

The Breeze

Vol. LI

Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., Wednesday, July 2, 1975

Summer No. 3

Festival Of Crafts July 4-6 Early America To Be Featured

By FRANK BROWN

Dozens of Early American craftsmen will demonstrate their traditional crafts this Fourth of July weekend as the Harrisonburg-Rockingham County Independence Bicentennial Commission and the Harrisonburg Department of Parks and Recreation sponsor a craft festival at the city's Hillandale Park.

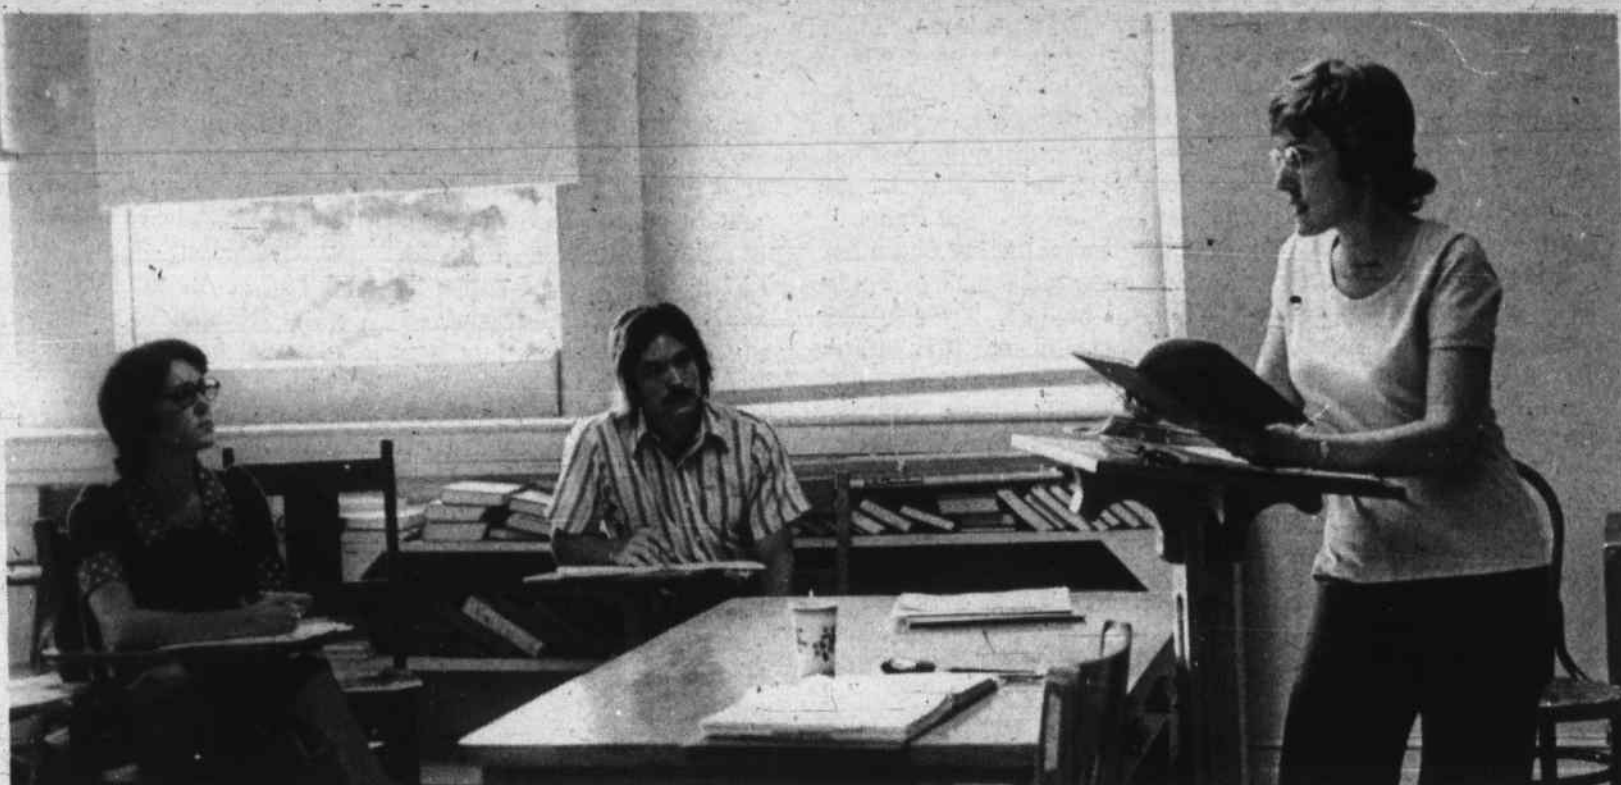

Included on the list of scheduled demonstrations are blacksmithing, bookbinding, house building, spinning, weaving and quilting.

