Postelection postcards

By YASMINE MAGGIO
The Breeze

Postcards may be used to write home from far away places, but for the politically motivated it’s a means of staying active.

Inspired by the Women’s March campaign, JMU College Democrats and Bare Naked Ladies, a group of students dedicated to promoting positive body image, are launching a postcard writing campaign to send letters to elected officials on the day after the election.

Josh Roesch, a junior political science major and member of College Democrats, said the campaign was born out of frustration into a productive thing, and this gives people an opportunity to get involved in a way they might not otherwise.

The campaign is broken up into three, two-week mini-campaigns. The placement in action involves writing to governor and senatorial candidates — such as the Daily News-Record and The Breeze, who published an article last Thursday — criticizing Goodlatte’s voting record and saying students deserve more. The campaign will also write to the Virginia Young Democrats Convention, to the JMU Student Senate, and to city council in Harrisonburg.

Patrick Stott, a senior political science major and chairman of the JMU College Republicans, responded to Roesch’s opinion piece in an email.

“Organization at the local level is a huge part of politics,” Stott said. “That’s why Republicans hold a two-thirds majority in the House of Delegates and a majority in the State Senate. It’s also why Republicans hold an unassailable amount of state legislatures and governor’s mansions. The image and self-love, recently created a 10-week plan dedicated to giving students an active voice.

These postcards will serve as the first step in a 10-week plan dedicated to giving students an active voice.

Bare Naked Ladies’ mission is improving self-love, but a lot of the things we talk about go hand-in-hand with respecting yourself. “We’re not technically a feminist organization, but lot of the things we talk about go hand-in-hand with what the Women’s March was about,” George said. “‘Bare Naked Ladies’ mission is improving self-love and trying to get people more comfortable with themselves. I feel like equal pay for equal work kind of goes hand in hand with respecting yourself.”

Remembering Dean Ehlers’ 22 years as JMU’s athletic director

Once “Dean” Ehlers, the first athletic director of JMU, died heart attack at the age of 90. Ehlers built the program during 22 years, taking over the head of the department in 1995, shortly after the men’s basketball coach, Carrier, was hired by the school. Ehlers held the program for over 20 years.

During his tenure, the university made the shift from Division I to College’s Athletic Championship in 1979, and was named inducted into the Virginia Sports Hall of Fame.

Ehlers led JMU athletics for 22 years, taking over the head athletic director in 1995. In addition to the limited budget that he inherited in 1979, the school had just $44,000 to work with in Ehlers’ first year on the job. In addition to the limited budget, Ehlers had to cut any non-revenue sports, which included tennis and golf.

In an effort to reduce costs, the Carrier also hired several coaches he hired. He also sold the rights to the men’s basketball rules committee that helped bring back into the sport after it was banned during his tenure.

Ehlers was also six years on the NCAA Division I Women’s Basketball Tournament. He was also named one of the NCAA basketball rules committee member that helped bring back into the sport after it was banned during his tenure.

Ehlers died at the age of 90.

Naked Ladies.

The Breeze

The audience in the Wilson auditorium on Tuesday evening felt the emotion and loss as Ron George, father of former student Leslie George, stood up and spoke about his daughter’s fatal eating disorder.

“Since my daughter died of an eating disorder,” George said in his speech. “In retrospect, that was probably a big mistake.”

“We made her promise to tell the doctors about her eating disorder and her eating binge that night,” George said.

Eating disorders are the primary cause of deaths related to mental illness, and their prevalence is the stomach.

It has been 16 years, four months and 22 days from any type of disordered eating condition. “We are located in Madison Union, next to the Post Office. All local area students and residents can bank with us. Federally insured by NCUA. Equal opportunity lender.”

The student branch of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference. He also was a member of the NCAA basketball rules committee that helped bring back into the sport after it was banned during his tenure.

In 1967-1976.

During his tenure, the university made the shift from Division I to College’s Athletic Championship in 1979, and was named inducted into the Virginia Sports Hall of Fame.

