Hikers To Scale Massanutten
Tomorrow

Almost 500 students will climb Massanutten Mountain as part of the twenty-second annual pilgrimage of Madison College students to the peak, which is 1600 feet above the Shenandoah Valley. The special Chesapeake and Western train will leave the college bound for the foot of the mountain at 8:00 a.m. tomorrow, with the hiker-bound group to leave at 12:30 a.m.

This is the second year that the incident has been held, for in the past Massanutten has not accommodated dividing those climbing the peak into two groups. Division of the hikers so that the train will accommodate approximately only 210 students, and in order that one group may reach the peak and return over the steepest part of the mountain before the second group has reached the base of the trail.

The trip will be led by President Samuel P. Duke, who has been planning for the event the past 21 years. His assistant this year will be Miss Edythe Schneider, members of the student faculty, and the oldest, most experienced students of the V. E. A.

Deane To Make Annual Photos

Fees for Photographs Will Begin Wednesday in Annual Room

Gitchell Deane Studio, formerly J. C. Deane, of Harrisonburg, will begin taking individual photographs for the 1940 Schoolma'am, College Annual, on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock. The announcement was made last night by Anna Perdue Barrett, editor-in-chief.

The largest group of graduates planned for the annual will cost approximately $1.00 per pose. The photographer asks that representatives from the Junior Class to succeed Betty Lou McMahan, and the Senior Class to succeed Pauline Pendleton, be elected as representatives from the Junior Class and the Senior Class, respectively.

Marguerite Bell, student president of the Student Government Association, who is in charge of all arrangements for the event, said that the announcement received teaching appointments.

The Home Economics Department Recreation Room will be used by the Junior Class and the Senior Class, respectively.

The lowest percentage of place。

In the two-year curricula, eleven per cent of the students in Mathematics, in a letter to Dr. Henry A. Converse, Professor of Mathematics, in a letter to Dr. Samuel P. Duke, President. The chairs are oak ones now in use, according to an announcement from Dr. Samuel P. Duke, President. The chairs are oak ones now in use, according to an announcement from Dr. Samuel P. Duke, President.
A PIANO is not in tune! Never has and never will be in tune! This may sound strange, but it is nevertheless true. No keyboard instrument is ever in tune. C-sharp and D-flat are not theoretically exact, and yet on a keyboard they are represented by the same key. This is mainly because there are only 88 keys on a piano, while the human ear can distinguish at least 12 different tones.

COMPLETE ELECTRIC ORCHESTRAS will soon be well known to everyone. Leonid Stokowski is proving to be experimenting on one, and a group of five men actually gave recently a performance on five electric instruments in Steinway Hall, N. Y. The sound was so splendid and harmonious that even a keyboard protruding, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light" keyboard protruded, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light"

Hasty Puddings

By KATHRYN WALKER

MUSICAL POSTAGE STAMPS will soon be issued by the United States Postoffice Department as part of a series recognizing American musicians, authors, scientists and inventors. Among the musicians to be honored are Victor Herbert, Edward MacDowell, Ben Heine, Stephen Foster and John Philip Sousa.

A PIANO is not in tune! Never has and never will be in tune! This may sound strange, but it is nevertheless true. No keyboard instrument is ever in tune. C-sharp and D-flat are not theoretically exact, and yet on a keyboard they are represented by the same key. This is mainly because there are only 88 keys on a piano, while the human ear can distinguish at least 12 different tones.

COMPLETE ELECTRIC ORCHESTRAS will soon be well known to everyone. Leonid Stokowski is proving to be experimenting on one, and a group of five men actually gave recently a performance on five electric instruments in Steinway Hall, N. Y. The sound was so splendid and harmonious that even a keyboard protruding, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light" keyboard protruded, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light"

Hasty Puddings

By KATHRYN WALKER

MUSICAL POSTAGE STAMPS will soon be issued by the United States Postoffice Department as part of a series recognizing American musicians, authors, scientists and inventors. Among the musicians to be honored are Victor Herbert, Edward MacDowell, Ben Heine, Stephen Foster and John Philip Sousa.

A PIANO is not in tune! Never has and never will be in tune! This may sound strange, but it is nevertheless true. No keyboard instrument is ever in tune. C-sharp and D-flat are not theoretically exact, and yet on a keyboard they are represented by the same key. This is mainly because there are only 88 keys on a piano, while the human ear can distinguish at least 12 different tones.

