LEADING PRINCIPLES OF THE AMERICAN BOOK EXCHANGE:
I. Publish only books of real value.
II. Work upon the basis of present cost of making books, about half what it was a few years ago,
III. Sell to buyers direct, and saye them the 50 or 10 per cent. commission commonly allowed to lealers. dealers.

IV. The cost of books when made 10,000 at a time is but a fraction of the cost when made 500 at a time—adopt the low price and sell the large quantity.

V. Use good type, paper, etc., do careful printing and strong neat binding, but avoid all "padding, fat and heavily-leaded type, spongy paper and gaudy hinding, which are so commonly recorted to to make books appears farge and line, and which greatly add to their cost, but do not add to their value.

VI. To make $1 and a friend is better than to make $5 and an enemy.

MOLONEY'S NEW GOAT.

A small but sparsely-freckled Natoma street boy sat in the police-court dock weeping bitterly. He was charged by his father with disturbing the peace and leading a dissolute life, and the Industrial School Burglars' Infant Class yawned before him. Between his penitent sobs he told his story in a well-bred, straightforward manner that very favorably impressed both the fiant to thy his hat at the ambuscade. judge and the spectators. His name The ambuscade took in the shy, but was Moloney. His father was a contractor, who, with four carts and several tons of cobble stones that he had laid down as new and taken up as old an honest political living. They took a newspaper, and the unfortunate boy read an incendiary item to the effect had discovered that a goat was an ex- in the vacant stall fronting him. cellent thing to keep in a stable along with horses, as it would face fire and the horses would follow it through

Would the man paralysis. He told him to cheer up, sell it? He would. Not only that, he however, and he would see about his had more goats than he could properly cultivate and train, and he would give this one away because he liked the lit tle boy's looks. Could he take it now? He could. And the poor, unsuspecting boy saw not through the false and designing schemes of the goatman. They started for Natoma street, the goat leading the boy. The latter proposed to go home, but the former hadn't seen the foundries or the ferry or the work on the sea wall at North Beach for some time, and thought, as he had time, he would inspect it. He felt pretty good for a goat. Whenever a horse went by or a dog hove in sight he would get up on his hind legs and walk Spanish, while the dogs let out for the Mission and the children on the front piazzas had fits on an average of about eight to the block. The boy recited the Lord's Prayer in ejac ulatory sections and stayed with him. The tension of the rope, except when the goat stopped to climb over a fence and inspect a garden or wrestle with a choice bit of boiler iron, was very trying. Finally, the goat got an idea and ricocheted up Mission street in jumps that would have sprained the ankle of any goat but him. The boy acted as a rudder and steered him to Natoma street. It was after dark. There was hay in the stable visible through the open door. The goat debated the matter for a while, and then went in. The boy said nothing about the investment to his kind and loving parents. He was a little in doubt. When he crept into his little bed and heard a dull thud at intervals, followed by the splintering of timbers, be knew that the goat was practicing on the bran-box and making a bull's eye every time. By-and-by it grew silent, and he trembled for the fate of the harness, and hoped that a buckle would choke his darned investment. Fortunately his father was down at the grocery and knew nothing. He would come home so full of politics that he couldn't tell a goat from a six-bit umbrella unless the goat had a chance to explain. He hoped that his father would not go to the stable. He prayed that he would not. He had faith and confidence in his father, but he doubted that goat. The three-dollar clock in the bedroom struck eleven, and he knew by that that it was a quarter to twelve, and that the old man would be along shortly. He heard him coming. Heard the gate slam, and then, first trem- have an instructor in hygiene. Haven't

He raised the windows and looked weeping and silent on the scene. He knew what the goat could do, and he knew that the epidermis on his father's abdomen had been driven flat against his spine. It was hard to hear his dear father gasp like a goldfish as be tried to inflate himself again. Finally he forced down enough of wind for meagre conversa-

"Watinell wuzzit?" queried Moloney a hopeful pride in his future, disobesed as he contemplated rising. "Is that you, Moloney? I'd shpake wid you." The voice came from the moned to the bar of judgment, where bed-room window where the night cap of the boy's dear mother appeared, surmounting her kind face and the top

Braced up by the connubial indorse ment, the father arose, as did likewise a large portion of the loose soil in the yard along with him. Triangulating with some difficulty to the windward side of the door, he unroofed himself and peered in. No explosive agent was visible in the darkness, and the spavined mare delivered a reassuring whinny. A LESSON FOR YOUNG MEN.

Young men, if you contemplate a business career, you cannot look after your habits too carefully. Your aim in life is to be successful in all undertakings, and you can never be successful with bad habits. Matters which seem of small amount to you now may be come in future the turning point in your career, either up or down as they have that of any man before you. In illustration of this, we print the following anecdote, as related in one of the most prominent New York dailies.

"Horace B. Claffin, the most prominent and wealthy dry goods merchant of New York, was alone in his office one afternoon, when a young man, pale and careworn timidly knocked and entered. "Mr. Claffin," said he, "I have been unable to meet certain payments because parties failed to do by me as they agreed to do, and I would like to have $10,000. I come to you because you have been a friend to my father, and might be a friend to me."

"Come in," said Claffin, "come in and have a glass of wine." said the young man, "I don't drink."
"Have a cigar then?" "No—I never smoke." "Well," said the joker. "I would like to accomodate you, but I don't think I can." "Very well," said the young man, as he was about to leave the room, I thought perhaps you might—good day sir. "Hold on" said Mr. Claffin: "You don't drink?" "No." Nor smoke, nor gamble, nor anything of the kind?" "No, sir."

asked to make some remarks, he said:

Cincinnati Democratic National Convention. The Richmond Whig says it didn't, but it does all the same. And keeps at

He must be a curious kind of a Democrat who won't go to a Democratic State Convention.

Grant will probably be nominated for President at the Chicago Convention If you are in favor of a third term candidate get ready to fall in.

There is a law against the passage of obscene literature through the mails, but a good deal of it gets through notwithstanding, judging from what we see in this community.

The attempt of readjuster papers to cast odium upon the Democratic State Convention at Richmond is a sickening failure. It was a fine body of firstclass Virginians, one of the best ever assembled in the Old Dominion.

BRUCE BOOM .- The Virginia Post, a colored Republican paper of this city, to be issued to morrow, will in a lengthy editorial oppose the Bruce boom They deem it not prudent to place a black man on the presidential ticket, but if it is possible they will hoist the name of Henry Highland Garnett, the great New York Presbyterian preacher.