Also scheduled is a re-enactment of Revolutionary War fighting by Morgan's Rifle Company, the 71st Highland Regiment of Foot (Fraser's Highlanders), and the 1st Pennsylvania Loyalists.

A group of colonial frontiersmen will also be present.

Additional crafts to be demonstrated include pottery, furniture making, tin-smithing, soap making, basket weaving, and trapping.

Craftsmen from Virginia and five surrounding states
(Continue on Page 3)

"It's harder on the student . . . and the teacher."

Summer Classes 'More Relaxed,' Require Greater Student Effort

By CYNTHIA CARNEY

In a lofty-ceilinged, acrid-smelling art studio in the basement of Ashby, one student is painting. A professor, his foot propped up on a table, is talking quietly with a student. From the other side of a partition, someone is whistling. It's quiet, and musty, and hot.

The students are "getting a lot more individual attention," said Sam Benson, who is teaching a painting course this summer.

"They are, as a whole, the same," he said, but the atmosphere is more relaxed.

"I feel like I can talk to my teachers if I get behind," added an art student, who was listening to the conversation. "It's less tense. I like it better."

That was the general reaction of several students and professors who were interviewed about summer school at Madison.

"It's harder on the student . . . and the teacher," said Dr. James Leary, of the chemistry department. In Miller's chemistry lab, about 10 students came and went. Some wandered in and out of the basement's laboratory, some came over to talk to Dr. Leary, some checked out other students' experiments. "It's much like teaching an upper-level class," said Dr. Leary. The students don't do much better, he said, because there is so much more material to cover in such a short amount of time, but they seem more interested and they work harder.

"I dream about this class," a chemistry student smiled, glancing at Dr. Leary. "You become immersed in the class" since the student has to attend the class everyday, and spend so much time in class everyday.

The teacher actually has less class-time during the summer, although there are enough days to equal 45 hours of lecture periods. But there is a July Fourth holiday, a day for registration, and final exams. This decreases the amount of lecture time 25 per cent, calculated Dr. Leary.

Student Charlotte Mackintosh said that students spend the same amount of time during the summer session studying, but that the older students in her classes who have come back to work on graduate degrees, or just to refresh their memories, seem to study harder and seem to be more open in class.

"They're here to learn," she grinned.

Most of the students interviewed thought summer session classes and regular session classes had similar views. They did say that the classes were generally more relaxed, due to the typically smaller class size.

But there was one notable difference that almost everyone agreed about.

(Continue on Page 2)