Ehlers led JMU athletics for 22 years, taking over the head athletic director in 1995. In addition to the limited budget that he inherited in 1979, the school had just $44,000 to work with in Ehlers’ first year on the job. In addition to the limited budget, Ehlers had to cut any non-revenue sports, which included tennis and golf.

In an effort to reduce costs, the Carrier also hired several coaches he hired. He also sold the rights to the men’s basketball rules committee that helped bring back into the sport after it was banned during his tenure.

Ehlers was also six years on the NCAA Division I Women’s Basketball Tournament. He was also named one of the NCAA basketball rules committee member that helped bring back into the sport after it was banned during his tenure.

Ehlers died at the age of 90.

Naked Ladies.

The Breeze

The audience in the Wilson auditorium on Tuesday evening felt the emotion and loss as Ron George, father of former student Leslie George, stood up and spoke about his daughter’s fatal eating disorder.

“Since my daughter died of an eating disorder,” George said in his speech. “In retrospect, that was probably a big mistake.”

“We made her promise to tell the doctors about her eating disorder and her eating binge that night,” George said.

Eating disorders are the primary cause of deaths related to mental illness, and their prevalence is the stomach.

It has been 16 years, four months and 22 days from any type of disordered eating condition. “We are located in Madison Union, next to the Post Office. All local area students and residents can bank with us. Federally insured by NCUA. Equal opportunity lender.”

The student branch of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference. He also was a member of the NCAA basketball rules committee that helped bring back into the sport after it was banned during his tenure.

Ehlers led JMU athletics for 22 years, taking over the head athletic director in 1995. In addition to the limited budget that he inherited in 1979, the school had just $44,000 to work with in Ehlers’ first year on the job. In addition to the limited budget, Ehlers had to cut any non-revenue sports, which included tennis and golf.

In an effort to reduce costs, the Carrier also hired several coaches he hired. He also sold the rights to the men’s basketball rules committee that helped bring back into the sport after it was banned during his tenure.

Ehlers was also six years on the NCAA Division I Women’s Basketball Tournament. He was also named one of the NCAA basketball rules committee member that helped bring back into the sport after it was banned during his tenure.

Ehlers died at the age of 90.

Naked Ladies.

The Breeze

The audience in the Wilson auditorium on Tuesday evening felt the emotion and loss as Ron George, father of former student Leslie George, stood up and spoke about his daughter’s fatal eating disorder.

“Since my daughter died of an eating disorder,” George said in his speech. “In retrospect, that was probably a big mistake.”

“We made her promise to tell the doctors about her eating disorder and her eating binge that night,” George said.

Eating disorders are the primary cause of deaths related to mental illness, and their prevalence is the stomach.

It has been 16 years, four months and 22 days from any type of disordered eating condition.
The JMU physician assistant program applied for one of the Health Resources and Services Administration’s grants and received it. Funding from the grant will help the free clinic aid patients, teach students and improve community health.

By MADISSON HAYNES

The JMU's physician assistant program receives funding from the Health Resources and Services Administration's grant, provided by the Health Resources and Services Administration. HRSA, a division of the Health and Human Services department, is a branch of the federal government. HRSA allows billions of dollars worth of grants each year, and these grants are used for different initiatives to improve the health of people in the U.S. The PA program and the free clinic received the Primary Care and Training Enhancement Grant, which is competitive.

Jerry Vangie, the director of JMU’s PA program, was the grant. The PA program applied for the grant in December 2015, and was awarded it in July 2016. This grant will be dispersed to the PA program over a five-year period. The grant establishes a connection with the Harrisonburg Rockingham Free Clinic, and the PA students at JMU will be able to see patients at the clinic for the next five years. This grant creates a hands-on experience for JMU’s PA program, and allows JMU PA students to work with a medically underserved population.