When the Democratic hosts front the enemy in the contest near at hand, what must we think of the Democracy of that man who, through personal ambition, takes "independent" action upon the field, when and where the hopes of the Democracy and the fate of his country is to be decided? Let this inquiry be remembered, for it will be useful ere the hot months pass away.

John R. Popham, editor of the Southern Intelligencer, at Richmond, in the unnecessarily severe punishment which has been meted out to him, and join our itself. sorrow with his many friends in that city at the decision of the Governor, who has refused to interfere in mitigation of his sentence. If the circumstances as stated in print be correct then Col. Popham's sentence is simply injustice.

On Saturday, June 5th, the Maryland monument will be unvailed at Winchester by Mrs. General Stonewall Jackson and daughter. As the distinguished widow and her daughter will certainly be present, also the 5th Maryland Regiment of Baltimore, there will doubtless be an immense crowd of people in Winchester on the 5th. It will possibly be a good chance for some of the "bloody shirt" people to hear a good, old fash ioned "rebel yell." Give a prolonged "whoop," boys, and electrify the country.

The Democratic State Convention, which assembled last week in Richmond, dispached its business in a manner worthy of men who feel the weight of the important duties devolving upon the Democracy of Virginia. It was a body of representative Virginia Democrats, and from what we see and learn it was one of the finest bodies of men ever assembled in the State. From its prompt and conservative action we expect good results, and do not hesitate to state our belief that Virginia will cast her electoral vote for the nominees of the Cincinnati Democratic National Convention by the usual majority. Every part of the State was represented, and the Democracy throughout the Commonwealth will give to the action of the State Convention a hearty endorsement, although it may be opposed by a few leaders who are engaged in the work of subserving their own ambitious ends, regardless of the claims of the party upon them for service in its behalf in a momentous na. tional struggle.

the proceedings of the Convention were characterized by great harmony and enthusiasm, and the most sagacious politicians of the State express sanguine ex pectations that the electoral vote of Virgb.ia will be recorded for the Cincinnati nominees, whoever they may be. The to explain" in the following remark-Convention was large and presented a strong contrast to the disorderly hurlyburly called a convention which recently met in Staunton.

Elsewhere to-day we print in full the proceedings of the Convention. Let every good Democrot read them.

WATCH THE COMBINATION.

The grand combination to trade off the Democratic voters of the State in the Presidential election, for the benefit of Congressional candidates, cannot be kept from the public much longer. How many Districts the Radicals are to have themselves in exchange for negro votes, to be cast for certain "Independents" or 7th of Julyers, is not yet disclosed. This two-horse bare-back act is very dangerous, because one is a white and the other a black horse. "The People" may see the show as it really is. Let us all "The people are Re-Adjusters. They everywhere avow it. They are for independent and separate Re-Adjuster action; and they everywhere declare for it and demand it. They enthusiastically pledge themselves to abide and sustain the action of the Re-Adjuster State Convention of July; and they will redeem that pledge in November!"

We clip the above from the Richmond Whig of Monday. There are several things we should like to know, in connection with the above declarations. Does the Whig mean to say that the people (the Democrats of Virginia we mean,) "are for separate and indepen- Kearneyism to "illustrate the power dent action," against the candidates to be nominated at Cincinnati? Will Mahone's July convention pledge itself in opposition to the National Democratic nominees? Will Mahone's July convention present an independent electoral ticket for Virginia?

We have had quite enough of "beating around the bush." We should like to see an open, manly declaration of your purpose. Are you afraid to let in the light? It looks to us like an impudent proposition to the Re Adjusters (unless you regard them a set of dolts) to require them to pledge themselves in advance to abide the action of a convention called by Mahone for-the devil and Mahone only know what, unless for Mahone's benefit; to enable Mahone, if he wills, to put an independent ticket in the field, to injure the chances of carrying Virginia for the Democrats in November; or, in other words, enable Mahone to divide the Democratic vote, and geois, and on the other the people, and thus give force to the mooted bargain, belived to have been made, to give the State to the Republican nominees.

What mean those italicized words: and they will redeem that pledge in No vember!'? These vague hints mean something or nothing. Which? It may mean that Mahone will attempt to injure the Democracy, if he finds his followers men of putty to be moulded to his will, and he should deem it safe to try it. That is just the leap for Mahone to take. But the Democrats of Virginia, who are such from principle, will not follow. Such an event would not be marked as the first instance of desperate action where the actor met destruction. If there be those who wish to desert the eld Democratic flag to go upon such an errand let them be off We have seen more dangerous times than the present in the political history of Virginia, and in the political history of Virginia, and in these later decades it seems it has become necessary now and then that a of that idea we should say Vox Populi, We feel a deep sympathy for Col few leaders shall sacrifice themselves up. Vox Diaboli. on the ambition's altar, in order to secure be victory and peace to the party. It may nearly time now for history to repeat

> It is a gratifying sign, one which we regard as a good augury, that very few of the Democratic State Conventions have instructed their delegates to Cincinnati for any particular candidate. There is apparently a general determination on the part of the Democrats of the country to win the race this year, and are ready to concentrate in favor of any good, pure man who may be nominated.

From the Farmville Mercury. Reply of the Farmville Merenry to the Card of Capt. Jno. Paul.

JOHN PAUL AND DENNIS KEARNEY.

Last fall Dennis Kearney was a bigger man in California than Mahone has ever been in Virginia. Then the Readjusters boasted that what Dennis had done in California they would do in Virginia. Now Dennis Kearney occupies a felon's cell and is doing penance for his villanies in a penitentiary. No wonder that the mention of Kearney's name should make the readjusters shudder. His sudden fall from the dazzling altitude of a Supreme Political Boss, is only a sign and a warning of the fate which is in store for simple demagogues elsewhere.

