Madison College, for the first time in the school's history, will host a "Black Emphasis Week," a series of activities to take place April 10-19. The purpose of the week is to explore the contributions of Black people in academic and culture areas that include music, history and art.

Academic contributions by Blacks will be introduced to Madison students through a series of visiting lecturers. The first of these lectures will be presented by Nikki Giovanni, a noted black poet. Miss Giovanni is a graduate of Fisk University and is an Honorary Doctor of Humanities of Wilberforce University. She is acclaimed for her books "Black Feeling, Black Talk" and "Be: Creation" which combine propaganda, wild and witty verse. She has traveled in Europe and Africa and is often referred to as the "Princess of Black Poetry." In addition to her poetry works, Miss Giovanni is a controversial lecturer on politics and the changing roles of men and women in today's society. She will speak on Thursday, April 12, at 8:00 p.m. in the Campus Ballroom.

Three additional lecturers, Mrs. Davis T. Schile, Dr. Charles Simmins, and Mrs. Eva Clayton are also scheduled to speak throughout the week in the Campus Center Ballroom. Mr. Schile is a psychologist from the University of Denver, who has received a Ph.D. degree from McMurry College and a MA degree from Case Western Reserve. He will speak on Monday, April 16 at 8:00 p.m., on "Black Is Beautiful—White Is Beautiful." Dr. Simmins is a historian and will talk on "Confederate Exile in Brazil—African Blacks in Brazil," Tuesday April 17, at 3:00 p.m. Mrs. Clayton is a noted black poet, will highlight her books "Black Feeling, Spring Show." Time for the performance is 8:00 p.m. at Savage Auditorium in Godwin Hall.

The musical activities include: a concert to Wilson Auditorium on Friday, April 13 featuring "The Jimmy Castor Bunch; a dance on Saturday, April 14, to the Campus Center Ballroom; the Campus Coffee House featuring Art Evans, April 10, 11, 13, and 14; and the "History of Black Music," Sunday April 15 in Wilson Auditorium. Advance tickets of $2.00 for the concert will be on sale beginning Monday the 9th to Wednesday the 11th. tickets of $2.00 for the concert will be on sale beginning Monday the 9th to Wednesday the 11th.

Other activities over the two week period will include the presentations of two plays, "Stelphus and the Blue Eyed Cyclops," and "A Lion Roams the Streets," by the Women's College later, including an announcement on the specific option available in each dorm.

The five options are as follows:

- Open House on special occasions only
- Open House on weekends only
- Open House on weekends plus two days from Monday through Thursday.
- Open House one day a week.
- Apartment style living at Shoulter Apartments.

Music will also be given special attention during "Black Emphasis Week." Various programs have been designed to expose the many facets of black musical contributions. The musical activities include:

- A concert in Wilson Auditorium on Friday, April 13 featuring "The Jimmy Castor Bunch; a dance on Saturday, April 14, in the Campus Center Ballroom; the Campus Coffee House featuring Art Evans, April 10, 11, 13, and 14; and the "History of Black Music," Sunday April 15 in Wilson Auditorium. Television—Part II

By Lewis H. Sword

Entertainment on CBS is often the most entertaining on television, but criticism of such a pretense at comedy and variety are consequently pointed out. The network has a fairly stable lineup of programs which have kept its audience at arm's length and the truly abysmal almost out of sight.

Like ABC, CBS relies heavily on situation comedies in its prime time schedule, with a difference: most of the CBS comedies are fairly good. "All in the Family" is at times the very best thing around—it is satirical, certainly genuine and spectacularly funny. "Mary Tyler Moore" and "The Smothers Brothers Show" exhibit consistently good writing and performance; "The New Dick Van Dyke Show" though suffering from an unmanageable large and disgruntled cast, is improving steadily.

"Maude," a controversial newcomer to CBS, has been erratic, sometimes excruciatingly humorous to "relevance," but is generally above average.

"Barnaby Jones," another new show, is about a Jewish-Catholic marriage. The first season has been an exposition of 36 ways in which such a marriage can be (not quite humorously) embarrassing. After the first viewing, it gets rather dreary.

"Here's Lucy" is a disastrous hangover from the traditional school of situation comedy. It is almost unbelievable that Lucille Ball continues to extol old 1950's "I Love Lucy" plots every week. As a gravel-voiced, grannymotherly caricature of the Lucy that a more innocent world loved twenty years ago, she is nothing other than grotesque. This is to miss it.

