students of Europe need your help, and you need the warm pleasant feeling you will derive from helping them.

Mrs. M. Grafton, Dean, To Talk On SGA Day

March Steadham Grafton, Dean of Maryland Baldwin College, Stanton, will be the guest speaker in SGA's meeting on April 1. Mrs. Grafton was an active leader, being president of the Student Government Association at Agnes Scott, and a former treasurer of the Student Government. At the same time she was president of the Southern Intergovernment Relations Association of Student Government, and a member of Pi Beta Kappa. This wide background of experience with student government, and her present duties as Mrs. Grafton make Mrs. Grafton a speaker well-qualified to address the audience, just as she has done so many times.

Novelist Delights

In Ideal Subject

Scene: Study of Mr. Y., noted historical novelist. Menu, to order, is currently unavailable. Director is Mr. Y.

"Sir, there's a gentleman to see you.

"A gentleman?"

"Yes, sir, a gentleman to see you about a matter of your daughter?

"Job! I have no job for anyone!"

Gentleman enters.

"Y. sir, my name is A. Weyland, Alasviar, that is, I will be the best thing to you of your daughter.

"You—the next character! Young man, even I do not know what my business is all about.

"But it will be an historical novel, won't it?

"Yes, yes, of course, but—

"But I have all of the qualifications no matter what the story is about as long as I can stand it, sir.

"Young man, do you intimate that your characters are my type? I need nothing more in the way of a story.

"Well, could we look at it this way. It's from reading historical novels that I have drawn the conclusion that the ideal leading man. No, please do not interrupt me. First, I am illegitimate. That in itself is enough in some respects. But I have been brought up to be an aristocrat. Again, you see, I was born to royal parents. My father was a bar night in one of my best pal classes of influence and my father was a direct descendant of Sir Francis Drury, D. of the New World, as you are, you say that there is no more money. At W & L we have Millie Drury's pop-up in the Phi Gam parties, and Maxine Randolph still remains loyal to her Epistles. I'm sure it would be the event, much fun would be had by all. And Doris Levitt felt for a while about the joy of having cats!

Visiting Madison's campus were Virginia Gooch, former member of the Student Senate, and Alpha, now attending University, Mrs. Grafton was an active member of the Intercollegiate Association of Student Government at Agnes Scott, and a former treasurer of the Student Government. "Super. What would an historical novel be in the hands of an author who played with me? I can't expect this, too."
"Yes, of course, much more than the original work. This is a more sober, more thoughtful, more refined work."
"Of course you thought it was too "patterned" according to Mr. Horst, but it is a perfect masterpiece of the art."

Dance Club Plans To Repeat Recital

Homecoming Absentee Alumnae Send Regards For Being Absent

by Bin Williams

Homecoming is variously defined usually and fondly by graduates returning to the scene of their undergraduate days the campus of their alma mater where once they spent many hours gossiping carousing dating joining campus organizations entertaining being entertained sleeping and eating cards dancing and yet yes even studying. As is the custom each year invitations were extended to all "graduates" of the year. No, could not attend this year's homecoming so we have decided to print their letters of reply to their invitations.

From Strasburg Maryland Dear College, Sorry I cannot attend this year's homecoming. Perhaps next year I shall be able to be there. I owe the college as much as I may remember me as the girl with terrible inferiority complex due to extra fingers on each hand, so the children have the correct number of fingers.

From Doris Tufford '23 "P.S. If you enclose a college in a drawer send me a note. My children have four spires. Telegram from Women's prison in Ohio To BLAZES STOP I SHOULD LIVE SO LONG STOP BESIDES $4,000 WASTE OF TIME STOP BESIDES I SHOULD LIVE SO LONG STOP KILL ME STOP"

An interesting sidelight in 1540's Wabasso college experiences is that she was married at eighteen and her entire college career never required a "faculty"

Program Notes

by Mary Lester

Mr. Conrad will begin his recital Friday evening with the Bach chorales "Now Comes the Feast of Savii" Bach took the simple hymns-of the Lutherans and wove them into deep complex passionate expressions of his religious fervor. Following the chorales is the Beetho-ven 'Appassionata', a fervent work with the dramatic and emotional power of the "fate" motive, heard in the Fifth Symphony and the "trombone" motive, heard in the Fifth Symphony. The program ends with the Chopin "Berceuse" a long overture consisting of the various Chopin Carrers. Student organizations participating in planning for Homecoming weekend are as follows; The Art Club, Grand Daughters Club, Madison College Glee Club, Social Committee, Physics Department, and all sororities.

All of the five sororities have recently elected their new officers for the year 1949-50. Those sororities which have not already installed their officers are: Sigma Sigma Alpha; Alpha Delta Delta; Alpha Lambda Delta; Alpha Xi Delta; Eta Sigma Sigma.

The program was outlined by Mr. Whitman of Music Department, and Mr. Borden of Business Department. A complete list of the program may be secured by writing to Mr. Borden at the school. The program was followed by a "social" entertainment in the North River Ruritan club.

The orchestra will tour the North Rock of Virginia April 25-26 immediately following the Easter vacation, playing concerts in several towns. Another concert will be presented at the college on Wednesday April 12 during assembly. The orchestra will also play here May 20 on Friday evening.