It does honor even to a readjuster to endeavor to clear himself of all associ ation with Kearney and Kearneyism. Senater John Paul, who, last year, when speaking at Nottoway Court House, drew a glowing picture of what "the people"—i e. the Karneyites—had accomplished in California, through the Harrisonburg Commonwealth, "rises able manner:

"EDITOR OF THE COMMONWEALTH:

DEAR SIR—In your last issue you publish a statement from the Farmwille Mercury, which represents me at Nottoway Court House, as "glorying in the fact that Readjustment and Karneyism wore identical," and predicting that "Karnoyism would sweep Virginia." This statement is nitterly untrue; and I regret to see your willingness to give it currency, and regret still more to see you paraphrase and repeat it in your editorial columns. I said there, what I said in Harrisonburg and elsewhere in the State, in answer to the boast of funder speakers, that their party had the Congressmen, U. S. Senators, Judges, Railroads, Banks, leading politicisus, the press, the palpit, &c. that the same agencies had been arrayed on one side of the recent contest in California, and the "people" were on the other; that the 'people' had prevailed and adopted a new Constitution; that the Brokers had the same elements of strength on their side in the Tennessee election; yet the 'people' had triumphed by a majority of fifteen thousand, and predicted that the 'people' in Virginia would triumph in the, then coming election—a prediction which was fully verified. I discussed neither the merits, nor the demerits of the questions involved in the elections in California and Tennessee. I refered to the results, to illustrate the power and majesty of the 'people' and the uiter futility of all efforts to compel them to submit to laws and measures that do not commend themselves to the approval of the popular will. This, any fair-minded man could see, and is what any honest one would have said, was my purpose.

If Funder papers were as anxious to do justice toward Readjusters and readjustment, as they are to malignand misrepresent them, the expressed desire for the 'peace and harmony,' so much prated about, might pessibly be credited with more sincerity.

Respectfully Yours, &., JOHN PAUL.

Believing in fair play, we publish

Believing in fair play, we publish Senator Paul's letter and give him all the benefit of his extraordinary defense, which does more honor to his heart than to his head. No doubt many of the readjusters attach very little real meaning to the strong lan-guage they use. Nevertheless, the Senator gives no justification whatever for his conduct. He confesses that he drew parallel between the progress of Kearneyism in California and that of Readjustment in Virginia.. He confesses that he referred to the success of and majesty of the people." If, there-fore, he was not "glorying" in the success of Kearneyism, he must have been poking fun at "the power and majesty of the people." We leve him on the horns of the dilemma.

Our readers can judge from the Senator's confessions whether it is "utterly untrue" that Senator Paul, intentionally or otherwise, did establish an identity between the progress of Kearneyism and that of Readjustment. We accept his present disclaimer of sympathy with the Kearneyites with pleasure, but we are compelled to add that he made an amazing exhibition of ignorence when he referred to the California agitation, and that his letter reveals an amount of incapacity to understand the plain meaning of language which we had scarcely anticipated in a politician of some notoriety Let us suppose that while Paris was under the Commune, in 1871, John Swinton and Gustave Schwab had said: "On the one side were the Archbishops and clergy, the Judges and the Press, the bankers and the bouryet the people have prevailed in Paris and will prevail in America." Hearing those statements no man of ordinary education could have failed to understand that Swinton and Schwab "gloried" in the success of the Paris Commune, and predicted that it would "sweep America." Kearneyism has done far more injury to California than the Commune did to Paris, and yet Senator Paul, in relation to Kearnevism and California, did precisely what we have supposed Swinton and Schwab doing in relation to the Commune. If the senator has been misunderstood, it has been his own fault, and it would be wiser for him to perfect his political and general education before attempting to play the role of a public teacher. Our previous com-ments on Senator Paul's address at Nottoway Court House were based on the testimony of persons who were present. In future we shall ouly need to refer to his own letter to prove that he regards Kearneyism as synonymous

Duties of Enumerators.

Cansus enumerators will commence their work on the first of June and close on the last day of said month, having allotted to them only the short space of thirty days wherein to complete their labor. The act of Congress providing for the taking of the census makes it obligatory upon the manufacturer, farmer and all others to impart to the enumerators all the information required, and we doubt not that our citizens, who have just reason to be proud of their statistics, will cheerfully and promptly furnish the desired facts when called upon. To those who object to answer the interrogatories on the ground of not wishing to expose the nature of their business, it is proper to state that it is not desired to elicit any information which will be used or published as concerning the operations of any individual or con cern. The primary facts are confidentially received, and will enly be published in connection with, and as a part of, a great body of simular facts. from which it will be impossible to abstract or distinguish those of individual firms or ceporations.

THE VIRGINIA POST.

This paper will be published weekly at Harrisonburg, Va., beginning May 29th 1880. The prejectors deem the existence of such a newspaper in this State an indispensable necessity. Its aim will be first to advocate the protection of life, liberty and property. As a newspaper the POST will be the organ of no man, sect or clique; will INDEPENDENTLY present the fullest and fairest pictures it can make of each week's passing history in this and adjoining States. The approaching campaign promises to be one of the most exciting in our National history; and every colored man should especially subscribe to the POST which will print the latest news of all lands up to the time it is issues.

The policy of THE VIRGINIA PCST will be "in Essentials, Unity," in non-Essentials, liberty; in all things: Charly." With one exception, it will be the only colored newspaper published in the State.

As an advertising medium it will be unsurpassed, having already a large bona fide subscription list of both white and colored people in the Valley and adjoining States.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

For the Campaign of 1880.

The Publisher desires to call the attention of the Democrats of Rockingham and surrounding counties to the merits and claims of this well-known Political and Family Journal.

Its advocacy of local interests, and devotion to every measure calculated to increase the wealth and power of the Valley, is attested by the patronage and en dorsement of many of the best people of this Congresmional District.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS TO BE DECIDED.

Never perhaps in the history of this country have the political issues to be decided by the people been as important as those of this year. Every Democrat should have a reliable paper of his party faith, and those who are able should subscribe for many copies for the campaign to be sent to those who are not able to take a newspaper, many of whom are wavering, and who may be confirmed as Democratic voters in the great Presidential struggle of this year. It is time that Democrats of means and influence were moving in this matter as the nominating conventions will soon be held and there is no time to lose.

THE POLITICAL STATUS OF THIS JOURNAL Is firmly established. While differing with some as to the wisdom and policy displayed in legislation on State questions, no uncertain sound will be heard as to its support of the standard-bearer to be neminated and principles to be enunciated at the approaching National Democratic Convention. We are confident the Convention will present for the suffrages of the people a candidate in whose ability, fitness and availagility the party can rely-a candidate who will in spire confidence and enthusiasm. The vital issues of the coming campaign: the sovereignty of the people; the submission of the military to the civil power; free elections, without Federal interference, and an honest and economical administration of the Government —shall be our guide. These questions are paramount to any State issues or the gratification of the ambition of the leaders of any taction. "Principles, not mon," shall direct dur course.

