the true purpose. "We cannot understand the last part of the story unless we know its beginning. . . . The making of our modern civilization will be the main theme of the story in this book." This gives a new meaning to the study of history.

The book is illustrated with maps and numerous well-chosen pictures from the life of the people of the time. Charts graphically summarize the material of each chapter.

EVERYDAY PROBLEMS IN CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT.

Dr. Brown believes "that the case-problem trained student not only better understands the principle underlying the fundamental practice which is under consideration, but is inclined to make the underlying principle a part of his thinking when confronted with the actual problem situation." He has, therefore, organized his book around 170 tested problems illustrating all phases of school management.

KARL AND GRETEL: CHILDREN OF THE FATHERLAND.

This supplementary reader for the third or fourth grade is one of a series, The World's Children. Charmingly written and well illustrated, it offers a good picture of life in pre-Hitler Germany.

EVALUATION OF TYPES OF STUDENT TEACHING.

An experimental study of types of student teaching. Results favored distributed rather than concentrated practice.

THE STORY OF LONG AGO.

An introductory textbook in history distinguished by its maps and illustrations.

For the student of physical education who wishes to specialize in corrective physical education. Various types of orthopedic handicaps and methods of alleviating or compensating for these.

The basic facts of anatomy and physiology, causes of retardation and faulty development, methods for retraining the body. A final chapter of special interest to school principals and parents.

NEWS OF THE COLLEGE

Enrolment figures for the first term of summer school approximated the enrolment for the first term of the summer of 1933. The number of boarding students showed an increase of fourteen over last year, while the number of day students is 134 compared to 174 in 1933.

The second term of summer school opened July 27, with an enrolment of 128 boarding students and 88 day students.

Virginia cities represented with the largest number of students are Lexington, Richmond, Petersburg, and Winchester. Maryland has a number of students, several being from Hagerstown. Students from as far North as Maine and New York and from as far south as Mississippi are registered.

With the opening of the summer session, June 18, the following officers elected at the close of the last summer session began their duties as administrators of Student Government: president, Mary Duncanson; vice-president, Hazel Holter; secretary, Martha Garbee; recorder of points, Virginia Hankla.

The following were elected officers of the Senior class: First term: president, Mrs. Cecilia Alderton; vice-president, Louise Allred; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Sloane; business manager, Mrs. Josephine Hinkle. Second term: president, Helen Burtiner; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Courses designed to aid Virginia teachers in the use of the New Curriculum this fall were very popular at H. T. C. summer school.

Perhaps one of the most interesting courses offered is listed in the catalog as Education 395. Under the direction of Miss Katherine Anthony supervisors in the Training school demonstrated the use of the New Curriculum daily in one hour periods. The hour of teaching was followed by a conference period during which problems concerning the curriculum were discussed. Efforts were made to meet the needs of every teacher observing, whether during the coming year she expects to teach a one-room school, a combination of primary or upper grades, or a single grade.

Other courses basing the work around problems arising from the use of the New Curriculum were: Homemaking Materials for the Elementary and Grammar Grades, Music Supervision, and Arithmetic.

Eighteen new members were admitted to Alpha Chi chapter of Kappa Delta Pi during the summer session. Those initiated included Paul Behrens, Timberville; Virginia Beverage, Monterey; Hortense Eanes, Danville; Martha Garbee, Evington; Charlena Grim, Winchester; Anna Haley, Flint Hill; Annabelle Kilgore, Norton; Elizabeth Kingsolver, Clarendon; Rosa Lane, Petersburg; Charlotte Mitchell, Gorham, Maine; Olive Smith, Hagerstown, Maryland; Virginia Stickley, Stephens City; Mrs. Anna Withrow, Lexington; Audrey Lauck, Shenandoah; Sue Neal, South Boston; Annie Pierce, Luray; Catherine Thomas, Lynchburg; and Ridgely Jackson, Winchester.