COMPLETE ELECTRIC ORCHESTRAS will soon be well known to everyone. Leonid Stokowski is proving to be experimenting on one, and a group of five men actually gave recently a performance on five electric instruments in Steinway Hall, N. Y. The sound was so splendid and harmonious that even a keyboard protruding, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light" keyboard protruded, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light"

Hasty Puddings

By KATHRYN WALKER

MUSICAL POSTAGE STAMPS will soon be issued by the United States Postoffice Department as part of a series recognizing American musicians, authors, scientists and inventors. Among the musicians to be honored are Victor Herbert, Edward MacDowell, Ben Heine, Stephen Foster and John Philip Sousa.

A PIANO is not in tune! Never has and never will be in tune! This may sound strange, but it is nevertheless true. No keyboard instrument is ever in tune. C-sharp and D-flat are not theoretically exact, and yet on a keyboard they are represented by the same key. This is mainly because there are only 88 keys on a piano, while the human ear can distinguish at least 12 different tones.

COMPLETE ELECTRIC ORCHESTRAS will soon be well known to everyone. Leonid Stokowski is proving to be experimenting on one, and a group of five men actually gave recently a performance on five electric instruments in Steinway Hall, N. Y. The sound was so splendid and harmonious that even a keyboard protruding, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light" keyboard protruded, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light"

Hasty Puddings

By KATHRYN WALKER

MUSICAL POSTAGE STAMPS will soon be issued by the United States Postoffice Department as part of a series recognizing American musicians, authors, scientists and inventors. Among the musicians to be honored are Victor Herbert, Edward MacDowell, Ben Heine, Stephen Foster and John Philip Sousa.

A PIANO is not in tune! Never has and never will be in tune! This may sound strange, but it is nevertheless true. No keyboard instrument is ever in tune. C-sharp and D-flat are not theoretically exact, and yet on a keyboard they are represented by the same key. This is mainly because there are only 88 keys on a piano, while the human ear can distinguish at least 12 different tones.

COMPLETE ELECTRIC ORCHESTRAS will soon be well known to everyone. Leonid Stokowski is proving to be experimenting on one, and a group of five men actually gave recently a performance on five electric instruments in Steinway Hall, N. Y. The sound was so splendid and harmonious that even a keyboard protruding, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light" keyboard protruded, was drawn aside to disclose the "window" or "light"
Five students enrolled in the Cotillion, German Pledges appear in Initiation

Eight Sophomores Cotillion Pledges appear in Initiation. Saturday was the opening day for the Pledge Class.

Two new members of the Cotillion are: Suzanne Elzy, Marie Graves, Moore, Linda Peskin, Nan Mielke, Glendalynne Truxdal, Tony Bartlett, Marthe Bailey, and Louis Barnard. New members of the Cotillion are: Eliza Turner, Eleanor Short, Josephine Lemon, Evelyn Peskin, Beverly Warrick, Priscilla Page, Phyllis Waring, Kay Cooper, Dorothy Patterson, Charlie Robertson, Dorothy Newell, Marjorie Pitts, Mary Jane Ross, Elizabeth Philadelphia, and Louis Barnard.

Senior Officer Chest Lies Unclaimed

That coveted hope chest which belonged to last year's graduating class remains unclaimed. The two owners, Cornelia Bernard, and Virginia Cross, Extended invitation Tuesday to the college camp on the Shenandoah River. Mrs. George W. Beach, Mrs. Howard Dingledine, Mrs. F. A. Dye, present at the tea. Elsie-Whillee and Kathryn Walker.

On Monday, the Panhellenic Council entertained freshmen and trans-ferents in the reception room of Alumni Hall. Receiving were Margaret Clark, Ellen Fairhugh, Beverly Draper, Priscilla, Doris, and Ashley, of the council, and Mrs. Annie Bailey Cook, Dean of Women. Miss Margaret Hoffman and Miss Ruth Beutlich, sponsors of Sigma Sigma, Sigmas, Miss Marie Louise Boje, sponsor of Alpha Sigma Alpha, and Miss Ruth Schenkel poured tea.

Fifteen Pass Choral Club Tryouts

The Choral Club, campus society composed of girls interested in group music, held tryouts Wednesday for fifteen new members. Two girls completing successful tryouts are: Lillian Eastwood, Carol Reigel, Helen Avs Girma, Marian Butler, Virginia Arpin, Dorothy Thomas, Virginia Alley, Dorothy Calleia, Sam Levene, Lee Cobb, and Mrs. Raymond Dingledine. Those who passed this week are: Lillian Eastwood, Carol Reigel, Helen Avs Girma, Marian Butler, Virginia Arpin, Dorothy Thomas, Virginia Alley, Dorothy Calleia, Sam Levene, Lee Cobb, and Mrs. Raymond Dingledine.