NO "DOUBTFUL" POLITICS. The OLD COMMONWEALTH has never occupied a doubtful position in its politics-a fact which its bitterest enemies will not deny It has always been steadfast and true and will so continue. We affirm it to be the duty of every good Democrat to support the newspapers which maintain Democratic principlesnewspapers which have no uncertain voice; which are not veered by every shifting wind, and which have no lack of earnest, honest purpose.

OUR CAMPAIGN RATES.

For the Campaign, beginning with our issue of June 17th, and closing with our issue of November 18th, which will include the election returns, we will furnish the OLD COMMONWEALTH for T5 cents In Cash single subscriptions, or at the rate of 70 cents cash for clubs of 'ten or more. This will embrace a subscription of five months. Those who want to be informed of the progress of the struggle should begin to talk the matter over with their neighbors and form clubs. For any three months of the campaign 50 conts; for one month, (five weeks) 20 cents.

We offer the OLD COMMONWEALTH at the above stated low prices for the purpose of extending its circulation and of introducing it where it has never gone before, as well as increasing its readers among us a "boost," which they can easily do by an effort, The cause is surely worth it. An increased quantity of reading matter of best quality is given by supplement, thus furnishing more interesting reading for the money than is offered by any other newspaper in the Valley.

Finest work done to this section at Baltimore and New York prices. Neatness, promptness and low prices our motto. Price list sent on application

We call attention to the card in another column of Chas. S. Wunder, Jr., with the firm of Wilson, Burns & Co,, wholesale grocers and commission merchants, Baltimore, Md. Nearly everybody knows Charley Wunder, who is a native of Shenandoah county, and all who know him like him. We are aware salso, that his popularity secures to the house a trade which it could not get without his efforts in its behalf. The trade of the firm with our Valley people is increasing, and we are glad to hear it, and hope our people will extend to our young friend not only an encouraging but "stantly increasing trade, for both himself the house he represents will trade with you fair and square.

THE ENCAMPMENT.

To be a member of the Harrisonburg Guards, in good standing, one must "never mind the weather" if the wind does blow. If many were sorry, and the spirits of all dampened, at the prospect of a gloomy day, after all the arrangements, and abundant quantity of eatables on hand to have fed "Old Stonewall's foot cavalry," then all such gloomy forebodings and "ain't you sorry it rained?" were gradually chased away when all had gotten comfortably ensconced on board the cars and "pulled out" under a lively strain of sweet music, that lightened the hearts of the girls and chased all fears of a stupid affair from under the vests of the escorts. While on the road the time was spent in singing-selections from the best anthems. with variations-the chorusses being remarkably fine and full. The ladies in the rear car, which, by the way, is the only time women are ever known to be behind, employed their time in mapping out the programme for the day, and keeping their "bangs" in order, for a wet day has a tendency to put the average "bangs" in a woeful state of delapidation.

Having once arrived at the place of destination, the question arose as to the propriety of each individual selecting a partner, securing a double seat, locking the doors and defying the elements; but the fact of there being a dancing stand near at hand, with enough of mud thereon to have built a fort, was an argument, sufficiently strong, to the female dancers to discard all idea of remaining under shelter; consequently the procession moved in the direction of the stand. We will not attempt to describe the route and the incidents attending thereon, nor will we mention, right here, anything about scenery, or long shadews from tall oaks, or the beautiful, crystal-like globules of water, sparkling in the sunshine after a refreshing shower of about ten hours and a half; suffice it to state that the stand was reached. Shortly after the target match commenced, the prize being a handsome silver cup, given by Lieut. Donovan, for the crack shot of the Guards, the contest waxed warm, the roar of artillery and the crash of musketry resounded throughout the land; Jim had secured eleven in a probable fifteen; the boy s bet, while the ladies (poor things, how our heart throbbed for them,) held their fingers in their ears and gave vent to their feelings by exclaiming, "O! how excruciating !" and other like extravagants that impressed all with the fact | Mark Bird Judge. of how delicately constituted the "weaker

The cup was presented by Capt. O. B. Roller in a brief and appropriate manner, and Mr. Bruffy not being able to stand such strong resumption in the specie line, returned to the scene of his childhood on the next train. The firing ceased along the line; the music began and those who love to trip "the light fantastic toe" did so to their heart's content. Everybody has been to pic nic dinners, and everybody that had ten cents and passed Gordonsville has eaten a biscuit and a chicken wing on the cars, but we will add that there is only one course at a pic nic dinner, not withstanding the variety; in military parlance it is "one time and three motions" with destruction to white vests, and a day of fasting and prayer for the man who is not on hand with military precision; that is, just when the baskets are opened, for pic nic eatables don't keep and we don't forget it.

In the afternoon all was gladness, sunshine and mud. Dancing, swinging and baseball were indulged in as each one preferred, fully repaying all for their trip.

The game of base-ball between the "Augusta Blues" and a scrub nine selected from the excursionists, resulted in favor of the "Blues," there being but three innings played.

The day was certainly most delightfully spent, notwithstanding some little drawback. The arrangements and management were perfect, and all returned high in their praise of the boys in brass buttons; and those old croakers who cry down a day of recreation and rest from the turmoil of bus- of life and he sleeps with his fathers. iness and household duties, will croak in vain as long as the Guards so desire to afford of Conrad's store, by E. S. Conrad, comm'r. themselves and their friends an opportunity to spend a pleasant day.

The music on this occasion was rendered by the Bridgewater Band, and we venture other band in the Valley, unless it is the

ABOUT BUCK BEER .- Buck beer is de moralizing in its tendency when it moveth itself aright. It layeth hold of the intellect and twisteth it out of shape.