Urban Affairs To Be Offered As New Minor

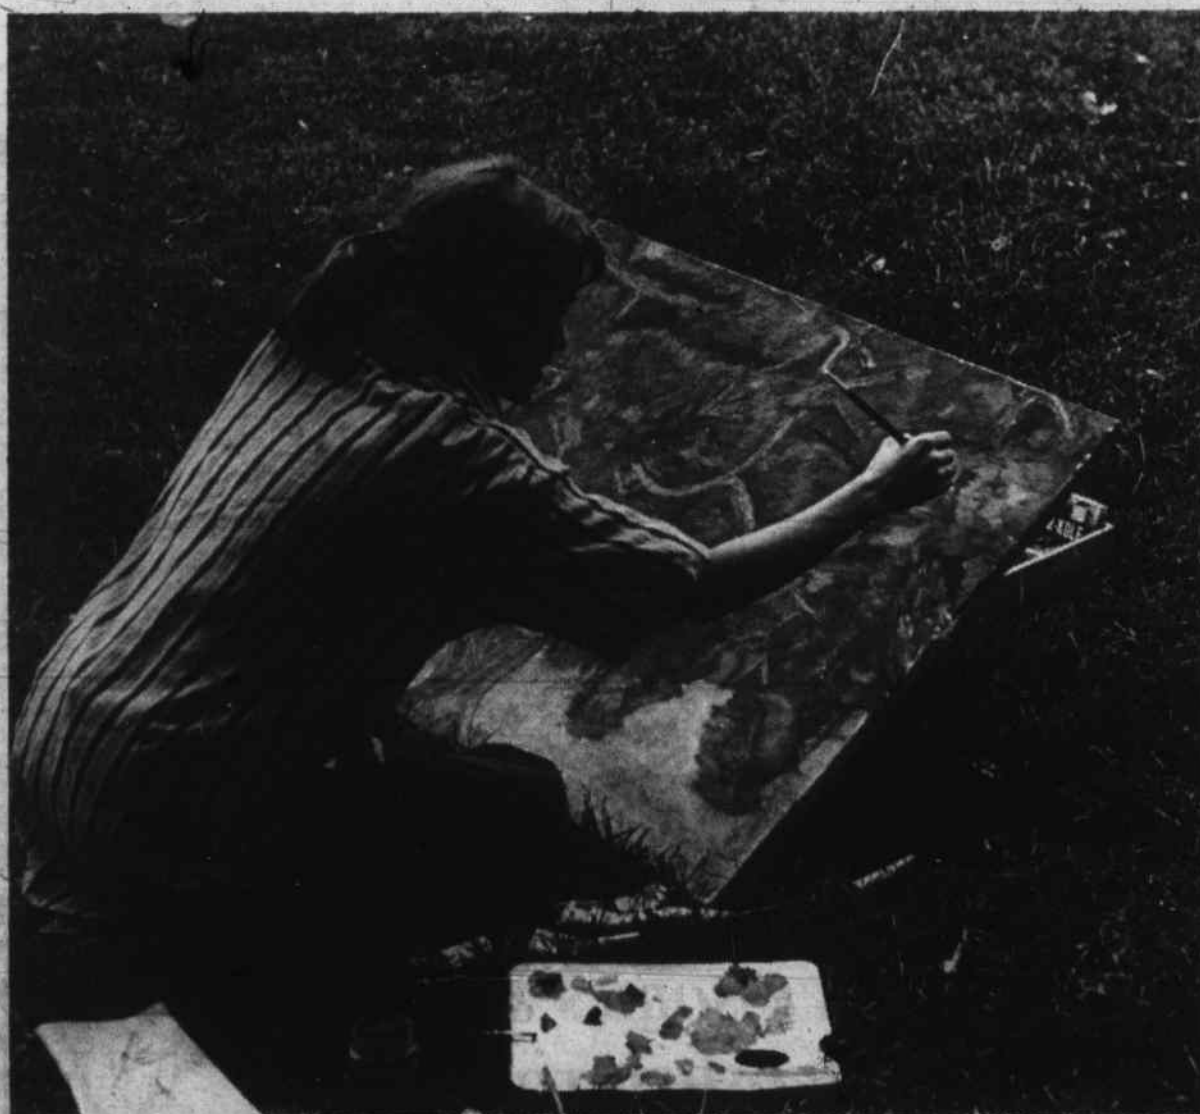

By STEVE WILSON

The Political Science and Geography Department will administer interdisciplinary minor in Urban and Regional Studies this fall. The new program, as stated in the 1975-76 Madison catalog, is "designed for students preparing for careers in government or graduate training in the field."

Dr. Joseph Enedy, assistant professor of Geography, first proposed the program. He, along with professors from the Sociology, Economics, Geology and Political Science departments, will be doing the advising for the new minor.

Dr. Enedy will serve as a preliminary adviser, he explained. He will see the interested student first and determine the student's interest. He will then send the student to the appropriate major department and see the

(Continue on Page 3)

"They don't have much else to do."

Sunday Concert Features Folk, Country Music

A concert of folk and country music by Robin and Linda Williams Sunday will be the first live entertainment feature of the summer session at Madison College.

The music of Robin and Linda Williams "is a blend of acoustic folk and country occasionally spiced with simple irreverence," according to a recent reviewer at Clemson University in South Carolina.

The concert is the first of a series of live events scheduled for Sunday evenings at the Warren Campus Center Lounge. This Sunday's concert begins at 7:30 p.m.

Other summer activities scheduled at Madison in the coming weeks include movies on Monday and Thursday nights beginning at 7:30 p.m. at Wilson Hall.

Movies scheduled during the next several weeks include: Thursday, "The Chase"; July 7, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner"; July 10, "Wait Until Dark"; July 14, no movie, registration, second four-week term; July 17, no movie; July 21, "Cat Ballou."

Other continuing activities on campus during the summer session include: ice-cream or watermelon on the quad, Wednesdays at 2 p.m.; and coffee and donuts at the Warren Campus Center, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10 a.m.

A "9 Ball" tournament is scheduled for pool buffs tonight at 8 p.m. in the Warren Campus Center Game Room. Players may sign up at the Game Room and certificates will be awarded to the winners.

