B. Ideals were emphasized, indirectly:
1. Through the account of artists' lives, which usually involve struggle and sacrifice for existence.
2. Through the beauty of thought expressed in the pictures.
3. Through the story depicted, which often teaches a lesson.
4. Through a study of the worth while, which should lead to a desire to study other pictures.

Finally Alice has to go back home, so Mother Goose calls Johnny Armstrong, who takes Alice in his wheelbarrow, the same he took his wife home in. At first Alice was afraid he would give her a fall, but Johnny promises to take good care of her. He gets her home safely and Alice wakes up just as he is leaving. She is so happy over the things that she has seen that she runs to tell her mother about her dream trip.

Many phases of the subject were worked out in handicraft. The House That Jack Built cut from paper made an attractive border for the blackboard. Many posters were colored and added much to the decorations of the room. Also many free hand pictures were drawn by the children. Boy Blue and Jack and Jill were perhaps the most popular of these subjects. They were drawn in various ways. Practically all the Mother Goose characters were cut and colored either with or without the use of patterns. As a grand finale to this coloring and cutting work, a Mother Goose Parade was pasted on a long strip of wall paper to be kept permanently on the wall. The children also made their own costumes and were as proud as could be to wear them.

Many original Mother Goose games and story plays easily grew out of the songs and stories. There are two, "Jack Be Nimble" and "Miss Muffet" from Bancroft's Plays and Games. Others which may be easily acted are "Hickory Dickory," "Mistress Mary," and "Boy Blue."

Stories and poems on this subject are innumerable and it is rather difficult to select the best. The majority of the poems were taken from The Little Mother Goose illustrated by Jessie Wilcox and The Only Mother Goose. The stories were selected from Madge Bingham's Mother Goose Village and Julia Cowles' The Children's Mother Goose.

After the songs were learned and the major characters had had about two practices alone, the operetta was organized. It was expected to do and he felt his own responsibility for the whole. After about four practices, the children represented the characters remarkably well and the operetta was ready to be presented. The mothers were invited for the final production and were well pleased with the program. The Mother Goose Band favored the audience with a few selections at the close of the operetta.

A minimum spelling list of 2,500 words which pupils in elementary schools of the city are expected to acquire as they progress from grade to grade has been accepted by the board of education of New York City. It was prepared by the director of the bureau of reference, research, and statistics, following a national survey of spelling lists in use in leading school systems. The list will form a part of the revised course of study in spelling for elementary schools soon to be recommended for adoption by the board of superintendents.

"Wanderlust walks" on Saturday afternoons are promoted by the division of physical and health education of the board of public education of Philadelphia. Originally organized for the benefit of teachers in public schools of the city, they are now conducted by a voluntary committee of 34 leaders as extension health work of the board, and anybody is welcome to take part. A printed program of walks is provided which gives detailed information concerning the weekly trips. During the past year 47 walks were conducted in which 1,467 members participated.