My son go not with them who go to seek buck beer for at last it stingeth like the brocaded hornet with the read-het narrative, and kicketh like the choleric mule. Who hath woe? Who hath babbling? Who hath redness of eyes? He that goeth to seek the schooner of buck beer. Who hath sorrow? Who striveth, when the middle watch of the night come, to wind up the clock with the fifteen puzzle? He that kicketh against the buck beer and getteth left. Verely the buckness of the buck beer bucketh with a mighty buck, insomuch that the buckee riseth at the noon hour with a head that compasseth the town round about, will be rented or sold. Apply to Chas. P. | and the swellness there of waxeth more and more, even from Dan to Beer-Sheba. (Cur> rent joke in the Holy Land.) Who clamoreth with a loud voice and saith: Verily, am not I a bad man? Who is he that walketh unsteadily, and singeth unto himself, "The Bright Angles Are Waiting for Me?" Who wotteth not even a fractional wot. but setteth his chronometer with the wooden watch of the watchmaker, and by means of a tooth brush? Go to. Is it not he who bangeth his intellect forninst the buck beer, even unto the eleventh hour?

PENMANSHIP .- Good penmanship is as necessary almost as capital to the business man, and our young people have now an excellent opportunity of acquiring the art of good writing. Prof. W. M. Steele has opened a writing school, commencing on Tuesday afternoon last at the Public School building, and gives twenty-five lessons at the low price of three dollars-one lesson of two hours each day. He has a large class, but there is room for more, and we hope his patronage may be such that he will continue his school during the summer. Prof. Steele

"Sun of My Soul, Thou Savior Dear."

This is the caption of a charming composition just received from the enterprising publishers, Messrs. Ramos & Moses, 914 Main Street, Richmond, Va. The composer, Mr. M. Stuart Turner, has nicely arranged this for alto or baritone solo, duetts, and precaution that there should be sufficient quartette or chorus. In this last effort he has produce is piece of medium difficulty. and suitable for either church or home use. The enclosure of thirty-five cents to the publishers will secure you a copy. Mr. Turner, the composer, is a Virginian, and Mess. Ramos & Moses, Music Publishers, are trying to build up a first-class music house in Richmond, and we hope Virginia musicians will extend to them the patronage they may have to bestow.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The Soldiers' Memorial Day will be observed in Harrisonburg, on Thursday, 3rd of June, 1880. Col. O'Ferrall has been chosen Chief Marshal. The Guards and a band of music will be present to give additional interest to the occasion, and the community at large is requested to bring flowers and join in this manifestation of respect. love and remembrance of the Southern Soldiers.

The people will assemble in the Court Yard between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m. when they will be placed in procession ac cording to the orders of the Marshal.

MRS. JULIET L. STRAYER. Pres't MRS. KATE S. PAUL, Secretary.

GONE TO CHARLOTTESVILLE .- On Friday morning last, Mr. John E. Braithwaite, who had been here a few days, left for Charlottesville, when he will have charge of the mechanical department of the new Readjuster paper, of which John H. Wartmann, Esq., of this place will be the editor. Mr. B. is a very competent printer, one of the fastest compositors we ever saw, and he will no doubt bring out a handsome paper, if the "Advocate owners furnish him the material.

He was accompanied by J. A. Nicholas and W. W. Martz, two young printers of this place. It appears to us that the new paper to be established at Charlottesville is making a heavy draft on Rockingham anyhow, the editor, foreman, several of the printers and stockholders residing here. ----

The Circuit Court of Rockingham commenced its May term on the 18th, Hon.

The first week of the Court was occupied in discussing chancery causes. Several days were consumed in arguing the cause of Kyle vs. Bryan's trustee, &c. Several motions and causes on the issue dooket have been disposed of.

Mary Susan Ettinger was granted a divorce from her husband, Dewitt Ettinger, now serving a term in the penitentiary. P. G. Bowman qualified and was admitted to practice in this Court.

The Western Union Telegraph office, compared with what it used to be, shows the beautifying influence of woman's hand. It is a positive pleasure to look into this parlor-like nook. We have, we believe, the most elegant telegraph office in the Valley, if not in the State. No one will demur to this except some testy, crusty old bachelor. and we don't care for what they think or say about such matters.

-STRAWBERRIES .- If you want something nice and fresh in this line call on A. M. Effinger, who will receive them regularly every day during the season, and sell them as low as he possibly can. The berries are very fine, and being transported but a short | ment, retired for the transaction of business distance, they are not mashed up like those usually brought here from distant markets. Try them.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Jno. J. Roller, Esq., who resided near Mt. Crawford, which occurred on Tuesday last. Mr. R. had been in bad health for several years. but recent apparent improvement gave his friends some hope of at least partial rrcovery. But disease snapped the brittle thread

By reference to the advertisement of Dr. Henry M. Price, of Artioch, Fluvana county, Va., persons who desire to secure laborers can learn particulars. He can furnish all kinds. He is also agent for the sale of St. to say that they are not surpassed by any Louis and San Francisco R. R. Lands, and can sell Western farming lands to good advantage. Address him as above.

> Prof. C. C. Almond gave a dance to his old patrons and pupils at Sibert Hall on Monday evening. We learn that he contemplates re-opening his dnacing school as soon as his lists can be completed. Good dancing is an accomplishment which adds gracefulness, especially to the young.

Noah Landis, auctioneer, on Friday last, sold for O. B. Roller, Commissioner, the following tracts of land, belonging to P. D. Byerly :- Elijah Huffman, 14 acres at $15 per acre; John E. Roller, 31 acres at $10.50 per acre; W. T. Carpenter, 60 acres at $14 per acre.

On Friday last, O. B. Roller, commissioner, sold the seven acre lot belonging to the estate of Alfred Sprinkel, dec'd. C. A. Sprinkel purchaser. We understand that it will be divided up and laid off in town lots, which will be placed upon the market.

Assembling of the Conservative State Convention.

AN IMPOSING DEMONSTRATION-VIRGINIA REPRESENTED BY HER INTELLIGENCE AND SOLID WORTH TEMPORARY AND PERMA-GATES TO CINCINNAT! AND PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS-A HARMONIOUS AND PROFITA-BLE SESSION. &C., &C.

Pursuant to the call of the State Central Committee the State Convention of the Conservative party of Virginia met to arrange for the great presidential contest of 1880 at the Theatre yesterday. Precisely at 12 o'clock M. Jadge John T. Lovell, chairman of the State Committee, called the Convention to order, and nominated as temporary chairman Dr. W. D. Quesenberry, of Caroline. The nomination was unanimously ratified by the Convention. Dr. Quesenberry came forward, and was introduced by Judge Lovell. After the applause with which he was greeted had subsided, the chairman addressed the Convention as follows:

I am duly sensible of the honor which you have just conferred upon me, and I tender you my grateful acknowledgments for it. It is not expected that I shall make a speech, but I may congratulate the Convention on the number and character of the men who have assembled here at this call of their State. It proves the interest that you take in the important work that you have to do, and no man can look upon this august body without the conviction that the honor and welfare of the Conservative party and of the State of Virginia (those synonymous terms) may be committed with confidence to your hands. [Applause.]