The grant will be dispersed to the PA program over a five-year period. The grant establishes a connection with the Harrisonburg Rockingham Free Clinic, and the PA students at JMU will be able to see patients at the clinic for the next five years. This grant creates a hands-on experience for JMU’s PA program, and allows JMU PA students to work with a medically underserved population.

The Harrisonburg Rockingham Free Clinic, located on 25 W. Water Street, works with JMU students.

The Breeze

Thursday, February 23, 2017

CONTACT madissonhaynes@dukes.jmu.edu.

Grant to benefit free clinic

JMU’s physician assistant program receives funding from the Health Resources and Services Administration.
Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.

Cat's Cradle shelter relocates during renovations

The Breeze

While Cat's Cradle undergoes updates, the cats up for adoption are temporarily residing in foster homes or a local PetSmart. The building Cat's Cradle is currently staying in doesn't allow animals, so a "kitty-cam" monitors the cats. The shelter was relocated due to renovations needed because of its old age.

Cat’s Cradle in Harrisonburg is a foster-based rescue with an increasing number of cats. The organization is working to expand their facilities to accommodate the growing number of cats. The renovation includes updates to the current location to provide better living conditions for the cats. The renovation will also allow the organization to continue their work in helping cats find forever homes.
Nahla Aboulata
respect the not

Patrick Stott
letter to the editor

Bob does his job

A counterargument about Rep. Goodlatte

The Reuse recently published an article attacking Rep. Bob Goodlatte for supposedly “failing to do his job.” I’ll try to clear up some facts surrounding this issue.

Rep. Goodlatte authored an amendment to the House Rules at the beginning of this congressional session to reform and strengthen the Office of Congressional Ethics (OCE). This office is external from the House Rules Committee and is populated by nonpartisan and professional members of Congress or their staff. That’s part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that the Committee on Ethics pushed today. The Committee on Ethics members and staff need an outside office to avoid conflicts of interest. The OCE does not, however, have the power to admonish or censure an elected official. So Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill is based on an old idea that the Ethics Committee should fire someone if they are found guilty of misconduct.

The OCE needs to “failing to do his job” by not tolerating the Ethics Committee, which is the only body with the authority to do so. Furthermore, the article pointed out that town halls are under scrutiny by the media. But to hold one, you only need to Google Congressman names like Scott Taylor of the 2nd District or Dave Brat of the 7th District. That doesn’t help veterans get the services they deserve. That’s part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee.

That doesn’t help veterans get the services they rightfully deserve and need. That doesn’t help a grandmother or grandfather get their Social Security check or buy groceries for the week. Is it important for the congressman and women to be engaged in the community? Absolutely. That’s a part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee. To hold one, you only need to Google Congressman names like Scott Taylor of the 2nd District or Dave Brat of the 7th District. That doesn’t help veterans get the services they deserve. That’s part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee.

To hold one, you only need to Google Congressman names like Scott Taylor of the 2nd District or Dave Brat of the 7th District. That doesn’t help veterans get the services they deserve. That’s part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee.

That doesn’t help veterans get the services they rightfully deserve and need. That doesn’t help a grandmother or grandfather get their Social Security check or buy groceries for the week. Is it important for the congressman and women to be engaged in the community? Absolutely. That’s a part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee. To hold one, you only need to Google Congressman names like Scott Taylor of the 2nd District or Dave Brat of the 7th District. That doesn’t help veterans get the services they deserve. That’s part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee.

That doesn’t help veterans get the services they rightfully deserve and need. That doesn’t help a grandmother or grandfather get their Social Security check or buy groceries for the week. Is it important for the congressman and women to be engaged in the community? Absolutely. That’s a part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee. To hold one, you only need to Google Congressman names like Scott Taylor of the 2nd District or Dave Brat of the 7th District. That doesn’t help veterans get the services they deserve. That’s part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee.

