International Rescue Committee

The International Rescue Committee (IRC), founded in 1933, has operated in over 40 countries to deliver emergency assistance and support recovery and rehabilitation. The IRC provides direct aid in the form of health care, education, housing, and economic assistance to those affected by conflict, disaster, and political upheaval.

Advocacy

Since 1933, the IRC has appealed to the world's conscience by focusing on humanitarian issues. It educates policymakers to advocate for the rights of refugees.

Emergency

The IRC responds quickly to crises and provides emergency assistance to those in need, often in the first 24 hours of a disaster.

Protection

The IRC works to protect human rights and provides legal aid to refugees to help them integrate into their new communities.

Resettlement

The IRC assists refugees in resettling in their new countries, providing them with the necessary resources to start a new life.