On clear weekday evenings during the summer the observation deck at Burruss Hall will be open to students and the public. Two members of the college's Physics faculty will be available to explain what can be observed in the summer sky.

A sign will be posted outside Burruss on evenings when the observation deck will be open.

Beginning July 31, Madison College Theatre will present a satirical play, "The Pursuit of Happiness." The play, directed by Dr. Thomas King of the Department of Communication Arts, will run through Aug. 3.

In addition to these activities, various facilities around the campus are available to summer students.

College tennis courts are open Sunday through Friday from 2 to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Students may reserve courts by calling 6461 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Discount tickets are available for students who want to use the Lakeview Golf Course. Weekday tickets are $2 with an I.D. card.

The college swimming pools are open to students at regular hours during the week. Students may check the summer recreation calendar available at Warren Campus Center.

Camping equipment can be rented from the Camping Center office at $3 per weekend for tents and $5 per day for canoes. Other camping equipment is also available.

Library hours during summer session continue as follows: Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 6 to 10 p.m.

The bookstore is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For off-campus activities, including Virginia theatres, parks, caverns and museums, students should check the summer recreation calendar.

Football Season Begins Sept. 13

The Madison College football team will open its 1975 season Sept. 13 at Glenville State College in Glenville, W. Va.

Glenville State is the only new opponent for the Dukes on the 10-game 1975 schedule.

After Glenville State, the Dukes will return home for three games.

Madison opens its home season with a night game against Washington & Lee University Sept. 20.

Madison led the Virginia College Athletic Association (VCAA) in total offense, rushing offense, and scoring offense last season, and was ranked third in the VCAA in passing offense.

Among the top returning players for the Dukes are tailbacks Bernard Slayton and Ron Stith, quarterback Leslie Branich, linebacker Dewey Windham, and defensive guard Woody Bergeria.

Slayton was an Honorable Mention selection to the 1974 Associated Press College Division All-America team and a first team All-VCAA selection after rushing for 873 yards and nine touchdowns last season. The 5'8" 185 lb. junior from Lynchburg averaged 6.1 yards a carry a year ago.

Branich, a senior from Montross, was also a first team All-VCAA selection. He led the VCAA in total offense as he piled up 1468 yards in ten games. Branich threw for 1133 yards and 12 touchdowns and rushed for 335 yards and four touchdowns during the 1974 season.

Stith, an Honorable Mention All-VCAA selection, shared the tailback position with Slayton. The 5'8" 160 lb. Ettrick native rushed for 542 yards and eight touchdowns while averaging 5.1 yards a carry a year ago.

Windham, a 6'3" 220 lb. senior from Orlando, Fla., was a second team All-VCAA selection, and Bergeria, a 6' 230 lb. sophomore from Triangle was an Honorable Mention All-VCAA selection last season. They were among the leading tacklers on the Madison team last year.

MADISON COLLEGE 1975 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

DATE	OPPONENT	PLACE
Saturday Sept. 13	Glenville State (W. Va.)	A
Saturday Sept. 20	Washington & Lee	H
Saturday Sept. 27	Hampden-Sydney	H
Saturday Oct. 4	Shepherd (W. Va.)	H
Saturday Oct. 11	Bridgewater	A
Saturday Oct. 18	Frostburg State (Md.)	A
Saturday Oct. 25	Emory & Henry	A
Saturday Nov. 1	Randolph-Macon	H
Saturday Nov. 8	Salisbury State	H
Saturday Nov. 15	Shippensburg State (Pa.)	A

Plan Your Summer Vacation Now!

AUTHORIZED AGENT FOR ALL MAJOR AIRLINES, STEAMSHIP LINES, TRAIN AND TOUR COMPANIES

Call us for All Your Travel Needs 434-1796
174 S. Main St. H'burg

★ Relaxed

(Continue from Page 1)

"Students show up to classes all the time," said Ben Snyder, a student. "If they don't, they'll miss a whole week worth of classes."

Snyder favored the three-week May session. The classes go by quicker, and a student can devote more time to one course, he said.

"I think students like it (the May session) because they can spend most of their time studying the course, and they retain it better," said Dr. Robert Lembright, of the history department who taught history of civilization during the May session.

"They don't have much else to do."

Picture Yourself

Indoors Or Out

See Dr. Henderson for personalized photography

The Muse

Werid Jewelry

music magic and more...

Astrology

Charts

Clothing From India & Afghanistan

Old Books

Music Boxes (Old & New)

Purest Incense In The Valley

And Much, Much, More....

