NEWS OF THE COLLEGE AND ITS ALUMNÆ

The Annual Staff has been so prosperous this year that it was possible for a scholarship to be established. The staff voted that Wilmot Doan should be the girl to receive the fund—this year two hundred and fifty dollars.

Mina Thomas has been re-elected to lead the class of 1930. Virginia Hughes is vice-president; Elizabeth Knight, treasurer; Irene Garrison, secretary; Helen Lineweaver, business manager; and Margaret Birsch, sergeant-at-arms.

Helen Goodson was chosen editor-in-chief of the 1928 Schoolma'am, and Lucy Gilliam is the business manager; Hilda Blue is editor of the Breeze, with Catherine Burns as business manager. Dorothy Gibson is the new president of the Athletic Association; Elizabeth Miller, vice-president; Mary Botts Miller, business manager. Frances Hughes is the new leader of the Art Club; Mary Lou Venable, secretary-treasurer; Maggie Roller, business manager. Maggie has another position—that of president of the Blue-Stone Orchestra. Eunice Lindsay is vice-president; Rebecca Spitzer, secretary-treasurer; and Nancy McCaleb, business manager.

Bernice Wilkins is elected president of the Lanier Literary Society, with Martha Spencer as vice-president; Virginia Curtis, secretary; Bess Cowling, treasurer; Kathryn Face, critic; Florence Vaughan, sergeant-at-arms; Peggy Sexton, chairman of the program committee.

Dorothy Gibson is the new Lee president; Anne Ragan, vice-president; Mary Crane, secretary; Mildred Berryman, chairman of the program committee; Mary Brown Allgood, treasurer; Ruby Hale, critic; Mildred Alphin, sergeant-at-arms.

The new president of the Pages is Helen Lineweaver; vice-president, Irene Garrison; secretary, Ruth King; treasurer, Lucile Jones; chairman of the program committee, Phyllis Palmer; sergeant-at-arms, Eila Watts; critic, Dorothy Hearing.

Le Cercle Français has elected Mary Crane president; Phyllis Palmer, vice-president; Mary Armentrout, secretary; Lucille Jones, treasurer; Mary Turner, chairman of program committee.

Monday evening the music and expression departments were represented in a recital given in Walter Reed Hall.

Tuesday evening, June 7, the graduating classes presented “Quality Street.” Marion Kelly, Lucille Hopkins, and Virginia Field took leading parts, but the entire cast gave finished characterizations.

Dr. Ambrose Suhrie was the speaker at the commencement exercises, Wednesday, June 8, held this year for the first time in the forenoon.

Sarah Elizabeth Thompson, 1927 four-year graduate, received the Snyder prize for the poem “Advent,” published in the Senior issue of the Breeze. This award is offered annually by the Breeze staff for the best article, editorial, or poem published in the paper during the year.

After the conferring of the degrees and the delivery of diplomas there were only a few minutes before the “Special” pulled out and the campus was practically deserted. But not for long. Summer school opened with a gratifying enrollment. The work goes on.

Edwena Lambert, Jack Weems, Mary Lee McLemore, Mary Gladstone, and Ida Morgan have passed the Life-Saving test, given this time by Miss Powell, who was assisted by Lulu Boisseau and Helen Holladay. The swimming pool continues in popularity.

Camping trips have been “quite the thing.” The orchestra decided on such a form of get-together, and a similar outing was among the other entertainments which the seniors enjoyed. No place but Rawley Springs would do.
