Why the Confederate Soldiers Failed. McCarthy's Soldier Life in the Army of Northern

The Confederates opposed immense odds In the Seven Days' Battles around Richmond, 80,000 drove to the James river 115,-000 of the enemy. At Fredericksburg, in 1862, 78,000 of them routed 100,000 Federal troops. At Chancellorsville, in 1863. 57,000, under Lee and Jackson, whipped, and but for the death of Jekson, would have annihiliated an army of 132,000 men, more than double their own number. At Gettysburg, 62,000 of them assailed the heights manned by 112,000. At the Wilderness, in 1864, 63,000 met and successfully resisted 151,000 of the enemy. At Appomattox, in 1865, 8,000 of them surrendered to the host commanded by Grant. The United States Government, at the end of the war, mustered out of service 1,000, 000 men, and had in the field, from first to last, 2.600,000. If the Confederate soldier had then had only this disparity of numbers to contend with he would have driv en every invader from the soil of Virginia. But the Confederate soldier fought, in addition to these adds, the facilities for the transportation and concentration of troops and supplies afforded by the network of railways in the country north of him, all of which were subject to the control of the government, and backed by a treasury which was turning out money by the ton, one dollar of which was worth sixty Confederate dollars. It should be remembered also that while the South was restricted to its own territory for supplies, and its own people for men, the North diew on the world for material and on every nation of the earth for men.

The arms and ammunition of the Fed. eral soldiers were abundant and good, so abundant and so good that they supplied both armies, and were greatly preferred by Confederate officers. The equipment of the Federal armies was well-nigh perfect. The facilities for manufacture were simply unlimited, and the nation thought no expenditure of treasure too great, if only the country-the Union !-could be saved. The factory and foundry chimneys made a pillar of smoke by day and of fire by night. The latest improvements were burried to the front and adopted by both armies almost simultaneously; for hardly had the Federals bought when the Confederates captured and used the very latest.

Commissary stores were piled up all over Virginia for the use of the invading armies. They had more than they could protect, and their loss was a gain to the hungry defenders of the soil. The Con-[jan18] federate soldiers fought a host of ills occasioned by the deprivation of cbloroform direction, and gave every possible intima way and did not witness the ceremony. and morphia, which were excluded from tion of extreme agony. For a length of The bride was a slender beauty, and her the Confederacy as contraband of war. The man who had submitted to amputation without chloroform, or tossed on a couch of agony for a night and day, without sleep, for the want of a dose of morphia, may possibly be able to estimate the advantages which resulted from the posseskilled. sion by the Federal surgeons of an unlimited supply of these. The Confederate soldier fought bounties and regular monthly pay, the Stars and Stripes, the Star Spangled Banner, Hail Columbia, Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, John Brown's Body, Rally Round the Flag, and all the fury and fanaticism which skilled minds could create, opposing this grand array with the modest and homely refrain of Dixie, supported by a mild solution of Maryland, My Maryland. He fought good wagons, fat horses, and tons of quarter masters' stores, pontoon trains of splendid material and construction by the mile; gunboats, wooden and iron, and men-ofwar; illustrated papers to cheer the boys in blue with sketches of the glorious deeds they did not do; Bibles by the car load, and tracts by the million-the first to prepare them for the death and the second to urge upon them the duty of dying. The Confederate soldier fought the Sanitary Commission, whose members, armed with every facility and convenience, quickly carried the sick and wounded of the Federal army to comfortable quarters, removed the bloody garments, laid the sufferer on a clean and dry couch, clothed him in clean clothes, and fed him on the best the world could afford, and money could buy. He fought the well-built, thoroughly equipped ambulances, the count. less surgeons, nurses, and hospital stewards, and the very best surgical appliances known to the medical world. He fought Health the commerce of the United States and all the facilities for war which Europe could supply, while his own ports were closed to all the world. He fought the trained officers and the regular troops of the United States army, assisted by splendid volunteer soldiers, besides swarms of men, the refuse of men, the refuse of earth-Portuguese, Italian, Spanish, German, Irish, English, Scotch, French, Chinese, Japanese-white, black, olive and brown. He laid down life for life with his hireling host, who died for pay-mourned by no one, loved by no one, who were better fed and clothed, fatter, happier and more contented in the army than ever they were at home, and whose graves strew the earth in lonesome places, where none go to weep. When one of these tell, two could be bought to fill the gap. The Confederate soldier killed these without compunction, and their comrades buried them without a tear. The Confederate soldier fought the cries of distress which came from his hometales of woe, insult and robbery. He tought men who knew that their homes (when they had any) were safe, their wives and children; their parents and sisters shel-

How Mules Came into Fashion.