Gentlemen of the Convention, I trust and believe that your session will be harmonious, pleasant and successful, and I now announce that we are ready to proceed to perfect the organization of this body.

Gen. Wm. B. Taliaferro then introduced a series of resolutions looking to the further organization of the Convention. The reso lutions provided for the appointment by the district delegations of three members each on a general committee on credentials, a committee on pernanent organization, and on resolutions; that the committee on credentials should determine who were enti-tled to seats in the Convention, that on permanent organization the permanent officers of the Convention, and that on resolutions prepare rules for the government of the Convention. The fifth and last resolution called for a recess of one hour to enable the district delegations to retire and report the names of the several committeemen The resolutions were unanimously adopted, and the Convention adjourned for one THE COMMITTEES ANNOUNCED.

addressd the Convention. MR. GOODE'S SPEECH.
Hon. John Goode was first introduced. He said he tendered his heartfelt congratulations upon the auspicious outlook for the democratic party. If, he said, all the elements can be united a grand and glorious victory awaits us. It seems to be conceded that a large majority of the American people are opposed to the longer continuance of the Republican party in power, and anxiously desire a change in the administration of our public affairs [A voice, "That's right"] Four years ago, Mr. President, standing on this floor as I do now, I had the honor to address a Convention of representative Virginians who assembled in this building to put the hall in motion for the presidential campaign of 1876. That campaign was one of extraordinary activity and energy. Both parties put forth all their energies and manfully contested every inch of ground. The candi dates of the Democratic party were triumpantly elected—[applause]—by a majority of more than a quarter of a million American voters, and by a clear majority in the Elec-toral College. You all remember how we lost the fruits of that hard-fought battle and that well-earned victory; how the gi-gantic conspiracy was entered into at Washington and a President and leader of the Republican party sought to stifle the voice of the American people, and to nullify the the choice which they had made at the polls, and to install in the presidential office a man who had not been elected by the American people You remember the stormy and excited scenes through which we were called on to pass, and how the Democratic party, in a spirit of moderation and forbearance, determined to submit to the order to preserve the public peace and avert the calamity of civil war. But, my friends, if I do not utterly mis take the tone and temper of the American Democracy to-day, they are not only re-solved—inflexibly resolved—that they will nominate their candidate to be elected at the succeeding election, but what is more, they intend to inaugurate him in spite of the perpetration of this great fraud and the accomplishment of this gigantic wrong in machinations of the Republican leaders.

Now, my friends of Virginia, the question arises. Where will the Virginia Demtion arises, where will the virginia play, in ocracy be found, what part will they play, in that great and momentous struggle? Will Virginia vote in the air for an unpledged electoral ticket? [Voices, "No."] Will electoral ticket? [Voices, "No."] Wil Virginia hitch herself on as a willing cap ive to the ear of the Republican Jugger naut? Or will she take her rightful tion, as of old, in the front rank of the Democratic column?

Will Virginia utter her voice, her voice which has hitherto been potent? Will Virginia utter that voice in favor of local selfovernment, in favor of constitutional free-lom, in favor of an indissoluble Union of indestructible State? Or will Virginia lend the sanction of her great name to those who would prostitute the power of this Govern-ment to subvert the Union of our fathers and to establish a centralized despotism upon the ruins of the Republic?

My countrymen, will Virginia, (God bless her!) the mother of statesmen and Presidents—the land of Jefferson and Henry, the land of Madison and of Marshall—will Virginia be content to utter any uncertain ound in a contest which involves everything which her people from time immemorial have held most dear and sacred?

Our late unhappy differences upon the debt question are to be utterly ignored in the contest thus to be waged. It has no connection between the debt question and Federal politics. The debt question is not all involved in the presidential question. know the response that will be made; I read it in your countenances, in the countenances of these representatives of Virginia, and, as to the a man and a man and your chairman has done, I can only congratulate you, and I do most heartily, upon this magnificent assembly, and I would beg this for elector no person who does not manifest his adherence to the Pational Democracy and its candidates on the presidential ticket.

4. That the National Democracy deserves the confi-Convention in the election of their electoral ticket, in selecting their delegates and their appointments upon the Central Committee to recognize Debt-Payers and Readjusters alike as Democrats.

Let our delegates go to Cinconnati prepared to take counsel with their brethren from all parts of this broad land; let them go prepared to main ain the two-thirds rule, but prepared to vote in favor of the best man, the most available candidate, who can be selected to lead our forces to victory, whether that man shall be the favored son of little Delaware, the pure and-gifted Bay-ard; or the favored son of New York, phi-losopher and statesman, Horatio Seymour; or the favored son of Pennsylvania, the gal lant and heroic Hancock, who, although in the exercise of command, could bow gracefully and acknowledge supremacy of the civil over the milatary power; or that other favored son of Pennsylvania, Samuel J. Randall, the presant Speaker of the House of Representatives, who stood for forty hours without leaving his tracks in the Forty-third Congress, and manfully resisted the onset made upon us by fanatics to fas-ten upon Virginia and the other States the enormities and inquities of the force bill; r the incorruptible patriot, that noble old Roman, Allen G. Thurman, a native-born son of Virginia and adopted son of Ohio, and of whom both States to-day are justly proud; or that intrepid statesman, that eminent jurist, Stephen J. Field, who comes all the way from the Golden Gates of the Pacific, and who, if nominated at Cincinnati, the elements are so mixed in him that the Democracy would rise as one man and say: Here is a man who, if elected by his countrymen, would dare to be inaugurated.
Mr. Goode, in closing, said that he told a friend that he came down here to get fresh nominated, or any other man, the Democrats would march to victory.

Mr. Goode was followed by James H. Skinner of Staunton, General Fitzhugh Lee of Stafford, Major W. F. C. Gregory of Richmond, and Hon. James Barbour of Culpeper. Mr. Barbour said: We are here for business. [A voice: Correct.] I trust the Conservative party of Virginia from now to the day of the presidential election mean to do work; that they mean to encounter at every point upon which their adversary meets us any one man or set of men. Let us he said, do the work for which we have assembled, and prepare for the work which we have to do. He urged them to battle against that party which had oppressed the people of Virginia for so long. He asked, Could any man hesitate in such a contest as this? We must go where our strength will tell best. Are you going to surrender all your rights because some say settle the debt upon this best of the thesis?