Chapter officers of Kappa Delta Pi for the summer were: president, Mrs. Cecilia Alderton; vice-president, Roy Black; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Sloane. The second term Irene Matthews succeeded Mrs. Alderton as president of the organization, other officers continuing.

Mrs. Rosa H. Loving, itinerant teacher trainer for Home Economics in Virginia, directed the work done by the Home Economics committee working on the curriculum production program which met at Harrisonburg for a period of two weeks during the second term of summer school.

Revisions considered in this two weeks meeting were limited to work in the second and third years of high school. This meeting followed the work done last summer toward revision.

In attendance were Louise Neale, Jane Abbitt, Frances Sanders, Alice Crutchfield, Olive Moorefield, Carrie Vaughn, Olivia Malmgren, Beth Jordan, Nettie Yowell, and Evelyn Glick.

Elizabeth McGuffin, Warm Springs, a graduate last June, received the Snyder Prize for the best piece of literary work contributed to The Breeze for her review of Men of Good Will by Jules Romaine, which appeared in the April 13, 1934 issue of The Breeze.

Honorable mention was given to Elizabeth Bywaters for a feature article entitled “Troubles of a Mascot,” which appeared in the issue of November 10, 1933, and to Sarah Lemmon, who wrote an editorial titled “From a Senior” published in the issue of June 1, 1934.

Lois Sloop, Harrisonburg, has been awarded a prize of one hundred dollars as the winner in the nation-wide essay contest on The Educational Advantage of Soap Sculpture. The essay was submitted following a class project in Freshman English under Dr. C. H. Huffman.

Miss Sloop, a freshman last session, was a member of the Schoolma’am staff, The Breeze staff, Lee Literary Society, Debating club, Alpha Rho Delta, Hiking club, and was actively engaged in class sports including basketball, baseball, and hockey. Miss Sloop also made the honor roll for the school year 1933-34.

Speakers at the Wednesday assemblies during the summer session included the following: Mrs. Alice Thornton, assistant to the National Director of the Junior Red Cross; Miss Frieda Koontz of the Co-operative Education Association; R. E. Burson, Director of Parks in the Virginia Conservation Commission, who urged the beautification of school grounds; Rev. Dr. L. J. Jockel, professor of theology at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Austin, Texas; Rev. Dr. J. Dean Crain of the Greenville (S. C.) Baptist Church; Rev. Dr. Frederick W. Norwood, pastor of the City Temple, London; and Dr. Sidney B. Hall, Superintendent of Public Instruction, who spoke on the New Virginia Curriculum.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Only twenty alumnae were present at the alumnae meeting on Saturday, June 9. Both the president and vice-president were unable to attend, it was decided to let various business matters continue until the March business meeting, which is now becoming the most important alumnae occasion of the year.

President S. P. Duke made an interesting talk, emphasizing what the alumnae meant to the college and pointing out how they could help. Mrs. Cook also welcomed the alumnae. An alumnae luncheon was served in Harrison Hall, and was attended by both faculty and alumnae.

Mary Armentrout, one of the speakers at the Alumnae Homecoming last March, received her doctorate from the University of Virginia, June, 1934. She received high honors during her work there.

Ethel Hinebaugh Stubbs, '26, stopped over in June to see the changes that had taken place at H. T. C. She and her husband were traveling through the valley. Ethel is teaching Home Economics in Baltimore. Her sister, Alberta Hinebaugh Myers, is now living in Norfolk.

Another visitor on campus was Ruth Sanders Fuller, '15, who also was traveling through the valley with her husband. Ruth was formerly a police woman in Richmond.

Clarice Guthrie English is teaching in the elementary schools of Glen Burnie, Maryland.

Virginia Richards, '33, will teach Home Economics in the Berryville High School this coming year. She is taking the position held by Louise Ramsburg, who resigned to be married this fall.

The Alexandria chapter donated five dollars towards the furnishings of Alumnæ Hall. The money was turned over to Mrs. A. B. Cook, who is planning to use it in purchasing a tea table for the reception room.
