THE VIRGINIA TEACHER is indexed in the Education Index
published by the H. W. Wilson Co.

Do you find that there are usually too many topics to be studied in junior-high-school history texts? Do your pupils try to remember rather than to understand history? Do your pupils fail to make comparisons of events, causes, and movements, and to see relationships? Do your pupils fail to get a sense of time?

Wirth-Thompson's

A HISTORY OF AMERICAN PROGRESS

is organized to overcome these and other difficulties reported by 1400 teachers to the author. This it accomplishes chiefly through: a clear, simple unit organization; activities programs which are an inseparable part of the history study and not merely lists of varied projects; specially prepared time charts; and a maximum of visual instruction.