4. That the National Democracy deserves the confidence and support of the people for its steady adherence to the principles of constitutional liberty, upon which the republic was founded, and for cherishing those traditions and customs which tend to purify the public service and restrain the encroachingnts of centralized power; that we endorse the general policy, and especially its course in reducing the tax on our great staple product tobacco, in naintaining the independence of the State judiciary and the supremacy of the civil over the military power, in resisting the prostitution of the army to illegal interference in elections and the use of a partisan and unscrupulous police to intimidate and corrupt the suffrages of the neonle, and in advocating liberal measures to wipe out the hostile legislation which belonged to a period of war, and has no fitting use in times of peace and reconciliation.

5. That we hold in abhorrence the high-handed and ever-te-be remembered fraud by which the Republican party foisted a defeated candidate into the presidential chair in contempt of a large majority of the votes of the people and of the electoral voice of the States, thereby bringing odium upon the country and strengthening the hestility of monarchical and antocratic governments to free institutions. The time to rebuke that fraud and to vindicate the outraged sovereignty of the people has come; and without regard to any past differences between us, we invoke the houset, liberty-loving masses of the people to unite with us, and give the sentence of popular condemnation so clear and emphasic as "utterance that frau's shall never again prove triumphant in undermining the constitution and the laws and trampling down the people's will.

Street, N. Y., have lately issued their reprints of the Edinburgh and Westminster Reviews for April. The general character of these famous quarterlies is well known, and both in the selection of subjects and in the manner of treating them it is well sustained in the present numbers. In the Edinburgh we particularly note the article on 'Ritualistic Literature,'' in which the writer aims to make manifest that the doctrines and practices of the Ritpalists are alten from the spirit of Protestantism. Bigelow's Life of Benjamin Franklin is favorably re viewed, and Mr Bigelow is commended for presenting Franklin's autobiography in the exact shape in which it issued from the author's memory. There is an interesting article on "Mohammedanism in China," indicating the possibility of the conversion of the people of China to the creed of the Mohammed. Other notable articles are "Catholic Rule in Ireland, 1811_48 " "Madarn Horse Racing " "The late Prof. Clifford's Essays," and "Burton's Reign of Queen Anne." Among the articles in the Westminster we are attracted by "Artistic Copyright," which is devoted to the consideration of the meaning of copyright and the purpose for which it was established; "The Greek Humanists.-Nature and Law," supplementary to an article in a former number on the progress of physical philosophy among the ancient Greeks, and showing how the moral, religious and political creeds of Hellas were transformed by reason of the new con ceptions, the new power to think, obtained through philosophical speculations; and an article on "Animal Intelligence," in which is discussed the problem whether the lower animals, in sharing with man vitality and all its accompanments of pain, disease and death, do not also share with him that indefinable quality or essence denominated mind. The usual nummary of "Coptemporary Literature" is very full. The periodicals reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., (41 Barclay Street, N. Y.) are as follows: "The London Quarterly," "Edinburgh," "Westminster" and "British "Quarterly Reviews," and "Black wood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is pre paid by the Publishers.

The catholicity of Scribner's Monthly is well illus trated by the June number, which must certainly ap peal to a wide range of literary tastes. For lovers of light reading there are papers on "Rocky Mountain Nights" (both poetical and practical;) "Spring H reabouts," i. e., in New York and suburbs, with illus trations; "Thackeray's as a Draughtsman." with over thirty reproductions of the novelist's sketches; "Life in Florence," a sprightly paper from an American point of view; "My Friend, Mrs. Angel," a hu norous story of Washington life. The current po litical interest is appealed to by H. J. Raymond's journal of "The Philadelphia Convention of 1866," and Heary King's picturesque sketch of "A Year of the Exocus in Kansas," and indirectly by Principa Grant's third paper on "The Dominion of Canada, dealing with its political and social history in an ir and of a curious interest, are Mr. Scudder's paper on William Blake, Poet and Painter," with portrait ilothers never before engraved; Rev. Isaac H. Hall's count of "The Cypriote Inscriptions," the specimens of which in the Metropolitan Museum were de-ciphered by him; and Richard A. Proctor's "Sun these two phenomena are intimately connected. The of a financial panic, give interest to this paper. Schuyler's "Peter the Great" is interestingly illustrated, and deals with Peter's first marriage, the addissimes" is rapidly justifying the high claims made for it by the publishers. This installment is said to so the most dramatic in the story, possibly excepting the episode of Bras-Coupe and the closing part. The departments contain many articles of special or timely interest, such as "The Political Machine," "The Shadow of the Negro," "Beaconsfield and i Gladstone, "Letters to Young Mothers" oto.

Convention that the Hon. John T. Harris was sitting over there on the platform in the cool."

When the applease had subsided the report of the Committee on Permanent Organization was considered, and the Convention did not have the pleasure of hearing from Mr. Harris.

The proceedings at the merning session were devoid of general interest; but little debate was indulged in. The motions made were generally adopted without opposition. There was some discussion on a proposition made by Mr. Hurt, of Pittsylvania, to proceed at once to the election of delegates and electors at large. The motion was favored by Mr. Hurt and the Sixth and Seventh district delegations generally, and opposed by Messrs. C. A. Behannen and Capt. J. H. Chamberlayne, and voted down.

Some remarks of Mr. Bobannan, construed to be anfriendly to Major John W. Daniel as delegate at large, were satisfactorily explained by that gentleman.

The Convention was rather large, unwieldly and hard to manage, but the test of feeling prevailed, and a feeling of entire harmony and unanimity of action seemed to be uppermost in the minds of all.

THE FARM AND HOME.

SELECTING A DAIRY COW.