There is not much new in the detective-police vein from CBS. The routine formula dramas, such as "Barnaby Jones" and "The New Dick Van Dyke Show," are destined to plod on forever. "Mission Impossible," though more improbable than impossible, continues to be mildly interesting in the clock-work perfection of its plots. "Cannon" is the Fat Lip entry in the field, interesting at best in the character of William Conrad as hero. "Barnaby Jones" is a new mid-season replacement, with Bobby Ewing (yes?) playing the private eye nothing much new there.

"Medical Center" continues to thrive, although there is no reason for it. "Gunsmoke," one of the two Westerns remaining on television, has probably survived simply because it was the best and most entertaining of the old bunch. That, however, is not an extreme compliment.

There are all of three variety shows on CBS, of varying quality. The "Carol Burnett Show," without a doubt the most inventive and satisfying variety show on television; Ms. Burnett is one of the very few comedians who can be funny and feminine at the same time.

"The Sonny and Cher Show" is about a Jewish-Catholic marriage. The situation comedy has been mostly a success, but the show has yet to establish itself as a prime-time hit. "The Smothers Brothers Show," with its satirical and genuine humor, is Improving steadily.

The fourth floor of William Conrad as hero. "Barnaby Jones" is a new mid-season replacement, with Bobby Ewing (yes?) playing the private eye nothing much new there.

Dear Editor:

No one is better suited than the administration to discuss the policies and programs of the past and present. But to prepare for the future, we must have a thorough exhance the nation's welfare. We should be asking how did the earth's greatest power get involved in a colonial war, then proceed to waste $20,000 American lives and come back and call the treaty an honorable peace, whereas any intelligent observer would be giving it a conservative account if it was described as the United States' most foolishly military and political blunder in its 200 year history (though the Watergate caper ranks high up there.)

Aline, we are Americans reverting back to pre-war thinking and continue to bow to America's greatest myth. That of omnipotence. Contempo-lized in this myth is to sup-

is to the administration's eyeseps and continue to make policy based on information submitted by the few who have only consideration is not what's wrong or right or what is the truth, but what's best for those few. I was not referring to attacks upon the Administration by the Newsmen and the press. What I'm referring to is the people within the Government who may have the insight to certain problems, but are suppressed or disposed of.

At the time this column was written by a good look at itself and the hated that comes from it. We should realize that if we continue to follow blindly and unquestioningly the fads that run through the country, it will not be long until another 50,000 men who scores of women and chi-len are sent to war, are considered as being of no importance.

What is Culture?

Dear Editor:

STOP: Was yours one of the daring deliriums that occupied approximately two square feet of space in Wilson Auditorium last Saturday night? Our two dittos were among the prigled few who were fortunate enough to attend the Charlie Byrd concert.

We are sure there are more people on campus who can make better use of their time spend-ning a few hours in the auditorium than spending a few hours listen-

Broadcast Day Offered April 6, 7

By, ANTHONY SEGRAVES
WMRA and the Broadcasting Division of the Department of Speech and Drama are announcing Broadcast Day today and tomorrow, April 6 and 7. Students and interested persons are invited to attend the programs at 10 am, 2 pm, and 3:30 pm in the Warren Campus Center today. Job opportunities and requirements as well as what changes are taking place in the broadcasting field will be the topics discussed in the programs. A question and answer period will follow the speaker presentations at the Placement Panel and Specialists' Panel Forum.

Tomorrow everyone is invited to participate in the "Haystack Scramble" on the quad at 12:00 noon. Pieces of paper worth valuable gifts as well as gift certificates will be placed in vials and hidden in the large hay stack. WMRA will broadcast a remote all day from the quad with special guest announcers, interviews, and student programs.

CABARET Is A 'First'

By JOHN W. RAYNES

The upcoming production of CABARET marks the first combined effort of the Departments of Music, Dance, and Speech at Drama in the history of Drama at Madison. William C. Kramer, Director of Academic Theatre, is the production director for the show. Mr. Kramer came to the campus from the Ohio State University, where he is a candidate for a Ph.D. in Theatre. Chester L. Jordan, Technical Director. Most students will remember Mr. Jordan from his campaign to KEEP OUR TOWN earlier this year. It will be Mr. Jordan’s responsibility to supervise the building and the execution of the sets for the musical.

David Watkins and Dr. George West, both of the Music Department, are handling the music chores for the production. Mr. Watkins is the Choral Director, responsible for all of the singing in the Chorus. The Production Director, responsible which has been working with the orchestra, is in charge of the orchestra, is Mr. Watkins. So, Mr. Watkins is in charge of the orchestra. The Production Director, responsible for the production, is Mr. Watkins. The production director, responsible for the show, is Mr. Watkins. Morrison Elected AIAW President

Dr. L. Lewin Morrison, Director of the Women's Intercollegiate Sports Program and Professor of Physical Education at Madison College in Harrisonburg, Va., has been elected to the position of President-Elect of the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women.