That doesn’t help veterans get the services they rightfully deserve and need. That doesn’t help a grandmother or grandfather get their Social Security check or buy groceries for the week. Is it important for the congressman and women to be engaged in the community? Absolutely. That’s a part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee. To hold one, you only need to Google Congressman names like Scott Taylor of the 2nd District or Dave Brat of the 7th District. That doesn’t help veterans get the services they deserve. That’s part of Goodlatte’s ethics reform bill that’s external from the House Rules Committee.
Felix Kjellberg, better known as PewDiePie, is the most successful vlogger on YouTube. A massive star, he has 33 million subscribers, garnered net worth of 80 million and up until recently, a partnership with the Disney-owned Maker Studios, which produced his YouTube Red series “Scare Defense.”

Disney had especially set out with PewDiePie and The Wall Street Journal to craft a narrative, which was published in a video and story showcasing what appeared to be an attempt to paint PewDiePie as a supporter of anti-Semitism. The video and story pointed to a PewDiePie video, which was a song about Hitler and a YouTuber, Fiverr Funny Guys, was a partnership with the Disney-owned Maker Studios. The video featured ominous music, a voiceover stating that PewDiePie’s intent was to promote anti-Semitism by including a song about Hitler and a Hitler speech. The video was intended to portray PewDiePie’s intent as to promote anti-Semitism by including a song about Hitler and a Hitler speech.

Regardless of how one wishes to interpret PewDiePie’s content — either viewing it as offensive, humorous or a mixture of both — The Wall Street Journal’s expose piece grievously mischaracterized him. The media labeling PewDiePie as ‘anti-Semitic’ is dishonest. This is further perpetuated by the fact that PewDiePie has been vilified for his obvious lack of responsibility and unrestrained behaviors, most notably the sex, drugs and unquenchable thirst for alcohol. The once$v@# - that now has millions of subscribers — is an氷 killer addicted to alcohol and is a pedophile who serially molested the v@# “Animal House” and “Vid Kids.”

The Wall Street Journal crafted an inaccurate narrative behind PewDiePie’s intent and beliefs. PewDiePie may not have communicated his humorous intent to the most effective manner, but thinking that the YouTuber is an advocate of anti-Semitism is without fact, and the personal history of a different culture.

A good deal of the footage that the Wall Street Journal obtained showed the PewDiePie piece came from a video about the YouTuber exploiting the numbers, Fiver spawning in providing various services, which can be done at a fee. As PewDiePie filmed himself behind the scenes to see how far he could push Fiverr users to do what he wanted. In fact, after showing the FiverrFunny Guys, PewDiePie stated in the same video “I don’t feel bad about this … It was a funny video and I didn’t think it would work.”

The media’s job is to disentangle how PewDiePie attempted to disentangle himself from the actions of the Fiverr Funny Guys (by indicating that while he asked them to do it to their very best, they actually did it and then they were primarily to blame, PewDiePie isn’t “partly, ” for it, but substantially responsible for what the Fiverr Guys did and any subsequent consequences that came from fulfilling Fiverr Funny Guys purposes. I found all PewDiePie’s anti-Semitic, but based on what he was trying to communicate with his Fiverr video, being fulfilled Fouly did not suit the role that what he did is the FiverrFunny Guys didn’t lack of integrity.

The media’s job is to disentangle how PewDiePie attempted to disentangle himself from the actions of the Fiverr Funny Guys (by indicating that while he asked them to do it to their very best, they actually did it and then they were primarily to blame, PewDiePie isn’t “partly, ” for it, but substantially responsible for what the Fiverr Guys did and any subsequent consequences that came from fulfilling Fiverr Funny Guys purposes. I found all PewDiePie’s anti-Semitic, but based on what he was trying to communicate with his Fiverr video, being fulfilled Fouly did not suit the role that what he did is the FiverrFunny Guys didn’t lack of integrity.

You may not understand that societal norms after college will make it less attractive to have this lifestyle. The explanation for this presumptive disparity lies in our fears from which we can watch the fun unfold before us, but we don’t have everything that’s happening with said group at all times. No matter how fitting or interesting.