Few of the farmers of this country are aware what a debt of gratitude they owe George Washington for the introduction of mules into general use for farm purposes.

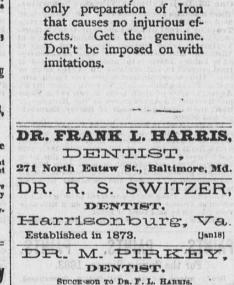

Previous to 1788 there were very few, and those of such inferior order as to prejudice farmers against them as unfit to compete with horses in work upon the road or farm. Consequently there were no jacks, and no disposition to increase the stock ; "Yes, I am," replied the railroad rebut Washington became convinced that porter, with a smile, "although I may not the introduction of mules generally among look it. Railroad from Hancock to Staunton; but the cars must be CAMEFULLY and CLOSELY pilled and FILLED FULL—all that can be got-ten in them—in order to save irright and cartage here, which is so much per car, whether the car oon tains much or little. We think it best to pile the bark concernent of the cars must be binning out the here of CROSSWISE OF THE CAR, and in shipping get the largest car you can. Don't load the back into the car while Car you can. Don't load the oar into the car while wet or damp. When you ship be sure to advise me of the NUMBES OF YOUR CAR, that I may know which is yours, and when the bark is unloaded I will send you Statement and Check for the amount. Don't fail to give me your Post-office address in full, and Shipping Station.

DIRECTIONS:

Commence taking the Bark as soon as it will peel well-run freely-and be sure to take the bark from the upper part of the tree and limbs, for the young bark is more fieldy and better than the old birk, which is most ross; the bark should not be broken up much, and must be of average thickness, as the heavy built bark by itself will not be bought at full price.

Outside of the Bark must always be kept up.

A good way is to place one end of the bark on the log, with outside up, which will prevent its CURL-ING; size protect the INSIDE from the weather, which being the part used must be kept BETCHT, and not allowed to get wet or mould or turn dark, which injures its strength and color, the all important parts & The Bark must not be frought in until cured enough to stack up closely, nor when wet or damp, for it will not kneep—as we have to plie it when re-celved.

Will advertise for Sumac Leaves in due time. GERMAN SMITH.

A Simple Remedy.

Half a tablespoonful of common table salt, dissolved in a little cold water, and drank, will instantly relieve "heartburn," or dyspepsia. If taken every morning before breakfast, increasing the quantity gradually to a teaspoonful of salt and a tumbler of water, it will in a few days cure any case of dyspepsia, if at the same time due attention is paid to the diet. There is no better remedy than the above for constipation. As a gargle for sore throat it is equal to chlorate of potash, and is entirely safe. It may be used as often as desired, and if a little is swallowed each time it will have a beneficial effect on the throat by cleansing it and by allaying the irritation. In doses of one to four teaspoonfuls in half a pint to a pint of tepid water it acts promptly as an emetic, and in cases of poisoning is always at hand. It is an excellent remedy for bites and stings of insects. It is a valuable stringent in hemorrhages, particularly for bleeding after the extraction of teeth. It has both cleansing and healing properties, and is, therefore, a most excellent application for superficial ulcerations .- Hall's .fournal of

Sometimes an ounce of prevention is worse than a pound of disease. One day last week the children came running in, shricking that a big hawk was circling over the poultry yard. Old farmer Thistlepod dropped his paper, caught his trusty gun from the rack, and charged for the oultry yard. He ran over a bee stand just the other side of the cypress bush, and was stung in thirteen places before he jumped over the fence of the poultry yard, alighting upon the old black hen that was brooding thirteen chicks, breaking her neck and mashing five helpless "weetles." The gun caught in the fence as he jumped.

Handsome table-covers are made of alternate squares or half squares of basket flannel and of velveteen : one made of two shades of brown is very pretty, and one of brown and lemon color is particularly effective. The spread should be lined; it is not necessary that the entire lining should be of expensive material; unbleached factory cloth will answer, providing that the facing is deep. No border is requisite, but if one prefers to have it, this should be of velveteen, and the facing of a contrasting color. If the blocks are neatly put together, no needlework is necessary to adorn the spread ; but of course this point may be determined according to the taste and means of the maker.

In Lumber Camp in Winter.

