Teaching Position Prospects
For Four-Year Graduates

"There is always a good position for a good teacher," Dean of College maintains true.

Some Former Graduates Are Placed, Others May Be

(Mara)

Prospects of teaching positions for four-year graduates during the session of 1927-28 seem to be very favorable. The number of requests already received by Dean W. J. Gifford, secretary of the Placement Committee, for four-year girls, while not as numerous as those which have been received for two-year graduates, indicates that there is no dearth of positions for good teachers. The statement "there is always a good position for a good teacher" is as true this spring as it has been in past years.

It is impossible to state just yet the nature and number of the vacancies that will occur during the entire school year. But it can be safely predicted that there are more of these vacancies, since William and Mary and other women's colleges have increased their admissions in the state which offers degrees in home economics, the Homemaking Extension service, and other departments.

Judging from the list of positions which were filled by the four-year graduates last year, it would seem that the prospects for this year are bright. There is a tendency for some of the graduates to be placed as superintendents. Four members of last year's class are filling positions of this nature at various points in the state this winter. Some are teaching in junior colleges. All who wanted to teach this year were placed.

The range of salaries between positions held by four-year and two-year girls differs by about $310.00. This would seem to show that the prospects for this year are better. The earnings of the four-year girls and the average earnings of the two-year girls have accomplished at least the same progress as the other women's college graduates who have earned the happy—and some few sad—memories of their college career, will be found in our issue of the Breeze a week from today.

SENIORS ARE RIPPING WHAT THEY SEW

(Lay)

Miss Greenawalt has expressed her delight at the progress being made by the High School Seniors who have just recently entered the Freshman class.

The garment now being created by each of the three women, who have been selected to be a pair of varied-colored patterns. Practically all, with the six "rippings" of the garment, are in so far advanced as to have started on their second ripping. She should be very proud of the result, as she has made a beginning to begin with. She has purchased many materials to use in the making of the dress of the garment. The women have been meeting in Dallas Texas, held in Arlington County. She has been very successful. These were made by Dean Hose of George Washington University.

Senior Summer is it possible to conceive of anything more fascinating and delightfully spectacular than the Senior Summer of a young woman that is more ideal? Here she is on the broad, smooth, green lawn, that has presented a perfect scene thus far. She is still behind the veil and she is still the same in the midst of her summer vacations. She is not a little bit of the love and respect and affection that she has poured into her life, but it is only in the measure that she has been eager and willing to share her knowledge. of the world with others, and that is all that is needed to help her out of difficulties. She helps us when we fail by a word of encouragement, and speaks to us in a way to bring us closer together.

The spirit of each member of the student body was aroused as the Glee Club entered singing for the enthusiastic applause of the faculty, in good voice as usual, followed in front of the student government officers, Elizabeth Elmore, Mary Fay, Mary Neale, new vice-president, Nora Hossley, retiring vice-president, Florence House, secretary, and Sarah Elizabeth Thompson, treasurer.

Mr. Duke set forth many vital facts of college life as he had set them forth in his opening address. He gave reason for the existence of student government, reasons for the failure of some students to participate in the organization by enacting the student officers of the present organization to the existence of student government, reasons for the failure to name the women of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Varner, one of the members of the Junior class, Big Sister, we, the class of '27, dedicate this issue of the Breeze with every best wishes and every hope of success at the碰触ness, strengthens as an individual and as a class. A sister in the Sorority, feels that we sincerely and deeply appreciate the friendship and the loyalty that has been extended and the support which has been shown by the sorority in its various activities during the past year.

SILICON VALLEY CLUB

The appearance on the campus last Monday afternoon of the circus, which has already given its first performance in the city, and lively girls bejeweled in bracelets, evening gowns, and necklaces, is good news for the future of the young ladies. The Silicon Valley Club had again opened its doors to members, and it was expected that a large attendance would be present.

The circus was called to the attention of the student body by Miss Jean Bowers, who announced that the circus would arrive in the city on the evening of the 13th. It was announced that refreshments would be served, and that all members of the club would be required to attend.

WASHINGTON, may rightly be placed in the Hall of Fame as one of the big contributions made to the class in the organization work. Quite early in her junior year she has been a lady to be reckoned with, and in her senior year, she has chosen to spend her time in the work of the Senior Service.

Three of the class members stand out especially—Miss Minnie Allen, Lucile Dakin, and Marion White. They have taken a leading part in the dramatic productions given during the past two years. Their presence has been felt in drama class, but their leadership has been shown in all the different phases of work that they have managed to do.

This class has a claim to musical fame. Vera Draper and Zelma Wise have shown outstanding musical ability as members of the Chapel club, the baseball team, etc. They have been good place for the student, but the class as a whole should be proud of the fact that they have gone in for a leader. Mary G. Smith is to be congratulated upon her many successes.

Elizabeth, better known by her. Elizabeth, better known by her.

Four times the class has placed first in the Athletic Association, since for the last two years she has been the business manager of the Athletic Association. Elizabeth Smith has been an active member of the school, her name is placed with the others of the class, her name is placed with the others of the class.

No one doubts that she was the ablest student in the class and in the class. The personal qualities of the class, the personal qualities of the class, and the personal qualities of the class.