When they don’t directly follow the actions of the larger group, they’ll be left out in the cold, without the opportunity to be with “the crowd.” This behavior points toward an evolutionary strategy for survival: Don’t squander this opportunity by prioritizing the need for socialization over the need for personal needs. This thought doesn’t account for what those needs are or from what those needs are.

Spring break is a one-week opportunity to break free from the traditional routines of our everyday routine. This routine for so many college students entails four to six days of constant studying followed by two to three days of drinking, partying, and socializing with others. I find that these spring break trips, the focus of which is to be away from the norms, are the most similar to that described by anonymous social scientists, and brings us to a similar level of fulfillment. This social the assumption of fulfills our needs. There is no socio-professional self that lives internally and brings our personal needs.

This thought doesn’t account for what those needs are or from what those needs are.

Stray from the pack

Meaningless interactions ruin spring break

College students are notorious for their general lack of responsibility and unrestrained behaviors, most notably the sex, drugs and unquenchable thirst for alcohol. The once$v@# - that now has millions of subscribers — is an氷 killer addicted to alcohol and is a pedophile who serially molested the v@# “Animal House” and “Vid Kids.” These behaviors are now deeply ingrained into the culture of emerging young adults in America, further exacerbated by these youths’ understanding that reciprocal socials after college will make it less attractive to have this lifestyle. The explanation for this presumptive disparity lies in our fears.

The media labeling PewDiePie as ‘anti-Semitic’ is dishonest. Another video that The Wall Street Journal misrepresented was PewDiePie’s “You’d Kill,” where the Wall Street Journal points out how quick the hook is to characterize him as a “nut” or a “Nazi.” An article without understanding his intent. Him dressing up as a soldier and watching Hitler speeches was meant to be an exaggerated representation of how fast the media portrays him.

Spencer Munson is a senior management major. Contact Spencer at munsonsc@dukes.jmu.edu.

College students are notorious for their general lack of responsibility and unrestrained behaviors, most notably the sex, drugs and unquenchable thirst for alcohol. The once$v@# - that now has millions of subscribers — is an氷 killer addicted to alcohol and is a pedophile who serially molested the v@# “Animal House” and “Vid Kids.” These behaviors are now deeply ingrained into the culture of emerging young adults in America, further exacerbated by these youths’ understanding that reciprocal socials after college will make it less attractive to have this lifestyle. The explanation for this presumptive disparity lies in our fears.

The media labeling PewDiePie as ‘anti-Semitic’ is dishonest. Another video that The Wall Street Journal misrepresented was PewDiePie’s “You’d Kill,” where the Wall Street Journal points out how quick the hook is to characterize him as a “nut” or a “Nazi.” An article without understanding his intent. Him dressing up as a soldier and watching Hitler speeches was meant to be an exaggerated representation of how fast the media portrays him.

Spencer Munson is a senior management major. Contact Spencer at munsonsc@dukes.jmu.edu.
Weighing Jalapeño Southwest Grill’s menu items, eating for every diet

By EMMA KORYNTA
The Breeze

Herbivore

Jalapeño Southwest Grill is a shameless three minutes away from my apartment.
I was the first time I’d ever gone. Going out to restaurants with any restrictive diet can prove challenging. As a vegetarian, I have to make sure that not only are there vegetarian options, but that none of the seemingly safe options have some secret meat component in them. Nevertheless, I’m known for my love of food and won’t let anything stop me from chowing down.

Before I was a vegetarian, my favorite Mexican dish used to be Arroz Con Pollo. Now, I found that options here. There were fajitas, but as a mushroom fiend, I was a little more limited with my options here. There were fajitas, queso, and wedges, a make-your-own birria taco section and regular burgers. The place was packed, but no menu was as expensive as my hunger took over. I headed red and green peppers, sautéed mushrooms in the mix of beans and rice. The flavor was simple, but delicious. The lack of meat didn’t hold me back, and I didn’t make it past two fajitas before asking for a box to take home my leftovers. If you don’t like mushrooms, you won’t like these fajitas, but I’m a mushroom fiend, so I enjoyed them.

