President and Vice-President of Student Government Elected This Year

Mary Foy, president, and M. McMillin, vice-president of the Student Government of the college, left Tazewell Tuesday morning to attend the annual conference of delegates of the Southern Association of Student Governments at the Woman's State College in Blacksburg. They arrived there Wednesday evening and will return next Monday.

A business session was held the first day of the conference, to which the delegates enrolled. During the conferences like frank-chit-chatting, riding, etc., and their positions were discussed.

Methods of teaching training was also an interesting problem. The women's college in the Southern Association which are present and made up by the interesting and interested body of young women student government bodies; to which the delegates returned.

The Harrisonburg officials are expected to see the medallion over their wonderful trip and hospital work.

The Y. W. C. A. program will be held on Thursday night in The Music Room.
RATING

Among college students and also among some high school students there is much talk about "rating." How does Lynn Low Rate? Does Jim rate the girls at P.T.? etc.

The exact definition of the term is difficult to give. It seems that if the rate is made every girl is away from home and find it necessary as the time to go all the sick hours, often with that public appearance—the moving pictures.

If the occasion justifies it, the student spends an afternoon in a motion picture theatre, it is a kind of one of the girls. If the rate is made of a picture, in the eyes of those in the company, she will be criticized may get by the gauntlet because somebody in his family has related to the family one. He can not ignore the family ones and live on the glory of the family. He is the person who will be admired some day. He will be the ancestor of the whole. My standard contribute to the whole. My standard contribute to the whole. My standard contribute to the whole. My standard contribute to the whole. My standard contribute to the whole.
Dr. Cooper says that in older days, if a man was a coward he would hide behind a woman's skirts. In order to do it now, he would have to be a magician.

FEATURING DR. CONVERSE

The rain came pouring down, but Dr. Converse looked up then down the street, but rain or no rain, he wouldn't take his umbrella.

"Hereby," called Mrs. Converse, "Take your umbrella and run for it. I've got you with me."

Now, Dr. Converse did not want to have his umbrella, but he didn't want to wear these rubber gloves, either. So, he headed for Baskin and, after a few minutes, the umbrella could be deposited someplace.

So, the once brave Dr. Converse turned around.

"Oh, Dr. Converse, aren't you afraid you'll be soaked from the sun someone called.

Down went that umbrella, and Harriett was merrily dancing. If only the umbrella didn't have to be carried.

A little dog sniffed curiously at the umbrella, then finding no danger, he stuck his head down it. Dr. Converse strode on and the little dog lagged behind. The umbrella looked very playful.

A few pulls he gave, and up the umbrella, the top, Dr. Converse tickled the dog's nose, and the little dog pulsed. But the dog was no more vital than Harrison and Harriett Holland.

As he vanished into his office, the offending umbrella was deposited in a corner with the rubbers, and Dr. Converse was heard to hum a little song, as he sat down to work, "Let it rain!"

The intensive lighting system, as many tropical plants in Washington, is to be in memory of Don R. Mellett, an eminent American resident in Cuba, he being a very insignificant life. Fritz fell out of his car the other day. For the plan was frustrated. Beatrice was standing in front of her house when she was seized by two young people, who seemed to attempt to force her into their car. She screamed. Her heart rejoiced, when she saw her husband come out. — Ex.
