
Not a new book, but one that is unique because it contains the first Chinese fables ever printed in English. Some date as far back as 2,000 years; in all of them are found bits of the wisdom of the ages.

These are told so simply and attractively that children cannot but enjoy them. They are of about third and fourth grade level, yet adults may find pleasure in them even as in Aesop's Fables. Other attractive features are titles in Chinese written below the English titles and the Chinese character of the illustrations.

Spelling pads with space provided for writing "corrected words" following each day's lesson. Suggestions to teacher and pupils are included in each book and a pupil graph in Books Two and Three.

This is the first bulletin resulting from the curriculum study on the part of the faculty of the State Teachers College at Farmville, Virginia. It is organized in two parts. Part I is developed from the point of view of the grades, including the kindergarten, first, second, and third grades. Part II is organized from the point of view of the school subjects recognized in the Training School. The factors developed in Part I consist of a description of the situation in each grade made in such a way as to give the student teacher a satisfactory orientation from the beginning; the general outline of the content of each grade; the materials and equipment of each grade; a list of suggested activities for pupils of each grade; and typical units of work in each grade described in retrospect and evaluated on the principles of method recognized in the Training School. The factors developed in Part II are the general objectives of the different subjects; the content of the subject for each grade; the specific objectives of each subject in each grade; the materials and equipment for teachers and pupils in dealing with the subjects; and standards of achievement in each subject for each grade.

The distinctive feature of this course of study is the treatment of the units of work. In most courses of study teaching units are incorporated merely as illustrations of procedure that have been used or might be used. In this bulletin, however, typical units are described as they have been taught in the Training School and in addition are evaluated on the basis of principles of method. This bulletin should be very helpful to all those who are participating in the State Curriculum Program at this time, especially to the Production Committees.

As the first number in the entertainment course, Demeter Zacharoff presented on September 28 the Boston Sinfonietta under the direction of Arthur Fiedler. The concert was most delightful and included these numbers:

Symphony No. 104 in D Major (Haydn): Adagio-Allegro, Andante, Menuetto, Allegro Spiritoso.

Petite Suite (Debussy): En Bateau, Cor-tege, Menuet, Ballet.

With the symbolical union of Mildred Townsend, bride, and Mildred Henderson, groom, the annual new-girl—old-girl wedding was celebrated with fitting solemnity in Wilson Hall Wednesday afternoon, October 6, at five o’clock.

The bride was gowned in the traditional white satin and carried white roses. She came down the aisle supported on the arm of her father, Sally Face, who gave her in marriage. Her attendants were Patricia Phillips, maid of honor, Beatrice Shorts, Mildred Cross, Jean Averett, Edna Smith. Patricia wore blue organdie and carried a bouquet of pink roses, while the bridesmaids also wore pastel organdies and roses of contrasting hues.

Emily Peterson acted as best man to the groom and presented the ring at the proper time. The ushers were Betty Bush, Mildred Simpson, Dorothy Harris, Lois Bishop.

Helen Marsden bore the ring on a satin pillow, while Lucy Marsden strewwed rose petals in the path of the bride.

Besides her father, who gave her away, the bride’s family included her mother, Laura Melchor, her grandmother, Emma Jane Shultz, and her grandfather, Rachel Rogers.

The groom’s mother, Marion Smith, and his father, Dorothy Martin, were present at the festivities.

Katye Wray Brown performed the marriage ceremony with all the dignity of her clerical robes, Evelyn Watkins played the wedding march and Prudence Spooner sank I Love You preceding the ceremony.
A dinner was held Wednesday in the Bluestone dining hall for the wedding party.