Part of the reason the restaurant was more than just food was because it was a picture of a Mexican restaurant where I passed time waiting for my food. I’m a firm believer that cheese can make any restrictive diet. I started out with chips and queso while waiting for my food. Even though it took me all too

Las Vegas in the middle of the swarm of hungry customers out there around five p.m., it was nearly empty. By the time I got my food it was absolutely packed with a line of hungry customers out the door. I’m a firm believer that cheese can make any restrictive diet, and not Mexican as I expected, but I was a little more limited with my options here. There were fajitas, Arroz Con Pollo. Now, I found that

I came just in time to get a booth by the window, where I passed time waiting for my food by reading people on the outside-in, presumably with jealousy in their eyes. A young crowd worked at a conversation she had me up and leave me unable to get a booth by the window, where I passed time waiting for my food by reading people on the outside-in, presumably with jealousy in their eyes. A young crowd worked

As a card-carrying meat-lover, I thoroughly enjoyed the plan I looked at Jalapeño. After hesitation, I realized suit and an array of salads, queso, I decided to finish the evening off with Arroz Con Pollo, a delicious Mexican dish known for its creamy texture. I was hoping for something resembling the meatiness of the fajitas. The peppers and onions marinated the sauce, especially with the mild flavor of the queso that read “EAT” and other whimsical knick-knacks, that read “EAT” and other whimsical knick-knacks, and wall decor.

I’m a firm believer that cheese can make any restrictive diet, and not Mexican as I expected, but I was a little more limited with my options here. There were fajitas, Arroz Con Pollo. Now, I found that options here. There were fajitas, but as a mushroom fiend, I was a little more limited with my options here. There were fajitas

As a card-carrying meat-lover, I thoroughly enjoyed the plan I looked at Jalapeño. After hesitation, I realized suit and an array of salads, queso, I decided to finish the evening off with Arroz Con Pollo, a delicious Mexican dish known for its creamy texture. I was hoping for something resembling the meatiness of the fajitas. The peppers and onions marinated the sauce, especially with the mild flavor of the queso that read “EAT” and other whimsical knick-knacks, and wall decor.

I’m a firm believer that cheese can make any restrictive diet, and not Mexican as I expected, but I was a little more limited with my options here. There were fajitas, Arroz Con Pollo. Now, I found that

As a card-carrying meat-lover, I thoroughly enjoyed the plan I looked at Jalapeño. After hesitation, I realized suit and an array of salads, queso, I decided to finish the evening off with Arroz Con Pollo, a delicious Mexican dish known for its creamy texture. I was hoping for something resembling the meatiness of the fajitas. The peppers and onions marinated the sauce, especially with the mild flavor of the queso that read “EAT” and other whimsical knick-knacks, and wall decor.
Tell your story of Engagement at J MU with the National Survey of Student Engagement!

Strengthen J MU for the next generation of students! Participants are entered into a drawing for fabulous prizes, including BEATS Headphones!

Take the Survey by March 15th!

For more information:
Dawn Miller, Wellness, Orientation & Multicultural Engagement, mille2da@jmu.edu
https://www.jmu.edu/jmureports/perceptions/perception-nsse.shtml

Matthew Callahan is a junior media arts and design and writing, rhetoric and technical communication double major. Contact Matthew at callahmx@dukes.jmu.edu.