433 - 2828

178 So. Mason St.

(Next to Blue Mt. Books)

VALLEY SMOKE SHOP

85 N. Main St.
Harrisonburg

● Custom Blended Tobaccos

● Imported Cigarettes

● Complete Line Of Pipes & Accessories

● Domestic Cigarettes 285 & 295 Ctn. .35 Pkg.

SHOW YOUR STUDENT CARD AND RECEIVE

10% DISCOUNT ON ALL PIPES &

ACCESSORIES &

CUSTOM BLENDED TOBACCO

Star Gazing Sessions Scheduled at Burruss

Drs. John C. Wells and Jon A. Staib will offer about two hours of star gazing every clear week night this summer.

The pair will maintain the observation deck on top of Burruss Hall and the four telescopes there, according to Wells.

The observation deck is open from dusk till about 10:30 p.m.

Dr. Wells said that there is no show planned. One of the two physicists will be there to assist students who want to look through the telescopes.

There will be signs down by the front doors at Burruss when the observation deck is open, Wells said.

"One can see the craters of the moon. They are very beautiful this time of year," Dr. Wells said.

Looking through one of the telescopes, Dr. Wells said, an observer can see Venus. It looks like a new moon. That is because Venus is between the Earth and the Sun. What we see is the Sun lighting up the side of Venus away from us, he said.

"Objects outside of the galaxy can also be seen," according to Wells.

One can see only certain celestial objects at any given time of the year, Dr. Wells explained. This summer one can see Venus, close details of the moon, and many of the constellations. Among the constellations that are visible, are Scorpio and Sagittarius.

The observation deck has two new telescopes—a set of five and eight inch Schmidt-Cassegrain's.

There are several different lenses to fit these telescopes.

The deck is also equipped with a pair of german binoculars. These can magnify an object about 25 times. One can see star clusters through these, according to Dr. Wells.

There is also an old reflector telescope. This scope, along with the others, is motor driven.

★ Festival

(Continue from Page 1)

will attend and many early artifacts and tools will be displayed.

One Madison College professor, Dr. Lynn S. Fichter of the Geology department, will demonstrate the method of gunstocking for the Kentucky long rifle.

