followed by testing of the object, through use, afterwards.)

V. Objectives in Appreciation in Grade III
By the end of the Third Grade the average child should:
A. Continue to enjoy expressing himself in various mediums.
B. Have added a third group of carefully selected pictures to his acquaintance and appreciation.
C. Have had some experience in studying pictures from the standpoint of their composition; i.e., from the standpoint of their use of color, their principal lines, their arrangement of objects. (Do not force terms on children at this age, or expect too much understanding of composition. This is a beginning only.)
D. Have been led to enjoy several fine examples of architecture, sculpture, textiles, and ceramics. (The objects mentioned here may come in connection with his other studies and the child's attention and appreciation directed very easily and naturally to them.)
E. Recognize and appreciate the presence of an Art problem in certain of his daily activities, and appreciate more fully than previously the need of planning and thought. (Such activities as mounting autumn leaves on a page, painting an illustration, building a bird house, planning a stage setting, designing a costume for a play come under this heading.)
F. Continue his enjoyments as suggested under objectives in appreciation B and E, Grade II, B and F, Grade I, and add to these some enjoyment of more subtle colors in landscapes and textiles. Continue the discussion and the making of choices of color combinations.
G. Continue to enjoy border and surface patterns as used in ceramics, textiles, printing.
H. Have some appreciation of the art activities of one or two certain peoples, as the Greeks, the Indians. Enjoy the work of his classmates and of other artists.