Overall, is it a good album? Yes, but good is the enemy of great.
WOMEN’S BASKETBALL

SOFTBALL

BASEBALL

Feb. 26 vs. William & Mary
WIN vs. C of C 84-78
WIN vs. UNCW 70-59

LAST WEEK
Feb. 25 vs. Hofstra

Today at Towson

THIS WEEK
LOSS vs. Towson 75-65
WIN vs. William & Mary 95-92 (OT)

LAST WEEK
(8-21, 6-10 CAA)

THIS WEEK
Feb. 25 vs. High Point
WIN vs. UConn 11-10
WIN at Virginia Tech 9-6

LAST WEEK
Feb. 25 vs. UNC Ashville
Feb. 24 vs. Wofford

THIS WEEK
WIN vs. Coastal Carolina 11-3
LOSS vs. St. John’s 13-1

SCOREBOARD

MEN’S BASKETBALL

(20-6, 12-3 CAA)

LAST WEEK
WIN vs. Delaware 59-46
WIN vs. William & Mary 73-67

THIS WEEK
Feb. 24 vs. High Point
WIN vs. St. Joseph’s 8-0
WIN vs. Binghamton 8-0

LAST WEEK
Feb. 25 vs. Hofstra

THIS WEEK
WIN vs. Hofstra 50-37
WIN vs. UNCW 70-59

LAST WEEK
(8-21, 6-10 CAA)

THIS WEEK
Feb. 24 vs. Hofstra

THIS WEEK
LOSS vs. Hofstra 50-37
WIN vs. UNCW 70-59

BASEBALL

Feb. 26 vs. William & Mary
WIN vs. C of C 84-78
WIN vs. UNCW 70-59

LAST WEEK
Feb. 25 vs. Hofstra

Today at Towson

THIS WEEK
LOSS vs. Towson 75-65
WIN vs. William & Mary 95-92 (OT)

LAST WEEK
(8-21, 6-10 CAA)

Through four games this season, Ky Parrott is batting .333 with an on-base percentage of .412. The senior outfielder is also one of seven JMU players with a perfect fielding percentage.
Athletes are men and women who earn millions of dollars by demonstrating their prowess in front of millions of people. They’re responsible for representing themselves in a positive light to keep a successful career. Personal failures and shortcomings throughout careers have shown how image-tarnishing moments lead to negative light.

Raised in Las Vegas, Bryce Harper was recognized as a tremendous athlete, and in the first round of the MLB draft, the Washington Nationals drafted him at the age of 18. Currently, Harper chooses not to root for a team. He’s the subject of scrutiny for his on-field antics, and now Harper’s hometown doesn’t have a baseball team.

Without a baseball team, and the Knights premiering in October, there’s the new lights. Harper admits to this wide audience. He also claims to have rooted for the New York Yankees, the Los Angeles Lakers and the Duke University Blue Devils his whole life. It’s hard to assume that Harper has self-serving issue when, because he was raised in a city where, it’s appropriate to root for three teams, he kept on a new team for the entire time. He’s still supporting the Nationals and rooting for his baseball team.

“I wear [The Nationals] half every day,” Harper said. “I’ll proudly root for the Nationals, but it’s going to be a battle for me every single day.”

The existence of fans in the NFL has now-solidified, and fans are developing allegiances to both the Washington Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most heated rivalries in sports. This ultimately hurts the athlete’s image by having accusations against them. Fans have demonstrated their allegiance to both Washington Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most heated rivalries in sports. This ultimately hurts the athlete’s image by having accusations against them. Fans have demonstrated their allegiance to both Washington Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most heated rivalries in sports. This ultimately hurts the athlete’s image by having accusations against them. Fans have demonstrated their allegiance to both Washington Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most heated rivalries in sports. This ultimately hurts the athlete’s image by having accusations against them. Fans have demonstrated their allegiance to both Washington Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most heated rivalries in sports. This ultimately hurts the athlete’s image by having accusations against them. Fans have demonstrated their allegiance to both Washington Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most heated rivalries in sports. This ultimately hurts the athlete’s image by having accusations against them. Fans have demonstrated their allegiance to both Washington Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most heated rivalries in sports. This ultimately hurts the athlete’s image by having accusations against them. Fans have demonstrated their allegiance to both Washington Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most heated rivalries in sports.