Dear Students:

Congratulations on reaching registration time. No doubt you have already noticed the difference in the quiet of campus. Summer term usually is a period of time when noise is not a factor, but this term, due to the large number of students registering, it has become necessary to act in the matter of noise.

In the fall, the college is accommodating close to 1,100 women (the largest number in the institution's history), and it is planned to house that number of students in Madison College. It has been necessary to provide space for this number of women on-campus residences and off-campus boarding houses. The noise that was heard on the campus in the past will not be heard this year. During the first week of registration, we will have to accommodate those students who are registering for the first time and those students who have registered during the summer session. When you are through registering, you will have the opportunity to move to an off-campus boarding house or to remain in Madison College. The students who are registering for the fall quarter will serve as the central depository of Madison's autographs.

Letters To New Girls

Dear New Girls:

I am writing this letter to new girls who are about to start college. I have been a college student for several years, and I want to share some advice with you that you should not ignore. College is a time for growth and development, and you should approach it with an open mind.

Firstly, you should choose a college that is the right fit for you. There are many factors to consider, such as the location, the size of the campus, and the academic programs offered. It is important to choose a college that you feel comfortable with and that aligns with your interests and goals.

Secondly, you should make new friends. College is a great opportunity to meet new people and expand your social circle. Join clubs and organizations that interest you, and attend events on campus to meet new people.

Thirdly, you should be involved in your community. Get involved in volunteer work or community service projects. This will help you develop leadership skills and make a positive impact on your community.

Fourthly, you should take care of yourself. College can be a stressful time, so it is important to take care of your physical and mental health. Make sure to get enough sleep, eat healthy, and exercise regularly.

Finally, you should have fun. College is a time for growth and learning, but it should also be enjoyable. Make sure to balance your time between work, study, and relaxation.

In conclusion, I want to encourage you to approach college with an open mind and a positive attitude. It is a time for growth and development, and you should make the most of it. Good luck, and I wish you all the best.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

Former Student Dies At Home

Nancy Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Vance, Peetsburg, Virginia, and sophomore at this college last year, died very suddenly this summer from an attack of acute appendicitis.

Miss Vance, preparing to return to summer school when she was struck, was rushed to a Norfolk Hospital where she died a short time later.

Always very popular on the campus, she will be greatly missed by her many friends.

Thanks

Student (not very clear as to his name): "That's what the author means.

Professor: "I don't want the author; I want you!"

Student (despairingly): "Well, you've got me."—Puppet.

The establishment of a department to train women in the science of business and how to become business executives is the result of Madison's effort to supply the wants of the many young women who are not seeking business training. Enrollments will be placed on the four-year course in business training, but the State Board of Education has authorized the granting of junior commercial diplomas for completion of the two-year course.

The commercial course is in no way will detract from the college's major course—teacher training. According to Dr. Drake, teacher-training will still be the big objective of the college.