Faculty Entertains at Camp

A faculty of the college was entertained on Tuesday evening at the residence of the President. Guests were present at dinner on the campus in the Residence Hall.

CONCERT

The faculty of the college was entertained on Thursday evening at the residence of the President as guests present for dinner on the campus in the Residence Hall.

ASKE THE STUDENTS WHO'S BEEN THERE

Want an Evening Paper?

How do you do it? RICHARD B. LACER-CAJDA'S FARM LEADER

SYBIL ROSENBLOOM

Practice House or Box 642

HARRISONBURG

HURONBROOK MUTUAL TELEPHONE CO. VIRGINIA

NATIONAL NEWS COMPANY

Sold at College Tea Room

HARRISONBURG-247-M

26 Tryouts for Breeze Staff

In response to the announce-ment of the Breeze Staff last Friday's paper, fifty-six students reported for a trial Saturday night. Due to the large number of students who tried out, the editorial staff has not yet decided finally on the new members to be admitted to the staff as copy reporters. Announce-ments of successful candidates will be made in next week's issue. Teachers Extension Classes Begin

Saturday classes for teachers in service will begin at the college tomorrow with final enrollment of students and the beginning of actual lectures. Twenty-seven teachers of Harrisonburg and vicinity registered last Saturday, but many more are expected to report for classes tomorrow.

Classes in 'beginners' French, science fundamentals, clothing, and 'elementary' self-defense. Course in French, history, art for ele-mentary teachers, and music appreciation have already been organized. A class in college algebra and other classes will be formed if there is sufficient demand. Rare last class two hours a day and continue one session hour or twice quarter hours credit.

Knight and Kidd to Head Madison College Orchestra

Lillian Knight was elected president of the Madison College Orches-tra, and Mildred McKee as vice-president. Mrs. Charles Bell, chairman of the Y. W. W. cabinet will be in charge of the Y. W. W. service will begin at the college tomorrow with final enrollment of students and the beginning of actual lectures. Twenty-seven teachers of Harrisonburg and vicinity registered last Saturday, but many more are expected to report for classes tomorrow.

Classes in 'beginners' French, science fundamentals, clothing, and 'elementary' self-defense. Course in French, history, art for ele-mentary teachers, and music appreciation have already been organized. A class in college algebra and other classes will be formed if there is sufficient demand. Rare last class two hours a day and continue one session hour or twice quarter hours credit.

 Knight and Kidd to Head Madison College Orchestra

Lillian Knight was elected president of the Madison College Orches-tra, and Mildred McKee as vice-president. Mrs. Charles Bell, chairman of the Y. W. W. cabinet will be in charge of the Y. W. W. service will begin at the college tomorrow with final enrollment of students and the beginning of actual lectures. Twenty-seven teachers of Harrisonburg and vicinity registered last Saturday, but many more are expected to report for classes tomorrow.

Classes in 'beginners' French, science fundamentals, clothing, and 'elementary' self-defense. Course in French, history, art for ele-mentary teachers, and music appreciation have already been organized. A class in college algebra and other classes will be formed if there is sufficient demand. Rare last class two hours a day and continue one session hour or twice quarter hours credit.

Knight and Kidd to Head Madison College Orchestra

Lillian Knight was elected president of the Madison College Orches-tra, and Mildred McKee as vice-president. Mrs. Charles Bell, chairman of the Y. W. W. cabinet will be in charge of the Y. W. W. service will begin at the college tomorrow with final enrollment of students and the beginning of actual lectures. Twenty-seven teachers of Harrisonburg and vicinity registered last Saturday, but many more are expected to report for classes tomorrow.

Classes in 'beginners' French, science fundamentals, clothing, and 'elementary' self-defense. Course in French, history, art for ele-mentary teachers, and music appreciation have already been organized. A class in college algebra and other classes will be formed if there is sufficient demand. Rare last class two hours a day and continue one session hour or twice quarter hours credit.
Dorothy Patterson, badminton.
Aignor, swimming; Pete Billock, sophomore.
Belasco, badminton.
Haverty, swimming; Eloise Lumsden, and Perry Darner, badminton.
Donahue, junior, and Janet Disque, upper classmen.