The speaker in Chapel, Wednesday, was Miss Bernard, assistant to the president of the Parent-Teachers Association.

The keynote of the organization is that it is responsible for the education of the child which, of course, is entirely in keeping with modern progressive methods in teaching.

The Parent National Congress of Parents and Teachers is a marvelous educational achievement. If there is any human organization of the century which is learned born it is the parent-teacher association, where education is solving problems of babyhood, childhood, and youth in the greatest crisis it has ever known. There is no more important organization in the world today. The spirit of cooperation marks every important action of the organization—Editorial from School Life.

A new student member, Miss Doan, was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Edge when he will return to Washington Dec. 10. The London Naval disarmament parliam during that period, but there are no plans to return. The President and Government will return to Washington Dec. 10. The London Naval disarmament parl

The usual Sunday Y. W. C. A. services were held in the main room, December 1. Many of the girls were away from home before the service was well attended.

Elizabeth Burns, president of the Y. W. C. A. led the services, reading the Bible lesson and in prayer. The Y. W. C. A. services were again successful.

The intereant evening was held in Blue Stone Dining Hall Thursday. On Friday morning November 29th, Govemor Allen in a radio broadcast announced December 1st that tax reduction for the parent-teacher association is an important factor in American life and work for our national betterment. —John J. Davis, Secretary of Labor.

Like the development of the public school system itself, and perhaps more important, the development of the parent-teacher association is an indication of the attitude of the American people toward the future. The spirit of cooperation marks every important action of the organization—Editorial from School Life.

THAT THANKSGIVING SPIRIT

The Thanksgiving season has passed. The foot ball, the collegiate array of courses and school colors formed from low-lit2ing, the browned turkey, the holiday spirit are all gone for the time being.

However, the factor that makes Thanksgiving a holiday, a time observed nationally, should be still in our hearts. There it should remain — that spirit of Thanksgiving with which the holiday was incorporated. William Bradford and his hardy, sturdy, God-fearing Puritan Tribe sat down to their meal with praise and thankfulness on their lips. Time with its changes and vicissitudes, vicariously at least, through sharing their experiences, has brought a multitude of fortunes, hope, and good luck to the world. Thus, the Spirit of Thanksgiving should be a national feeling with which the holiday was incorporated. THE PROPHET"S LEMERICK

When holidays arrive,
Even teachers cannot
When girls rush out to catch the bus;
We're mightily glad to be alone,
We wish that we were;
But rush out to catch the bus.
