Junior Day Marks Success
Again For Class of 1930

We're Glad for the JUNIOR Class.
To my friends—

God has given me you, my friends—
To know, to love, to trust—
At the dawn of each new day, I thank Him for you,
For each day I live more—
Each day I trust more.
And each day that life
Is more worth living.
Because you are my friends.

A Tribute to the Seniors

To the Seniors! So small would be a worded tribute from us in comparison with our depth of feeling for you that it seems trivial to say this to you. You as a fresh, final class, with the change of the student body by which I mean all the happy people to which the world might give you in just entrance on the stage of life.

But with their leaving, we were given another relation in place—this time an acquisition of responsibility. We didn't dare to hope for your happiness—your eternal happiness! We have just finished another quarter of work; our teachers have decided to take an inventory. Of course we should not measure all by "A" or "B" standards and ideals of this society. But suppose as you walked down the hall, you found yourself in the company of one of our girls—would you have had a class as to which we could look up, with almost tho knowledge that he as well as another class, were our "sisters," and that you are leaving us to step into your positions brings a higher sense of responsibility. It is our wish that you'll let us mean all of what "big sisters" should. It is our hope, not only to the club itself, but to the University of Richmond Glee Club, and several numbers alone from WPA. The clubs were the happiest moments of the quarter, and have been received by the radio audiences, with great interest. While the glee club at Richmond are to be entertained at West Hampton. From Richmond the glee club will go to Washington, D. C. and be entertained at the National Union of Richmond Glee Club. The University of Richmond Glee Club will appear here April 29.

Debaters Name New Members

Once again the saying of "Friends, Romans, and Countrymen, lend me your ears" is heard in connection with the University of Virginia Glee Club. The University of Richmond Glee Club has elected a new set of officers.

The members pledged to uphold the standards and ideals of this society.

The Work of the Debating Society

The work of the Debating Society this quarter will consist chiefly of debates and orations with other colleges. We should also be able to succeed in so far as the Debating Society is concerned.

Debaters Name New Members

The work of the Debating Society this quarter will consist chiefly of debates and orations with other colleges. A successful season is eagerly looked by all the society.

Did You Know That?

The Jengalpe, fiddles, and dandies bloomed today because the junior colors are yellow and white.

Senior colors of '29 will be the largest class ever to graduate from the college.

Mary Brown is Alumnus.

The Phylipson family is discovered to be the seniors of the Alpha Phi, a group who is not 100% strong for her alumna status.

The Jephyrs have been shining all day with junior colors and will still be "Up in the Air" tonight.

The junior class is the best class on the campus.

The scholarship is valued at $500 per year. The donor of the scholarship is John Alexander, president of the Alexander Eaglerock company.

FRATES BUY SAND FOR BUTTER

Minneapolis, Minn.—Screwing up 64 pounds of pure butter at a price of 8 cents a pound, the Frates Company, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, medical fraternity at the University of Minnesota, found that the butter was worth more than its weight in gold. The butter was three inches of butter and 75 pounds of sand, all of which was delivered at the Frates fraternity house.

A peddler who advertised the fresco recently gave an advertisement to sell the butter at an extra cent a pound under the market price, because he was overstocked and wanted to make a quick profit. After consulting the cook, who ac cepted the use of the sand in the butter, John Dock, president of the fraternity purchased the whole tub. A peddler was asked for the butter and was told that it was well worth the price. The peddler paid for the butter with a token of respect and admiration for the Frates fraternity.

"Surely," said the peddler, "we are looking at the last pin-age wavered not. We knew that sun-year. Oh—wonder lots of things. Wonder who'll get the hope chest next year. With eager joyous youth in our shine and rain are sometimes just a peak, and then the Class of '30 found back until to-morrow. Glad I did."
FLOATING UNIVERSITY STUDENTS HAVE TREAT

When the Floating University visited Bangkok recently the students were guests of King Rama VII of Siam according to a cabin just received at the home office of the University, 11 Broadway, New York City.