Dr. Morrison will serve a three-year term of office on the AIAW Executive Board; serving one year as President-Elect, one year as President and one year as Past-President.

Dr. Morrison has been very active in the development of intercollegiate programs for women in the south and in Virginia. Under her leadership, the intercollegiate program at Madison has grown to include teams for women in eleven sports.

For the past three years Dr. Morrison has served as President of the Virginia Federation for Intercollegiate Sports for College Women.

Dr. Morrison served as chairman of the Intercollegiate Committee for the Southern Association of Physical Education for College Women from 1966-71. She was the acting regional representative for AIAW Region II from 1971-72 and since 1971 she has been the editor of AIAW Newsletter and Interim News.

Dr. Morrison has coached basketball and field hockey teams and officiated for field hockey, basketball, volleyball and swimming competition. She has also participated in numerous national workshops concerned with coaching, officiating and conducting intercollegiate programs.

In 1970, Dr. Morrison received the Distinguished Service Award from the Virginia Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation for her contributions to the field of physical education.

Dr. Morrison received a B.S. in Education from George Washington College for Women, an MA from George Peabody College for Teachers and the PED degree from Indiana University.

Duchesses Defeated

By DEBBY WRIGHT

The Women's Varsity Lacrosse team met with another disappointing defeat on Wednesday when they fell to Frostburg State College by a score of 15-14. In spite of their loss, the Duchesses played a fine game which was highlighted offensively by the eight goals of right attack wing, Dee McDonough and the four goals of first home, Pat Kelley. Freshman point, Barb Kelley, also had a good day at the goal, blocking shots.

The game was dedicated to sophomore goals, Jean Frey who was prevented from receiving the honor by having an excellent day in the cage. Co-very point, Lynn Craun also led the team defensively with her numerous interceptions and blocked shots.

Both teams travel to the University of Maryland on Saturday where they will meet high-level competition. On Sunday, the teams will be in Stanford, Delaware when they will participate in the U.S.W.L.A. clubs Tournament.

Mechanics Class

The third and last Auto Mechanics class will begin Tuesday, April 10. The class, which will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, is geared toward those who know little or nothing about automobiles.

Sign-up for this class will be Thursday, April 5 until Monday, April 9 in Room 103, Alumnae Hall.

Netters Take Two
By BUCK GASTRELL

The Madison College Men's Tennis team rolled over opponents from EMC and Roanoke College in the previous week's action, bringing their season record to 2-1.

Last Friday, the Netters travelled cross-town to EMC and thrashed the Royals, 8-1. With the return of Alan Mayer and Jim Morris playing doubles, the Netters were at full strength and showed it by taking all matches except the number three singles.

On Tuesday the Dukes hosted the Maroons of Roanoke College in an exciting doubles match. Allen Mayer and Jim Morris displayed their partnership ability by taking the Maroons top two doubles.

In an exciting doubles match, Al Mayer and Jim Morris played a strong match, but were defeated in the third set by the Maroons. The Netters will be away at Bridgewater College today at 1:00 and will host GMC tomorrow at 2:00.

Beauty, Security For Campus

By KEVIN COYLE

A landscaping and outside lighting project is nearing completion on the front campus, the office of Public Information reported this week. The project involves the planting of a fourteen foot wide strip of holly bushes on both sides of the quad and the installation of about eighty high intensity street lamps at a total cost of approximately $42,000: $4000 for the landscaping and $38,000 for the lights.

The lights are being installed partly as a security measure, providing ample illumination of some of the darker areas of the front campus to discourage potential rapists, muggers, exhibitionists, etc. They are being installed along the walk from Madison Memorial Library past Wilson, and on to Moody Hall. Lights are also being installed behind Keezel, Moody, and Wilson Halls. Lights are also being installed along both sides of the quad from Wilson down to Main Street.

About a dozen trees of a high trunk variety will be planted at the Main Street end of the quad, leaving only the Wilson Hall end and the quad open.

Forum Presents Singers

On April 8, Sunday, at 7 pm the Agape Singers from Ferrum College will be in Concert in the Warren Campus Center Ballroom. This 40-voice Folk Musical Group will present selections from "Life and Love", "Godspell", and "Jesus Christ Superstar". This will be sponsored by the Wesley Foundation and the concert will be Free.
