READINGS IN EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY

The beginner in psychology, especially if he be at junior college level, needs the stabilizing effects of a textbook. Yet he must have the breadth of view which comes only from contact with many writers. This book of readings in educational psychology is designed to meet both needs.

The book is noteworthy in that its own organization tends to facilitate learning. It is built up on a well integrated outline, the relation between the chapters being not only logical but also psychological; each chapter is composed of a series of sections chosen from the best current literature and so carefully fitted together that the student gets the feel of a continuous narrative; the introduction to each chapter and the fore exercises for each section train the student in methods of study; the further learning exercises at the close of each chapter not only force the student to organize the content around a series of important principles, they also guide him in direct application of these principles to classroom situations.

For the class that can profit by still wider readings, there are carefully chosen bibliographies for each chapter and a general list at the close of the book.

A group of delightful stories for children in the primary grades. Since they do not carry any indication of grade, nor contain any preface and word list, they are especially valuable as gifts and also lend themselves to use on library tables and in special classes.

This handwriting scale is especially devised for those who wish to evaluate the handwriting of any pupil or group of pupils.

Some of the outstanding characteristics of it are:
1. The samples used in the scale are actual samples of child writing.
2. The material is interesting and meaningful to the child.
3. Practically all of the alphabet is used in each of the selections.
4. Full and carefully worked out directions are given for administering scoring and interpreting each paper.

The record blank is convenient for filing.

The authors have given first and second grade teachers a course of study in arithmetic which will not only fit every situation, but which is also in accord with progressive trends in education. The text is accompanied by individual number cards which cover the basic number combinations with whole numbers, and which may be used with any class method.

Seldom does one find such complete material for beginners' arithmetic.

Phonics, word building, or whatever term we may use to designate independence in word-getting, has a definite place in the teaching of reading in the elementary grades. Many teachers dislike the teaching of the subject because there is so little tangible material for them to use.

The words used in these books are taken from the International Kindergarten lesson list of the spoken vocabulary of children before entering first grade. They are presented so that the child may have a systematic way of attacking unknown words, thereby giving him independence in reading. They are presented as whole words, undivided and in a contextual manner.

The characters, Johnny and Jennie Rabbit, are well known to primary teachers. In this edition Johnny and Jenny go out into the wide world. They visit the policeman, the ice man, and the farmer; they go to the post office, and they have the thrill of helping to put out a real fire. All of the stories relate to social experiences and should be especially interesting to first grade children.

Sunday afternoon teas given to the students in the Music room and sponsored by the various clubs and societies, have done much, this year, to relieve the feeling of home-sickness and unrest which has hitherto characterized this time. Programs of musical and literary nature are given during the tea and the delightful atmosphere of informality which is present make these cheerful and enjoyable occasions.

Misses Juna Reynolds, Annette Brigham, Lena Pexington, and Mary Robards have come to H. T. C. to supervise student teaching work in the training schools. These teachers have been sent from the normal school education department of Teachers College, Columbia University, for practical experience in supervisory work through an arrangement with this college.

Varsity basketball training began with twenty-two girls on the squad. They are Lena Bones, Kitty Bowen, Marie Burnette, Marian Cicera, Kathryn Clarke, Nell Coyner, Lucy Coyner, Beatrice Dameron, Julia Duke, Bernice English, Mary Farinholt, Mary Haga, Jo Hedinger, Vivian Hobbs, Jac Johnston, Sue Leith, Frances