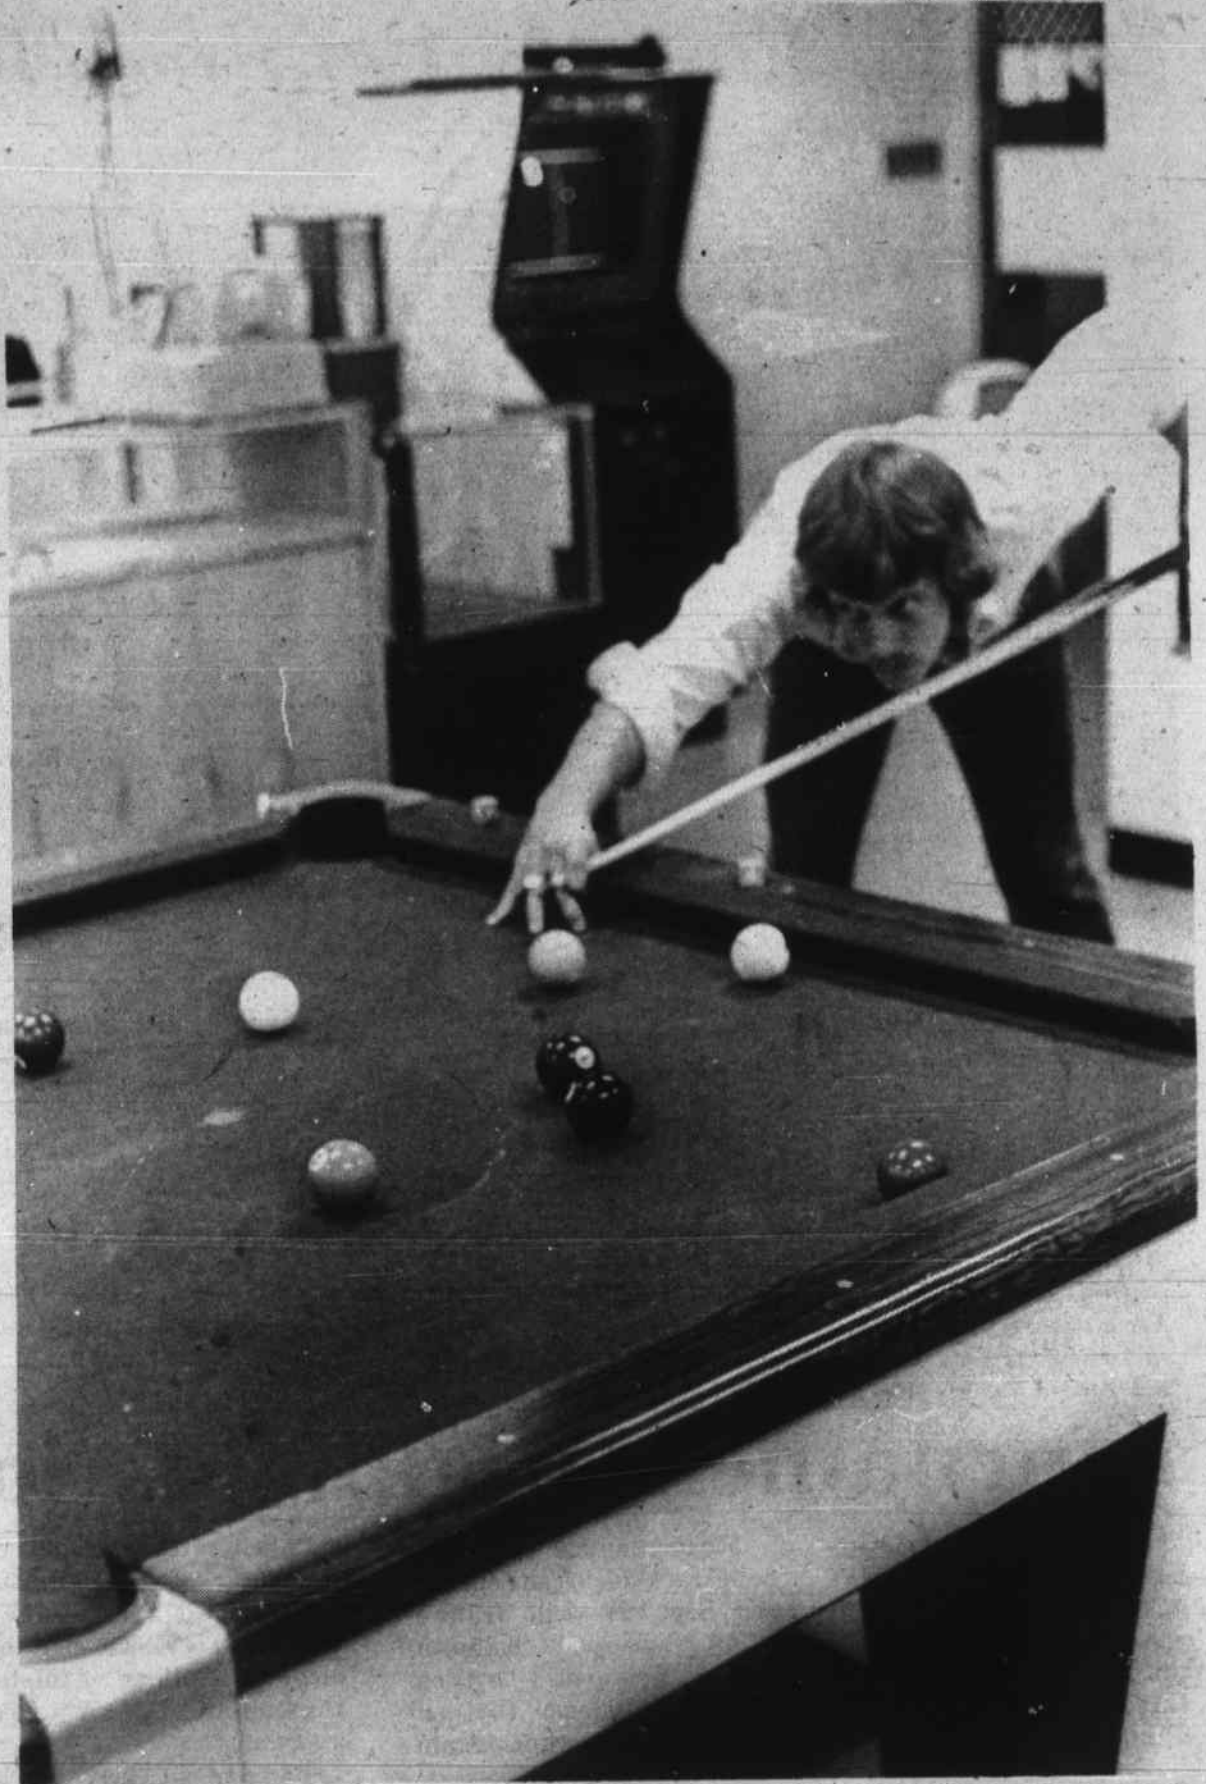

"One of the things we're emphasizing," said Patti Williams, a co-director of the event, "is keeping it from being another arts and crafts festival" with items mainly for sale.