The men who cut and haul lumber are fearfully exposed in severe weather, and, although hardy and rugged, are sometimes laid aside from duty. Mr. Randall, of Augusta, Maine, who is extensively engaged in the lumbering business, writes that one of his men was attacked with a terrible sore throat, so that they thought he would die. They administered PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER, both internally and externally. In an hour the sufferer was relieved, and the next day he was at work as usual.

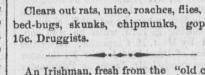

"Only one mother," read Jimmy Tuffboy, as he glanced at the headline in a newspaper. "I should think that was enough. Golly, how a fellow would catch it if he had two mothers. Two lickings where I get one now, both ears pulled at the same time, go without my supper twice in one day, sent on two errands in two different directions at the same time. Well, I can't be too thankful dad ain't a Mormon."

----"There is one thing I wish to impress on your minds," said a school-marm to her pupils. "You can never expect to gather honey without a sting."

OLD COMMONWEALTH.

HARRISONBURG, VA.

THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 29, 1883.

We had intended to give some incidents and reminisenses of Charlestown to-day, but sickness prevents.

The Republicans, it is said, will drop war issues in the campaign of 1884, and make the tariff question the main feature have concluned to stop shipping until the of the contest. Let the democrats stand for a tariff for revenue, and there can be no fear of the result if the people are made to understand the oppression and injustness of a tariff for protection.

For several weeks we have been unable to give attention to the COMMONWEALTH. The paper, however, came out regularly, and was as interesting as the average. For to railroad stations have been so barricaded this we desire to return our thanks to Mr. | as to prevent milk wagons from passing. C. E. Van Pelt, who, in our absence from home, and secondly by confinement by sickness at home, has been editor, foreman, job printer and general manager. He has performed these duties well, and himself and the hands in the office have the earnest thanks of THE EDITOR.

The circulation of the Baltimore Day has increased from 4,000 last August to nearly 12,000 last Friday, and claims to be next to the Sun in circulation. The publisher not only claims this but challenges the American, Herald and News to prove to the contrary, if they can. The Day deserves its success, for it is a good newspaper. It is also thoroughly democratic, and columns of figures, one representing dol-Democrats should ralley to its support and give it thirty or forty thousand circulation. A PROSTITUTED JUDICIARY .- The Democrats of Botetourt county, Va., in public meeting assembled have protested against the behavior of Judge Mays, the Read-juster county judge, who, in their own language, "instead of using at all times his important office for the ends of justice, prostitutes the power vested in him for partisan purposes, carrying it to the ex-tent of packing a grand jury with partisans of like ilk with himself, bent on making political capital."

The above extract speaks volumes for itself, and we might leave it as it stands, to teach the most important lesson (we fear) soon to be learned in the history of the Commonwealth, but that some among many of the direful consequences to be apprehended from such a judicial example may not at first sight strike the observer.

The grratest danger which could possi bly threaten the civil liberty of a people is the prostitution, in any particular, of its judiciary. SALE OF PROPERTY OF THE CHESAPEAKE & OHIO, AND THE BALTIMORE & OHIO RAILROADS .--- As did several other Railroad Companies, the Ches. & Ohio; and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Companies, by way of making a test before the Courts, offered to pay their taxes due the State in coupons, without paying in money, and awaiting its return after the genuineness of the coupons shall have been proved, as required by the Riddleberger Bill, which was enacted into a law. In consequence of their failure or refusal to pay in money, the officers of the State have levied on the property of these roads, and advertised by hand-bills that such as has been levied on to pay the taxes due this county, $16.099, will be sold on Monday, the 9th of April. The property of the Ches. & Ohio levied on, and which will be sold on that day, consisting of five large road engines, one portable engine, five cars, seven cabooses, and one planer and two lathes in the Round House; and that of the Valley Railroad, thirteen stock cars, five box cars, six flat cars, one iron box car, one iron safe, and four desks. These Companies will make a point of the fact that the levies have been excessive. These Companies propose to guarentee the delivery of the property on the day of the sale if they were permitted to move and use it before that time, but this privilege was refused.

A number of engines, cars, &c., of the Balt. & Ohio Railroad Company, will be sold in Harrisonburg on Friday the 13th of purchased by D. M. Switzer, Esq., for $114. April.-Spectator.

