

SCHOOLROOM HUMOR

A class at George Washington University recently waited fifteen minutes for an instructor and then dispersed. The next day the instructor claimed to have been in the class because he had left his hat on the desk. On the following day upon entering the classroom he was greeted with rows of chairs occupied only by hats, but not one student. Our informant does not state whether or not the instructor left his hat and went home.

HIS NEED

A University of Chicago professor, invited to address a club meeting, chose as his subject, "Need of Education." The following day a newspaper headline reported: "Professor's Speech Shows Need of Education."

LXXXX

A school inspector came before a class of girls. He wrote upon the blackboard "LXXXX." Peering over the rim of his specs at a good-looking maiden he asked, "I'd like you to tell me what that means."

"Love and kisses," the girl blushing replied.

HE KNEW

Father: "So you know as much as your teacher, do you? Where do you get that idea?"

Willie: "Well, she told me so herself. She said she couldn't teach me anything."

HEAVY

Student: "I should have more credit on that first question. I wrote six pages."

Professor: "We don't weigh the papers."

BIPED

Teacher: "A biped is anything that goes on two feet. Bobbie, can you name one?"

Bobbie: "Yes, ma'am, a pair of shoes."

MAYOR THOMPSON MADE THIS UP

A pompous English educator was putting a Los Angeles primary class through a rather severe European test and his rather supercilious manner made anything but a hit with the youngsters. Young America immediately began to scheme and before long, golden opportunity came.

"And w'at is the capital of 'olland?" the Englishman wanted to know.

"H," was the prompt reply of a smart boy in the back row.

CONSIDERATE WILLIE

Teacher: "I'm not pleased with your homework, Willie. I believe I'll send a note home to your father about it."

Willie: "Please, teacher, I don't think he would like it; you see, he corrected it for me."

THAT ABSENT-MINDED PROFESSOR

Wife: "Do you realize that twenty-five years ago today we became engaged?"

Absent-minded Professor: "Twenty-five years! You should have reminded me before. It's certainly time we got married."

ADVICE TO ORATORS

Professor (addressing class in oratory): "Remember the wheel, boys."

The boys, not comprehending, waited for further enlightenment.

Professor: "The longer the spoke, the longer the tire."

A GOOD SIGN

Teacher: "Late again?"

Student: "As I was coming to school a sign on the corner said, 'School, go Slow,' and I took my time!"

DO THEY?

Mother: "Tommy, why are you always at the tail end of your class?"

Tommy: "That's all right—they teach the same things at both ends."