She added that in a few instances changes have been made in craft methods to insure the safety of the craftsmen and festival-goers, but overall the exhibits will be faithful to the old-time ways.

"It started off as a dream about a year ago," Mrs. Williams explained. But when she and John Heatwole, both of whom are now co-directors of the projects, tried to find financial backers, they couldn't.

Later, Heatwole suggested the festival to the local Bicentennial commission. The commission quickly agreed to sponsor it.

The festival, which is designed as a walking tour through Hillandale Park, will begin Friday at 10 a.m. and run until 6 p.m. The same hours will be in effect Saturday. The festival will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

9-Ball

AMONG UPCOMING RECREATION opportunities for summer students is tonight's "9-Ball" tournament in the Campus Center game room. Winners in the tournament, which begins at 8 p.m., will be awarded certificates. Players may sign up at the game room.

★ Urban Affairs

(Continue from Page 1)

Urban and Regional Studies adviser there.

The student determines the content of the program, Enedy said.

The minor adds specialization on top of the students major, Enedy said.

The Urban and Regional Studies curriculum includes 18 hours of required courses in a 24-hour minor.

Courses are available in the Sociology, Geology, Political Science and Economics Departments, as well as others.

While an internship is not required, Dr. Enedy said, a student will be placed in an internship if it will contribute to the students' individual program.

Internships are not hard to find, but an internship where the student will be able to do work relevant to his course of study is a little harder to find, according to Dr. Enedy.

One of the reasons that led to the creation of the new minor is that there is an increasing demand for planners, according to Enedy.

He said that there had been several students who had gone on to planning schools from Madison—mostly students from the Political Science Department.

Two other reasons for the new minor according to Enedy, are to provide some sort of undergraduate recognition of work done in urban affairs, and to provide some advising suited for urban and regional studies.

A major is not planned at this time, Enedy said.

There are already two undergraduate schools offering majors in Urban and Regional Studies in Virginia, another major would probably not be approved, Enedy said.

Students interested in the Urban and Regional Studies minor should contact Dr. Enedy in the Political Science and Geography Department.

SHENANDOAH OUTFITTERS, INC.

Offering You Some Of The Finest In Outdoor Gear

BRUCE STREET

MAIN STREET

The North Face

Vasque

Camp Trails

Snow Lion

Raichle

Gerry

62 W. Bruce St.

434 - 5601

Behind Martin's Garage

THROUGHOUT THE DAY children danced in their delight in the music. And grown-ups danced in the delight of their coolers. All in all, the crowd at the Elkton Jaycees' First Annual Bluegrass Festival Saturday had a fine time. When rain started falling, one young couple found a huge cardboard box, turned it on its side, and crawled in. Protected by three walls and the turned backs of those persons in front of them, they seemed to lose interest in the music on stage. Later, the festival emcee told the audience, "When Governor Wallace gets in the White House, we'll have bluegrass every Saturday night."

Tournament Highlights Soccer Slate

A Tournament of Champions featuring last year's NCAA Division I, Division II and Division III champions will be the highlight of the 1975 Madison College soccer schedule.

The tournament, which will be held at Madison on Sept. 19, and Sept. 21, will feature NCAA Division I champion Howard University, Division II champion Adelphi, Division III champion Brockport State and Madison College, the co-champions of the Virginia Intercollegiate Soccer Association (VISA) and the Virginia College Athletic Association (VCAA) last season.

Madison will play Brockport State and Howard will take on Adelphi in the opening round of the tournament Sept. 19. The winners will then play for the tournament championship Sept. 21.

"We are really looking forward to our Tournament of Champions," said Madison head coach Bob Vanderwarker. "To my knowledge, it will be the first tournament to include the NCAA's Division I, Division II, and Division III national soccer champions."

The Dukes, who have not been beaten in their last 30 games against state competition (27-0-3), will play eight games against other Virginia colleges this fall. Madison has games scheduled with Virginia Tech, F.M.I., Washington & Lee, Old Dominion University, Roanoke College, Eastern Mennonite, Hampden-Sydney and Radford College.

