Village smithy squirms..."The right of way is mine," turns to a cabin and said, "This house is mine, not made."

The next time you hear anyone say, "Oh, I don't like her!"—just smile, "Did you ever watch a school of sailors fighting to win up through the water? If you did, you know that most of them fight until they make it. If you quit—"

Essential Feature Of Physical Education Work to be Stressed

WILL-ROUNDED CURRICULUM AND APPROPRIATE Paddy PANS

The importance of physical education in public school curricula is well known. The school must be stressed at a meeting of the eastern section of the American Physical Education Association to be held in Washington, D.C., next month.

Over a thousand members are expected in Washington April 21-22 for the first meeting of physical educators. The meeting will be held in the old-fashioned halls at Palm Beach. It is expected to reopen in 5 or 6 days.

Seven banks have been forced to close in the last two weeks.

RELEVANT CONVICTIONS ADDLED BY VISITORS

A group of five hundred convicts from the Kiliny prison, Montgomery, Alabama, who started at a Sunday night, were being marched through the main cell immediately after arrival.

It seems that Wardner Selwyn knew that the prisoners would be stopping in the prison, so he had arranged for some of his friends to be there to see them off. After the prisoners were made over strictly.

One of the most interesting features of the convention will be the Music of the Henry Ford Musicians. Mr. Ford directs his leisure time to music. He is a member of the educational forces of the Dixie Harmonia.

One of the most interesting features of the convention will be the ceremony which will take place on Sunday afternoon. The band consists of over one hundred instrumentalists, and it will be made up of the finest musicians in the country. The band will be made up of the finest musicians in the country. The band will be conducted by an American missionary from the United States.

The State Chamber of Commerce is giving much aid to the festival by sending special materials to the various schools.

After the visiting-hour on Sunday afternoon, the prisoners were searched and a police officer was served with a warrant. One of the visitors brought him a letter which had been enclosed in the package. The letter contained a statement that the prisoner was innocent of the crime charged.

The prisoner was found guilty of a charge of murder and was sentenced to death.

DEATH OF INDIAN LEADER A LOSS TO MANY

The effect of the death of Ojo, the last surviving Indian of the Oklahoma, has been well described in publications.

"Long after the services the Kiowa mourned the loss of their great leader, the Comanche walked over the low of one of their best friends and the Navajo silently mourned the passing of one of the remaining survivors of the white race," wrote the Indian Leader.

The beloved Indian died on Friday morning at his home in Oklahoma. The body was received on March 12 by a crowd of friends who had come to pay their last respects. The body was placed in a small mission church near Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

The service was conducted by an American missionary to the Comanche, and interpreted by two of the tribal leaders in their own language. The service occupied about three hours.

After the service, several schools wrote expressing their sympathies to the family in the celebration. These schools are the University of Oklahoma, the Wesleyan University, and the Shawnee University, all of which have been very active in trying to make the occasion a memorial to the Indian leader.

As the body was carried into the church, the mourners sang the Indian song: "We have a home in the west." The body was carried through Harrisonburg, Va., at a slow and solemn pace, with the flowers extended in the church, and was found to have a knife which was known to be in the possession of one of the prisoners who had been charged with the murder.

After the services, the body was placed in a small mission church near Fort Sill, Oklahoma. A crowd of friends paid their last respects, and the body was taken to the Shawnee University, where it was placed in a small mission church.

A small town within fourteen miles of the town in Oklahoma was visited by a crowd of friends who had come to pay their last respects.

One of the banks which was closed because of the great rain was the First National Bank of Palm Beach. It is the largest and oldest banking house at Palm Beach. It is expected to reopen in 5 or 6 days.

Mr. Ford devotes his leisure time to music. He is a member of the educational forces of the Dixie Harmonia.

The importance of physical education is now to make physical education compulsory in all schools and colleges.
