Ethiopia Part 2

Country Profile
CISR

Follow this and additional works at: https://commons.lib.jmu.edu/cisr-journal

Part of the Defense and Security Studies Commons, Emergency and Disaster Management Commons, Other Public Affairs, Public Policy and Public Administration Commons, and the Peace and Conflict Studies Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://commons.lib.jmu.edu/cisr-journal/vol10/iss1/13

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Center for International Stabilization and Recovery at JMU Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Journal of Conventional Weapons Destruction by an authorized editor of JMU Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact dc_admin@jmu.edu.
It is a step towards getting Libya’s landmines cleared quicker with the help of other signatories.

In addition to Libya’s mine-action efforts, there is hope for the country. Libya has made efforts to improve relations with members of the international community. And although Libya remains aScarlet Republic, at the time of this writing, the United States was expected to remove the country from its list of designated state sponsors of terrorism by the end of June 2006. According to the United Nations’ report, there have been reports of troop movements on both sides of the TSZ. The Hungarian-Madman Government has recently opened Libya’s industry to Western investment.

To view endnotes and references for this article, visit http://jmu.jsu.edu/journal/vol10/1/profiles/libya/libya.htm/#endnotes.

Published by JMU Scholar Commons, 2006