Among the other top teams on the 16-game Madison schedule are Clemson University, the University of Maryland, George Washington University, Jacksonville University, Davidson and Towson State. Clemson and George Washington participated in the NCAA Southern Regional Tournament last season.

1975 MADISON COLLEGE SOCCER SCHEDULE

DAY	DATE	OPPONENT	SITE
Mon.	Sept. 8	Hampden-Sydney College	H
Fri.	Sept. 12	Davidson College	A
Sun.	Sept. 14	Clemson University	A
Mon.	Sept. 15	Radford College	A

TOURNAMENT OF CHAMPIONS AT MADISON

Fri.	Sept. 19	Madison vs. Brockport State
		Howard Unvi. vs. Adelphi
Sun.	Sept. 21	Consolation Game
		Championship Game
Sun.	Sept. 28	University of Maryland	H
Fri.	Oct. 3	Old Dominion University	H
Sun.	Oct. 5	Roanoke College	H
Sat.	Oct. 11	Eastern Mennonite College	A
Sat.	Oct. 18	George Washington Univ.	A
Sun.	Oct. 19	Towson State	A
Fri.	Oct. 24	Washington & Lee Univ.	H
Fri.	Oct. 31	Virginia Tech	H
Tues.	Nov. 4	V.M.I.	A
Sat.	Nov. 8	Jacksonville University	H

UNUSUAL MERCHANDISE

It's Harrisonburg's Most Unusual Stores

GLEN'S FAIR PRICE STORE

187 N. Main St.

8 Track Stereo Tapes
$2.99 each

GLEN'S GIFT CENTER

95 S. Main St.

Gifts of Distinction

Home Owned Stores With

FRIENDLY PEOPLE TO SERVE
YOU AND SOLVE YOUR NEEDS

Virginia
is for Lovers

Virginia is for Lovers

Theatre To Stage Comedy

In celebration of the Bicentennial, Madison College Theatre will begin its all-American 1975-76 season with the summer production of "Pursuit of Happiness," a satirical comedy set in Revolutionary War Connecticut.

The show focuses on American society as seen through the eyes of a Hessian soldier.

The cast includes Charles Pascale, making his first appearance on the Madison stage, as the Hessian, and Donna Glick as Prudence, his love interest.

Also in the cast are Robin Strange, who was Dr. Glass in "Carnival," Susan Powell, last seen in "Pots, Pans, Poof and the Piper," and Alan Rosenberg, who was Dr. Prentice in "What the Butler Saw."

Also appearing for the first time on the Madison stage are Sandi Blakemore, currently in Blackfriar's "Damn Yankees," Larry Bennett, Stephanie Harper, John Churchman, Jeff Lineweaver and Mark Roberts.

Directing Pursuit of Happiness is Dr. Thomas King, who last directed another satirical comedy, "What the Butler Saw."

The set will be designed by Allen Lyndrup, who designed the sets for "King Lear," "What the Butler Saw" and "Hedda Gabler."

Costumes will be provided by Pam Schulke, who designed the costumes for Madison's past theatre season.

"Pursuit of Happiness" opens July 31 and will run through Aug. 3.

Roth's 1-2-3

ROCCO AVE., off S. Main (Rt. 11) • 433-1200

2nd WEEK

CALL FOR TIMES

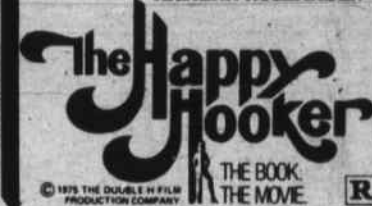

TWO GUYS A CHICK
AND THE HOTTEST '57 CHEVY
ON THE ROAD... EASY
CRUSIN... EASY DRAGGIN

CALL FOR TIMES

YOU KNOW ABOUT SEX.
NOW LEARN ABOUT LIFE.
DON'T BE EMBARRASSED TO SPEND
96 MINUTES IN A DARK ROOM WITH A HOOKER.

LYNN REDGRAVE
AS
XAVIERA HOLLANDER

2nd WEEK CALL FOR SHOW TIMES

SUPPOSE YOU KNEW WHO YOU HAD BEEN IN YOUR PREVIOUS LIFE... WHERE YOU HAD LIVED... WHOM YOU HAD LOVED AND HOW YOU HAD DIED... WHAT THEN?

The Reincarnation of Peter Proud

AN ELECTRIFYING
MOTION PICTURE