The Floating University students left New York City on November 13 after the S. S. President Wilson and shore sailing they have visited 20 ports and have made trips to many places of historic and educational interest.

Upon their arrival in Bangkok the Floating University students were received by King Rama in the Throne Room. After the reception, the King and the guests attended a performance at the Royal SIam Theater. Later during their stay, the students visited the King's court by presenting their musical comedy "FLOATING AROUND" for his pleasure. The music and lyrics of this show were entirely the work of the students and women students. The King speaks English, sound much pleased.

The students were allowed complete freedom during their stay and visited all points of interest in Bangkok and the surrounding area. In parts of Bangkok sailless served as steers and the students made a complete tour of the Royal Palace.

The Royal Palace is situated near the Temple grounds where in the famous Emerald Buddha stands. It is guarded by the sacred gates of Wat Phra Kaeo, which are almost never opened even in foreign envoys.

A feature of the students visit at the Palace was the fact that the mid-year examinations were held there.

The grandeur and strangeness of the surroundings did not disturb the students in their efforts to make good grades, according to Dr. Edward A. Bass, Director of Education. At the conclusion of their nine days visit, King Rama again addressed the students in the Throne Room. He complimented them on their industry and student habits and called them splendid ambassadors in the cause of International Good Will.

NEW AWARDS IN AIRCRAFT ACADEMY

Colorado Springs, Colo.—As a result of an unusual amount of college interest in the Alexander Eagle Aircraft Awards for 1929, both an Eaglegreek airplane and an aeronautics scholarship will be awarded this year made known from the offices of Dr. Alexander A. Lamb, head of the Alexander Aircraft Company here.

Surprise notices are now asked to specify whether they are competing for the Eaglegreek or the four-year university scholarship. The scholarship has been installed in the Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics at New York University.

Four short papers on aeronautics, written as quickly and containing as many practical ideas as possible are required of the competing students. The manuscript must be submitted to the Committee on Awards before May 15.

Professor Alexander Klein, head of the Guggenheim school at New York University, is chairman of the committee which will select the most promising student for the scholarship. A second committee, composed of prominent California, New Mexico and other aeronauts will confer with the Alexander Aircraft Company, will award the Eaglegreek. The awards will be conferred May 15.

The contest is intended to interest American college students in competitive aeronautics, now rated ninth in the ranks of American industries.

COLLEGE MEANINGS AND COMMENTS

Elizabath Knight—Editor

Guilford, College, N. C. in all be congratulated on having an aminium as its president in the person of Dr. Joseph M. Blair, who has been appointed as the first Assistant Secretary of Interior for the Indians administration.

Farnam girls are fortunate in having a new play house. The Longwood estate has been acquired and the old fashioned barn is to be used for the recreation of the students. We wish them every joy in it.

The University of Virginia Choral Club was received in Tulane University and Oxford, just before they came here.

The Boating Club of Westhampton is meeting Temple and N. C. The rest of their schedule is arranged with Southern colleges. Good luck to them.

The needs of course can take their place with all capable students. Eleven weeks of classes and May will end with the end of the year examinations were held there.

A student of the State Normal School of Petersburg, Va. has written that the social events be scheduled like the classes. Such a suggestion would be helpful to all. Should we not demand a foundation on which to build. There is no reason why we can not have some of the pleasant things out.

BOOKS REVIEWED AND CRITICIZED

Lillian Serry—Editor

Jean Lowell's "The Cradle of the Deep," published in March, is a selection of the Book of the Month Club by the editorial Board.

With the opening pages, the reader can readily understand the Board's selection of the book as a pleasant and diverting form of travel.

"The Cradle of the Deep" is a personal narrative of a cruise to the Levant, The story is a contrast from the usual run of travel narratives written by women, and interest that makes it a book to be read as a story, or treated as a novel of adventure.

"The Cradle of the Deep" is a story of Levantine sailing-mainly in the case of elephants, and to outswear the most plasphemous man of her acquaintance. The narrative is written in a style that is not only pleasing, but also interesting, and it is a story that is sure to hold the book till it is finished.