Look first to the great characteristics of a dairy cow-a large stomach, indicated by broad hips, broad and deep loins and sides, a broad or double chine - these indicate a large digestive apparatus, which is the first essential requisite to the manufacture of milk. Secondly, a good constitution, depending largely upon the lungs and heart, which should be well developed, and this is easily determined by the lustre of the hair and brightness of the eye and horns, and the whole make up, Thirdly, having deter-mined her capacity for milk—the udder -- and the veins leading to it The cow may assimilate a large amount of food which goes mostly to lay on flesh and fat; but if she has a long, broad and deep udder with large milk veins, it is safe to conclude that her large capacity for digestion and assimilation are active in fill ing this receptacle. In fact the udder is the first point to look at in a cursory examination of a cow, for nature is not apt to create in vain. If it reaches to the back line of the thighs well up behind, reaching well forwrad, is broad and moderately deep, with teats well apart, with skin soft and elastic, it may be inferred that nature has provided means for filling it,

If the udder be a small round cylinder hanging down in the front of the thighs, like a six quart pail, the cow cannot be a profitable milker, whatever digestive ap paratus she may have.

A yellow skin and a yellow ear (inside) is almost universally regarded as present in a cow that gives rich yellow milk; but after you find indications mentioned above, you may admire as many other points as you please-such as a first class escutcheon, a long slim tail, beautifullyturned, a dishing face, a drooping, waxy horn, a small, strait, slim leg, or any other fancy points; but do not look for these till you have found the essentials - National Live Steek Journal

An extended experience with quite a large dairy enables us to thoroughly endorse the above, especially in regard to the escutcheon. A consideration of it is of more importance in selecting calves to be set apart and re served for milkers and breeders than it is in the selection of matured cows, which have developed the other more valuable points .- - American Breeder and Planter.

SLEEP AND WASTE OF LIFE. -Sleep will do much to cure irritability of temper, peevishness and uneasiness. It will build up and make strong a weary body It will do much to cure dyspepsia, particularly that variety known as nervous dyspepsia. It will relieve the languor and prostration felt by consumtives. It will cure hypochondra. It will cure the headache. It will cure neuralgia. It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure sorrow. Now no man should do more work of muscle, or of the brain in a day, than he can perfectly recover from the fatigue in a good night's rest. Up to that point, exercise is good; beyond, are waste of life, exhaustion and decay. When bunger calls for food, and fatigue demands rest, we are in the natural order, and keep the balance of life. When we take stimulants to spur our jaded nerve, or excite an appetite, we are wast ing life. There is wrong and mischief in all waste of life A man should live so as to keep himself at his best, and with a true economy. To eat more food than is needful, is worse policy than tossing money into the sea. It is waste of labor, and a waste of life.

OATMEAL PUDDING -Put in a basin a fourth of a pint of cold milk and mix in to two ounces of finely ground oatmeal, then add to it a pint of boiling milkmixing in this way prevents lumps; put it on the fire and let it boil ten minutes; have some dried bread crumbs, and taking off the oatmeal, mix in the crumbs until the whole is rather stiff; chop two ounces of suet; cut up as fine as possible one small onion, beat up the whites and yolks of two eggs and a sprinkle of sage and majoram, and mix these with the cold porridge; butter a pan, put in your mixture, and bake for an hour. When reasted beef is scarce, oatmeal pud ding, with a little gravy, ckes out the feast for many.

TO KEEP BEDS FROM HAVING BUGS .-I see no end of rece pts for cleaning beds, and, as a hotel-keeper have, perhaps, paid over three hundred dollars for various nostrums. My plan is, during the month of March to have all my beds taken to pieces, to scrub all the joints and ends with water and soap, and then to use any hard varnish for ends, slats, etc. I know of 10 other method as easy or as thorough. I have used it in Georgia and Florida, where vermin abound.

Ensilage is the preserving of fresh green corn-fodder cut up into chaff in air tight pits known as siloes. This has been done in Europe for many years. The pits are covered with tightly-joined matched planks, kept close upon the fodder by heavy stones. The planks are faid crosswise, so that as the fodder is cut away with a large hay knife, a loosened plank may be removed with out disturbing the rest The front of the mass of the fodder is covered with temporary plank to prevent access of air. A silo is a trench or pit, and the word is found and defined in Webster's dictionary - N. Y. Times

PEAS FOR A FALLOW CROP .- The pea best suited for the purpose of a fallow crop to be plowed under in a Southern' State is the common cow pea. This may be sown now at the rate of two SAMUEL H. RALSTON. bushels per aere, and the vines plowed in August as a preparation for wheat. There is no other plant better fitted for this purpose than this in the South. It is also a valuable forage grop .- N. Y.

and FOUR DOLLIARS on cars at any point on the B. and O. Railroad from Eancock to Staunton; but the cars must be carefully and closely piled and filled full—all that can be gotten in them—in order to save freight and cartage here, which are so much per car, whether the car contains much or little.

29 When you ship be sure to advise me of the NUMBER of your car, that I may know which is yours, and when the Bark is unloaded I will send you a Statement and Check for the amount. Don't fall to give me your Post Olice address in full, and shipping station.

DIRECTIONS:

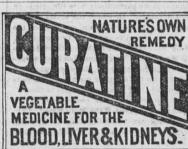

Commence taking the Eark as soon as it will peel well—run freely—and be sure to take the bark from the upper part of the tree and limbs, for the young bark is more firshy and better than the old bark, which is mostly ross; the bark should not be broken up too much, and must be of average thicknes, as the heavy butt bark by itself will not be bought at full price.

The Outside of the Bark Must Always Be Kept Up.

FA Good way is to rest one end on the log, with outside up, which will prevent its CURLING; also protect the INSIEE from the weather, which being the part used must be kept. bright, and not allowed to get wet or mould, which injures its strengte and color, the all-important parts.

En The Bark must not be brought in until it is cured enough to stack up closely nor when wet or damp, for it will not keep—as we have to pile it when received.

Impure Bi-Carb Soda is of a slightly dirty white color. It may appear white, examined by itself, but a COMPARISON WITH CHURCH & CO.'S "ARM AND HAMMER" BRAND will show the difference. See that your Baking Soda is white and PURE, as should be ALL SIMILAR SUBSTANCES used for

A simple but severe test of the comparative value of different brands of Soda is to dissolve a descert spoonful of each kind with about a pint of water (hot preferred) in clear glasses, stirring until all is thoroughly dissolved. The deletarious insoluble matter in the inferior Soda will be shown after settling some twenty minutes or sooner, by the milky appearance of the solution and the quantity of floating flocity matter according to quality.

Be sure and ask for Church & Co.'s Soda and see that their name is on the package and you see that their name is on the package and you will get the purest and whitest made. The use of this with sour milk, in preference to Baking Powder, saves twenty times its cost.