FATAL BURNING .- We mentioned in the last issue of the Spectator the rumor that a lady had been burned to death at or near Swoope's depot. The rumor turns out to be only too true. The sufferer was Miss Jennie Livick, a young girl about fifteen years of age. She and her little brother were alone at home on Saturday morning, the 17th instant, when about 8 o'clock her clothes took five from the stove. She became frightened and ran wildly out of the house and attempted to reach their nearest neighbors. In her wild flight she was met by two colored men, one of whom threw his coat around her and extinguished the flames. But the fatal flames had done their cruel work. Nearly all of her clothes had been burned off, and her body and limbs burned to a crust. She was carried back to her home, and lingered in terrible agony until death came to her relief about 10 o'clock that night. On the same Saturday morning, at Fish-ersville, a colored child about six years old, the daughter of Cyrus Johnson, was been waiting on him. There has been a burned to death in the absence of its | slight change for the better in Mr. Tutwimother from home. It is supposed its ler. The proceeds of the suppers are to go towards paying for the hall which was recently purchased by the lodge at that place. The public schools in this vicinity are nearly all closed for this season, except the one at Mill Creek Church, taught by P. S. Good, Esq. That school runs seven months on account of its being unusually large during the winter months. The school at Hedrick's school house closed Friday evening, 23d, with a literary exercise, consisting of declamations, dialogues, select reading and music. The latter was a very prominent feature in the exercises, and which seemed to be enjoyed by all present. The attendance was large. This is the only school that it has been the writer's pleasure to attend its closing exercises. There has been a great deal of sickness in this neighborhood for two or three weeks past. Peter C. At the regular convention on the 20th of March, 1883, your correspondents were constituted a committee to devise means looking to the more effectual introduction of the order and its merits among our citizens; and after deliberation, have concluded that the publication of a series of essays upon the "Rise, Progress, Objects and principles of the Order," would be the of accompliahing the purpose of their appointment.

In the absence at present of the correct data and incidents of the conception and organization of the society, we will content ourselves in this preliminary article with the insertion of an extract from the report of the Grand Keeper of Records, and Seal, Bro. Leroy S. Edwards of Richmond, made tothe Grand Lodge of Virginia at the session held in Alexandria, February 15th and 16th, 1881. The worthy brother wrote as follows ; HISTORY OF THE ORDER IN VIRGINIA .-

The Grand Lodge meets to-day on ground nistoric, not only in the annuals of our country, but in that of the Order Universal.

Less than one year after the preliminary meeting, which subsequently led to the for mal organization of the order of the Knights of Pythias in the City of Wash ington, on February 19, 1864, ALEXANDRIA LODGE, NO. 1, OF VIRGINIA, was instituted in due form, under a charter granted by Grand Lodge of District of Columbia. On February 1st. 1865, Alexandria Lodge was organized, and here, the first effort to extend the Order beyond the City of Washington was made. Whilst margre success attended this enterprise, still, by the partial success of this experiment, the triends of the Order were emboldend to extend and make universal, the catholic influences of the Knights of Pythias. It by the Good Templars at Pleasant Valley, , may be said that the Order of Knights of Pythias was a child of war-and its gent-lest, it has become the champion of Peace and Goodwill and Brotherhood- the peer of the noblest.

The last recorded meeting of Alexandria Lodge, No. 1, was held July 27, 1865—then here was nineteen or twenty members enrolled. The membership was composed of officers of the army and navy of the Unifed

States, and citizens of Alexandria. Nearly three years elapsed before the Or der was re established in Virginia. In the meantime, it had extended somewhat northward. The war between the States had ended, but the turmoil and political bitterness and persecution, scarcely less painful than war itself, were upon the country, and, with heavy hand, bore upon the people amongst whom we lived, and of whom we were. It was a happy day for our common country, when the white our common country, when the white wings of peace, under the Aegis of our Order, appeared over the land, North and South, and linked in fraternal bonds, those lately facing each other in battle.

Whilst there is no political significance whatever in the precepts and practices of the Order, still the broad doctrines of Charity and Benevolence, as taught by the Order at that day, had a significance that impressed and influenced the young men of the country with a force more powerful than that of arms, or dictatorial authority. Silently, surely but rapidly, the benign teachings worked upon the hearts of the young soldiers and patriots of the country, and welded them together in a brother hood that will out live the angry recollections of strife.

Of course the most enthusiastic Pythian will not ascribe all of the present happy surroundings to the influences of the Or der, but a careful historian of our times. will ascribe no insignificant part to that performed by the Knights of Pythias in the auspicious work.

