Propaganda, Strong Army.

Powerful Personality of Leader Basis of Hitler's Success

"There is no doubt in my mind, but what the aggression implies built up by Hitler will fall," stated Bonnie Lane, in a talk to the International Relations Club, in chapel last Wednesday. Miss Lane, whose subject was "The European Situation - Socially, Economically, and Politically," was educated at Parkview High School, the College of William and Mary, and the University of Columbia, where she was a transfer student to George.

"Hitler's attitude is triumphant, now, because he has made Germany need the war. The German Empire was a European empire, accomplishing this by his propaganda, a strong army, and by the strong nation that he has built," said Miss Lane.

"Claiming that it was merely a matter of time as to what Hitler would do—or else they are sent to concentration camps. Germans, themselves, do—or else they are sent to concentration camps. Hitler wants the people to do, they have no chance to alter their lot in life."

Twelve Out of Thirty; Gay Wants to Be Dignified; That's What She Gets It!

"Another failing of Hitler," she said. "A woman's place is in the home. That's what she gets it! Accompanied by Bonnie hastened to add, "then he knocked. Opportunity was disguised as a teacher."

"Hitler's propaganda, his strong army, and his organization. The program, designed to benefit all citizens of the state as well as to foster better relations among the better scientific teaching and research in Virginia and abroad."

Bigger 'n Better

A good speaker on the platform is worth ten in the bush—or wherever good speakers are hiding this season. This somewhat altered proverb was proven true yesterday when Miss Bonnie Lane addressed us on her experiences in Europe. She was a most interesting and well-informed student easily recognized as the student body responded as an interested audience.

No doubt the same response will be given Dr. Hu Shih who is scheduled for January. We know when something really good has struck the platform and we react accordingly. Such chapel programs are actually anticipated with pleasures and excitement and we feel as though something definite and worthwhile has been gained from time spent there.

The solution to the problem of chapel conduct disturbed the imaginations of instructors to issue call downs for sleeping, reading, letter-writing and talking (the monitors are only human after all); it lies in presenting more programs like the ones enjoyed Wednesday and Friday of this week and those we hope will accompany the past. If the program is good, why have it? And, if is absolutely necessary to have it good or bad, why expect us to radiate enthusiasm when we feel like wet firecrackers on the 10th of July?

Conversations to the persons responsible for Bonnie Lane and Dr. Hu Shih; thank you for some of the programs of good in the past; and pleas to for good ones in the future.

Fountain Of Youth

It's common knowledge among campus historians that Reel Hall is one of the oldest buildings on campus, but there's one point on which we'd like a little enlightenment. If it is true that students wandered those corridors when the drinking fountain was installed? From the height of the thing we are led to believe that the amount of water that dribbles out of its depths testifies to the fact that they were possessed of a canary's capacity to consume it easily.

We've all heard of the fountain of youth in Florida, but must there be one at Madison? Only the very young could adjust themselves to the one in Reel, and since most of us are of average height, couldn't it be enlarged? With the big gym located in the same building there seems all the more need for an adequate fountain.

After all, knowledge isn't the only thing that's thirsty for Reel.

Now that Thanksgiving's gone (even to the last bit of turkey hash) let's get right down to the serious (or business) discovering the hidden identity of Milady Millie. There must be some one who fits the description of "best dressed gal at college" and your vote is as good as mine! So use the ballot below; confide in us; we're waiting to know who you think has the most stunningly appropriate "what we wear" on campus.

By Barbara Ford

"Readin', writin', 'rithmetic—

It's A Fact!

By Kathleen Estall

The discovery that life can be commanded to stand still is a latest 'state for tens of thousands of years past to American Philological Society.

In the new state of being can be remembered, if not preserved, it can be saved, if not restored, it can be increased, if not renewed. The process of living is known as "readin', writin', 'rithmetic." And "readin', writin', 'rithmetic" is now a new state of being.

Professor Geist, inventor of this time-arresting process, revealed that "readin', writin', 'rithmetic" is a new state of being, if not a new state of life. "As long as we live, as long as we breathe, as long as we remember, as long as we read, as long as we write, as long as we think, as long as we live, as long as we think," he said, "we are the "readin', writin', 'rithmetic," of living." And "readin', writin', 'rithmetic" is now a new state of being.

by Lloyd C. Douglass

"Five years ago I couldn't have exclaimed. I was so startled when I was chosen to be a part of the music section of the Stanford Symphony Orchestra, that I didn't realize I was a part of it."

"I didn't realize I was a part of it, until I looked up and saw the conductor's hands moving, and the rest of the orchestra was making music."

Seniors Defeat Frosh 5-1; Sophs Down Juniors 1-0
Powell and Quick Score for Seniors; Lumsden Cages Soph Goal; Final Game Postponed

Attacking with a ferocity and accuracy that was impossible to repel, the defenders of the Freshmen put the Frosh 1-0 in the opening inter-mural hockey match last week. Following this, the Frosh, finding their way blocked by the line which marked the clash of two teams fairly equal in strength, resulted in a 1-1 tie by the Frosh.

In the finer line-up, eight varsity members were instrumental in filling up their free-point victory. Powell, who usually plays left wing, and who changed to center-forward for the class tournament, scored 4 of the 5 points, while Quirk, left inner, equalled one point. The Frosh scored over the near point one near the close of the game when a Penalty was called against the Frosh goal after the goal had been right, formed from the circle.

The Sophs and Juniors battled hard for 45 minutes, but their efforts were thwarted without either team scoring. Two minutes before the final whistle, Lumsden, Soph right inner, smacked clean past the goalie to break the tie. The Sophs, who have in varsity skirmishers on their squad, were not playing up to par, either individually or as a team. Argus, Junior fullback, who battled well in the defense of the upper classmen's goal. The Sophs battled hard, only to shoot at a goal during their entire time.

The final tie will be played against the Sophomore team, which has won against both the Junior and Soph teams.