It is our purpose to add, weekly if possible, to this essay, and endeavor to give

A DEER'S REN THROUGH KEYSER, W VA -The Keyser (W. Va.) Tribune says: 'On Saturday a large deer, chased by dogs. was discovered along the western brow of Fort Plano, facing the town. Walking and sometimes trotting he attracted gen-eral attention, and excited men, women and children, who gazed up at the kingly forester, that seemed confused and undeci ded whether to take the corporation by storm or retrace its course. A black canine came round the point and saw the buck about the same time that his deer. ship recognized the dog. The dog made a dash at the deer and cut short all deliberation on the subject, and down they came, 'nip and tuck,' plowing up the rocks, the buck skimming the undergrowth and the dog ripping through on a double tongue close in his rear, making the descent in full view of a hundred spectators. Just east of the creek, on a dead run for the Po tomac, several dwellings, gardens. &c., con fronting the frightened and hotly pursued animal, but he paused not nor avoided any obstruction; and bounding gardens, over a wall, and into the Potomac, swam across and made his everlasting escape in the timber skirting Queen's Point, while a hest applauded in his wake."

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE PEACH CROP. I. N. Mills, superintendent of the Delaware Division of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Bailroad Company, was in Philadelphia last Saturday perfecting plans for freight carriage during the coming peach season. On being approached by a reporter he said : year the weather was fine at this time, which had the effect of forcing the sap and bringing out the buds. As a consequence the very first frost played havog with the germs. No such weather having appeared. this season the crisis for the crop may now be considered over. The sap has not been forced and the buds have not started." Mr. Mills also gave it as his belief that in a few years at the farthest there would be no peaches in Delaware, and that the belt would gradually move over into Maryland. Delaware City, Middletown and Clayton, which were in their turn bustling centres for the peach trade, have now no fruit of this kind. The bulk of the crop this year will come from around Wyoming, a small station in the lower part of Kent county. In the event of a favorable spring all through the shipments this season over the Delaware Railroad will, in his opinion, aggregate 1.000,000 baskets more than the shipments of last year.

MT. ETNA'S ERUPTION .--- Catania. March 23 .- The eruption of Mt. Etna is increasing in violence. A new crater has opened. The lava from the volcano threatens to overwhelm Nicolosi and other villages. The people living in the threatened places are leeing from the homes. Troops are assisting them. There are cleven fissures in the mountain. The central opening is active, but there is no discharge of lava.

Three earthquake shocks, accompanied ov rumblings, have been felt at Biancaville, a town on the declivity of Mt. Etna. There is a great panic among the people. They are building huts in the open country, fearing that the town will be destroyed. The prisoners in the jail have been removed. to a place of safety.

W. W. Roller was unanimously elected 3rd Lieutenant of that organization, vacancy being caused by the resignation of Lt. Jas. M. Warren. We think Mr. Roller is competent to discharge the duties pertaining to that office, and will make an efficient officer.

WHY ?- We have a law against selling goods and doing secular business on the Sabbath day. We have police, whose duty it is to see that the law is enforced, and yet even the most casual observer can see that this law is violated regularly every Sabbath in our town. Why is this? Enforce the law or repeal it. This is very shocking to many of our good citizens, who pass these places of business on their way to church, and see the commandment of God and the laws of the land so boldly violated. Will the police please attend to this? If not, let the Mayor and Common Council ask why.

J. K. Smith, Esq., Editor of the Old Commonucalth : We have in our community a lodge or an organization which, while comparativevaluable instrument in cementing again the bonds of union between the sections, which had been so rudely parted by the political strifes which led to the late "war between the States," and also to smooth down the acerbities and bitterness engendered by the terrible scenes and experiences of that most unfortunate struggle .--We allude to the order known as "The Knights of Pythias," represented at Harrisonburg by Stonewall Lodge No. 31 .-This lodge was organized on the 7th day of May, 1873, under a dispensation granted by S. Travers Phillips, Grand Chancellor, with sixteen members, and a regular charter granted on the 23d of January, 1874. After an existence of four years,

Put them on as close together as possible, and have them smooth or even if you can. Then cover the cake, orange and all, with frosting. If cornstarch cake is made, follow this rule: One cup of flour, one cup of corn-starch, one heaping cup of white sugar, half a cup of butter, beaten with the sugar until it is light as cream, one large teaspoonful of baking powder, and the whites of four eggs, beaten to a stiff froth and put in last; a large half cup of sweet milk should be stirred in with the butter and sugar after they are well beaten. This cake does not keep well, and should be eaten while fresh. A nice white cake to be covered with orange is made by using the whites of five eggs, one cup of milk, halt a cup of butter, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one cup and a half of sugar, and about three cups of flour.
